SPECIAL TO OUR READERS.

As the design of THE CANADIAN GROCER is to benefit mutually all interested in the business, we would request all parties ordering goods or making purchases of any description from houses advertising with us to mention in their letter that such advertisement was noticed in THE CANADIAN GROCER.

OUR MONTREAL OFFICE.

Our Montreal Office is located at 115 St. Francois Xavier St. Our representative, Mr. Hugh C. McLean, will be pleased to have subscribers and advertisers call upon him there. He will also pay special attention to gathering business items and attending generally to the interests of this paper.

OURSELVES.

With this issue THE CANADIAN GROCER AND GENERAL STOREKEEPER enters upon its fourth volume. It has become customary for newspapers when entering a new year to say something of themselves. In any other concern such a custom would be regarded, to some extent, as egotistical, but in a newspaper, and especially a trade paper, it is not; for its subscribers and advertisers are as much interested in its success and future prospects as are its publishers. Few papers met with more remarkable success than THE GROCER. It was the first weekly class paper ever published in Canada. Experienced journalists said that it could not succeed, but the publishers believed that there was a field for it. The paper, to-day, shows that we were right, and we have to thank our friends in the wholesale as well as in the retail trade for their hearty assistance and co-operation. In 1887 one man was sufficient to do the entire work of the paper. He was everything, including chief editor, manager, collector and office boy. Our staff now numbers twenty-one. Then a 7x9 room was large enough; now an entire flat is none too large. During the year a permanent office has been established in Montreal. The trade of the Dominion has been thoroughly canvassed and we can now boast of the largest circulation of any trade paper in Canada. A most gratifying feature in the popularity of THE GROCER, only eight names were dropped from the subscription list for the following causes: Deaths, 1; failed and out of business, 4; did not want it, 1; no reason, 2. Beginning with this issue, we add four additional pages. Our efforts to produce a first-class paper will be redoubled, wishing our friends a prosperous New Year.

A BUTTER MANUAL.

A copy of Lynch's Scientific Dairy Practice should be in the hands of every butter maker in the country. The book has already been furnished gratuitously to many farmhouses. A special edition of it is published for the Parliament of Canada to be distributed to the makers of butter through Canada. The Minister of Agriculture for Ontario has so far approved of the book as to cause its transmission to most of the farmers of the province. The pamphlet has been often spoken of since it was published two years ago, but we wish to bring it again under the attention of the country merchants, who are specially concerned in all that makes for better butter.

The book is full of information on the breeding, care, feeding and housing of cows; milking, raising of cream, churning, making of butter, salting, etc. The subject as it is understood at present may be said to be exhausted in Mr. Lynch's pamphlet. The manual is an excellent one in the fullness and scientific basis of its matter. An index sufficiently copious to make general reference easy is in the Parliament edition. This is almost indispensable to a book of this character, as but few farmers would begin to wade through 102 pages of closely-printed matter to pick up information as it came. A particular item of information is likely to be sought more than a comprehensive presentation of the subject. If this item is noted in the index and the reader consults the text indicated he can get what he is looking for. Thus bits of knowledge got by occasional reference will in the end induce a farmer to read the book. That will give him not only a full view of the science of butter-making but will present it properly articulated.

One great hindrance to the education of butter-makers is their stubborn notion that they already have it. They think that, because they have watched one generation's methods and practised them for all their days, they should be past learning. It is this persistence of an empirical art of butter-making that is going finally to drive private dairies into disrepute, and bring the making of butter into scientific factories. It will be better for the farmers and the consumers of butter when this revolution is completed, but during and before the transition it is well that there should be good butter. Therefore, Mr. Lynch's manual should be studied. Studied, it needs to be, on account both of the amount of its matter and the scientific precision of its manner.

The country storekeeper should have this book near him every time he buys a pound of butter. He should show its usefulness by his ability to make use of its contents. The storekeeper can do more than anybody else to make this book a generally read one. His efforts cannot but promote improvement in the butter of his district. Farmers who have not received a copy can get one by application to the Hon. Chas. Dury, Minister of Agriculture, Toronto. Those whose party leanings disincline them to send for the book may be reassured by the information that it is published for the Canadian Parliament, and therefore at the order of the Dominion Government.

LEADING LINES.

Years ago, when a dealer made a sortie on the trade of his rival, it was usually along a line that every storekeeper was supposed to be free to move as boldly as he pleased in. This was the leading line, and along it a man might revel in price cutting. One might visit many stores in different parts of the country, and find an opening in the trade of each left for reckless competition, but he would find the opening to be upon the same line in all. Thus, there was usually but one leading line, and the last of those old single lines was sugar.

The leading line acted as a flood-gate to a full stock. If a man once got custom through the low prices of his sugar, he expected to send a lot of his other goods the same way as his sugar went. Competition, though very keen and usually ruinous to profits along this line, was at all events on the same ground, and was limited to one article. The leading line was to the trade very much what a sacrifice market is to an exporting country. The latter, to relieve its own overproduction or to crush the same industry in another country, will send a line of goods into that country at far below cost. It has then not too much stock to bring prices down in other markets, and it has no dread of the producing country whose own demand it has so cheaply sated. In the same way as the sacrifice market, so the leading line is an outlet to the stock on hand.

Nowadays the leading lines can not be counted, because every man has several, and no two men try to keep their competition in the same channel. If a customer should visit twenty-five grocery stores in any city, we believe he could buy every article kept in a grocery for cost price. Thus by a little careful selecting, a man might buy throughout the whole grocery range in retail quantities at wholesale prices. This is because dealers have quit the old conservative courses of competition, and have taken to price-cutting in all departments that momentary expediency beckons them into. This is very shallow, and unworthy of the business enlightenment of these times. If one man can bring people to his store by the low prices of three or four articles, he cannot expect to sell more than these, while he is aware that the other articles of his stock are the cheap ones in another stores. If merchants would only make their way back to a universal leading line, they would disenthral themselves from the more oppressive conditions of business competition.

TOBACCO STAMPING AND CANCELLING.

Some time ago we showed that the excise officers who deliver tobacco from bonded warehouses, are not held responsible by the Inland Revenue Department for the stamping of the packages. The ex-warehousing party, that is the wholesale establishment or its agent, is held answerable for the stamping and cancelling. How unsatisfactory this is has had a convincing illustration which was plainly pointed out in these pages in the case of Chidley, Shaw & Co.'s seizure. Why should excise officers, with the whole collection of the stock that goes into the country under their eye, not inspect the stamping and cancelling them before the bonded tobacco is let loose over the country? Why should they wait until the tobacco is scattered over several thousand retail stores, in which there are nooks and corners to be rummaged? And when unstamped or uncancelled packages are found, their prima facie evidence is made equivocal by the fact that there may be two reasons for it—smuggling, or wholesalers,' neglect to stamp. If officers were required to see to it that no unstamped or uncancelled packages left the bonded warehouses, they could with more justice seize tobacco where it was found without the excise marks. Even at the best, seizure based on the absence of these marks is arbitrary. It presupposes the infallibillity of human memory, and the total depravity of commercial character.

All customs regulations require the stamping and cancelling to be done under the eye of the collector. That official is held responsible. Why should it be different for excise stamping and cancelling? In the same volume with the regulations governing the sale of home-made tobacco, are the regulations relating to the importation of foreign-made tobacco. In the former the collector is not held responsible for the stamping, in the latter he is. We can see nothing in the difference of the situation of the two collectors that affords any key to the reason for this difference in their duties.

The excise officers are paid to protect the revenue and trade from smugglers. The wholesale merchants are not paid for such service. Then why should they be expected to render it to the extent of seeing that the stamping and cancelling are done? The officers have complete control of the tobacco before it reaches the distributors. They should not be allowed to consider a package of tobacco as licensed to go into trade until it bore the cancelled stamp. Then only should it be set free.

THE TOBACCO QUESTION.

The Committee, made up of members of the Retail Grocers' Association and the Wholesale Grocers' Guild, met on Monday afternoon, to consider what course of action should be taken to relieve the tobacco trade from its present Inland Revenue restrictions. Messrs. Davidson, Blain, Ince, Mills, Thackray, and Hargraves were present. Mr. Wilson, the King street tobacconist, who has already rendered effective service to the trade, accepted the invitation of the committee to sit with them at this meeting. Mr. Davidson presented an exhaustive statement of the case as it appeared from the grocers' standpoint and a thorough study of the Regulations. Mr. Davidson's examination of the question concluded with suggestions of what amendments would be acceptable to the trade and would at the same time be sufficient for the protection of the revenue. The main essential he considered to be proof of honest possession, and anything that superseded or ignored this should, in his opinion, be left out out of the Regulations. The committee concurred in Mr. Davidson's suggestions, and instructed their secretary, Mr. Willis, to write to Mr. Miall, the Commissioner of Inland Revenue, requesting him to name a day when he could confer with them on the matter.

What is now all-important is that the committee should be of one mind upon the amendments they want to have effected. It is necessary that they should prepare their case thoroughly beforehand, and be definlte in the direction the reforms should take. If there is simply a vague, incoherent desire to have certain of the regulations done away, without any preparation to offer a workable substitute for those, it is unlikely that the conference sought will be productive of good results.

THE GROCERS' AT-HOME.

The Grocers, of Toronto, have fixed the date of their "At-Home." It is to be on the 23rd of January, at Harry Webb's. Their programme divides the evening into two parts, that before, and that after the refreshment hour. The first part will be whiled away with music and readings; the second part, for those who remain, with dancing and promenading. The committee of management pronouuce the rooms all that could be desired for such an occasion. Last year they were not nearly so happy in their meeting place. This "At-Home" is not an Association affair. It is a social gathering of members of the trade and their friends. It tends to soften the asperities of competition, and is therefore an influence of good. We wish the assembly a pleasant evening.

We have been advised by Mr. D. R. Ross, of the Embro Oatmeal Mill, to let the trade know through his advertisement that he has commenced the manufacture of Rolled Wheat and Graham Flour, and, like his Oatmeals, none but the best quality will be supplied to customers.

Alexander Cairns, Paisley, Scotland.

BLAIKLOCK BROS, Agents,

17 Common St., MONTREAL.

These goods are guaranteed to be of the very finest quality, and are specially supplied to Her Majesty The Queen. To be obtained from all first-class grocers.

J. W. Martin has opened a new grocery in Elginburg.

I. Hulse, Schomberg, is selling off his stock preparatory to closing up business.

Penetanguishene merchants resolved to give no holiday presents to their customers.

It is likely that next season another firm of pork packers will be added to the local list.

Messrs. Fallis & Williams, Prince Albert, Ont., have opened their new store with a large stock of fresh groceries.

Jas. Somerville, manager of Robert Rae's store, Thedford, has been sick lately, but is able to be around again.

Mr. H. L. Davison, merchant, Elgin has been selling his goods by auction. He will go out of business.

Mr. J. Douglas, Dobbinton, called on THE GROCER this week. He is an extensive dealer in butter, and the trade here speak highly of his shipments.

Mr. Thos. Beare, Whitevale, had a coat taken from his store on Friday night. The guilty party is known and no doubt will be punished.

Mr. C. Mason, Shelburne, spent Christmas Day in the city. He says trade in his locality is very satisfactory, though payments have been a little slow.

The tea firm of McDonald & Morgan, Picton, is dissolved. Mr. Alex. McDonald continues the business. Mr. Sherman Morgan will continue in the employ of the new firm.

We regret to learn that Mr. James Dunfee, grocer, Port Hope, is laid up with an abscess in the bowels. Jim is well liked by all, and it is hoped he will soon be seen at his store near the bridge.

The only grocery man on Belleview Ave., City, Mr. D. W. Clark, takes THE GROCER. He has tried other trade papers, but finds THE GROCER suffices, and its reports accurate.

Mr. John D. Sallmon, formerly with R. C. Macfie & Co., confectioners, of London, but laterly with Messrs. D. S. Perrin & Co., wholesale grocers, of the same city, has secured a lucrative position in Chicago, for which place he has left.

The grocery stock of Mr. S. Hersey, of Exeter, assigned, was sold the other day to Mr. T. B. Carling for 27½ cents on the dollar. Mr. Carling gave Mr. Hersey the privelege to redeem it, if he chose, in three days.

Some time during the evening of Tuesday week, an entry was made into Mr. James Dunfee's grocery store at Port Hope, all that was missed was some fifty or seventy-five cents out of the till, and probably some tobacco and cigars.

Mr. H. G. Taylor, Windsor, bought out the stock of a general store in that place a short time ago, and is well pleased at his success. He not only "holds the trade" left him by Mr. Parent, but is continually increasing his business.

Two stocks were offered for sale by W. Y. Brunton & Son, London, but a purchaser was found for only one of them. The gents' furnishings stock of W. H. Krahling, of Stratford, invoiced at $450.55, was sold to Mr. McIntosh for fifty cents on the dollar. The Buchanan stock was withdrawn.

Mr. G. E. Young, one of Chatham's leading grocery merchants, had as fine a Xmas window as could be found in Western Ontario. Mr. Young has a fine large store stocked with choice groceries and fruits, and while the bad roads interfered with business generally, his "attractive" store was well patronized during the holidays.

At a recent meeting in Cleveland, of the dairy and food Commissioners of the United States, the Hon. Hiram Wilson, of Wisconsin, said: "In Canada they not only keep all the cream in milk, but add more cream, and are more careful and exact in manufacture, and Canada cheese sells for 1½ to 2 cents more than American cheese, in foreign markets. Canada is crowding the United States out of the market."

Mr. Hurd, merchant, Bradford, has been greatly bothered by groups of boys collecting at his shop windows, and besmearing them with tobacco spit. Twice recently a large pane of glass has been broken, the last time evidently by a stone, the person guilty carrying away a quantity of candies. Mr. Hurd has issued small bills offering a reward of $5 for information that will lead to the conviction of the guilty party.

A. L. Dent was charged at the police court Woodstock, with selling liquor in less quantities than three-half pints. The information, it transpired, was laid by Wm. Sutherland, of the firm of J. Lewis & Co. Mr. Sutherland stated in the box that Dent had sued on a note which he held against the firm of Lewis & Co., and it was for that reason he laid the information. As he put it, "When any one kicks us we kick back." The magistrate imposed a fine of $40 and costs. C. W. Oliver for prosecution. S. G. McKay for defence.

TRADE NOTES.

The business hitherto carried on under the name of Eckardt, Kyle & Co., will in future be known as H. P. Eckardt & Co.

Raisins sell quicker and look better if the lumps are broken and all the large stems picked out.

Groceries and coal oil make a poor mixture. Too much attention cannot be paid to seeing that coal oil is kept well out of the way of your other goods.

One who makes a day book of his head, and trusts to memory instead of entering credit sales as soon as sold, looses many dollars in a year by putting off.

The Edwardsburg Starch Co. has appointed Mr. C. P. Graham as successor to Mr. Arch. Hutchison to look after their Western Ontario business. The appointment is a popular one with the trade.

Eckardt, Kyle &.Co. are offering a line of canned pine apples packed in Bahama Isles at $2.90 to $3. Being put up when they were fresh and ripe the quality is very fine.

The business men of Lobo, Delaware and Caradoc townships and the villages of Komoka, Delaware, Poplar Hill, Coldstream and Fern Hill, are presenting a petition to the directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway to have a station placed at Komoka.

One who never fails to keep a select supply of butter and eggs, as does J. Atkinson, 250 Parliment Street, city, should draw custom, and such he does. He reports his business increasing rapidly, and collectlons ahead of last year.

Messrs. James Turner & Co., Hamilton, are offering a new thing in fish; namely "steam compressed cod." It is neatly put up in one pound cartoons, and are warranted to keep nice for a year. For grocers who handle fine goods, it is the safest way of handling prepared cod.

You can lose more than we do by not subscribing for this paper.

GROCERIES DURING 1889.

It is generally conceded that this branch of business rests upon a more stable footing, and is conducted on more enlightened principles than other lines of trade. Here is seldom found surplus stock to be held over until the following season or a decided depreciation of values in stock on hand. Prudently bought goods, although there may be a rise or fall in price in special articles, are, on the average, generally worth cost, and are always saleable. While the stock-in-trade is thus in a substantially good condition, the book accounts are also on a fairly satisfactory basis. There are no bills dated some months ahead of the date of shipment, with an understanding that the time will be extended for a further term when due. The grocers' accounts are not sold on the basis of what is called "Dating goods ahead;" nor are they subject to a large allowance as discount for cash if paid shortly after purchase —an allowance sometimes out of all proportion to the value for the use of the money until the account falls due. To illustrate what is meant take two dry goods merchants in the same town doing business under like conditions, in other respects the one buying for cash and the other on credit. The cash man gets five or six per cent. off four months' purchases at the expiration of thirty days. This means that his cash earns him from twenty to twenty-four per cent. per annum, while money is worth only six or seven per cent. per annum. Competitors, even with all other facilities equal (which is seldom the case) and of equal ability, can't hope to succeed against such unreasonable and unfair discrimination, and the result in many cases is inevitable failure. Such a system enriches the rich, and in the struggle to keep even exhausts the poor. No such anomaly exists in the grocery trade. Every sale is made on a business basis of two or four months, according to the character of the goods, and a discount for cash allowed with some regard to the current value of money. An effort was made during the year by the trade to further reduce the terms, which, in all probability, will be carried out at no distant day. It may be inferred from what has been stated that a branch of business conducted on such principles would hardly be liable to speculation, and yet the prices of some commodities are occasionally subject to sudden and heavy fluctuations. Two notable instances have occurred during the year. Sugar rose rapidly early in the season, and dropped as quickly towards the close. How far the sugar trusts were responsible for this result is difficult to say. It is, however, generally admitted that no satisfactory reason has been given for the abnormally high figures at which sugar was sold during the spring and early summer months. In mentioning the sugar trusts as a probable factor in this unaccountable advance no reference is made to the sugar agreement among the Canadian grocers. While this agreement fixes a uniform advance on graded sugars, it has no bearing whatever on refiners' prices. Fortunately, in Canada we have none of these gigantic trusts, although our refiners' prices will necessarily be largely governed by the foreign markets.

The other instance of a sudden advance was in canned goods. Some of the canning companies became embarrassed financially. The goods fell into the possession of the banks. The market got demoralized. The banks grew impatient and slaughtered the goods at prices far below the cost of production. Shortly after this the late spring frost destroyed the canning crop, and in consequence the goods went up with a bound and have remained so. The canning industry has passed through several years of depression, and it is altogether unlikely that the packers will repeat such folly with the recollection of their recent unsatisfactory experience. The advance in sugar took place at a season when the market is expected to be firm, which may account for many merchants holding large stocks. When the drop came there were few large holders outside of the refiners. It may fairly be said that this year, contrary to almost universal experience, both wholesale and retail merchants, owing to the rise, have made money more or less on sugars. In the case of canned goods they were held chiefly by one or two houses, who were doubtless large gainers by the heavy advance. Outside of these two lines there has been but little speculation during the year.

The tea trade has been steady with a fair demand and perhaps increased activity, with higher prices in medium and low grade Japans. Indian teas have also been growing in public favor, while Young Hysons will show a corresponding decrease. Congous and other blacks, as well as fancy brands have probably maintained their position, with a consumption somewhat in excess of former years.

Coffee, subject to a few incidental fluctuations, has shown a gradual improvement during the year and closes with a firm market and moderate demand. It is a difficult matter, however, to predict the future of the coffee market in the face of the unsettled state of political affairs in Brazil. Should the provisional republican government be unable to quell revolutionary movements there is no telling where the coffee market will stand within a very short time.

The spice trade has not been characterized by any feature deserving special mention. Pepper has fallen during the last few months while ginger has risen, and is now at its highest point for the year. Nutmegs and mace have also risen and still remain high. In other classes there has been no notable change.

Valencia raisins (except the first shipments, which always sell at fancy figures) opened at moderate prices and steadily showed an upward tendency until the crop in Denia became almost exhausted, when a decided advance took place, which advance still remains firm. The demand is fairly active, with a somewhat limited supply. Malagas commenced the season with a rather high range of prices, which was quickly followed by a sharp increase, having the effect of checking importation. This necessarily caused an accumulation of stock in the hands of the Malaga shippers, which in turn brought about a decline in prices, too late, however, to affect the quantity of Canadian importations and the result is to leave our local market almost bare after supplying the demands of the Christmas trade.

Tobaccos have gone through the year without change, the market being steady and the consumption keeping pace with our increased population.

Fancy groceries are gradually becoming a more important factor in the trade. With the increase of wealth and modern comforts, the luxuries of to-day become the necessaries of to-morrow. People don't seem able to give up what they get accustomed to. "Use doth breed such habit in a man." Indeed the whole character of the trade has been undergoing a steady change for the better, and the consumer is being supplied with a higher quality of goods.

The year has brought its share of failures in this as well as in other branches of trade both wholesale and retail. The best information indicates that the losses will exceed the average. This hardly argues that our merchants are getting excessive or unreasonable profits. Indeed, it is notorious that money is only made in the grocery trade by the closest industry and economy. The year, however, will, it is believed, be fairly satisfactory to the trade generally. Both volume and results show a slight improvement on its predecessor. It is hazardous to forecast the future. While sharp, thinking men hesitate to raise the danger signal, they feel compelled to advise caution, and fear the coming winter will see more than ordinary trials. The short crop, especially in some localities, and the low prices both contribute to depress the farming industry. Remittances from the country have been exceptionally slow, and the prospects for improvement are not encouraging. Some are inclined to think that even the wholesale grocers will have to assist their customers through the coming season. This trade appears to be the last to feel and the first to recover from a period of depression.—From the Empire.

JANUARY OR JUNE FOR STOCK TAKING.

Is January the best month in the year for stock-taking? Many merchants take stock in this month, but it is a question if it would not be better to shift this work over to the month of June.

There are a number of reasons why June is the best month and January the worst for this work. January days are short, cold, and dark, a good deal of the work has to be done by gas light, it is the festive time of the year, when the clerks have a good many engagements on hand that they naturally want to keep. To have to work when others are having a good time, does not make the clerk very happy in his work of stock-taking.

Fluctuations in prices at this time of the year are common, making estimates more or less uncertain.

June is one of the dull months, coming just before clerks go off on their summer holidays. They are in better trim for this kind of work, the days are long and warm. A few good long days can be put in at this work without any inconvenience. The demand for goods is meagre, and prices seldom change at this time of year.

On the whole, we think that a change from January to June would be desirable. Those who have made this change do not regret it; they would not go back again to the old system of stock-taking during the cold dark days of January upon any consideration.

Some time ago the District of Columbia adopted a regulation imposing a license tax upon commercial travellers. After a time the courts declared that the measure was unconstitutional. Then a number of the travelling men who had paid a license sued for a return of the money, and a decision has just been rendered that the District will have to refund every dollar collected as commercial travellers' licenses within the past three years. This will in all probability lead to similar suits in other States where like exactions have been illegally made, and it is probable that they will also prove successful.

TO THE GROCERY TRADE.

The undersigned has been appointed Agent in the United States and the Dominion of Canada by

The Associated Tea Planters, Ltd.

OF LONDON, CAPITAL, £50,000.

Under the auspices of the Indian Tea Districts Association.

The object of the company is to push the sale of their product, feeling certain that when systematically brought to consumers' notice its merits will be so manifest as to give it the front rank in public favor, as is the case in Great Britain.

Roundly, the annual consumption in that country is 80,000,000 lbs. during last crop year This is the best answer to the twaddle about the excessive quantity of tannin in Indian tea. Consumers in England are no fools : they know a cup of good tea.

Supplies will be held in Canada and the States and the undersigned, or his assistants, will make regular calls on the Trade. Samples will also be promptly forwarded on application.

TOMATO PACK—1889.

Editor Barrett kindly sends the following summary of the annual report of the tomato pack in the United States to appear in the American Grocer.

The twelfth annual estimate of the tomato packing in the United States during the season of 1889, made by the American Grocer, results in a total of 2,976,765 cases of two dozen cans each, a shortage as compared with the season of 1888 of 366,372 cases, or a reduction of nearly 11 per cent. The deficiency is attributed to the unusual amount of rain which fell on the Atlantic seaboard during the summer, and particularly to the heavy storms in September. Had it not been for an extension of the industry and a good season in the Western and Southwestern States and on the Pacific coast, the supply would have been unusually light.

The result, based upon returns from over 400 factories, compares with that for the previous year as follows:

Maryland	671,333	969,733
Virginia and W. Va.	184,174	150,000
New Jersey	516,701	789,363
Delaware	191,797	227,030
California	234,030	140,519
New York	142,250	197,436
Ohio	154,200	104,100
Indiana	194,150	153,150
Illinois	102,750	50,388
Michigan	44,084	49,517
Iowa	107,905	106,702
Missouri	102,608	85,000
Kansas	72,800	38,218
Nebraska	42,000	42,100
Colorado	15,000	50,000
Canada	34,325	73,990
Massachusetts	35,900	29,760
Arkansas	67,093	21,100
Texas	3,300	20,000
Pennsylvania	17,292	20,200
Connecticut	11,770	13,600
Tennessee	3,300	8,800
North Carolina	4,950	1,400
Mississippi	7,000	1,330
Minnesota	- - -	260
Georgia	2,500	- - -
Kentucky	1,563	- - -
Dakota	12,000	- - -
Total.	2,976,765	3,343,137

The total output in 1889 compares with the pack of previous years as follows:

	Cases—2 doz. in each.
1884	2,021,177
1885	1,434,006
1886	2,363,760
1887	2,817,048
1888	3,343,137
1889	2,976,765
Total seven years	17,899,472
Average per year	2,557,067
Average per year 1887-89	3,045,617

The average character of the supply has not been what it should. Although the packing season has been closed less than three months, there is a pronounced demand for fine goods. The lack of high grade goods is probably due to the large quantity of country-packed goods put up by inexperienced canners. The result of this is that a difference exists in quotations between standards and extra hand-packed goods of from twenty-five to forty cents per dozen. Such a disparity should put a premium upon the packing of superior grades and induce canners to make special efforts and incur extra expense to establish a market and reputation for their brands.

THE WESTERN STATES.

The West and Southwes ttogether can now, in a fair season, be safely counted upon to furnish one-third of the total supply. It seems to be the rule that if we have a bad season in one section of the country it will be good in another, so that the shortage in one direction is compensated for by a large supply from the other directions.

CANADA.

A number of factories were discontinued. An early frost and period of drouth made a light pack. We are indebted to Editor McLean, of THE CANADIAN GROCER, for assistance, not only highly appreciated but of great value. The season in Canada opened early in September, and closed just after the middle of October. The pack shows a decrease of about fifty per cent.

Tomatoes during the past year have been sold in this market from 70 cents to $1.15 per dozen. Throughout the season fine goods have been in demand at full figures. In fact, we might say that at no time has the supply of really choice tomatoes been equal to requirements. This emphasizes the position taken by the American Grocer in January last when it called attention to the very light stock of high grade canned goods, taking the position that the solution for overproduction was for canners to pay more attention to quality and less to quantity; that their aim should be to improve the quality of their output, because the cost of extra goods was so much above the price of standards that more money was to be made on a small output at high prices than on a large output sold at about the cost of production and oftentimes for less.

For those packers who aim to put up goods above the average standard of quality, we believe that the future is full of promise. The year closes upon a market scantily supplied with choice tomatoes and peas, and only fairly stocked with high grade corn.

WHOLESALERS SELLING TO CONSUMERS.

EDITOR CANADIAN GROCER.

DEAR SIR,—Knowing that you take a deep interest in the grocery trade, I take the liberty of asking your opinion of a wholesale grocer house sending out small orders from $4 to $8 each. I had a country farmer in to-day, and he wanted to sell me some geese, remarking at the time that he had been in the habit of sending geese and turkeys to Toronto, but seeing that the weather was not suitable he had been notified that the Toronto market was full, and that the party did not want them at present, so I offered him a price for them in trade, and he answered that his wife and another woman had sent to Toronto for their groceries and had got them at a wholesale house, and that the amount of the bill for the two ladies was $8. He remarked that he got them at about one-half what we could give them for. For instance, he quoted lemon peel at 20c., spices 25c., currants and raisins at about 6c. What would you do with such men?

RETAILER.

[There was a time when the wholesale merchants of this city thought nothing of selling to consumers. The organization of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association some years ago stopped this practice. The Association got every wholesale firm here with one exception to sign an agreement not to sell to any but the trade. As far as we know they have carefully adhered to this. We have many times heard them refusing to sell to consumers. The Honor Roll containing the names of all wholesale grocers who signed this agreement is hanging in the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association rooms. If any of our readers know of a firm who has knowingly broken the agreement it should be exposed.—ED. GROCER.]

THE CREAMERY ASSOCIATION

EDITOR CANADIAN GROCER.

DEAR SIR,—Allow me space to answer "A Member" of Ontario Creameries Association in GROCER of 20th inst.

The object of holding Convention in Seaforth rather than Toronto is, the Association hopes that farmers in vicinity of Seaforth will attend the Convention. There are a number of creameries in that section of country operated by Mr. John Hannah with Seaforth as his centre. If his patrons are in any way benefitted it certainly will do the country more good than if Convention were held in Toronto and no farmers to attend.

Let me cordially invite every country merchant to attend the Convention, it will do them good. Gov. Hoard of Wisconsin, and Hiram Smith, of Wisconsin, both eminent dairymen, will deliver addresses. The Convention will be held on 14th and 15th January, at Seaforth. By sending $1 to R. J. Graham, Belleville, Secretary of the Association, for membership fee, he will send back to such member an Association certificate, entitling him to reduced R.R. fare to the Convention.

In the future, with your permission, I shall be happy to ventilate the deep can setting of milk, and the salting of butter, both of which have been referred to by some of your correspondents.

ANOTHER MEMBER.

The Inland Revenue Department has recently issued a bulletin of about thirty pages, which is devoted exclusively to the subject of baking powder, and which shows that the majority of the goods in the market are adulterated and unfit for use. Prof. A. McGill, who has had charge of this important work for the Government, says that "imperial baking powder is an excellent powder." A word to the sensible housekeeper should be sufficient.

A GROCERS' TRAINING SCHOOL.

Why not have a training school for grocers? This was asked by a young man who had just embarked in the grocery business. This question has been talked about very often during the past five years, but nothing outside of talk has ever been attempted. The idea of such an adjunct to our Grocers' Association may seem to some to be an admission that some grocers do not understand their business. "An open confession is good for the soul," we are told, and therefore I confess that many grocers do not understand the business as well as they would care to. In Europe grocery clerks have to serve an apprenticeship of some years before they can be passed as proficient. In this country grocery clerks after serving a few years, oftimes in stores where their employer knows but little about the business become owners of stores, bringing but little knowledge of the business with them. To such a training school would prove a blessing. A meeting once or twice during each month for information and instruction about teas and other goods sold would be a good thing. It is hard to get a man to admit that he does not understand his business thoroughly, even if he felt that a better knowledge about some things would be to his gain and advantage.—Retail Grocers' Advocate.

The educational feature of the Retail Grocers' Association has not received the prominence it deserves. That much can be done to add to the foolhandler's knowledge of the goods he offers for sale is undisputed. In addition to a public training school, he should make his store and his home just such a place. It should be the aim of every merchant to know all about the merchandise he sells, including the best modes of preparing it for use. The grocer must become an experimenter and test that which he sells. The worst sort of competitor is the ignorant grocer, he who knows next to nothing about the business, ignorant of the nature of the inevitable shrinkages which reduce profits imperceptibly. He knows not that hams shrink in weight, that dried fruits lose by evaporation, that down weight means a steady loss, that quality is injured by exposure, that the service adds a heavy charge to goods beyond what he considers cost. This ignorant dealer cuts prices more from want of knowledge than from a desire to undersell. Many of his errors can only be corrected by his coming in contact with experienced men, and these he can meet in an organization. It is alleged that associations place men on a level, that the sharp, shrewd, well posted man gives the unskilled, inexperienced, thoughtless fellow the benefits of his experience. Does he not in so doing remove a disturbing element and make the path to money getting smoother? By teaching others the art of money getting he improves his own chances for gathering shekels. The store, the home, the association should be training schools. They are so made by the best retailers, and that is one reason of their success. They master details.—American Grocer.

YOUR FLOORS.

We have frequently stopped and looked about us, on entering some grocery stores, which seem to be butcher shops, instead of that which they are represented.

The fault found is the habit many of our enterprising grocers have, namely, putting sawdust on their floors, and we see no benefit derived therefrom, unless it be the trouble of sweeping. A few months ago we saw where a burglar had successfully tapped a till in a grocery store, when the proprietor would have heard him entering had not sawdust been placed on the floor.

Your customers are chiefly ladies, and for their benefit you should abandon this habit, and a clean floor will not be the cause of a customer going to another merchant for goods required. Ladies do not care to have their dresses covered with sawdust, and this cannot be avoided without the trouble of holding them up, and no one cares to do this while purchasing.

Another complaint we hear of is fish barrels blocking up your doorways; one cannot pass in or out without the dress touching the barrel, leaving a stain difficult to be taken out, and the smell of fish on their dresses.

If these are put outside to keep cool and fresh we would suggest that they be put outside the back door, or in your storehouse, and a sample put in an empty grape basket and set on a box, would show your goods to better advantage than in under the brine in which the fish are packed.

The big family grocers have recently taken to getting up "blends" of coffees and teas, and making leaders of them to attract trade. It is a good device, and undoubtedly pays well those who have the happy knack to get up a desirable blend. Mocha and Java coffees can be deliciously blended, but tastes are so variable that what will suit some will not suit others; but even here the clever grocer can meet all demands, for he can have as many blends of these two coffees as he chooses. In teas, even greater success attends the grocer who understands their qualities and favorably blend them. This blending business is something that every grocer might study with profit, and its introduction into his trade cannot but prove satisfactory. By establishing the reputation of his blend of coffees and teas he is sure to attract an increased business to his establishment, and it costs nothing but the exercise of taste and judgment to do so. Any grocer, in town or country, may get up a desirable blend, but we would suggest that no one undertake it unless he has first-class goods with which to do it.—Phil. Cash Grocer.

Mr. J. H. Wethey, called on THE GROCER yesterday. He has had a splendid trade this year. He sold as much in October and November as he did the entire year before.

Honor is to business men what courage is to the soldier; what zeal is to the advocate; or impartiality to the judge.

Have you tried the Cash System? It would add years to your physical life, as well as to your business life, to be able to buy and sell for cash.

Are you insured? If so, read your policy, and don't fail to keep your premiums paid up.

"No man has a right to hazard other men's property without fairly apprizing his creditors of the nature and extent of the risk, and obtaining their consent to the measure." — Horace Greeley.

TORONTO, DEC. 31, 1889.

DRY GOODS.

A lively trade could not be looked for during the past week, as in no year are the holidays a season of buying. In this year an exceptionally dull week was not at all disappointing. The trade for the season, throughout, has been far from an active one. The travellers are now going out. A disposition is showing itself to buy more freely in woollen goods. The prospect for a good sorting-up trade is brightening.

HARDWARE.

The current of trade dwindled considerably during holiday week. The demand was confined chiefly to articles of fancy make. The tendency of prices is to harden and increase. The last advance was in galvanized, annealed, oiled and bright iron wire. This is the second progressive movement in these wires within a few weeks. The change is noted in our price list. The quotation for barbed wire has been withdrawn, owing to the unlikelihood of any being good for a single day.

GROCERIES.

This is usually the quietest week in the whole year in the grocery trade, and the one now current is no exception to the rule. A few travellers have gone out, but they are doing very little business. Every one is busy stock-taking.

CANNED GOODS.

There is no change in prices this week, but all fruit and vegetable staples are firmly held. A review of the tomato pack appears in another column. Salmon is easy, but lobsters are firm.

COFFEES.

Local markets unchanged but outside the feeling on Rios has been inclined to weakness though there is some uncertainty as to the future.

DRIED FRUIT.

The market is generally dull and prices unchanged. Currants are easier at 5⅜ to 5½c. for barrels. Dates steady; stocks here are light, good quality are going at 6 to 6¼c. with a few at 6½c. Figs dull, the supply of natural in bags is now sufficient for the demand and prices are easier at 4¾ to 5c. Prunes have been dull this week but prices have been steady. Valencia raisins have continued the strong feature of the market. Holders are firm at 7c. A letter from New York reports the "arrival of the Italia" with 80,000 boxes, but three-fourths of this belongs to two firms in New York; there is a disposition to force prices still higher. Sultanas keep firm at 10 to 11c. for choice and 8½c. for inferior. Malaga raisins are dull and stocks are very light; London layers are offering at $3.10; no blue or black baskets offering.

GREEN FRUIT.

The Christmas trade has been good, a great deal of stock having been run off since the holiday demand set in. The mildness of the weather has favored trade in these fruits, as if the weather had been very cold shipments would not have been possible. The delay in the arrival of the Polynesian brought the special Christmas stock of fancy oranges too late upon the market for the holidays. Consequently, a lot of this Valencia fruit is on hand that was expected to be sold off pretty well by this time. It is worth $5 to $5.50 per case. Though scarce last week they are now plentiful. Of the Florida oranges, the russets are worth $3 to $.25; the fancy brights are $3.50 to $3.75. The Jamaica oranges appear not to have entirely left the market yet. They are worth $5 per barrel. The Jaffa stock, now scarce, is worth $4 per box. The Palmero lemons are $3.25 to $3.50 in 360's, and $4 to $4.25 in 300's. The Messinas are $3.50 to $4 in 360's, and $4 to $4.50 in 300's. The Malaga grapes are worth $6.50 to $7 for common weights, and $8 for heavy weights.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The quantity of butter marketed has been, as was to be expected, below the average. The holiday week is never a brisk one, as farmers do not come to the city then as numerously as in weeks immediately before and after. The demand has likewise been in a state almost of repose, so that the position in which we reported prices last week has not been materially affected by business done since last reports. The chief stress of the demand for holidays fell before Christmas, when not only the quantity but quality of the butter purchased was mostly sufficient for the holidays. Choice dairy packed butter is 15 to 18c. Store packed is worth 10 to 15c. but there is no zest to the demand for it. Large rolls are 15 to 16c. Pound rolls are 18 to 22c. Very few of the latter go at 18c. The price most commonly paid is 20c., though plenty of very good brings 22c. Creamery butter is 25 to 28c. and sells well within the lines of its consumption, that is, among those who are willing to pay for a fancy butter. Cheese of the summer make is 8 to 9½c. That of early autumn make is 10½ to 11c. Stocks show no sign of exhaustion, so that the prospect of buyers yet coming to the terms of makers is not strong.

FISH.

There is no trade yet to speak of. Preparations for the market which opens in January are being made by the buying and freezing of stock. The prices reported last week remain unaltered. Whitefish are 7c., salmon trout are 7½c., salted sea-salmon are $12 per barrel of 200 lbs. Fresh steak-cod are 6 to 6½c. Haddock are 5 to 5½c. Labrador herring are $5 to $5.50 per barrel, and $3.25 to $3.75 per half-barrel. Shore-herring is $4 per barrel, and $2.25 per half-barrel. Smelts are 6c. per lb. Boneless cod are 6 to 8c. per lb. Boneless fish, 4½ to 5c.

CRANBERRIES.

The Cape Cod cranberries are now $10 to $12 per barrel. They are sold in boxes at $4. There has been a growing demand since last report.

NUTS.

Demand dull and prices nominally unchanged.

PEELS.

No hing doing. Holders ask same as before.

SUGAR.

The weakness noted in our last issue resulted in a break in the prices of white sugars of 3-16c. per lb. being a decline of ¼c. within a week. This brought prices down to the following basis:—

Granulated 1 to 15 bbls	$0 7⅜
" 15 bbls and over	0 7¼
Paris lumps, boxes	0 7⅞
Ex. grou'd, bbls. box's & less than bbls	0 8¼
Powdered H. bbls.	0 7½
" less than bbl	0 7¾

There has not been so much of a change in yellows. They were comparatively lower before and wholesale houses are working off old stock. There is a lower market however and sales have been made at 5¼c. for low grades. Foreign markets are also lower and latest cables are weak.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is a fair inquiry at firmer prices. Good Trinidad molasses are selling at 37 to 38c. in hogsheads, and syrups are quoted on a basis of 3⅝ to 3¾c. for dark. Fine American corn syrup is quoted at 4⅝ to 4⅞c. in barrels, and 4¾ to 5c. in half barrels.

TEAS.

Are neglected this week, as is natural during the holiday season. There are a few Japans moving, which show better value than has been offering for some two or three months past. Holders are easing off a little in prices owing to a dull demand. Pekoe Congous are showing exceedingly good value. Young Hysons from fourths to good seconds still scarce and in demand.

Business in Indian teas has been slack on account of the Xmas holidays and stock-taking. The home market continues firm, and the recovery in medium Pekoes has been maintained. The offerings were large and included some useful teas from Assam, Sylhet, and Caehar, and a few from Darjeeling, which met with considerable attention and sold at better prices, especially for Pekoes up to 10d., as well as Pekoe Souchongs and Brokens. Good medium to fine Pekoes at 11d. to 1s. 2d., and Broken Pekoes from 11d. to 1s. 6d. sell readily with a hardening tendency. Fannings with strong dark liquors, suitable for blending purposes from 9d. to 1s. 3d. command exceptionally full rates.

For Ceylon teas under 1s. the enquiry has been strong at fully previous rates, but Pekoes and Broken Pekoes at 1s. 1d. and upwards have sold at weak rates and offer good value to buyers. The quality continues to be of desirable character. The export from Ceylon October 1 to November 20th, 1889, is 4,537,000 lbs. as against 4,253,000 lbs. for the same dates 1888. On spot business has been dull.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

APPLES—The apple trade has not improved. Stock shipped to England has been complained of as in bad condition. The packing had to be done over, and the fruit was depreciated. The English buyers, too, appear to have been fastidious. A loose barrel, or one slightly damp would be at once classified as damaged, although the contents might be in the best condition. Shipping has been checked somewhat by the consequent fall in English prices. Good apples are worth $2 to $2.50 per bbl. by the car load, and $2.50 to $3 in small lots.

BEANS—Prices are unchanged—at $1.50 to $1.60 outside, and $1.70 to $1.85 here—and trade this week nearly at a standstill.

DRIED APPLES—There is no difference in the situation or the prices at this moment and those of last report, sales being at 5½ to 6c. in lots, and 6 to 6½c. in small quantities.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Old apples are 9½c., and new 10c. Trade is quiet.

EGGS—Limed are 18 to 19c., fresh are firm at 24c., and new laid are down to 25c. The latter have decreased in price on account of the withdrawal of the exceptional demand that was active before Christmas, also on account of the questionable freshness of so-called new-laid eggs that were brought into the market by high prices.

GAME—Partridges are 50 to 55c. per brace. Black and mallard ducks are 75 to 90c. per brace; wood-ducks, pintails, butterballs, teal, blue-bills, red-heads, are 35 to 45c. per brace. Prairie chickens are $1.50 per brace. Quails are $2 to $2.50 per doz. Rabbits are 25 to 30c. per pair. Trade has been very good. There will be no quotations for partridges or ducks after this one until next autumn, the close season beginning this week.

HAY—No. 1 pressed on track is worth $10.50 to $11. For No. 2 pressed there is no market. No. 1, loose on street, is worth $14 to $15. No. 2, loose, is worth $8 to $11. There is a demand for good hay.

HIDES—There is no variableness in the signs of the market. Moreover, the business done since last report has been but light. In car lots cured hides are worth 5c., and green ones are worth: No. 1, 4¼c; No. 2, 3¼c.

HONEY—Clear is 11½ to 13c. Honey in the comb is 17 to 19c. The volume and course of trade have undergone no change.

HOPS—The crop seems to have been sufficient to keep prices regular. Yearlings are 8 to 11c. New hops are 12 to 14c.

OATS—Are worth 29 to 30c. in car loads, and 32 to 33c. on the street.

ONIONS—Are worth $1.75 to $2. Only choice bring the latter price.

POTATOES—In car loads are worth 55 to 57c., and in small lots from 65 to 70c. There is not as much sprightliness in the demand as was noticeable last week.

POULTRY—Geese are 7 to 8c. per lb. Turkeys are 8 to 10c. Ducks are 50 to 75c. per pair. Chickens are 30 to 50c. per pair. These prices, which are fairly good, indicate the proportions of the supply. It is not bad, and it is not extraordinarily good.

STRAW—No. 1 oat is $7 pressed, $6 loose, and $10 to $10.50 in sheaves. For No. 2 there is no demand, nor is there any for wheat straw.

SKINS — Sheepskins are growing more valuable as the cold weather approaches and the wool consequently gets longer. Good ones now bring $1.15 to $1.25. No. 1 calf-skins are yet 6c. per lb., and No. 2, 5c.

TALLOW—Rough is 1¼ to 2c. Rendered is 5 to 5¼c. The general slaughtering has increased the supply greatly.

WOOL—Fleece wool is 22 to 23c. per lb. Pulled wool is worth 24c. for lowest quality, 25c. for super, and 30c. for extra-super.

PROVISIONS.

BACON.—Long clear is 7½ to 7¾c. Increasing stocks are bringing prices down. Breakfast bacon is 11 to 12c. Roll bacon is 9 to 10c.

HAMS.—Smoked hams are 11 to 12c, and green ones are 10 to 11c.

LARD—American, in tubs, is 9c.; in pails 9½c. Canadian, in tubs, is 9½c.; in pails, is 10c.

MESS PORK—Brings $13.55 to $14. Choice Canadian oats are worth $14.50.

DRESSED HOGS—Are worth $5.30 to $5.40 delivered in rail lots. Butchers are paying $5.75 to $6.25 for clean select-weight hogs, ranging from 100 to 150 lbs.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

MONTREAL, DEC. 31, 1889.

IRON AND HARDWARE.

There has been little change in the general character of the iron and hardware. Despite the influx of States pig iron into Ontario holders can maintain prices, especially as stocks are light. Summerlee may be quoted at $27 to $27.50, with other brands in proportion. Finished iron has had a fair sale at firm prices. Foreign bars $2.75, with Canadian $2.50. Hoops firm and higher at $3. Tinplates have continued firm at $4.25 to $4.50 for cakes and $4.75 for charcoal, with terne plates at $8.25. Metals have ruled firm. Copper has advanced of late to 14½ to 14¾c. Tin firm at 24 to 25c. Zinc has advanced to $6.50 for sheet and spelter to $6.25.

NAILS.

Prices have been firm and well maintained, but business has been of small volume. The works are largely shut down for needed repairs, stock taking etc. There has been no change in prices which have remained as when last quoted. Horseshoes have remained firm at $3.65 for round and $3.75 for small lots.

Sharp and flat pressed nails from $7.10 for 1-inch to $3.90 for 3-inch per 100 lbs. Horse nails, No. 7, 24c., No. 8, 23c., and No. 9, 22c. Terms—M brand 60 per cent. discount, four months or 5 per cent. off for cash in thirty days.

PAINTS AND OILS.

In leads there continues a firm feeling and an advance is expected in the near future, but for the present transactions are limited to small lots. Association white lead $6.25; No. 1 $5.50; No. 2 $4.75; No. 3 $4.50; dry white lead $5½c, and red do. 4 to 4½c. Turpentine has ruled easier. Jobbing lots are at 72c, but a round lot sold down to 70c.

CEMENT AND FIRE BRICK.

The cement market has manifested a stronger tone, and prices have made a gain of 10c to $2.70 to $2.90; but business has been very quiet. There has been an increase of $3 on the inside price for fire bricks, due to light stocks and the big demand that is by for this time of year. Prices are now very firm at $25, $30.

GLASS.

The market has continued firm at the late advance. Demand has been quiet but some dealers claim that a further advance is not improbable. First break, $1.60, second break, $1.70, with 100 feet at $1.85.

GROCERIES.

Trade as was expected, has been of a holiday character, that is, except in a few special lines the movement has been light in wholesale circles, while retail trade has been brisk in accord with the season. Payments have been rather slack but are expected to improve after the holidays.

SUGARS.

Refined sugar has not improved either in price or demand. Even below 7c. has been accepted for granulated at the factory, which would make the guild price 7⅛c. and there is no indication of immediate improvement. Yellows range from 5 to 6¼c. as to quality with sales of very low grade below the inside.

MOLASSES

The market has continued quiet and unchanged, with nothing of moment to note. Round amounts could be bought at 44c. for Barbadoes, with smaller quantities up to 47c.

TEAS.

The situation has remained much as before, but the movement has been less active. Grades below 20c. have continued firm as ever, especially the extreme low grades, which are very scarce. There are good orders on the market from the west at 15 to 16c., but the quality desired can hardly be secured at these figures. Fine Japan at 20c. is fairly enquired for.

DRIED FRUIT.

Valencia raisins have a firm tone. Supplies in first hands have been well taken up at 6⅞ to 7c., with layers one cent more. Provincial currants are firm at 5½ to 6c., with Vostizza up to 7¼ for choice cases. Prunes are not dear, and are in good supply at 5 to 5½c. for Bordeaux, and 7 to 7½c. for Bosnia. Eleme figs, 9 to 11c. Dried apples, 5c.; evaporated, 7c.

COFFEES.

No change has occurred in the market. Mocha, 28c., 30c., Java, 24c., 29c., Jamaica, 18c., 22c., and Rio, 19c., 21c.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been a good trade in Valencia oranges at $4.75 per case, with Jamaica at $5 per brl. Choice apples, $2.50, $5.25. Almena grapes, $6, $7 per keg. Cranberries, $8, $10 per brl. Lemons in fair request at $2.75, $3.50 per box. Native onions, $2.75 per brl. Cocoanuts, $5, $6, per 100.

SYRUP.

A moderate trade has been done at 48c., 60c. per gallon as to quality.

RICE.

Market has remained steady, with the ordinary average of business. Car lots, $3.70, Japan, 4c., 4¼c., and Patna, 4½c., 5¼c.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been a good demand for canned fruits, in which considerable has been done, notably in peaches, pears, pine apples, and strawberries at steady prices. Strawberries, $2, $2.15; Pine rpples, $2.35, $2.40; Pears, $2, $2.10. A rather easier time has prevailed in tomatoes. A round lot sold off to $1.12½, but many still claim that $1.15 is the lowest. Corn steady at $1.20, $1.30 and peas at $1.25, $1.35. Lobsters have continued scarce and firm at $6.80, $7. Mackerel, $5.25, $5.50 per case, and salmon $1.70, $1.75 per dozen.

FISH.

Trade has been quiet but prices have remained steady. Stocks throughout are not heavy. Labrador herring, $4, Cape Breton herring, $5, $5.25. No. 1 green cod, $5.25, $5.50. B. C. salmon have sold at $11. Haddock and cod 3½c., 4c., and fresh hering, $1.75 per 100.

GRAIN.—The tone of the grain market has been quiet but firm. Wheat has advanced lately. No. 1 hard Manitoba, $1.03 to $1.05; No. 2 hard, $1.02 to $1.03; corn, duty paid, 50 to 51c.; oats, 30 to 32c.; peas, 67 to 70c. per 66 pounds; barley, 45 to 50c.

FLOUR.—The market continues quiet but firm. There has been some enquiry for small lots, but the volume of business was not large. Patent winter has sold at $5.15, spring at $5, Manitoba strong bakers at $4.65, and straight roller at $4.50 to $4.65. Oatmeal continues quiet and steady. We quote: Patent winter, $4.90 to $5.15; patent spring, $5.00 to $5.10; straight roller, $4.50 to $4.65; extra, $4.15 to $4.25; superfine, $3.10 to $3.75; city strong bakers', $4.70 to $4.80; stong bakers', $4.60 to $4.80; strong bakers', bags, $2.40 to $2.50; superfine bags, $1.50 to $1.90; extra bags, $2 to $2.10. Oatmeal standard. $3.90 to $4.10; granulated, $4.10 to $4.30; rolled oats, $4 to $4.50.

PROVISIONS.—The demand continues slow and the market has ruled quiet and steady with only a small jobbing trade. Western short cut pork, $13; mess, $12.25 to $12.75; Canadian short cut, $14.00. Western (Armours and Fairbanks), $1.62½ to $1.65 per pail. Cases (Armours and Fairbanks), 8⅛ to 8⅜ per lb. Canadian lard, $1.60.

EGGS.—The tone of the market has been quiet, but steady. City limed 18 to 20c. held fresh at 22c. to 24c. and fresh at 30c. per dozen.

DRESSED HOGS.—There has been a fair demand and the market has ruled fairly active, with a larger volume of business in small lots. We quote: Car lots at $5.60 to $5.75, and jobbing lots up to $6 per 100 lbs.

HOPS—The market during the past week has been quiet, owing to the limited demand, and few transactions have taken place, but the tone is steady and values are unchanged. A small lot of choice English Kent hops sold at 27c., duty paid. A few small lots of Canadian hops changed hands at 14c., but holders generally are asking 15c. Fair to good may be quoted at 10 to 12c., and old hops at 5 to 7c.

BUTTER—The situation of the market was unchanged, the tone being firm and prices sustained. The demand continues slow, except for fine goods, for which the local demand is good at full prices. Latest advices from abroad on butter say: Butter has continued quiet, the demand for all grades being only of a limited character. Finest creamery at 85 to 90s per cwt., and staler qualities under finest at 50 to 70s. Irish butter, Cork firsts, 121s per cwt.; seconds, 105s; and thirds, 77s. Finest Kiel butter is offered at 125 to 135s per cwt. We quote: Creamery, 22 to 23c.; Townships, choice, 19 to 21c.; Morrisburg, 15 to 18c.; Brockville, 14½ to 16½c.; Western, 12 to 16c.

CHEESE—The market was dull, and without any new feature. The shipments for the past week were 11,386 boxes, as follows: Via Boston, local, 1,261; via Portland, local, 378; ditto through, 9,447. Latest advices from abroad on cheese say: The market has been steady, with a moderate consumptive demand. Holders of strictly fancy Septembers are firm, while buyers have been able to purchase qualities that are a shade under fancy at 6d to 1s per cwt. under our outside quotation. Mediums, with a little meat, have been rather quieter this week, while mild skims are scarce and wanted. We quote to-day fancy September make, white or colored, at 55 to 56s per cwt., and finest Septembers, the least bit faulty, 53 to 54s. Meaty mediums, 30 to 40s; skims, 17 to 22s. We quote: Finest September and October, 10½ to 10¾c.; fine stock, 9¾ to 10½c. Earlier makes, 9 to 9½c.

SOME SUGGESTIONS FOR SALESMEN.

Good salesmen do not give a thought to personal appearance in busy moments.

One of the best salesmen says the seller should only talk enough to keep the buyer talking.

The best salesman of the future will not be ignorant or illiterate—the day for such has gone by.

It is certainly true that salesmen of ready and fluent speech, good talkers, are often surpassed by those who say little.

There is a maxim, "When you buy, keep one eye on the goods and the other on the seller. When you sell keep both eyes on the buyer."

Some purchasers are as fond of talking as the man who talked to himself when there was no one else to listen, and gave as a reason that he "liked to talk to a good man, and liked to hear a good man talk."

Salesmen who are good listeners are usually good observers, and consequently they grow intelligent. If a point can be made clear at all it is all the clearer by brevity, and sensible people prefer evidence to eloquence.

One of the best faculties of speech for a salesman as it is for any person who has to convince others, is that of a short, plain and pithy illustration. It strikes home. Long-winded stories are tedious, and so are hobbies.

The salesman speaks to explain, convince and persuade, and he should keep his final aim constantly in mind. He knows instantly the effect he is producing, and the more favorable it is the better he can talk, because his facilties are encouraged.

Salesmen are the most important of all young clerks, says a well known merchant. A good one will always increase your business, add to your profits, and be of the same service as a partner would have been. A poor salesman will drive away trade, and may ruin your prospects. Let "fancy" men severely alone. Avoid all "loud" fellows.

The salesman who thinks of the meaning and feels the power of a word when he uses t will naturally speak it earnestly and with the right emphasis. Otherwise he will not emphasize it at all, and it is possible that a sale may hang upon the emphasis given to a few important words.—Michigan Tradesman.

WEAK ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisers are very apt to claim too much and assume too little. When the actor was asked by the preacher the secret of his success, the actor replied:—"We present fiction as though it were truth, while you present truth as though it were fiction." The advertiser frequently labors under the weakness of "presenting truth as though it were fiction."

To quietly assume the merit of an article is far more convincing than to noisily claim it. Superlatives and generalities are cheap, common and weak, even with the aid of large type and repetition. The bold claim that an article is better than all its competitors, has a tendency to arouse a spirit of denial. Among the best advertisers, the use of superlatives is very limited, as it is with the most successful salesmen. To assume that an article has superior merit and calmly set forth in clear and explicit language why, or to call attention to its characteristics in such a way that the prospective buyer sees its advantages, is to save arousing opposition or denial, and frequently to secure the cooperation of the customer. The good salesman in an interview takes for granted the superior merits of his wares, proceeding at once to support the position thus taken. An intelligent buyer wants the whys and where.—Buckeye Grocer.

WHAT SHALL WE DO WITH THE BOY ?

When the time arrives that a boy leaves school and enters upon the trade, calling, or profession that he intends to pursue, he is not likely to look upon it as the most momentous time of his life. A great deal depends upon his fitness for the work, and whether he is adapted for it, and if he only could realize it, his future destiny is probably determined at this time.

How many boys take a position, whatever it may be, trade, clerkship, or other employment from any particular choice they may have for it ? Very few ; by far the large majority accept the first position offered. The boy may be totally unfit for it, although it may be some very inferior employment, whereas if a position acquiring some ability had been offered at the same time, and accepted, the boy would have made his mark.

A writer says—"It is a well known fact that but a small majority of the boys of today, are choosing a business because they seem to be adapted to it. Parents imagine their boys should be doctors, or lawyers, or almost anything else but mechanics or tradesmen." Just so, and it is not at all unlikely that the writer of the above, if the parent of some good lively boys, not only imagines that his boys should enter one of the professions,but will most likely have them do so.

We hear and read a good deal about the tendency in these latter times to avoid the trades and make the boys something else. Now, we by no means would discourage any boy from learning a trades. it is an honest way to earn a living, and we think that a large number of the young men who drift along in idleness until they reach the age of manhood without any handicraft or other means of making a living, make a great mistake that they do not, when a suitable age, apprentice themselves to learn a trade, and save themselves from the necessity of earning a living by performing the lowest and hardest kinds of work. We also think that all boys who have a preference for mechanics should follow it, but all boys have not that desire, and to force them to it, because certain writers and talkers are continually deploring the degeneracy of the age in this respect, is all humbug.

Now let us examine this question a little. A mechanic, the father of a family of boys, looks at the question in this way. He has been working at his trade for years, probably has had steady employment at fair wages, and has succeeded in bringing up his family respectably, but has not been able to save anything. Naturally he wants to see his boys do better than he has done. He knows that the chances for a mechanic to make anything for his old age is very slim. He has had to work from seven in the morning until six at night, year in and year out.

On the other hand, he can see other employments that young men are engaged at, in which they receive larger pay before they reach their majority than he ever received in his life; their hours are shorter and the work easier. Is it any wonder that this man looks out for something different for his boys ?

The boys know the struggles that the father and mother have had to keep a home and clothe and feed them. They determine to try a business that promises to do more for them that mechanics has done for the parent, and in many cases they succeed in placing themselves in positions far superior to that of the parent.

How many mechanics do not succeed as well as the one described, who do not know what it is to have constant employment at fair wages? They are legion. The trades are overdone, the same as all other callings, so that there is not much encouragement for any boy of ordinary intelligence to learn a trade with a view of being anything better all his life.

Socially, the mechanic is looked upon as lower in grade than the clerk, and so on, to the professions. This may be wrong, yet it is a well known fact.

The sons of merchants and professional men do not learn trades. If it is the proper thing to do, why don't the parents of these boys put them to learn trades ? They know better ; they don't practice what they preach ; they know that there is no money in it ; that their social position is not so high ; that the work is harder, is more precarious and the hours longer than nearly all other employments, therefore they do not have their sons learn trades.

Most decidedly we say every boy should learn to be something, be it ever so humble. He should be placed in a position by his parents to earn his own living, to be independent ; but that something is not necessarily a trade. If possible, let the boy be what he desires ; he will be more likely to succeed in the calling of his choice, and if he has no inclination for the mechanics, don't try to make him one.

RICHARD TEW & CO.

The fire which visited this firm's establishment on 19 Front street west, was the cause of damage to more stock than it destroyed. The building is not now habitable, so the firm will not continue to carry on their business in it. At the beginning of the New Year they enter the warehouse on Front street east, next the new Board of Trade building. But Messrs. Richard Tew & Co. will not move their damaged stock to their new place of business. That stock they will run off in cheap job lots at their present premises. Salesmen will remain there and attend to orders, even after the new quarters are stocked. This affords an excellent opportunity to buy at a low figure goods that are damaged more in the reputation than in reality.

The Imperial Produce Company of Toronto has issued its prospectus, a perusal of which must have the effect of placing the company high in the confidence of the public. Formed for the purpose of carrying on a brokerage and commission business, acting as a medium between the producers and consuming markets of Great Britain as well as our local markets, the sphere of its usefulness, and in fact the necessity which has called it into existence will be at once recognized. The president is Mr. W. A. Warren, of Warren Bros. & Boomer, and the vice-presidents are the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Charles Drury, and W. E. Wellington. On the directorate are such names as Thomas Long, Wm. Elliott and J. K. Leslie. Mr. Walter Stark is managing director.

SUNLIGHT LARGEST SALE IN THE WORLD SOAP

Winner of THREE GOLD MEDALS in 1889---Paris, France, Ghent, Belgium, and Ottawa, Canada.

The Wide-Awake Grocer, even if he gets a smaller profit out of SUNLIGHT" Soap than he does out of Inferior Soaps, recognizes the fact that the increased volume of business done by reason of keeping the BEST article, more than compensates for the smaller profit. The aim of every Grocer should be, to earn a reputation for selling THE BEST.

Ontario District Agent:
WALTER STARK, 62 Front Street East, Toronto.

HE WAS ALL RIGHT.

Perhaps Masons will appreciate the following experience of a drummer in identifying himself as a genuine commercial tourist of Grand Rapids, Michigan, as told by the times of that city :

"Whence cometh thou, pard?"

"From the lodge of the Holy St. John, Michigan."

"What seek ye here to do?"

"To take a few orders and collect a bill of Billson."

"Then you are a drummer?"

"I am so taken and accepted by the boys."

"How may I know you to be a drummer?"

"By my cheek and my fifty pound sample case. Try me."

"How will you be tried?"

"By the square."

"Why by the square?"

"Because the square is a magistrate and an emblem of stupidity."

"Where were you first led to be a drummer?"

"In my mind."

"Where next?"

"In a printing office, adjoining a regular post of drummers."

"How were you prepared?"

"By being divested of my last cent, my cheek rubbed down with a brick, a bunion plaster over each eye, and a heavy sample case in each hand. In this fix I was conducted to the door of the post."

"How did you know it was a door, being blind?"

"By first stepping in a coal scuttle and afterwards bumping my head against the d or knob."

"How gained you admission?"

"By benefit of my cheek."

"Had you the required cheek?

"I had not, but Steve Sears had it for me."

"How were you received?"

"On the sharp toe of boot, applied to my natural trousers."

"What did this teach you?"

"Not to fool around too much."

"What happened next?"

"I was set down on a cake of ice and asked if I put my trust in mercantile reports."

"Your answer?"

"Not if I know myself, I don't."

"How were you next handled?"

"I was straddle of a goat made out of a 24x4, and trotted nine times around the room by four worthy brothers, and then trotted in front of the Left Bower for further instructions."

"How did he instruct you?"

"To approach a customer in three upright regular steps, with my business card extended at right angles, my arms forming a perfect square.

"How were you then disposed of?"

"I was again seated on the cake of ice in front of a dry goods box, and made to take the following horrible and binding oath :—

"I, Charles S. Robinson, do hereon and herein most everlastingly and diabolically swear, by the Great Tall Flush, that I will never reveal and always steal all the trade secrets I can for the use and benefit of the Most August Order. And I further swear, by the Baldheaded Jack of Clubs, that I will never give, carve, make, hold, take or cut prices below the regular rates. And I further swear by the Piper that played before Moses to never have any commercial dealings with any man unless he is sound on the goose."

"I was then asked what I most needed."

"What was your reply?"

"Money."

"What did you then behold?"

"A copy of Dun & Co.'s reports, open at chapter 'Muskegon.' Upon the open book rested a pair of drug scales, in one pan of which reposed ten pounds of concentrated lye, and in the other sat a small silver jackass."

* * * * *

"Shake! Brother! Will you be off or from?"

"Both, if I can borrow money enough to get out of town on."

"Have you any cigars?"

"I have."

"Give 'em to me."

"I did not so receive 'em, neither will I so impart 'em."

"How will you dispose of 'em?"

"On sixty days' time or two per cent. cash, F.O.B."

"All right, begin."

"No, you begin."

"Up." "Em." "Set."

"Set 'em up." The words and signs are right, Brother Snooks, he is a yard wide and all wool, and you can bet on him."

Brother Crookson and I each lent the chap $5 and he left his many thanks and kind wishes.

THE CANADA SUGAR REFINING CO'Y [LIMITED],

MONTREAL,

Offer for sale all grades of REFINED SUGARS and SYRUPS of the well-known brand of

Redpath

CERTIFICATES OF STRENGTH AND PURITY.

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC ANALYST,

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

GENTLEMEN,—I have personally taken samples from a large stock of your Granulated Sugar, "REDPATH" brand, and carefully tested them by the Polariscope, and I find these samples to be as near to absolute purity as can be obtained by any process of Sugar-Refining.

The test by the Polariscope showed in yesterday s yield 99·90 per cent. of Pure Cane Sugar, which may be considered commercially as ABSOLUTELY PURE SUGAR.

Public Analyst for the District of Montreal, and Professor of Chemistry.

CHEMICAL LABORATORY, MEDICAL FACULTY, McGILL UNIVERSITY.

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Company:

GENTLEMEN,—I have taken and tested a sample of your "EXTRA GRANULATED" Sugar, and find that it yielded 99·88 per cent. of Pure Sugar It is practically as pure and good a Sugar as can be manufactured.

Yours truly,

G P. GIRDWOOD.

THE OFFICE END.

The selling end of your store is probably all right, says the American Storekeeper. Your clerks are undoubtedly polite and anxious to please. Your stock is probably kept in perfect order. The windows shine with elbow grease. The floor is spotless in its cleanliness. Your show cases are polished until they shine like the faces in a Sabbath-school at Christmas time. But how about the office end? Have you any office to which you can retreat for a little private business chat upon occasion? Is there any particular place in your store to which all your clerks do not have free access? Are not your papers scattered about without order, and can you, at a moment's notice, put your hand on any bill you have received during the past six months? We hope that you have a neat little office, and that you are as systematic in caring for it as we would like you to be, but we are, nevertheless, going to preach to you about the necessity of having such a place, and tell what should characterize it. First, we would have it so arranged, if possible, without sacrificing light and space, that it would be screened from public view. Here we would receive all travelling men, and so far as possible, look at their samples. Here we would have a desk sacred to the affairs of the head of the house, in which could be systematically arranged the correspondence, bill-files, letter-files,, price lists, catalogues, and other papers which one may need at any moment to secure some desired information. This desk should permit of locking, and the proprietor should teach the clerks to look upon it as his special property, and that it is not to be disturbed by them. We cannot speak too strongly of the importance of preserving the catalogues sent by manufacturers and jobbers. Though they may not seem to contain information which is useful to you to-day, they will probably be wanted badly before long. They will save you from saying a great many "I don't knows" to your customers. The bill files are of great importance, too. It may seem to many that a bill has survived its usefulness when the goods have been checked off, and the bill paid. It will frequently prove valuable, however, to re-order by, or to settle some point on which memory is not to be trusted. Correspondence should always be promptly answered, and then filed away for reference. Letters should always be copied. It will often save embarrassing discussions with wholesalers if you preserve copies of all orders. With the great abundance of cheap and serviceable office furniture to be had, this feature of the store can be made a comfort and a joy.

Messrs. Kanady & Besson, Windsor, are always busy, and the "floorings" they had through the holidays made them look pleasant. They say they always find time to read THE GROCER, and would not be without it.

SPECIAL TO OUR READERS.

As the design of THE CANADIAN GROCER is to benefit mutually all interested in the business, we would request all parties ordering goods or making purchases of any description from houses advertising with us to mention in their letter that such advertisement was noticed in THE CANADIAN GROCER.

OUR MONTREAL OFFICE.

Our Montreal Office is located at 115 St. Francois Xavier St. Our representative, Mr. Hugh C. McLean, will be pleased to have subscribers and advertisers call upon him there. He will also pay special attention to gathering business items and attending generally to the interests of this paper.

THE MAKING OF THE BLACK-LIST.

The blacklisting of delinquent payers on the lines of Mr. Thackray's plan, described in a former issue of this journal, has been adopted by the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association. The Secretary of the Association, Mr. Thackray himself, made his initial visit to the members last week, and collected the names of the contractors of bad debts, and the amounts owed by each of them. Before the Secretary's call, each member had been furnished with a blank list, in which the information was to be tabulated, and had ready when called for. Some of the lists were not made up when Mr. Thackray appeared to collect them, consequently the amount of bad debts on the books of grocers within the Association cannot be made out. Members should see to it that they are not remiss in providing the information without delay, as upon the prompt attention of each the success of this idea depends. The Secretary cannot take the time to wait at each grocery for a list to be written. It is most inconsiderate to expect him to do so. Let everybody be ready when he calls again.

The sum of Mr. Thackray's lists so far comes up to $3,000. With all their care, this amount of loss, at least, has fallen from a single source upon the grocers in the Association. The largeness of that sum is a sufficient comment upon the need there was for a black-list. The Association now has the list, and it is unlikely its members will ever again be able to muster up such a sum of bad debts. The individual debts run all the way to $250. Two or three grocers on the list hold accounts against non-payers as large as this. Of course, this is apt to befall the most cautious man. We had a talk with a grocer on Yonge street, who told us of a customer who for years had run a monthly account upon his books. She always promptly paid at the end of the month until four months ago. Since that time the debts have run up to nearly $300. The grocer, afraid of losing a good customer by being strict, goes on trusting and waiting. He is requested to be patient. So he continues to be, though sorely needing the money. Will he get it? He hopes so. So, no doubt, many another man did who has finally sent up the name of the trusted one for listing. Often, we fear, it is the policy of dishonest customers to keep scrupulously all their engagements for a long time, that on the strength of their record they may do some signal act of fraud. The black-list puts a ring around the range of operations of such people.

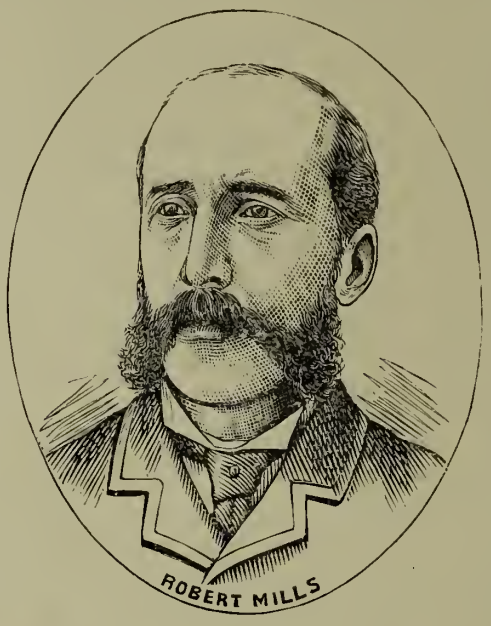
There are incidental advantages derivable from the possession of a black-list, which are as productive of good as is the main purpose of the document. When the Secretary calls, traders give him names of persons whom they are not yet decided to place on the list. They are usually people who hold their heads high, and who are supposed to be sensitive to the stigma of being placed on record as defrauders of their tradesmen. These are to be written to by the Secretary, to notify them that this debt is reported to the bureau, and will be listed if it is not paid within a specified time. This letter costs the creditor ten cents. It is likely to be more effective than if sent by the grocer, who no doubt has familiarized himself to the delinquent by the number of duns he has already sent. The semi-official nature of the Secretary's communication will be stronger, and less likely to pass unheeded.

Another indirect benefit attaching to the list, is that in the month's copy a member may find the name of a person who is dealing with him. So far, he may have had no suspicion of that customer, but now, finding that he has cheated some grocer, he naturally writes to the Secretary for particulars. These will be enquired for by the Secretary, who is the only man who knows the name of the creditor who got the name on the list. If the debt was contracted in sickness, if it is old or new, if it was for the benefit of anybody else, if there are any extenuat ng or aggravating circumstances, etc., will be learned and forwarded to the enquirer, without any reference to the name of the dealer defrauded. This report will be prepared for fifty cents.

What greatly adds to the workableness of the list is the activity of the Secretary. Mr. Thackray is enthusiastic in the interests of the Association, and as well takes a warm interest in making a success of the plan which he himself devised. In his tour last week he added several names to the Association membership.

MATCHES AGAIN ADVANCED.

Matches have again gone up. Additions have been made to the price of Telephone and of Telegraph matches. The former are now $3.60, the latter are $3.90. Makers claim that prices are still below where they stood a few years ago. In our last announcement of an advance in matches, we supposed that prices had reached a stable point. This new advance, however, corrects that misapprehension. But why was not a sufficient increase in price made at the time of the first change? The present manufacturers were then, as much as now, masters of the situation, and could nearly dictate their own prices. Competition had been extinguished, and it was natural to believe that if profits were low at the rate then fixed, they would still be sufficient on account of the undivided trade done now by the manufacturers. We hope that a stopping-place has now been reached. There is nothing exceptional in the demand for matches, no increase in the cost of material, no advance in wages to explain the last upward step.



THE OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION.

THE PRESIDENT.

Mr. Robert Mills, the new President of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association, is not an untried incumbent of the office. He occupied the chair through 1886, with credit to himself and profit to the Association. His mild regime did as much as any other influence to mellow into fraternal communion the hostilities that are apt to be engendered by reserve and rivalry. Rivalry may continue, but complete reserve is impossible in any organization. When it is once broken up, it is liable to be followed by the other extreme of ferocious candor. In such a situation the most useful man is the one best skilled in lubricating the troubled waters. Herein Mr. Mills is an adept. In this respect he was peculiarly fitted to help tide the Association through its experimental stage, until the community of feeling and interest was well established. He has been continuously a member of the Association since its formation, and whether in or out of office, he has been an active promoter of its welfare.

By birth, education, business training, and life-long residence, Mr. Mills is a Torontonian. He went into the trade a very young learner, and continued in it to the present. His preparation for the business was in the wholesale houses of A. M. Smith & Co., Howland & Fitch, and Galbraith & Co. In 1873 he went into business for himself on the corner of King and Jarvis streets, where he has prosperously traded ever since.

The life of a voluntary association, in which the members are bound together by trade-sympathies only has but a very precarious tenure if the utmost is not done to foster those sympathies and sink the antipathies that have been too incidental to unorganized competition. Mr. Mills has worked steadfastly toward this end.

THE VICE-PRESIDENT.

Mr. J. G. Gibson, the Vice-president, is an Englishman. He was born at Long Crendon, in Buckinghamshire. His training as a grocer he received in Wendover, where he was bound in a three years' apprenticeship. Drilled in the inflexible Old Country school, Mr. Gibson came to Canada eminently fitted to succeed. As well as a thorough training, he had tact, great force of character, and integrity. Upon his arrival in this city, he opened a grocery up Yonge street, where he has carried on business the whole subsequent period of twenty years. In connection with his grocery he has also run a liquor store throughout the same time, the latter occupying a separate apartment. Mr. Gibson points with especial pride to his record as a liquor dealer, never having once sold or given a drop of ardent spirits irregularly. This shows ho wscrupulously law-abiding the nature of Mr. Gibson is, and illustrates the constancy of his principles. He kept himself for twenty years above the weakness of yielding to a friend's or an old customer's importunity. This, not many men in the same exposure to persuasion, have been able to do.

When Mr. Gibson started business in his present stand, it was not, as it is now, engulphed in a sea of buildings. It was rather an out of the way place in its relation to city consumers. But it was always the scene of a thriving business, and of course is now the heart of a large body of consumption. Mr. Gibson made a specialty of the tea and butter trade, two of the most sensitive articles kept in a grocery, and his success in these lines is the foundation of the present trade.

Mr. Gibson has always been an active member of the Association, and has rendered it good service by his abilities as a financier.

THE SECRETARY.

Mr. Thackray has received some biographical notice in these columns already. When he entered upon the duties of his office at the beginning of last year we introduced him to our readers. But since then, he has welded the rivets of his usefulness more firmly to the Association, and has identified himself with its welfare to an extent that naturally brings him up for review once more.

Like Mr. Gibson, Mr. Thackray is an Englishman, a native of London. In that city he was brought up a confectioner, and as a confectioner he put in the first ten years of his life in this country. The last twelve years he has been in the grocery trade on the corner of Parliament and Wellesley streets in this city.

It would be impossible for the Association to have a better Secretary. Mr. Thackray has systematized the books and records that he has had the keeping of, and to do this has undertaken enormous work. He has always deemed it his duty to caution, or advise members of the Association of anything within his cognizance that would be for their benefit. It is no doubt largely owing to his efforts that more grocers have not had their tobacco confiscated and themselves fined for illegally exposing it for sale, Mr. Thackray being the first to inform them that such irregular exposure was illegal. He is at present one of the most active workers on the committee of wholesale and retail grocers for the amelioration of the severe regulations. Mr. Thackray's last service to the Association was his suggestion of a mode of forming a delinquent list. This idea, now adopted, he is at present carrying out, and highly creditable to his administrative ability is the arrangement of the details by which he purposes to get the best effects out of the system.

To be prudent and saving does not mean to be nigardly.

A GALLON OF MOLASSES.

The Wholesale Grocers' Guild has now defined the weight of a gallon of molasses. It is to be 13½ pounds. Although not before practically adopted by all dealers, this weight has long been looked upon as a just one, its justice being clearly demonstrated by experiment. The weight of a gallon of molasses as fixed by statute is 13 1-5 pounds, and the weight heretofore recognized by many dealers was 14 pounds. These both err, but on opposite sides of the true weight. The setting-up of a uniform standard has long been a need, and now that we have one, the trade in molasses will be conducted on equal terms, and will be rid of its former puzzling anomalies. Wholesale grocers have plenty of room for loss on molasses without being exposed to the chance of having to sell 14 pounds of it to the gallon. In the wholesale warehouse the molasses has to be run off into casks, for very few retailers buy a whole tierce at a time. In every tierce there is a remainder of sugar, for which the wholesaler has paid and for which he gets nothing. It is enough that he should lose this without suffering an additional half pound of loss on every gallon.

VINEGAR FROM WASTE PRODUCTS.

A few weeks ago we commended a correspondent's method of disposing of molasses settlings. That method, our readers will remember, economized the waste matter in vinegar and molasses casks by making new vinegar out of it. Since approving this way of turning loss into profit, our conscience has been reminded that the manufacture of vinegar is a source from which the government derives a revenue of four cents a gallon, and we feared we had given countenance to an illicit business. We consulted Mr. Stratton, the collector of Inland Revenue at Toronto, and he assured us that the government would not interfere with any such private concern. The Department does collect from manufacturers, but these use spirits which they are permitted to import in bond, while the duty is collected in the form of excise upon the manufactured vinegar. The aim of the Department is ultimately to collect the duty on the spirits, which for the manufacturer's use is permitted to come in free. Our correspondent and all who like his scheme may therefore resort to it in complete immunity from revenue interference.

A PROVINCIAL RETAILERS' ASSOCIATION.

The evils which follow in the wake of a delirious state of competition are numerous and dangerous. Profits that are too low, big ventures on little capital or experience, compromises that leave the creditor in a better position to injure trade, the cheating of creditors, the debasing of goods, are all evils that spring from the one prolific source. Uprightness and financial wisdom are awaking, however, and an epoch of trade reform is waxing as the months roll on. Organization is the means by which the tide of business confusion will have to be stemmed and turned back. The Kingston grocers are now pondering the questions referred to above, and the members of the Association in that city suggest the formation of a Provincial Association, and have communicated with the sister association in Toronto upon the matter. Union is strength, and we approve any movement towards union. What is desirable is that the retail grocers organize and become a section of the Board of Trade. There are many questions not peculiar to the grocers' experience which come up for consideration before the meetings of the Association, and it seems like a waste of energy for each trade separately to work out problems that equally embarrass every class of traders. If that isolated, unsympathetic course be pursued, there will be no relief from the present state of things for a long time yet. Also, different trades will settle their connection with the common perplexities in different methods. If grocers' associations be formed in the large villages, towns and cities, and confederate in one provincial association, the latter can become a section of the Provincial Business Men's Association, and benefit by the strength of that body. Where traders' interests are identical, where their troubles are common, they will make better headway by uniting.

CARLETON PLACE GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

Carleton Place has now a Retail Grocers' Association. Features of its constitution are a delinquent or dead-beat list, and the setting of fixed prices for farmers' produce. If the trade is mindful of its own interests it will not suffer the meetings of its association ever to be neglected. Let every grocer attend and take part in the meetings, and we are sure that the association will be more approved on experience than it has been in idea.

The new organization sent to Mr. Thackray, secretary of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association, for suggestions and a copy of the by-laws. These were forwarded, and were no doubt serviceable. Thus the Toronto Association is not only improving in usefulness to its own members, but is becoming a source of direction and a model, as well as a standing example of success that is encouraging and helpful to new associations. Let the Toronto Association keep unbroken the chord of sympathy between itself and the bodies of provincial towns that are making a struggle against the present trade confusions. She is now in a position to give greater power to the elbow of weak associations, and thus to urge on the work of reform throughout the country.

"SPECIAL TERMS FOR THE SESSION."

Again we appeal to publishers of dailies, for fair play to news dealers.

A session of Parliament is approaching and newspapers will be in demand. Dealers should now have a chance to make up for some of the unsold papers of less newsy times.

Do not advertise special terms for the session. Stand by your regular rates and give the newsdealer a chance to stand by his. This continual offering to the public of special rates every time that there will be a special demand breaks up all regular business and is not fair to the dealer who does his best for you all the year round. The offer of a commission to the dealer on these rates does not make matters right. Our objections to special rates are:

1st. The regular news business of the country is broken up and demoralized by them.

2nd. The Club agents fly around and pick up the customers or would-be customers of the news dealer.

3rd. The great bulk of the orders are sent indirect to the publisher and the dealer is cut off from all chance of profit, in many cases his regular, every day subscribers dropping him for the session and sending in their orders direct.

Come, now, Messrs. Publishers, give us fair play. It will not hurt you and will help us. Last year a leading journal refused to give or to advertise special rates for the session. They claimed rightly enough that the public could and should pay regular prices when the papers were at their best. Did that paper lose ground in consequence? No, it is now doing the best business of any paper in Canada. Newsdealers, as well as any other body of business men, can remember their friends.

TEST EXHIBITIONS.

What are known as "Test Exhibitions" are becoming very popular among manufacturers of food products and grocers. And it is doubtful if any more efficient advertisement could be devised. Grocers who want to sell a particular brand of cocoa, or of tea, can succeed in no way better than by having a little stand where the beverage is dished out free to customers, who can in this way test the quality of the article before buying. The same rule applies to most other commodities, and while it may be a trifle expensive, it is not more so than extensive window trimming or other judicious advertising. As a means for drawing custom, well-arranged test exhibitions have few superiors. —Ex.

You can always trace a registered letter, and a copying-press for letters is a sensible investment, if used.

A CUSTOMS GRIEVANCE.

In our last issue we referred to an injustice done to the trade by the Post Office Department, in its maintenance of a 4c. postage on paper covered books, in the face of a 1c. postage on the same sort of books in the United States. The Customs Department is chargeable with a like discrimination in favor of United States publishers and booksellers. The Department's aim seems to be to suppress the sale of fashion magazines by our own dealers. A specific duty of 6c. per pound, and an ad valorem duty of 20 per cent. are placed on such periodicals when they are purchased by a dealer, or when they are sent in wholesale numbers. This is a high tax impost, but it is seemingly justified by the fact that it is placed on a luxury. Fashion, however, concerns a great many people, who have not to do with it as a luxury but as a means of making a living. The dressmaker studies the fashion that she may pursue her art. We are of the opinion that such magazines, or books suitable for workmen's libraries, or mechanics' tools, should get as cheaply as possible into the hands of those they are specially made for. Aside from the abstract right or wrong of this duty, we have to look at it by the light of another customs regulation to see the true inconsistency and injustice of it. That other regulation states that the same magazines shall be sent free to private subscribers. The inconsistency of the two regulations lies in the ignoring by one and the recognition by the other, of the principle of bringing things of mechanical service cheap to the user. The user of course will send to the United States for the fashion magazine as she can get it much cheaper there than from a dealer in her own country. He has to pay a duty which he again collects from her, while if she buys from the United States, she has no duty to pay. What is the advantage of this? The government by its own dog-in-the-manger policy gets no appreciable revenue from these journals, and allows the bookseller here to get no trade. The consumer is supplied all the same, and the profit-margin follows the wholesale price to the United States. If there were no duty, what would be the difference? It would be that about twenty per cent. of the retail value of these books would remain in the country as profit, which now leaves it. This profit is realized on the papers, but by the United States publisher, and not the interest of this Dominion or of an individual citizen in it is gained by this duty to justify the yearly tribute to the foreign publisher.

If these journals reached their readers through the Canadian trade, the cost of their carriage would fall on the trade as freight and postage. Now, who bears the bulk of that expense? Of course, it is the Canadian Government, which to benefit the American trader carries these through its mails and delivers them for nothing.

Another evil which is covered by the duty on fashion periodicals, is that there are many so-called, which are sent free from the other side of the Customs line. A large number of periodicals having nothing to do with fashion, thus reach the private subscriber because they are represented to be fashion journals.

The most careful study of the purposes for which it might be conceived this duty was created fails to justify it. It does not benefit the reader, it does not benefit the Government, it does not affect the circulation of the literature, it injures the Canadian dealer, and it adds to the money we pay into the United States.

ADVERTISING "FAKES."

The word "fakir" is an old one, and is a stranger to our language, but there are signs that it will soon be fully brought into it by adoption. It may be said to be pretty well ushered in now, as it has been long a probationer in the domain of slang, and what survives the sifting of capricious slang usually makes its way into reputable language. "Fake" is a substantive and a verb formed from "fakir," and is expressive. The fakir of our civilization is not a juggler. He gets up "fakes," that is he devises cards, hangers, railway guides, hotel registers, clocks, barometers, thermometers, mirrors, etc., for advertising purposes. The fakir is a man of resources. His ingenuity, and faith in the maxim that the people like to be humbugged, are inexhaustible. Upon the above mentioned great weakness of the public he pastures as in flowery meads. The most sublime effort of the fakir-genious is the brass-band in the minstrel troupe, which discourses music to the spell-bound listeners, while the inevitable Professor's eloquence effects the divorce between the "fool and his money" for a bottle of his patent medicine.

A negative definition of an advertising "fake" is that it is not legitimate advertising. A positive definition is that it is a mode of advertising, in which the advertiser pays the whole expense; in which no part of the expense is borne by any resource of the medium. There is no money to be made from the circulation of a "fake." For example, one fakir gets out a hanger, on which are printed thirty cards for $5 apiece. The expenses of getting out the hanger are $28. When it is out it yields nothing that will reduce the cost of advertising. The $122 goes into the fakir's pocket. This example is taken from a list of real "fake" schemes which have recently been worked in this city, and of which we possess the particulars. All the ground covered by this hanger would be over the thirty advertisers' places of business. Each advertiser would get a hanger, the thing would go no farther. As well as the costliness and narrowness of the scope of this medium, it had another condemning feature: there was no guarantee as to the character of its issue, no responsibility underlies the simple, artless promise of the fakir. Yet it worked.

Another fakir gets up a railway guide. He represents that the Grand Trunk Railway wishes to distribute 5,000 copies of it with Toronto as centre. Hence the immense advantage to Toronto merchants, etc., to take a space in it. The fakir explains that G.T.R. is doing this for the city, and is anxious to have each leading man in it. The fakir wants $100 per page, and gets it from some leading men in the city, gets $50 from many others, $25 from another numerous lot, and considers that trader a poor sort of man who won't give $10 a page at any rate. This illustrates one of the eccentricities of the fakir methods. The highest figure asked is got where it can be exacted, half or one-fourth is taken, or even less, if the highest figure cannot be worked. The thing is monstrously dishonest in its inequality, but what shall we say of the dishonesty of this railway guide scheme, when we learn that its cost was $1.50 per page? The author of this gigantic fraud makes a regular business of getting out railway guides. He makes four books in a year, using different United States or Canadian cities as the base of his operations. Of course his scheme has never the countenance of any of the railway companies he professes to be working for.

An advertising scheme which, from the fakir's standpoint was a success, exhibited on a large card the names of twenty financial institutions — banks, insurance companies, etc. The hanger has never been seen anywhere that anybody knows of. The fakirs feel that the managers of such concerns advertise at random, and that any scheme which involves an outlay of not more than twenty or thirty dollars will commend itself to them. The fakirs make their living off that numerous body of people in the commercial and financial world who know nothing about advertising. Fakirs succeed because the people are like sheep, they flock after the individual that starts. All the fakir wants is a bell-wether, and he trusts to the spirit of emulation among the rest to get plenty of followers. Accordingly he looks out to get some leading man on his list, and if he cannot do this, he can represent that he has. He will then get all the rest with comparative ease.

POSTPONEMENT.

Owing to the fact that the Caledonian Society are to have their concert on the evening of the 23rd, the Grocers' At-Home will be postponed till Monday evening the 27th inst.

By the Way.

The head office of L. Rightmyer & Co., wholesale dealers in salt, will be transferred from Clinton to Seaforth shortly.

On New Year's day Mr. D. Stewart, general merchant, Renfrew, was married to Miss Near, Brockville.

We have received a very handsome calendar from the William Cane Manufacturing Co., of Newmarket.

William Hampden, clerk at Messrs. Kells, Fowler & Co's store, Millbrook, has accepted a position in Mr. N. Hockin's store, Port Hope.

Orangeville has been made an outport of Customs and warehousing port, under the survey of the Collector of Customs at Toronto.

A monster hog, weighing 1,050 pounds, was shipped from Welland the other day to New York City, where it will be placed on exhibition.

Mr. M. Fortune's grocery, Port Arthur, was burnt on Friday afternoon last. It was insured for $18,000. Most of the contents were destroyed.

The stock of Robert Steedsman, Blandford station, was sold on Saturday morning. James Scott, Woodstock, was the purchaser at thirty cents on the dollar.

John Gibson, Halifax, died on Saturday night, aged eighty-five. He was the founder of the well-known grocery and liquor house of Bald, Gibson & Co., one of the oldest established firms in Halifax.

A Jersey city grocer has got himself into trouble by selling sunburned potatoes which, as it is well known, are poisonous to an injurious extent. The Board of Health is prosecuting the case.

It is rumored that McMahon, Broadfield & Co., wholesale crockery merchants, King street east, intend removing from Hamilton to Montreal or Toronto, because of the lack of railway facilities where they are.

The grocery and fruit store of Mrs. Thos. Marrin, Barrie, was completely destroyed by fire at five o'clock on Friday morning, The origin of the fire is unknown. The property was insured for $1,100 in the Atlas and National companies.

Mr. J. O. Henry, Oshawa, who has been in England for the past three months handling apples shipped from Ontario, returned on Saturday, and reports a very stormy passage. He was fifteen days in crossing. He sold upwards of 20,000 barrels of apples.

Mr. J. G. Gibson, 525 Yonge st., Toronto, paid $1,401 for poultry for the Christmas trade. The whole was sold off before the holidays were through, and he has bought and sold two hundred dollars' worth since. The secret of his large and successful trade is that he is known to buy only the best.

At an early hour on Sunday morning, fire broke out in the grocery store of Messrs. Hall & Ashbaugh, Aylmer, and despite the efforts of the fire brigade, the building and stock was badly damaged. The insurance on the building is $2.500, and on the stock $7,600. The cause of the fire is unknown.

An old Hamilton subscriber, Thos Wilson, jr., writing from Rochester, says: "I have been reading your very valuable paper with great interest for the past year. I am very much pleased with your arguments, and feel confident that you are helping the trade to a great extent."

Mr. Richard Turner, President of the Board of Trade of the city of Quebec, and a wholesale grocer in that city, has petitioned for membership in the Board of Trade of Toronto. His name has been posted by Secretary Wills, and no doubt he will be welcomed as a valuable member of the Toronto board.

A man representing himself to be the agent for a new patent paper-bag has been swindling Eastern grocers. His scheme is to secure orders from the grocers and collect ninety-five cents of each one, for printing their business cards upon the back of the bags; the bags to be given free. The man after collecting the ninety-five cents disappears and the bags are not forthcoming, leaving the dealers ninety-five cents out of pocket.

TRADE NOTES.

The stock of Valencia raisins in London, December 31, has been cabled 1,800 tons. Same date 1888 the stock was 2,532 tons, a d 1887, 804 tons.

Napoleon Bourgeois, grocer, 185 St. Paul street, Montreal, has assigned with about $15,000 liabilities, at the instance of Hector Lamontagne, merchant, of that city. The principal among the forty creditors are: La Banque du Peuple, with $4,000; Bank of British North America, with $1,100, and H. Lamontagne, with $3,765 claims.

Attempts have for some time been making to acclimatize the tea plant in the Caucasus, and Russian journals commence to speak hopefully of success. From the tests made the quality is reported as attractive, and on the authority of French and German naturalists, it is said that there is no country better suited for the culture of the tea plant than the littoral of the Black Sea between Batoum and Soukhoum, the climate of which is warm, moist and equable.

Advices from New Orleans through private sources are quite firm on the subject of molasses, and estimate the shortage in the otal crop of straight goods at from 60,000 to 70,000 barrels. Orders have also been received here to hold commission goods off the market and several lots are in store on a limit higher than can at the moment be obtained. It is claimed the quantity of glucose sent South will be no greater than last year, but even that amount would a little more than balance the shortage in molasses, and more can be obtained if wanted.—N.Y. Bulletin.

Montrealers of all shades of political and religious thought mourn the loss of ex-Ald. W. D. Stroud, whose death took place last week, after a short illness, at the age of sixty-one years. Mr. Stroud, who came to this country from London, England, thirty-two years ago, was one of the most charitable gentlemen the city has ever known. He amassed a large fortune in the tea trade, having as many as seven or eight stores in different parts of the city. Ald. Stroud represented the West ward in the city council from 1883 to 1887, when he was defeated by Mr. Richard White, of the Gazette. The deceased was at one time president of St. George's Society, and had been connected for a great number of years with the different charitable institutions of Montreal.

At a meeting of creditors of Messrs. Tiffin Bros., wholesale grocers, Montreal, the statement produced showed that the firm's liabilities amount to a total of $482,000, of which $57,587 are unsecured claims, and $231,194 indirect liabilities. The Bank of British North America hold unsecured claims amounting to $35,800 and secured $132,600. Mr. W. Drake's secured claims amount to $20,000 and unsecured $5,000. The firm offered forty cents on the dollar at three, six and nine months, unsecured, which was not accepted then, and the meeting adjourned for a week. Meanwhile, the Bank of British North America gave the security needed for the offer, which will now likely be accepted. The unsecured claims are met by $19,845 open accounts, $41,708 stock in Montreal, $6,353 stock in Winnipeg, $6,353 cash, $681 notes, or total assets $68,587.

A GREAT HELP TO HIM.

LOWER NICOLA, B.C., Dec. 23, 1889.

DEAR SIR,—I have been getting THE CANADIAN GROCER for some time, and find it very instructive and a great help to me in my business. It contains many hints worth notice, and I believe if every merchant would read it carefully there would not be half so many failures, and trade would be in a healthier state.

Yours truly,
G. B. ARMSTRONG,
General Merchant.

SELLING TO CONSUMERS.

TORONTO, Jan. 6, 1890.

MR. EDITOR,—I notice in your last issue a letter from "Retailer," who complains of some wholesale house supplying a consumer with groceries. Now, I am a member of the Retail Grocers' Association, and know that their Executive will take up the case if "Retailer" will supply particulars.

But perhaps "Retailer" does not belong to us, and if that is so he should lose no time in joining and assisting our officers in stopping such a practice. The profits on the goods supplied in that instance would, if they had gone into "Retailer's" pocket, nearly have paid his first year's dues, two dollars, besides giving him the advantage of our monthly delinquent list and other valuable experience.

Yours,
ANOTHER RETAILER.

[Unfortunately our correspondent is not a city grocer, but is from Port Hope. The Port Hope grocers should take a hint and organize an association there.—ED. GROCER.]

THE BUTTER QUESTION.

TO THE EDITOR CANADIAN GROCER.

DEAR SIR,—I am obliged for permission to reply to Mr. I. Wenger's letter in your issue of the 13th. I think both letters in that issue, viz., that of Mr. H. T. Barker, of Stratford, and Mr. Wenger, as also your leading article of the 20th, are valuable contributions touching this important question. You will remember in my former letter I contended: First, that we must get at the root of the matter by educating the dairy people to make their butter the right way. Second, that creameries are the most desirable. Third, where this is not practicable individual action by the dairymen is possible upon creamery lines. Fourth, that in either case, the country merchant is the man still to run this business. Fifth, but that it is most desirable for him to co-operate with the farmers. Sixth, that the butter should be put in air-tight packages and marketed quickly.

Since reading Mr. Wenger's letter, by his courtesy I have inspected his creamery, and found his son, who runs this business, generously willing to render me every assistance in his power. It would be impossible here to say all I would like touching his intelligent practical method of pioneering the most important industry that this country will see started in Canada. His creamery is well equipped, and he turns out a first-class article. Mr. Wenger agrees with me in the main. He recognizes the importance of our fighting for a liberal share of the $60,000,000 butter import trade of Great Britain.

As to the other point, viz: making at 3c. per pound, which Mr. Wenger says is not a paying rate, I simply stated I thought that method the best, but did not intend to assume that 3c. would pay in any scattered district. I am more than ever convinced that the co-operative system is by far the best, as by it the producers get the benefit of the best results obtainable, and are consequently more easily convinced of the necessary precaution as to feeding their cattle, etc. A system that all admit works well with the cheese industry of Ontario. The merchant is reluctant to move, fearing, by influencing his butter customers to start a creamery, he may lose his hold upon their trade. I contend that he can not only start but carry on this business. First let him discuss its importance with the farmers and their wives. Put before them the fact that Mr. Wenger, when starting in 1885, only promised his patrons twelve cents per pound for the first year's cream, but paid them before the season was over from sixteen cents to eighteen cents per pound, and has been enabled to average that price ever since. The logic of dollars and cents and less labor must tell. Then let him take the initiative in starting a creamery upon co-operative lines. To prove his faith in the enterprise let him offer to subscribe half the stock required and have it understood that he does so conditionally, that the balance be taken by enough farmers to ensure success, making a hard and fast rule that each dairyman sending cream must hold a few shares in the company ; then the merchant will be enabled to control the creamery and not only do his patrons a service but strengthen his own position. It would be easier at the outset, perhaps, for the merchant to invest $2,000, set up a small creamery of his own and buy the cream, and he could probably afford to pay even ten per cent. or twenty per cent. above what he has been giving for the butter, but his patrons would very likely soon begin to think that he was making too much money, and with the experience they had gained at his expense may set up in opposition to him, and then he would not lose their cream but probably their account as well. Where co-operation is impossible still much can be done. Captain Edward Sanderson, writing from Peterboro' to a brother here who is a stockholder in our company, says : "Since Mr. Stark has been taking up this question I have fitted up my dairy with a modern separator and make creamery butter upon lines suggested by Professor Robertson, with the result that I have been able to obtain three cents to four cents per pound more than my neighbors in our local market." Surely this should be sufficient proof? Mr. Wenger asks that more particulars shall be given in the GROCER, touching the company I referred to in my last. Herewith please find prospectus from which you can cull what you think of interest to the trade.

May I say that our President, W. A. Warren, Esq., the Hon. C. Drury (Minister of Agriculture), and Thomas Long, Esq., of T. Long & Bro., of Collingwood, have subscribed considerable stock and are elected directors, the shareholders recognizing in them gentlemen thoroughly acquainted with provincial trade and conversant with the difficulties of the butter question. The objects of our company briefly stated are : First, stimulate the manufacture and growth of the best possible goods ; Second, to dispose of same in the best consuming markets; Third, to make liberal advances ; Fourth, and charge only a reasonable and moderate commission for services.

An officer of the company is going to Great Britain at once and will gather the latest and best possible information touching the butter question, and when he returns, with the promised assistance of Professor Robertson, of the Agricultural College, Guelph, will be prepared to assist country merchants who desire to work upon the lines indicated.

Yours truly,
WALTER STARK,

ABOUT FIGS.

When figs are freshly picked from the trees they are not very palatable; in fact, their flavor is almost entirely different from that of the fig of commerce. They are somewhat insipid in taste, slightly resembling in flavor an unripe muskmelon. The trees are mostly grown from cuttings, and it requires about eight years for one to get to a good bearing condition, though the tree does not reach its prime much before its fifteenth year. The fruit is allowed to perfectly ripen on the trees, when it falls to the ground, where it is collected by the grower, spread in the sun and dried until it becomes fit for the market. There are trees in the vicinity of Smyrna said to be over one hundred years old, some of which yield from 200 to 300 pounds of fruit a year. After being dried the figs are picked up and put in bags containing about 200 pounds each, which are carried to Smyrna by rail to the fig market, where, in the packing-house, they are sorted and put up for the export trade. In putting them into the boxes they are flattened out between the thumb and forefinger of the packer. being moistened with seawater which, it is claimed, hastens the sugaring of the fruit and assists in preserving it. Frequently laurel leaves are put between the layers to preserve them from the depredation of insects.—Grocer's Criterion.

AMENDMENTS TO THE TOBACCO REGULATIONS.

On our way to press, Mr. Miall meets the joint committee of the Retail Grocers' Association and the Wholesale Grocers' Guild in the Council Chamber of the Board of Trade, in Toronto. The case of the grocers is ready, prepared by Mr. Davidson, a summary of whose investigation of the question we publish below. It will be noticed that in this abstract, both the protection of the revenue and the security of the trader's rights are provided for by one reform, and that is the placing of the responsibility upon the Inland Revenue officers. In other respects also, the action of the Regulations is sought to be simplified, although in no case at the expense of any risk to the revenue. It is a pity that in the whole staff of a government department there is not a man capable of reconciling the integrity of the revenue with the safety of the trader. One or the other must be sacrificed in regulations they make, and it is well that both are not. The Department is indebted to Mr. Davidson for a scheme which endangers neither.

"Proposals for amendments to existing regulations as to stamping, cancellation of stamps, and restrictions on methods of selling plug tobacco. And further, shifting responsibilities for carrying out said regulations from retailer, bonded warehouser, and manufacturer, to the Inland Revenue Departments own preventive officers."

"At present there is no responsibility, no obligation, on the excise officer to see that the requirements of the Department have been complied with."

"Wanted, for the retailer of plug tobacco, honest possession by him, and proof thereof to clear him of all liability to the Excise Department, and no restrictions as to methods of keeping stock or manner of selling."

"The wholesale dealer to be entitled to lawful delivery, so far as stamps thereon are concerned, into his bonded warehouse by the Excise officer in whose charge the goods are, and the same to be found by him regular according to the regulations of the Department, and in the same way a legal clearance to be given by him by cancellation of stamps, or otherwise, when duty is paid. That is, in both cases it shall be the duty of the preventive officer to see that all requirements prescribed by the Department shall have been effected before he abandons control of the property, or his responsibility ceases."

"One stamp only, and that to be affixed at the place of manufacture, and cancellation of that when duty is paid, either at factory or in bonded warehouse, when transferred, to be sufficient. Such cancellation might at the same time give the license number of the bonded warehouse or factory where duty is paid."

"To distinguish between domestic leaf plug, imported leaf plug, and imported manufactured plug, stamps for each should differ in one color and shape to protect the revenue, and the dealer and consumer, as the duties differ."

MOLASSES SETTLINGS.

Briefly we give another good way to purge all the molasses that may be left in the bottom of a barrel, free from dirt and chips.

Take a coarse piece of cloth, as half a rice sack, and place over the bung hole of the barrel. Then a funnel with neck as large as the bung will, if inserted, cause this cloth to be drawn tightly over its point. The molasses may then be poured in and will strain through, leaving all dirt, chips, etc., in the funnel. This may be strained into a barrel that has just been tapped.

See that your clerks understand the business. Watch them when weighing and measuring goods. An ounce over on a pound is a loss. An ounce under may lead to unpleasant talk and loss of trade. Teach them to give exact weight. The buyer can expect no more. See that your scales and weights are correct. An old worn-out scale may be a very costly article.

There is nothing so essential to a well-regulated grocery store as good scales for weighing.

Another thing. See that your help are clean and tidy. Get rid of clerks who have filthy habits as soon as possible.

Provide scoops for weighing goods, and see that your clerks use them.—Retail Grocers' Advocate.

TORONTO, JAN. 9, 1890.

DRY GOODS.

Another bad spell of weather, last week, added its weight to the depression which seems to have settled on this department of trade. Travellers are out, but report business aaything but good. The heavy woolen articles not entered largely into trade, when winter orders were taken, and the recruiting of stocks makes little demand for this class of goods now. Soon the travellers will be after orders for the fall trade, to give the mills a chance to estimate the proportions of the demand upon their summer output. But at present trade is very flat.

HARDWARE.

Trade is very dull. The builders season, although lasting long this year, has at last nearly closed, and the demand for hardware furnishings has closed with it. The trade in skates and other winter articles is about the lowest recorded in any winter. There was a slight activity produced by the holiday demand, which however, turned less towards hardware stocks than in some other directions, the mildness of the weather not making metal goods so likely to be brought into use.

GROCERIES.

The Grocery trade has been very dull all week, but it is beginning to pick up again. With a continuance of the present unfavorable weather the prospects are far from cheerful, but if we have good sleighing and farmers bring out their grain a good trade is looked for, especially as country stocks are light. It must be remembered, however, that under a like condition of affairs a year ago the looked for improvement did not occur.

CANNED GOODS.

The market has been dull but prices have been steady all week with a firm undertone. Lobsters scarce and firm at $1.85 for star and $2.25 for flats. Salmon rules at $1.55 to $1.60 for ordinary, and $1.75 is asked for prime brands.

COFFEES.

Dull and unchanged. Cable advices are said to report the crop of Java coffee at 400,000 peculs, including both Government and private growth, which is a considerable falling off, and has stimulated the market somewhat. Previous mail advices, however, had referred to this as a rumor, and stated that no official denial or admission could be obtained, and some of the trade think that 400,000 peculs probably represents the Government growth only.

DRIED FRUIT.

Currants are fairly steady. Ordinary stock is moving, in barrels, at 5⅜ to 5½c, and in bales at 5⅝ to 5¾c; Vostezzas are unchanged at 8 to 8½c. The supply of dates is now ample for all requirements, and prices are easier at 5¾ to 6c. Figs quiet, with a fair enquiry for bags at 4¾c to 5c. Prunes are in good demand; hogsheads are selling at 4¼ to 4¾c, and in cases Atlas brand are quoted at 6½c for D; 7c for C; 7½c for B, and 8c for A. French prunes in quarter cases are in good demand at 12½c. for A, and 15c. for A. A. Valencia raisins continue firm and in good demand at 7c. for retail lots, and 6¾c. for round lots of off-stalk. Sultanas dull but firm. Malagas in very light supply

GREEN FRUIT.

Valencia case-oranges are worth from $4.50 to $5 per box. They are the choice picking of a fine crop, and there is a pretty full stock on hand. Much of it would have been run off before this but for the late arrival of the Polynesian. Florida russets are selling at $3 to $3.25 per box, and Florida fancy bright are $3.25 to $4. These are the only oranges—the Valencia and the Florida—now in stock. The Jamaica and the Jaffa oranges have been completely sold off. The Palermo lemons in 360's are sold at $3 to $4, and in 300's at $4.50 to $5. The Messina lemons are $3.50 to $4 in 360's, and $4.50 to $5 in 300's. Malaga grapes are $7.50 to $8 per keg, and are selling rapidly. Some dealers complain of the inferior keeping qualities of this year's crop. Others, however, find no trouble in carrying their stock through the season.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The selling of butter has recommenced after the holiday lull. In quality it is no wise improved, while the demand for good butter continues to grow. The weather has not been favorable to the good condition of rolls which have to be brought far, and these are often as much depreciated on account of their unshapeliness as on account of their quality. Large rolls have consequently gone down. The basis of the consumption of creamery butter has proved unreliable, turning for the time to good pound rolls, thus bringing the price of the former down and that of the latter up. Butter of the dairy pack is 15 to 17c. Store packed is less than ever wanted, but the quotation continues, though almost nominal, to be 10 to 15c. Large rolls are 13 to 15c. Pound rolls are 20 to 22c. Creamery packed is 23 to 24c. On Wednesday there were made large sales of low and medium grade butter at 8 and 10c. for shipment to Halifax, St. John, and other maritime points. The position of cheese is unchanged. The summer make is selling from 8 to 9½c. and the autumn make for 10½ to 11c. There have been no recent transactions between makers and wholesalers.

FISH.

The revival of trade has not yet begun. The replenishing and freezing of stock go on, but only for a demand that is in the wake of these preparations. That demand will have collected itself for the heaviest portion of the year's consumption at the beginning of Lent. Meanwhile prices are steady. Whitefish are 7c; salmon trout are 7½c; salted sea-salmon are $12 per 200 lb. barrel; fresh steak-cod are 66½c; smaller cod, now in, are worth 5c per lb.: smelts are 6c per lb.; haddock are 5 to 5½c per lb.; Labrador herring are $5 to $5.50 per barrel, and $3.25 to $3.75 per half barrel; shore herring are $4 per barrel, and $2.25 per half barrel. Boneless cod is 8c per lb. in small quantities, and 6c. per lb. in 40 lb boxes. Boneless fish is 4½ to 5c.

CRANBERRIES.

Prices are $11 to $12 per barrel, and $4 per box, for Cape Cod fruit. The native Ontario cranberries seem to be sold off.

NUTS.

Quiet and unchanged.

PEELS.

Unchanged with the usual seasonable demand.

SUGAR.

While there has been no lowering in the prices of retail lots there has been a disposition on the part of refiners to shade yellows in order to make sales. For retail lots 5¼c. is asked for low grades. Late cables report an increase in the best estimates.

SYRUP AND MOLASSES

Syrups are dull and unchanged. Demand light and supply ample; prices range from 50 to 65c.

Molasses shady with a fair demand for Porto Ricos at 36 to 37c. in puncheons and 40c. in barrels.

TEAS.

Are neglected. No transactions of importance are reported this week. Japans have been dull with no demand.

Congous have also been quiet; nothing of any consequence to chronicle. Low grade Young Hysons to seconds are in demand and continue scarce; there are also inquiries for low-priced firsts with ready buyers for anything offering of good value. London market remains quiet with nothing new.

The local market for Indian tea has been quiet. In the home market there is not much change. With moderate offerings the demand continues good, especially for the lower grades. Pekoe Souchongs sell readily at firm rates. Broken Pekoes command fully previous rates. Broken teas are wanted. Unless importers throw a larger quantity of tea on the market this month than the trade can give necessary attention to, there is no reason why current rates should not continue steady, as deliveries are satisfactory, and Calcutta telegrams do not point to a crop of more than 98,000,000 lbs. In Ceylons the London market reports commoner grades firmer, but Pekoes and broken Pekoes continue to show good value.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

APPLES—Are now half a dollar below what they were a month ago. They are as scarce as it appeared then they would be, but the fall in English prices depresses prices here. This is a very hard year on apples, and the best of packing cannot prevent their spoiling. What is needed for the perfect health of the apple to be long maintained is a temperature near the freezing point. Our weather has been unfavorable, and our apples have languished, got out of condition, and are bringing low prices. In car lots they are worth $2 to $2.25. In small store lots they are $2.25 to $2.75.

BEANS—There is no activity in business to affect prices. They are still $1.50 to $1.60 outside, and $1.70 to $1.85 here.

DRIED APPLES—Are 5½ to 6c. in lots, and 6 to 6½c. in small quantities. The demand is still very languid.

EVAPORATED APPLES New ones are 10c. Old are 9 to 9½c. Most of the stock is yet in the hands of the evaporators.

EGGS—The open weather has started the hens to lay again. Consequently prices are on the way down. Limed eggs are now 16c., and are experiencing an ease in the run which has lately been made upon them. Fresh eggs, cased lots, are worth 22 to 23c., and new laid eggs are worth 25c.

GAME—There is none now killed but pigeons and rabbits, quails and prairie chickens, the last two not being Ontario birds. Rabbits, too, have ceased to be sought after, and the game market is about over. Pigeons are 25c. per brace, rabbits 25c. per pair, prairie chickens $1.50 per brace, and quails $2.50 per dozen.

HAY—Pressed on track, No. 1 is $10.50 to $11, No. 2 is not wanted; loose on street, No. 1 is $12 to $14.50, No. 2 is $8 to $10.

HIDES—Cured are becoming scarce, and the standing price, 5c. is weak. Before our next report we expect the prices of green hides to be down ¼c. all round. Prices still paid are 4¼c. for No. 1, 3¼c. for No. 2, and 2½c. for No. 3. Prices after to-day are expected to be 4, 3, and 2.

HONEY—Is 11½ to 13c. for clear, and 17 to 19c. for the comb. There has been a decreasing business done since the week before Christmas, the taste of the holiday season running more in the direction of other dainties.

HOPS—New ones are 12 to 14c., and yearlings are 8 to 11c.

OATS—Are 30c. in car loads, and 31c. on street. The late improvement in the roads has increased the business done on the street.

ONIONS—Choice are worth $2. Other prices go as low as $1.60.

POTATOES—The local market is kept well supplied by the farmers. Thus a great quantity of potatoes come into the city, and enter into consumption without much telling on the dealers' prices. However, this has prevented large supplies reaching the dealers, who are not now shipping as much as a short time ago. Potatoes go up in price slowly, but they will be fine property before the crop of this year matures. They are now 55c. in car-lots, and 65 to 70c. in small quantities.

POULTRY—is becoming scarce. Geese are 8c., turkeys 10 to 11c., ducks are 70 to 90c., and chickens are 70 to 80c. The latter are scarcely to be had at all, so large was the number absorbed by the Christmas market.

STRAW—Tight-pressed, No. 1 is $6, and No. 2 is not wanted; good loose is $6, and in sheaves is $9 to $9.50. Only oat straw finds any sale.

SKINS.—Sheep skins are now at their best. Prices will go no higher, as the wool is done growing. They are worth $1.15 to $1.25. No 1 calf skins are 6c. per lb., and No. 2 are 5c.

TALLOW.—Rough is 1¼ to 2c., and rendered is 5 to 5¼c.

WOOL—in the fleece is 22 to 23c. Pulled is 24c. for lowest, 25c. for super, and 30c. for extra-super.

PROVISIONS.

BACON.—Long clear is 7½c. Roll is 9½c, and smoked breakfast is 11c.

HAMS.—Smoked hams are 11 to 12c, and green ones are 10 to 11c.

LARD—American, in tubs, is 9c.; in pails 9½c. Canadian, in tubs, is 9½c.; in pails, is 10c.

MESS PORK—Brings $13.50 to $14. Choice Canadian cuts are worth $14.50.

DRESSED HOGS—Heavy weights are worth $5.25; medium, $5.40 to $5.62½. Butchers' select weights are $5.75 to $6.25.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

MONTREAL, JAN. 9, 1890.

GROCERIES.

The movement throughout has been of light volume and of quiet character as was to be expected after the holidays, but under the circumstances dealers make no complaint. The price list has shown no important variation, in fact has remained substantially as formerly quoted. The prospects favor a steady winters trade in most staple lines.

SUGARS.

The market for refined sugar has had a somewhat depressed tone and a further shrinkage in prices has been recorded. Report has it that as low as 6¾c. has been accepted for granulated, but refiners claim that 6⅞c. is the inside at the factory, which means 7⅛c. as the guild price. Low grade yellows have sold at 4⅞c. with bright grades up to 5⅞c. Business has been slow.

SYRUP.

There has been a quiet movement in syrup at steady prices. A few small transactions have been effected at 48 to 60c. per gallon as to quality.

MOLASSES.

Trade has been dull and the tone easy. Barbados ranges from 43½c. to 47c. as to quantity Porto Rico 41c. Antigua 39c. to 40c.

TEAS.

The market has been quiet and without feature to note, business having been light. The tone, however, has continued firm, with values well maintained and holders not anxious to press sales, having faith in the article. Low grades have continued scarce and anything at about 16c. would be quickly taken.

COFFEES.

Quiet and unchanged, with a light jobbing trade. Mocha 28 to 30c. Java, 24 to 29c Jamaica 18 to 22c. and Rio, 19 to 21c. Plantation Ceylon 19c. to 24c.

DRIED FRUIT.

Business has been quiet and featureless. Valencia raisins have continued firm at 6⅞ to 7c. for prime, but lower grades have sold for less. London layers $3.75 and Sultanas 7c. Currants 5½ to 6c for Provincials and Vostizza up to 7 to 7¼c. for choice cases. Prunes 5c. for Bordeaux. Eleme figs 9 to 11c. Malaga do. 5 to 6c. Dried apples 5c. evaporated do. 7c.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been a fair business at steady prices. Valencia oranges $4.75 per case. Jamacia oranges $5 per brl. Choice apples $2.50 to $3.25. Almeria grapes $6 to $7 per keg. Lemons $2.75 to $3.50 and cranberries $8 to $10 per brl. Native onions $2.75 per brl.

NUTS.

Trade was moderate at steady prices. Tarragona almonds 13½ to 14c. Ivica 12½ to 13c. Walnuts 10 to 16c. as to quality. Brazil nuts 9 to 12c.

RICE.

There has been the usual average call for rice, the market for which has remained steady and unchanged. Ordinary in car lots, $3.70; Japan, 4 to 4¼c.; Patna, 4½ to 5¼c.

CANNED GOODS.

If anything the market has been rather more active, but hardly enough to attract special attention. Demand has been chiefly for small lots. Tomatoes have sold again at $1.12½, yet holders in many cases still quote $1.15 to $1.20. Demand for canned fruits has continued good, and a considerable business has been done. Pineapples, $2.35 to $2.40; strawberries, $2 to $2.15; peaches, $2.15 to $2.25; plums, $1.75 to $2; and pears, $2 to $2.10. Fish have ruled quiet. Lobsters scarce at $6.80 to $7 per case, and mackerel slow at $4.25 to $4.50. Salmon, $1.70 to $1.75 per dozen. Peas unchanged at $1.25 to $1.35. Canadian corn quiet at $1.20 to $1.30, with States at $1.75.

FISH.

Although the weather has not been favorable there has been a large distribution, and a further improvement is confidently anticipated, as buyers will shortly begin to stock up for Lenten requirements. Prices have ruled steady, especially as stocks in first hands are by no means large, yet it will require colder weather before there is any real stiffness in the market. A round lot of Labrador herring was let go at $3.85, with small lots at $4 to $4.25. Cape Breton herring, $5 to $5.25. Green cod, $5.25 to $.5.50 for No. 1, with No. 1 and large drafts up to 55.75. Labrador salmon $14 to $15, and B.C. $11, but some sales of the latter have been reported at $10.50. There has been an active turnover of fresh fish, receipts of which so far have not been heavy, and the market has been well cleaned up. Haddock and cod have sold well at 4c.; herring keeps up to $1.75 per 100 for ordinary under a good demand, but more has been realized for extra large fish. Tommy cods $1.50 to $1.60 per bushel, with car lots lower.

GRAIN.

The demand for Manitoba wheat continues fair along the line from millers, and sales of car lots have been made at prices equal to quotations here. We quote: Wheat, No. 1 hard Manitoba, $1.03 to $1.05; No. 2 hard, $1.02 to $1.03; corn, duty paid, 50 to 51c.; oats, 30 to 32c.; peas, 67 to 69c. per 66 lbs.; barley, 45 to 50c.

FLOUR.

Strong bakers' has advanced 10c. during the week in sympathy with wheat. Demand on local account has been fair, and a moderate amount of business has been transacted. We quote: Patent winter, $5.00 to $5.20; patent spring, $5.00 to $5.20; straight roller, $4.50 to $4.65; extra, $4.15 to $4.25; superfine, $3.10 to $3.80; city strong bakers', $4.80 to $4.90; strong bakers', $4.65 to $4.80; strong bakers', bags, $2.40 to $2.50; superfine bags, $1.50 to $1.90; extra bags, $2.00 to $2.10; oatmeal, standard $3.85 to $4.10; granulated, $4.10 to $4.30; rolled oats, $4.00 to $4.50.

PROVISIONS.

There has been no change in the provision market, business having continued quiet.

We quoted: Western short cut pork, $13.00; mess, $12.25 to $12.75; Canadian short cut, $14.00. Western (Armours and Fairbanks), $1.62½ to $1.65 per pail. Cases (Armours and Fairbanks), 8⅛ to 8⅜c. per lb. Canadian lard, $1.60.

EGGS.—The demand for eggs continues slow and the market quiet. The feeling was firm and values were unchanged. City limed sold at 18 to 20c. held fresh at 22 to 24c. and fresh at 30c. per dozen.

GAME.—There was an active demand of which the offerings were fair, and a good business. was accomplished at firm prices Choice partridges sold at 50c. and culls at 30 to 35c. per brace.

POULTRY.—There continues to be a good demand for poultry, and any lots offering meet with a ready sale at full prices. Turkeys especially are in big demand, and as high as 11½c. has been paid for choice stock. We quote: Turkeys sold at 10 to 11c. geese at 7 to 8c. ducks at 8 to 10c. and chickens at 7 to 8c. per lb.

DRESSED HOGS.—Business has continued slow, but the prospects are if the cold weather only continues there will be a big improvement in trade. Prices are steady: Car lots, $5.50 to $5.75, and jobbing lots up to $6 per 100 lbs.

BUTTER.—The butter market continues quiet and steady with only a small jobbing trade. We quote: Creamery, 21 to 23c; Townships, choice, 19 to 21c; Morrisburg, 15 to 18c.; Brockville, 14½ to 16½c.; Western, 12 to 16c.

CHEESE. — The market is dull with no change to note. The shipments for the week were 4629 on through shipment from Portland and 1023 on local account vie Boston. The total to date since the close of navigation, both through and local, is 89,133 boxes, which is made up of 43,387 on Montreal, and 45,476 on through account. For the same period last year the total shipments were 105,382, of which 51,807 were from Montreal and the balance on through account. We quote: Finest September and October, 10½ to 10¾c.; fine stock 9¾ to 10¼c.; earlier makes, 9 to 6½c.

WHAT CANNED GOODS HAVE DONE.

Furnished the masses with cheap and healthy articles of food.

Helped the grocer to increase his business and add to the appearance of his store as well as to his profits.

Increased the pleasures of the table in seasons when fresh fruits and vegetables are unobtainable.

It has lessened the labor of the housewife, as canned goods need but little preparation to serve them ready for the table.

It has given labor to thousands interested in their manufacture, and rich and poor alike enjoy at moderate cost these productions.—Retail Grocers' Advocate.

The Inland Revenue Department has recently issued a bulletin of about thirty pages, which is devoted exclusively to the subject of baking powder, and which shows that the majority of the goods in the market are adulterated and unfit for use. Prof. A. McGill, who has had charge of this important work for the Government, says that "imperial baking powder is an excellent powder." A word to the sensible housekeeper should be sufficient.

CHINA TEA.

This is what the Shanghai Courier has to say about China and its tea trade with this country :—Although not so much China tea may go in the future to Great Britain, this does not mean that China tea will not be required in other parts of the world. The Russian buyers at Hankow astonished the London teamen, and it appears that while 121,771 piculs, or 16,195,543 lbs. of tea have been shipped to London since the present season opened, 82,461 piculs, or 10,967,313 lbs. have been shipped on Russian account to Odessa, and there is more to follow ; and, as a matter of fact, we hear, on good authority, that no small part of the tea shipped to London was also Russian-owned and intended for consumption in Russia. It is also important to note that ten years ago, in the season 1879-80, according to the tea export table in The North China Herald of June 24th, the insignificant quantity of 171 piculs was all that was shipped to Odessa, while the total exports of tea—and it may be said all of it went to London—up to June 17th appear as 255,595 piculs, as compared with 204,232 piculs on the same date this year. The difference is some 19,000 piculs—one steamer's cargo—and it in no sense indicates that the China tea trade is ruined, and it should also be remembered that while, ten years ago, all the tea was shipped to London, a considerable part of it found its way by rail into Russia for ultimate consumption, for in those days direct shipments to Odessa were a novelty, and the steamers of the Russian volunteer fleet had not entered the trade. Statistics of the quantities of tea so transferred from London are not at our command, but it is evident that the tale they would tell would imply that the consumption of China tea in Russia has very materially increased in late years, and that if the purchases at Hankow this year on Russian accouut are a fair guide of the increased demand that there exists, the China tea not wanted in England has another market in Russia that bids fair to take all the tea the Celestial Empire has to dispose of. The comparative tables of the exportation of tea from Hankow and Shanghai this year and ten years ago show, as we have already mentioned, a decrease of some 19,000 piculs. This, on the face of it, seems immaterial, but it is very important from a Chinese point of view. In writing of Great Britain and China, we remarked that China had lost much ground in the veritable racing days of the last few years. This tea business is an instance in point. Instead of progress it is retrogression, China has lost what was her best tea market, and good luck, not good management, has opened a new field for her supply—a new field, be it remembered, that has developed on British enterprise, that had its foundation in London. China energetic, instead of China apathetic, might have kept the old market, and also developed the new one ; but she allowed competitors to come in, and they are assuredly running her off her old, well-beaten tracks, and she will have to bestir herself to retain the hold she now has in Russia for some portion of her tea, for tea production is increasing, and competition is sure to be even keener than it is now.

The following on "Tea Prospects and Cultivation," is quoted from The Tropical Agriculturist:—"The Ceylon planters are prepared in the most active and enlightened way to respond to the renewed demand which has set in for their teas in London. They are encouraged by this reaction and general assurance from experts, that theirs is the tea of the future, to do their very best, by careful cultivation and preparation, to send on teas that will give satisfaction. There is further encouragement to our planters in the latest news from China, conveyed by our special telegram,to the effect that the China exports are 21½ million pounds short. A further cause of encouragement is the increasing demand for fine Ceylon teas for Australia and New Zealand and Persia, and for ordinary teas for the Bombay market, so increasing the importance of the Colombo tea selling market. Very important analyses of Ceylon (as compared with China and Japan) tea recently affected by Mr. Cochran show the superiority of our teas and give further encouragement to planters."

PROFIT ON SUGAR.

In a recent visit to one of our flourishing towns in Lancaster County the question was asked, "Do you get a profit on sugar ?" "Certainly," was the response of the proprietor of the largest and neatest general store in the place. "My opponent on the other corner for years has sold sugar at or below cost, always pushing it as an advertisement to the country people who come with their goods to exchange and buy, but it has created a suspicion among the thoughtful people and they are afraid to deal with him. It may do in larger towns to sell sugar below cost, or give presents with poor tea, but our people are very timid about buying from such merchants, as they have found out the extra twenty-five cents on the shoes, and miserable coffee for twenty-five cents is not desirable.—Pennsylvania Retail Merchant.

CELERY IN WINTER.

To keep celery well during winter, it must be kept in a cool temperature, say thirty-five to thirty-eight degrees, dry over head and only slightly moist at the root Where a large quantity is stored together ventilation is necessary. Crisp and nice celery depends a good deal upon the variety grown and the cultural conditions before storing. After storing, dryness wilts it, wet rots it, warmth sprouts and "draws" it and robs it of flavor. Celery stored when green will keep for months without bleaching crisp, but celery that is half bleached before storing will soon attain perfection after being stored ; and the red celeries are better flavored than any white celeries.

CHEAP GOODS.

Are cheap goods desirable? Does it pay merchants in the long run to keep them, and to rely upon them principally as a source of profit? Do they give satisfaction to consumers? True, they supply a demand which is being constantly made upon the dealer, but are they satisfactory when the consumer carries them home and uses them; Are not complaints numerous and almost constant, and are not goods of this character a continuous source of vexation, annoyance and worriment to nine retailers out of ten who carry them in stock? There are thousands of merchants who deal in cheap goods, who, upon being questioned as to their character, declare that they do not know that they are not pure. Still their common sense ought to teach them that no kind of manufactured goods can sell at prices below market quotations for the raw material. Dealers may palm off inferior articles upon their patrons, who buy them believing them to be genuine, but is it honest, is it manly, is it square dealing? It has always seemed to us to be the better way to carry standard goods in stock. True, customers may grumble some about high prices and haggle over them, declaring that they can buy the same goods cheaper elsewhere; they may take the goods under protest and go away expressing dissatisfaction, yet, when they take them home and use them, they find them to be of excellent quality and naturally want more of them, and cannot be persuaded to buy goods of any other character or brand. We think a merchant who deals in standard goods is more certain of success in the long run than one who runs a cheap John store. Nearly all cheap stores are short lived. There are proprietors of such establishments, it is true, who make money, but they will be found to be of an itinerant class of people; they do not stay long in a place. People soon discover that they are being imposed upon and that cheap prices are only a cloak used to cover an inferior quality of goods. Low prices and inferior goods invariably go together. No reasonable man can expect to buy or sell goods of a sterling character without paying or receiving a reasonable price for them. A recent writer in a well-known family paper says: "He is a public benefactor who conducts an honest trade and considers integrity more valuable than wealth; and he is wise who cheerfully pays the full value of every purchase, knowing that manhood is worth more than money."

There is a good point to this paragraph, and to no one does it apply more appropriately than the storekeeper who does not make a practice of dealing in cheap and inferior goods.—Grocers' Criterion.

The Associated Tea Planters, Ltd.

OF LONDON, CAPITAL, £50,000.

Under the auspices of the Indian Tea Districts Association.

The object of the company is to push the sale of their product, feeling certain that when systematically brought to consumers' notice its merits will be so manifest as to give it the front rank in public favor, as is the case in Great Britain.

Roundly, the annual consumption in that country is 80,000,000 lbs. during last crop year This is the best answer t0 the twaddle about the excessive quantity of tannin in Indian tea. Consumers in England are no fools: they know a cup of good tea.

Supplies will be held in Canada and the States and the undersigned, or his assistants, will make regular calls on the Trade. Samples will also be prOmptly forwarded on application.

CERTIFICATES OF STRENGTH AND PURITY.

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC ANALYST,

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

GENTLEMEN,—I have personally taken samples from a large stock of your Granulated Sugar, "REDPATH" brand, and carefully tested them by the Polariscope, and I find these samples to be as near to absolute purity as can be obtained by any process of Sugar-Refining.

The test by the Polariscope showed in yesterday s yield 99·90 per cent. of Pure Cane Sugar, which may be considered commercially as ABSOLUTELY PURE SUGAR.

"The Great Hymns of the Church"—By Rev. Duncan Morrison. Toronto: Hart & Co. There is no other class of feeling which so naturally lifts up a man's language as does religious fervor. The written form impregnated with it often approaches, sometimes reaches, the eloquence of poetry, and frequently the best of it comes from pens incapable of poetic accomplishment upon any other theme, or under the influence of any other experience. Thus Cædmon, the cowherd, prosaic, and unskilled even in the mechanical art of poetic expression, nevertheless could be rapt by religious feeling, and under its spell wrote a remarkable poem. The writers who have made very good poems upon great human events, upon war, desolation, love, friendship, or sentimental subjects generally, are few compared with the number who have acceptably essayed hymn-writing. The feeling of religious awe is one more generally attainable, and therefore more commonly shared than the other higher feelings. Hence there is more of it sublimated into poetic form than there is of those. As a result of this fact, we have within the local and chronological confines of Christendom a vast number of hymns. There has been a lot of hymn-making in our day, and there has also been an indiscriminating readiness to adopt into church service what is of recent make. This is not for the highest interests of worship, and anything that makes for a more classical hymnody should be hailed by the friends of seemly worship as a herald of reform. Such an influence, we are sure, is the book whose title is quoted above. From the immense mass of hymns of English, Welsh, German, Latin, Greek, and Scriptural origin, the author makes a selection of twenty-eight. These are the grandest of hymnal achievement. Of each a complete history is given, which, we are convinced, will be the means of having those hymns sung "with the spirit and the understanding in a far higher degree" than heretofore. In every case the history is most interesting, and is written in a style that adds to the intrinsic interest of the matter. Mr. Morrison is a good writer, and is plainly an authority upon his subject. His enunciation of the canons by which he tests the title of a hymn to greatness is given in the introduction to the book, and that shows at once the warrant of the man to write upon "The Great Hymns of the Church." While insisting on the importance of literary finish, he believes that "the successful hymnist should take his keynote not from Parnassus, but from Mount Zion." The book should be in the hands of everybody who worships. It is beautifully printed in demy octavo, bound in vellum cloth, and is a handsome volume. Price $1.50.

SPECIAL TO OUR READERS.

As the design of THE CANADIAN GROCER is to benefit mutually all interested in the business, we would request all parties ordering goods or making purchases of any description from houses advertising with us to mention in their letter that such advertisement was noticed in THE CANADIAN GROCER.

OUR MONTREAL OFFICE.

Our Montreal Office is located at 115 St. Francois Xavier St. Our representative, Mr. Hugh C. McLean, will be pleased to have subscribers and advertisers call upon him there. He will also pay special attention to gathering business items and attending generally to the interests of this paper.

TOBACCO EXCISE REGULATIONS.

We are hopeful that the tobacco trade has gained by the conference between the Commissioner of Inland Revenue on the one hand, and the joint committee of the Retail Grocers' Association and the Wholesale Grocers' Guild, on the other. That conference took place on the afternoon of the ninth inst., at about the time our last issue was in the press. Mr. Miall, the Commissioner, showed an earnest desire to be possessed of all the facts that underlie the objections of dealers in tobacco to the Regulations of the Department. Although rather indisposed, he gave patient attention for two hours and a half to the representations of the committee, and sympathized with the hardships which those representations plainly showed were placed upon the retailer by the carrying out of the Regulations. The Committee had its case ready, and was able to overwhelm the Commissioner with conviction, if overwhelming had been necessary.

What sppears to have been the chief intention of the Regulations was to prevent a contraband trade in tobacco between Canada and the French islands in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. For that purpose stringent regulations were admittedly necessary, and we must credit the government which adopted the present ones, with the desire to protect the domestic revenue from foreign smugglers, rather than to harass home trade. The Regulations have really done more of the latter than they have of the former, but we should judge from Mr. Miall's surprise at some of the facts laid before him, that the Government is entirely unaware that this is the case. We cannot, however, acquit the Government of blame. If subordinate officials in its service made applications of the Regulations that were not contemplated by the Department which issued them, it was because the applications were authorized. If they were authorized with an eye to a particular transgression of the Inland Revenue Act, their operation should have been limited to that by the terms defining their scope.

The committee undoubtedly succeeded in impressing upon the Commissioner the fact that the Regulations were very oppressive to trade, and that those most oppressive were least necessary. The meeting closed with a promise from Mr. Miall that he would lay the question before the Minister of Inland Revenue.

Since the above was written, the Hon. John Costigan himself visited the city and met the joint committee. The latter again went into the local history of revenue interferences with legitimate tobacco trade, and apparently opened the eyes of the Minister. There were evidently things done, with the countenance of the Regulations, which were never dreamt of in his design. His words at the close encouraged the committee to believe that the grievances would be redressed and the Regulations amended. He said that any substitutions the Department should deem it right to make for objectionable clauses, would be first submitted for the approval of the trade.

OUR BUTTER MAKING.

There is no country in the world more richly dowered than is this one with the natural resources for making butter. We have a fine climate, wholesome pasture, pure water, everything to make it easy for us to maintain the rarest breeds of cattle under the sun. And our stock of cows is becoming more and more select. All these advantages we have, so far, merely abused. We make vile butter. We are fast becoming a by-word on account of our futility as butter-makers. We make an enormous lot of butter and eat most of it ourselves, because few people outside of Canada have a taste for it. There is a saving remnant of those who make good butter, but the product of their dairies is just enough to open our eyes to the unutterable abundance of our poor butter. What other of our great resources, so long developed, has remained so primitive in its methods, and is now so paltry in its returns? Our fields, our forests, our mines, our live stock, our manufactures, all have done their part in winning honorable mention for this country. We have been guided by the teachings of science and experience in every other department of industry, and at none of them have we been so steadily engaged for so long a time as at butter making. Yet, since the days of our grandmothers we have declined from rather than kept up the reputation they reached. And all this lack of progressiveness maintains its hold upon us in the face of a growing market. The market of England is fairly ravenous for butter, yet it will have hardly any of ours. England imports an enormous lot of butter, yet not two per cent. of all she consumes comes from this great colony of hers. In 1887, England bought from Denmark and Holland 277,000,000 lbs. of butter, and paid 26½c for it. In Ontario 30,000,000 lbs. were made that year, for which, on an average, we got within 9c of the price England paid to strangers. Thus on our 30,000,000 lbs. we realised $2,700,000 less than we could have got. We wasted a million and-a-half pounds by our rude churning system, which if we had got 26½c for it would have brought $397,500. The sum of these two losses is $3,097,500. This Province suffers a loss of above three million dollars through its bad butter-making. This calculation is based on close figuring. What then is the loss over all Canada? It certainly is not short of twice this sum.

More than the interests of that class of traders for whom we specially speak, is bound up in the butter-question. In its present condition that question affects the whole country very gravely. It is a large national question, and patriotic, as well as purely private commercial considerations, urge every man who deals in butter to use his influence to reduce that yearly loss. The figures above denote the sum by which the country would be richer if our butter were good. We are not the richer even by the amount we at present yearly get for our butter, because from that amount a very large portion has to be deducted to balance the aggregate losses of merchants who have the handling to do. It is not rash to say that the net returns from our butter are not much more than half what they should be.

The country merchants owe it to the Dominion that this huge waste should be made less. They have no right any longer to be parties to such wanton squandering of a grand national resource. If country merchants would but follow their own interests they would greatly advance the country. Let their stores no longer be the gateway into the country's market of any but choice butter. This will either stimulate private dairies to do better, or will cause them to make way for the creamery.

A TIME FOR STOCK-TAKING.

We had a few words to say on this subject two weeks ago. We consider it important, and bring it up again.

What is the reason that January is chosen for stock-taking by anybody? If a reason were given, we imagine there would be none of it left after we had winnowed out of it every vistage of pure conservatism. Dealers take stock in January because they always take stock in January. There is no other reason that we can conjure up. It is the respectable but senseless scruple of not wanting to go back on the past. Reform has touched and transformed nearly every other custom of the trade, and would have superannuated this one long since if it had been a more frequently occurring event. Coming as it does but once a year, the sense of inconvenience strongly felt at the time wears out before it comes again. Also, the conviction that from the nature of the duty there must be travail in any case, makes a dealer sceptical of any relief that a change in the time of year can bring round.

In January there are more people idle than there are in June. This is a fact that should weigh, especially outside of cities, in favor of June for stock taking. In villages and small towns there are apt, in idle time, to be a good many more callers on the merchant than there are customers. There are likely to be more non-buying visitors in January than in June. These lounge about and talk, and stock-taking stands at a dead halt or goes at a snail's pace while they are present. There are therefore more hours spent over stock-taking in January than in June, for the latter is a time of year when everybody in the country is busy. Customers come in to buy then, but not to linger, for they have their own cares to look after.

Stock-taking in January, coming right after the holiday trimming of the shelves and windows, is unreasonable. The tasteful array is disturbed, and is not again restored, because of the dullness of the time of year. There seems no object in taking pains to brighten the appearance of the overhauled shelves, as there is no special call to be bid for. Also, the tediousness, interruption, and shortness of the days at that season make pains to make the stock look well seem too expensive of time and labor. But if stock were not taken then, the holiday trimness would be preserved, and that itself would be a stimnlus to the retouching of it often, so that the store in winter could not degenerate into a chamber of horrors. A second reason is, therefore, to have for as long as possible, the benefit in appearance and in influence of the Christmas dressing of the stock. Usually trades take special pains to have their stores attractive for Christmas. It is not desirable that immediately after the holidays are over all this work for beautiful effect should be swept away with a ruthless hand.

June is the sixth month of the year, and a time when the store usually needs rehabilitating. Stock needs dusting, floors, windows, and shelves need refreshing and airing. This all should be done, whether stock is taken then or not. But why might not stock not as well be taken at the same time? We consider that if a stock is handled in a dilapidated condition at a right time of year, its handling will be for its improved presentation. In the same way, we hold, if a stock in a perfect state of order is to be handled in a dull season, its handling will serve to put its light under a bushel. Handling of that kind is attended by the usual consequences of not leaving well enough alone.

Thus, by taking stock in June and decorating at Christmas, the stock is overhauled and put in order twice in a year, while by taking stock in January the stock is decorated once in the year—viz., at Christmas, and then immediately thrown into confusion in January. For the good of stock, and of a man's peace of mind, it is preferable to take stock in June.

AM MUCH PLEASED WITH IT.

CASHEL, Ont., Jan'y 11.

You will please find enclosed two dollars, for which please send CANADIAN GROCER for another year to my address. I have been taking great interest in the paper and am much pleased with it in every way.

Yours truly,

WM. JENKINS.

"AT HOME" ARRANGEMENTS.

The committee responsible for the success of the "At Home" has been indefatigable in its attention to the preliminaries. Judged by the preparations and liberal outlay of time, pains and money, this ought to be the pleasantest coming-together the grocers have yet had. We hope and expect that it will be. Only people defective in the faculty of enjoying themselves could have a dull time, after so much had been done to make certain their chance of having a good one. The committee has labored, and with judgment and taste.

For the concert, excellent professional talent has been engaged. On the programme there are no amateurs. The selections have been made with a view to entertain, not to astonish or bore. The programme is neither too long nor too short, allowing for the interpolations of encores. In character and extent it will be found to fit the occasion admirably. It will be an acceptable prologue to the more active pleasures of the dance, which will be enjoyed with the greater zest at the end of a hundred minutes in the chairs.

The ball will open at the close of the concert. The dance-programme, like that of the concert, is drafted to please. Everybody will find his or her special favorite there at least once, and the old stand-by, the waltz, comes often. The Lancers—Bombay and Saratoga—will come often enough for the lovers of a square dance. Sir Roger de Coverley will be likely the wind-up. The orchestra will be one of the best. There is nothing lacking to make the ball a perfect success.

The rooms it is needless to praise. It suffices to say they are Harry Webb's. They are the first and second flats above the ground floor of his well-known cafe. They are approached by the stairs opening on Melinda St. The first flat above the ground floor will be the scene of the concert and the ball. In the next higher storey are the refreshment room, ladies' cloak and toilet rooms, gentlemen's smoking room, etc.

The committee has sold a very large number of tickets, and the indications are that there will be a big turnout. The wholesale grocers have signified their intention to be present, and invitations have been issued to a few friends outside of the trade.

The committee wants it understood that the "At Home" is not a financial expedient. It is sought to be made a success, but its success will not be guaged by the money-return from it. The financial outcome of it may be on the wrong side of the ledger, and the "At Home" still be a great success. Its success will be measured by the extent to which the participants enjoy themselves.

HAMILTON GROCERS.

A correspondent from Hamilton writes to the GROCER about his "observations" among the trade of that city. He says :—I visited a large number of stores, both large and small, and think the trade in good condition. There have been a few small failures since my last visit to them about a year ago. One was that of a farmer who came to town with a few hundred dollars. He invested it all in stock, and located in the midst of those who had an established trade, in a locality where there had been no increase of the population in the ward, so there could be no other result but failure. Another was that of a young man who bought out a corner store and gave credit right and left to draw trade. He got it. Two or three other failures could be summed up in about the same way. I do not think any of them were in business more than a year or two. I do not think there has been any failures, nor is there likely to be any, that will reflect in any way on the good sound condition of the grocery trade in Hamilton ; and while I cannot fully describe the business appearance of each store and give full justice to it, I would like to mention the names of a few called on that were doing a good everyday business, notwithstanding the very unseasonable weather for this time of year. They were Messrs. Pears & Son, Hunter & Son, J. Colvin, Geo. Ellis, W. J. O'Brien, Carpenter Bros., Osborn & Son, J. J. Watt, C. Bremner, R. Winnifreth, S. Mann, W. Millar, H. Taylor, A. Hays, Jas. Main, R. Rowe, D. Monroe, W. Ronald, J. F. Kavenaugh, W. B. Berney, Norris Bros., G. J. Smith, G. Dodman, W. Harvey, J. & A. Morris, Green & Jones, J. W. Tunis, and J. H. Horning & Co.

I shall have occasion to mention others in a future letter, as there are many I have not called on yet. I made inquiries of some of the above grocerymen in regard to a Grocers' Association for Hamilton, and with but two or three exceptions the answer was, "We can never get an Association to 'work' here." All seemed to be discouraged on that matter. I endeavored to learn the reason for this unanimity on this question, and the answers were all the same : "We have organized two or three times, and all failed."

The last one, as far as I could learn, got no farther than to fix a combination price on bottled ales, and through some London brewer kicking the thing failed, and thus ended the last effort to organize a Grocers' Association in Hamilton. Perhaps it is not out of place for me to say that it is what might have been expected, as there is nothing in the "grocery" trade that would interest the large majority of grocerymen so little as that of the price of liquors, ales or beer, as I venture to say where there is one groceryman that sells liquors there are ten who do not in the city of Hamilton. Therefore, in an Association of this kind, where a certain commodity interests so very few in numbers, it is better that the matter should never be brought up for consideration, but left for regulation to the few that handle it.

I do not think there is a city in the Dominion where the grocery trade should be more united (leaving out the liquor interests) than Hamilton. They are all intelligent, honest, hard working business men. I cannot recall a single case where the head of the business was not at his "post" during the busy hours of trade ; and where you find so many honest, upright grocerymen, that pay one hundred cents on the dollar, as in Hamilton, it should not be hard to organize the best and soundest Association in America. I was informed some time ago that Mr. J. F. Kavenaugh was being urged to try his hand at organizing, and I hope to hear that he has consented to undertake it : and as there is a very large number of grocerymen in Hamilton that take the GROCER, let me say to Mr. Kavenaugh openly in your columns, to start the Association entirely independent of the liquor interest. Take the groceryman in with his grocery interest, but give him to understand he must leave his ale and beer regulations "to home ;" that there are so many of them who do not handle it that you cannot take up the Association s "time" in considering the price of any article that the majority of you do not handle. Hoping to see a first-class organization in Hamilton soon, I will give your readers a compromise or two that came under my notice last week, and perhaps it may serve as a question for discussion at some of the Association meetings already organized. The first was that of a merchant who was burned out without insurance. The compromise was effected at sixty cents on the dollar, except in one case, where one of the creditors belonged to the wholesale guild, and could not accept a compromise because the property was not insured for sixty per cent., as is required by them. The result was this house was secured in full, while the compromisers got but fifty cents on the dollar.

The other case I will preface by saying there is one wholesale grocery house doing a good business, that goes to the trade openly, avowing that they make no compromises, and it is with this firm this incident occurred : A merchant failed ; a meeting of creditors resulted in a compromise of forty cents on the dollar, except in the case of the no-compromise firm. They kindly offered to give him an extension of time, but no compromise. The merchant's reply to this "ultimatum" was : "Many thanks for their offer of extension, and the assurance that if all had met him with the same liberal spirit he would never have been obliged to assign." The letter enclosed "Payment in full of the account," and since then some handsome orders have been received from this merchant, and have been promptly filled by the no-compromise firm.

A TRADE IN FINE GROCERIES.

A trade in fine groceries is within the reach of thousands of retail grocers who at present pretend to do nothing in that line. An instance was mentioned in these columns recently where a young man, with no other capital than experience, opened a store in the city of Los Angeles, and offered a line of fine and fancy goods, such as had never been kept in that growing place, and not kept simply because the grocers based their estimate of the wants of the community upon their own idea of what was required, instead of testing its needs and taking steps to create a demand for novelties. The new store commanded patronage from the start, its trade increased, its reputation grew and in a short time was doing a business far beyond the dreams of its proprietor, and the largest of its kind west of the Missouri River. The owner created the demand, led it, pushed for new business and got it.

Self-gratification is a failing of human nature. As a rule the appetite is gratified regardless of cost, so that by introducing luxuries in the way of food, the grocer has half the forces on his side at the start. He must be the tempter to seduce the appetite of these whom he serves. He must remember that "when the stomach is full, the heart is glad," and therefore he must endeavor to keep his patrons in a continual state of good nature. No one knows to what an extent trade in fine goods can be pushed, until he makes the attempt.

In handling fine groceries, the secret of success lies in furnishing the best the market affords. Quality, not price, must be the first consideration. The trade is one that knows no limit for it can be pushed indefinitely. Another factor that aids in building up a business in fancy goods is that people are fond of novelties, and in this line there is abundant scope for bringing some new article or style of goods to the notice of patrons, and with a degree of rapidity that will keep them on the alert in watching for something new.

We think a common mistake is the idea that fancy goods must pay an exorbitant profit. This is an instance where the nimble sixpence is much to be preferred to that of the slow shilling.

In order to discriminate thoroughly as to the quality of any food product, the buyer should be a capable judge, and the power to be such depends in a great measure upon the dealer's style of living. How can the value of a brand of sardines be determined by one who has never tasted such fish ? He should learn to like them just as most people learn to like olives, or tomatoes or to use mustard. How is a dealer to judge of coffee unless he makes himself familiar with the flavor and strength of the different sorts ? It is part of a merchant's business to taste and test everything that he sells.

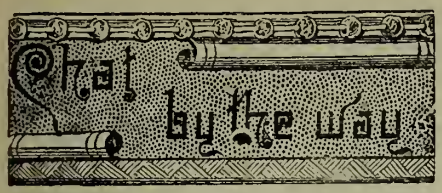
Fancy groceries may be classed under two general heads, viz.: Foreign and Domestic. The former consists largely of articles not produced or obtainable in the United States, such, for instance, as olives, mushrooms, truffles, sardines, anchovies, capers, pates de foies gras and several fancy makes of cheese. In addition, there is classed under the head of both foreign and domestic a number of articles that are manufactured or produced both at home and abroad, such as pickles, fruits, gelatine, beans, macaroni, vermicilli, mustard, vinegar, bluing, olive oil, castile soap, prepared barley, crackers, chocolate, catsup, sauces, jams, marmalade, jellies and oatmeal. Under domestic fancy groceries we class all descriptions of canned fruits, vegetables, milk, fish, meats, or other products, flavoring extracts, preparations of cocoanut, yeast or baking compounds, sardines, and all proprietary goods other than staples that are put up in small packages. Some articles thatwe have classed as foreign are imported as raw material, and prepared and packed in this country, and are equal in all respects to the foreign preparations. Both foreign and home prepared goods show a wide range in quality. For instance, olives, capers, and olive oil, are imported and packed in glass bearing the labels of home dealers. Others have agencies in foreign countries in connection with their business in the United States, generally putting their goods up under brands and labels solely their own. The dealer will find from the start a prejudice in the minds of consumers in favor of foreign goods. The idea exists that if an article is from London, Paris, or Italy, it must of necessity be the best. This is due to the fact that foreign fancy groceries were first in the field and held undisputed sway for a long term of years, and as the quality of certain brands alway proved reliable, it was natural that people should become prejudiced in their favor, even to the extent of being willing to pay more for them than for other equally as good brands.

To a certain extent the retail dealer must yield to the prejudice of customers, and when he desires to change the demand from one brand to another, work at it judiciously and slowly, keeping in stock a small quantity only of the goods he desires to stop keeping. In first introducing foreign fancy groceries buy in the smallest possible quantities, and if other dealers keep them in stock, select such brands as are in demand, leaving the introduction of unknown marks for the future.

Although certain kinds and well established brands of fancy groceries have maintained a high repututaion for many years, the product of each season should be very carefully scrutinized. Changes in the average mean of rain fall and temperature effect not only crops, but exert an influence upon such products as may be obtained from the water. Besides this there are often very irregular results attending the yield of raw material in different sections at the main source of supplies. Sardines may run of superior quality at one fishery and poor at another, or uniformly small or large at all points. Capers grown at one point may be extra, at another inferior. The product of the olive tree varies, the fruits of the vine show change from year to year. Changes in the manner of preparation or in the laborers employed are constantly occurring. All of these things make vigilance in studying quality a prime necessity with all parties. First-class houses will ordinarily refuse to risk the reputation of their brands for superior quality under any circumstances. Oftentimes ignorance on the part of the retailer as to the proper care of fancy groceries causes a deterioration in stock that is undiscovered until the article is on the consumer's table. The result of this is to destroy two reputations, that of the goods sold and that of the seller as a competent judge of certain kinds of merchandise. The other day, in passing a restaurant, we noticed salad oil exposed in a show window to the sun's rays. This could only result in injury to the oil, and naturally lead one to think—"If I go there for a bit of salad or some oysters I am likely to be served with oil made slightly rancid by exposure, therefore I'll pass on." The same process of reasoning is gone through with by those who purchase fancy groceries. The greatest care needs to be exercised in handling olives, capers, pickles, mustards, sardines, olive oils, etc., to keep them stored where they will not be likely to be affected by extremes of temperature.—American Grocer.

A NEW TELEPHONE.

Country merchants and others who feel the need of a cheap and serviceable telephone connection in places where there are no regular telephone service will be interested in the following account from the Boston Journal of Commerce, of the invention of Jerome Prince, a Milford, Mass., grocer. Mr. Prince's invention consists ef the transmission of sound by vibration of glass, and his attention was directed to the subject in a eculiar way. While waiting in Boston one day he chanced to wander into one of the dime museums, and as he entered he observed a young girl playing a tune on tumblers, each tumbler being partially filled with water. Mr. Prince instantly thought that if the vibration of glass can be made to give forth such varied and musical sounds by the manipulations before him, why cannot this vibration of glass be brought to some practical utility, and with these thoughts and expectations he set to work. The new telephone consists of a diaphragm or transmitter of simple glass, resting on a number of glass rods, and these communicating with an ordinary wire. The line in operation at Milford extends from a grocery on Main street to the residence of one of the proprietors, a distance, perhaps, of some thirty rods, passing some five or six sharp angles before reaching its destination. Over this wire the ticking of a watch can be distinctly heard, and a whispered conversation carried on with no difficulty whatever. The distance that sound can be transmitted with the new telephone varies according to the thickness of the glass transmitter. The one in consideration allows a whispered conversation three miles, and by using a thicker glass a much longer distance. It makes no difference how many angles the wire takes in reaching its destinat on, the sound is transmitted just as readiiy. Another peculiarity of the invention is the increased intensity of the sound that is transmitted. Each vibration seems to gather strength and force from the vibrations behind it, and when the sound reaches the ear of the auditor it is wonderfully clear and distinct.



THE NEW CANADIAN SHIP RAILWAY.

Canada is carrying on just now one of the most remarkable works of modern times—the Chignecto Marine Transport Railway. The road is being built on the neck of land lying between the Northumberland strait and the Bay of Fundy. It is designed to facilitate maritime communication between the Gulf of St. Lawrence and southern ports. Vessels will be hoisted on to a huge truck; two locomotives will at once commence to pull, and away the ship will go, 17 miles overland, to the Bay of Fundy, where it will be set afloat again to resume its voyage. The railway trip will avoid the long journey around Cape Breton and Nova Scotia.

The steel for the track is the heaviest ever made, weighing 110 pounds to the yard. There will be a double track. upon which the track containing the vessels under transport will be placed. The locomotives, two of which will be used in drawing the vessels across the isthmus, are built on the same principle as the ordinary locomotives, but of a much greater weight and power. It is estimated that with this power and the roadbed in fairly good condition a ship of ordinary capacity will be taken from the Bay of Fundy and placed in Baie Verte, a distance of seventeen miles, in two and a half hours, though ten miles is easily obtainable. The vessels to be transported will be hoisted by hydraulic power from a basin or dock to the railway track. It is claimed that it will be impossible for the ship to suffer injury or strain by this novel experience.

Honor is to business men what courage is to the soldier; what zeal is to the advocate; or impartiality to the judge.

A Baltimore despatch says: "The oyster exchange of this city now includes every oyster packer in this city, with the exception of one, and a fierce battle is now being waged against this outsider. The exchange has the support of all the commission merchants in the city, and these are obliged to refuse to sell to any packer not a member of the organization. In this way a great many packers who would not otherwise have joined the exchange were forced into it. The firm which the exchange seeks to crush claims to have enough oysters in the shell to fill their orders for a week, and a sufficient quantity afloat to keep them supplied for two weeks more. By this time they hope to have broken the combine. C. H. Pearson, the active member of the firm, says the effect of the combine has been to drive a great deal of the trade to points further down the bay, where selects can be gotten for 95c. and standards for 70c., while the exchange prices are $1.20 and $1.

TRADE NOTES.

Bryant, Gibson & Co. have advanced bulk pickles five cents.

The MacDonald tobacco works have reopened after the usual annual suspension of work.

Messrs. W. A. Warren, President, and Walter Stark, Managing Director of the Imperial Produce Co., leave for Great Britain this week in the interests of the company. They take with them a small shipment of choice dairy butter, put up in five pound drums by Mr. Wenger, Ayton, with the object of testing the market, and ascertaining what can be done towards the shipment of Canadian dairy butter in this way to the British market.

Adams & Sons are now putting a new brand of goods upon the market called "Puzzle Gum." The flavor is Wintergreen, and there is an interesting puzzle on each wrapper. This is a brand which will sell fast. It is put up 115 pieces in a box, and the price is 80c.

The business as Millers and Grain Dealers which has been carried on by Thos. Martin since the death of the senior member, John Martin, now over five years, under the firm name of Martin & Sons, will in future be carried on by Thomas Martin and Alex. Martin, under the firm name of Martin Bros.

Wright & Wright, Princess street, Winnipeg, in a letter to THE GROCER, says—"Business here is dull in general. Money is scarce on account of poor crops last year. Weather cold since 1st inst. A batch of petty larcencies have been committed within recent times in Walton stores, which clearly shows that there are still a number of bad young eggs about the town who are still out of jail. Last Monday night another depredation was added to the list, and it is about time an end was put to the practice in a most emphatic way. On the evening above named, the grocery store of Mr. James Dunfee was entered, and a large quantity of cigars, candies, oranges, etc., and one dollar in silver, was carried off. An entrance was effected by means of a key which fitted the front door lock. The case was placed in the hands of Chief Douglas immediately, and at present writing there is every probability that the offenders will be brought up with a jerk. The thieves are of tender age, but like the mosquito, they get there just the same. The unearthing of this burglary may be the means of arriving at the identity of the perpetrators of the other petty larcencies, which have of late taken place on Walton street.—Port Hope Times

TORONTO RETAIL GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

The monthly meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association was held in Shaftsbury Hall, Monday evening. Among those present were Messrs. John Berwick, J. F. Thackray, F. S. Roberts, F. Johnston, A. G. Booth, John Western, John Butcher, J. G. Gibson, D. W. Clark, R. Mills, W. S. Williamson, Henry Lindsay, R. Barron.

Mr. Berwick opened the meeting and asked the new President, Mr. R. Mills, to take the Chair. He hoped that he and his co-adjuator, Mr. J. G. Gibson, would have a very successful year. Mr. Mills was received with applause; he promised to do all he could to make the Association a success; thought they should do more to carry out the two objects of the Association—protection and social intercourse. The delinquent debtors' list should be carefully looked after; it would be a great source of strength to the Association during the present year; he hoped they would make special efforts to make the feature a success. He closed by asking for their support to enable him to fill the office satisfactorily.

Mr. Roberts moved a vote of thanks to the retiring president and hoped that at some future time they would have him in the same position again. It was seconded by Mr. Lindsay and carried with applause. Mr. Berwick, who has made a most popular president, thanked the meeting for their kindness to him. He took a great interest in the proceedings and illness only would prevent his attendance at all future meetings.

The Secretary read a report of a meeting of the Executive Committee at which it was decided to adopt the scheme for a delinquent debtors' list proposed by the Secretary. The report was adopted.

The roll call showed only one officer absent.

NEW MEMBERS.

Mr. W. D. Clark nominated Messrs. Sinclar & Co., No. 2 Baldwin street, and J. S. Graham, Spadina ave. Mr. Clark also paid the fees of Mr. A. M. Sinclare, who had retired from business, but wanted to stand well on the books. The secretary nominated Messrs. M. A. P. Meeking, W. A. Cooper, Thos. Dowswell, all of Wellesley street, and H. Bache, Carleton street. All were elected. The secretary remarked that this was one of the results of the delinquent list.

THE MARKET'S BY-LAW.

The secretary reported that he had written the Mayor regarding the market by-law. The latter replied that he had asked the City Solicitor for an immediate report. No answer, however, had been received by the Association.

THE TOBACCO REGULATIONS.

Mr. Mills reported for the committee which had this question in charge, and gave a full account of the interview with Mr. Miall, the Commissioner of Inland Revenue, as reported in another column, and also their interview with Hon. Mr. Costigan, the Minister of that department. He said that the Minister was ignorant of the extremities to which the local Inland Revenue authorities had gone in their persecution of the retailers. The Minister had promised to consider the suggestions made by the committee, and would make some amendments. Before these amendments became law, he had promised to have them submitted to the Wholesale and Retail Grocers' Association.

In reply to Mr. Gibson as to whether a rebate would be allowed to those retailers whose tobacco had been seized, Mr. Mills said he thought that if the Association would make representations to the Government for a rebate they would get it. The Minister was surprised at the way seizures had been made.

Mr. Thackray suggested that an advertisement be inserted in the Telegram, asking that those whose tobacco had been seized should communicate with the Secretary.

The President was in favor of following up the seizures and asking the Government to give rebates.

Mr. Booth moved, seconded by Mr. Gibson, that the Executive be empowered to advertise asking the members of the Association to report all claims for seizures. The motion was adopted.

THE AT-HOME.

Mr. Gibson reported what the Committee had been doing, as already detailed in this column. They were arranging for a first class concert programme. Reference is made to the affair in another column.

A number of accounts were paid.

An interesting but informal discussion took place on details of the working of the Delinquent Debtors' List, and the Executive Committee was instructed to consider the various suggestions made.

OTHER ASSOCIATIONS.

The secretary read letters from Carleton Place grocers who were organizing an association, and the following letter from Mr. J. Gilbert, Secretary of the Kingston Grocers' Association:

our Association last week that it would be beneficial to the trade if a general Retail Grocers' Association could be formed for the Province of Ontario (on the same basis as the Wholesale Grocers' Guild) with branches in all the cities and towns of the Province, Kingston, Kingston and Toronto Associations becoming branches. It could remedy many of the grievances of the trade and promote a better feeling among all general merchants and grocers than at present when each city and town seems to try who can sell the most goods at a loss or on no margin worth calling a profit. Then there are a lot of people going into business without experience or capital, who only ruin the trade and in the end beat the wholesale grocer out of from $1,000 to $3,000, get a compromise with their creditors and start again only to repeat the same thing. Then there are goods sold not fit to be put over the counter, those spices made up of tanbark, buckwheat, etc., which any respectable grocer should condemn. Prize goods are another grievance and should be put down by Act of Parliament as a species of gambling. Now, Sir, if you will lay this matter before your Executive and also call the attention to other associations in the various cities and towns known to you, or let me know the name of the Secretaries and I will communicate with them. If such an association could be formed the grocers of the Province would be far better off at the end of the year. When visiting Toronto this winter I will show you our system of listing deadbeats.

I remain, yours, etc.,
JOHN GILBERT,
Secretary.

Mr. Barron wanted two trustees appointed to hold the reserve fund of the association. At present it was in his own name. This was agreed to and on motion of Mr. Gibson, seconded by Mr. Williamson, Messrs. Barron and Berwick were appointed trustees.

THANKS TO THE PRESS.

Mr. D. W. Clark moved, seconded by Mr. Gibson, that a vote of thanks be tendered to John Ross Robertson, of the Evening Telegram, for his action in denouncing the tea fakers who were operating here recently. The motion was carried by a standing vote. It was stated that the Telegram was the only paper that had refused to publish their advertisements of the fakirs.

Mr. Williamson moved a vote of thanks to THE CANADIAN GROCER, and to the Merchant for giving full and complete reports of the proceedings of the Association.

Mr. Gibson and Mr. Mills on behalf of the association, expressed a hope that Mr. Weston would have a very pleasant trip.

The annual meeting of the Blenheim board of trade was held on Monday evening, when Mr. Geo. Thompson was elected president; F. E. Arkel, vice-president; R. C. Macpherson, secretary-treasurer. The board has a good strong membership and is in a prosperous condition.

The trial of Albert Grayson for entering Shaw & Wooliver's store, Wallaceburg, and feloniously stealing certain goods, was concluded on Saturday last. A quantity of goods wrapped up in a handkerchief had been found in a stable and were produced in court. Joseph Shaw and Scott Wooliver were called, and identified the goods as the ones stolen from their store the previous Saturday or Sunday night. Grayson was then sentenced to imprisonment for a period of twenty-three months.

Some time ago a stranger called at the residence of Mr. Hartwell D. McCarty, grocer, of Ingersoll, and asked to leave an organ there until the following morning. Mr. McCarty consented, and has not seen the man since. On Friday morning an agent of the Woodstock branch of the Molsons Bank presented a note for the price of the organ to Mr. McCarty and demanded payment, or, in default, a return of the organ. Mr. McCarty at once declared the note to be a forgery. The man who left the organ is said to have been an agent of Carter, the music dealer who failed in Woodstock a short time ago.

HIDE STANDARDS.

Until a short time ago there was no grading of hides. In the internal business of a buyer he might differentiate in prices according to a distinction of his own, but there was no commonly understood point at which dealers agreed to divide prices into high and low. In fact any grading that was observed was carried out covertly, and herein lay the disadvantage of having no publicly recognized mode of grading. There was plainly a difference in the quality of hides bought Some might recognize this difference in secret, pay a better price for the better class, and covertly act as if they were ignoring any difference in qualities. Thus an opportunity to do overbidding in an underhand manner was afforded by the want of a standard. The want was therefore an evil.

Although buyers were supposed to buy at uniform prices for all classes, yet on account of the small margin of profit in late years, they had been in the habit of selecting heavy weights on which they expected to make bulk of their gain when selling to tanners. For them they got better prices, and realized the average prices on the commoner hides. The larger steer hides were specially required for heavy belting, which is required to be strong and even. It therefore was worth more to the tanner. This the wholesale buyer observed in his make-up for shipping, and sorted his stock into specially large and ordinary. So that although the dealer made no profession of a standard for buying he had one for selling. This was another reason why a standard should be adopted by all dealers.

A standard is now adopted. Heavy steers' hides of 60 pounds and over are to be paid for at 5c. a pound. Steers' hides below that weight, and cows' hides are to be 4c. a pound. All buyers and all sellers are now openly aware of a recognized difference between heavy and common hides, and business will accordingly be more satisfactory.

SPECIAL CARRIAGE ILLUMINATION.

Several wealthy Chicagoans are having their carriages wired for incandescent lighting, placing two or more battery lamps in the interior, and one on each side of the driver's seat, the necessary currant being supplied from a set of storage cells placed beneath the carriage seats, and recharged at one of the local lighting stations as often as required. The great convenience thus afforded has but to be once enjoyed to be thoroughly appreciated, as during long drives at night to country seats, or suburban homes the tediousness of the journey may be dispelled or forgotten in the perusal of the latest novel, or the finishing of some fancy needle-work by a member of the fair sex, all of which is easily accomplished under the perfect and steady light furnished.—Exchange.

DRY GOODS.

The weather has not yet come which is needed to start the circulation of the dry goods trade. It is still slow and quiet. Orders continue to be of the sorting-up class, retailers being mistrustful of a heavy call for woollens now. The spring trade was all placed by Christmas, and travellers are now after the orders for next fall. Although the buying has been conservative and from hand to mouth, yet it has accomplished a good deal in the way of reducing wholesale stocks. These show a greater inroad than would be looked for from so dull a season and so cautious a disposition among retailers.

HARDWARE.

This is the time of year when trade is quietest. In this particular year the dulness is greater, and is likely to be more protracted than usual. The demand in all lines is light.

GROCERIES.

The local market has been very dull this week. Not much doing in anything. Payments are very slow. To-day, however, there was rather more activity in the market.

CANNED GOODS.

Demand has been slightly better this week. Packers have succeeded in placing a few small lots, getting $1.20 for tomatoes and $1.25 for corn. It was reported to-day that one packer had cleared out about half his entire lot. Retailers have been buying tomatoes and corn at $1.15 to $1.25, and peas at $1.10 to $1.25. Demand for fruits is light. Fears are entertained that the new crop of fruits will be seriously damaged by the weather. In many places trees have commenced to bud. During the week a few apples have sold at $2.25 to $2.50 for gallons; peaches are steady, with a good demand at $3.25 to $3.40 for 3's, and $2 to $2.25 for 2's. Fish dull, with salmon quoted from $1.55 to $1.80, top being for "Maple Leaf" brand.

Delaware fruit growers have been sounding an alarm through the mails, asserting that their trees are all in bud, and that genuine winter weather, which is bound to come in the course of time, will play havoc with the orchards throughout the State. In point of fact, they are already predicting a total failure of the crop. Evidence of unmistakable character, in support of the assertion that the trees are in bud, has been received here in the shape of twigs cut from peach trees in Kent County, Del.—cut by a person well known in the canned goods trade in this city and elsewhere. These twigs were literally covered with buds well advanced towards bloom, and the person referred to asserts that the orchards throughout the county are all in the same condition. He and local authorities, including some of the most wily in the trade, state that it looks very much like a crop failure, and a bad one at that. The accuracy of the prophecies, of course, remains to be seen.—New York Bulletin.

The above report is causing some feeling around the American market for canned peaches for future delivery.

COFFEES.

There has been no change in this market this week. Demand has been quiet and prices steady.

DRIED FRUIT.

Currants keep steady ; the market holding its own, which is a good sign in face of the slow demand. Dates are quiet and selling mostly about 6c. Figs steady with a good demand for natural in bags at 4¾c lots of 25 bags and up, and 5c. in single bags ; 14 oz. boxes are held at 8½ to 10c. Prunes were unchanged, only a few small lots are selling ; a cable from Trieste to-day says : "Market rapidly advancing in consequence of the depletion of stock." Valencias keep firm at 7c. for prime off-stalk ; a lot about 500 boxes of seconds sold at 6½c. here ; for prime, holders are asking 6¾ to 7c. in lots and are not anxious sellers at these figures which are reasonable when the present statistical position of the market is considered. Sultanas are firmly held as before but with a better inquiry for round lots. Malagas are stiffer, stocks here are very light and holders are not anxious to sell at the low prices of the holiday trade. Messrs. Henry Nordlinger & Co. have prepared statistics showing the position of Sultana Raisins. The crop of 1889 was 16,080 tons, against 28,300 tons in 1888 and 24,250 tons in 1887. The quantity remaining in Smyrna, November 30, was 1,300 tons, against 5,220 tons same time 1888 and 4,870 tons in 1887. The receipts at New York from the opening of the season to date have been 732 tons, or 80,540 boxes, against 1,766 tons, or 194,327 boxes, to corresponding period last year.

NUTS.

Not much doing. Only small lots are going out. Prices remain about the same. Brazils are selling at 11 to 12c.; almonds at 14 to 15c. for Sarragona, and 13 to 14c. for Formigetta; and walnuts at 10½ to 11c. for Bordeaux and 16c. for Grenobles.

PEELS.

Dull and unchanged. Citron is worth 28 to 30c. for Leghorn, and 33 to 35c. for English. Lemon and orange remain at 16 to 18c.

SUGAR.

The demand on this market has been slack, and a further shading of values in yellows has been the result. As a rule 5¼c. is the inside price for yellows, but 5⅛c. is not an unusual figure, though it is admitted that there is not much money in the sugar at that price. Mediums are going at 5⅜ to 5⅝c., and bright at 6 to 6¼c. Granulated and other white sugars remain as before. Outside markets are steadier but quiet.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Syrups are dull and unchanged at the recent decline.

Molasses have been in fair demand. Porto Rico have been offered lower at 35c. in puncheons.

TEAS.

Desirable young Hysons are still firm and in good demand. Ceylons are dull on spot. Low grades and medium Japans up to 18 and 19c., are scarce and stiffer. There has been a small enquiry for Indian tea since the holidays. Before the London market closed for Xmas, there was no quotable change in values at auction. Medium Pekes and broken Pekoes were somewhat irregular, with a slighter weaker tendency, but common grades, and finest qualities, were readily taken at fully previous rates. The enquiries for Ceylon tea are small; prices steady.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The butter market has had no fits and starts during the last two weeks. Its course since Christmas has been very equable. One reason no doubt has been the almost unvaried badness of the weather. Good makers market less when the weather is against shipping and hauling. All other things being equal, country buyers also seem to pay lower prices at such times. Dairy packed is 15 to 17c., and appears on the market in a rather diminishing proportion of good. The feeding of turnips at this season does not add to the sweetness of flavor. Large rolls are a cent better than they were a week ago, being now 14 to 16c., and gaining a larger share of attention. Pound rolls are 20 to 23c., with fewer sales at the bottom figure. Store packed is 8 to 13c., but there is little of it bought and none particularly desired. Creamery tubs is 23 to 24c., and has only a sufficient demand to keep these prices from falling.

Cheese is yet at its old prices, the summer make selling for 8 to 9½c., and the early autumn make at 10½ to 11c. None of the late autumn cheese is yet on this market. That will be about seasonable for the spring trade.

CRANBERRIES.

The lightness of the crop in our own province led to a large trade in the Cape Cod fruit. That is now getting so dear that the prices are stopping sale. It is firm at $12 to $14 per barrel, and $4 to $4.25 per crate. Stocks are greatly declined in quantity, and will soon have deserted the market.

FISH.

White fish are 7c. Most of the stock is from Lake Winnipeg, Manitoba and Winnipegosis. Salmon trout are 7½c. Salted sea salmon are $12 per barrel of 200 lbs. Fresh cod are 5c. per lb. and steak cod are 6c. Haddock are 5 to 5½c. Labrador herring are $5 to $5.50 per barrel, and $3.25 to $3.75 per half barrel. Shore herring are $4 per barrel and $2.25 per half barrel. Boneless cod is 8c. in small quantities and 6c. in 40 pound boxes. Boneless fish is 4½ to 5c. Stocks are still in a waiting position, as the market is not yet due.

GREEN FRUIT.

Valencia oranges are firm at $4.75 to $5. Florida russets are $3 to $3.50, and fancy brights are $3.25 to $4, the latter price being for choice. There has been more buying of oranges than there has been in the same month for several years. But the trade in lemons is remarkable. One New York house writes to say that as many are sold in that city now as there were in midsummer. The same almost is true of the Toronto trade, and the reason for it is the same, viz., the influenza. There is a vast amount of sickness throughout the country from that epidemic, and hot lemonade is found to be a helpful beverage in most cases. Consequently the prices of lemons are going up. Messinas are firm at $3.75 to $4 in 360's, and $4.75 to $5 in 300's, but of the latter there are scarcely any left on the market. Palermo lemons are $3.50 to $4 in 360's, and $4.50 to $5 in 300's. Malaga grapes are $6.50 to $8 per keg, and for fine hard stock prices are very firm in the higher regions of this scale. The quantity on hand is not large, and is being rapidly told on by the season's demand. Importers did not stock so heavily this year on account of losses on last year's buying, much of which lasted over till late in the spring and did not keep.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Apples—There is no improvement in the market. Local buyers are discouraged at the reception our apples get in England, as it is almost impossible in this weather to get them to the old counrry market in good condition. The apples are wanted, but the season is unfavorable to their transport. The fruit exudes the essence that preserves it, and soon loses its soundness. Apples are still $2 to $2.25 in car lots, and $2.25 to $2.75 in small store quantities.

BEANS—Are $1.50 to $1.60 outside, and $1.70 to $1.85 here. The demand is slow and small, but steady.

DRIED APPLES—Have had no special ca. yet. They are 5½ to 6c. in large lots, and 6 to 6½c. in small ones.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Are not moving into trade with more activity than formerly. New stock is 10c. Old is 9 to 9½c.

EGGS—Were in the same situation we reported last week until yesterday, when the arrival of a large lot of new laid from Kentucky broke prices from 22 to 23c. for fresh to 20 to 21c. in single cases. In lots of fifty cases they could be bought at 17 to 18c. The market is weak and unsettled, and should the weather continue mild prices are likely to go still lower. Limed are nominally unchanged at 16 to 18c. There is an increasing consumption answering to the increase of the supply.

GAME—On Wednesday the season for killing quail and prairie chickens closed. There are therefore no longer any quotations for sellers. There are still stocks of these and partridges frozen for winter trade, but no more will be bought. Rabbits are 20c. per pair, and pigeons are 25 to 30c. per pair.

HAY—The prices of last week hold for pressed. No. 1 is $10.50 to $11. No. 2 is not wanted. Loose on street, No. 1 is $12 to $14; No. 2 is $8 to $10.

HIDES—Cured are down. A car changed hands on Monday at 4¾c. Green are 4c. for No. 1, 3c. for No. 2, and 2c. for No. 3. The market is dull.

HONEY—Is 11½ to 13c. for clear, and 17 to 19c. in the comb. Trade is rather quiet.

HOPS.—No change. New ones are 12 to 14c., and yearlings 8 to 11c.

OATS.—Are 29c. in car lots, and as high as 30c. for milling oats. On the street in farmers' loads, they are 30 to 31c.

ONIONS.—Are $1.60 to $2.00. There is a monotonous steadiness to trade that makes the notice of one week suit throughout.

POTATOES.—Are not bought as eagerly as they were a few weeks ago. A car-load was refused on Monday at 57c., but finally was disposed of at that figure. The most of recent purchases have been at 55c., and neither buyers nor sellers appear anxious to deal. In small lots they are 65 to 70c.

POULTRY.—Fowels are becoming scarcer and prices higher, The autumn and holiday trade caught the bulk of the poultry that was to be sold. Geese are 8 to 9c., and are especially hard to get. Turkeys are 10 to 11c. Ducks bring from 70 to 90c., but they are scarcely seen now on the market. Chickens are most in demand, and are exceedingly scarce at 70 to 80c.

STRAW.—No. 1 tight-pressed cat is $6 to $6.50. Good loose is $6, and sheaf is $9 to $9.50.

SKINS.—Sheep skins are $1.10 to $1.25. No. 1 calf are 6c., and No. 2 are 5c.

TALLOW.—Rough is 1¼ to 2c., and rendered is 5 to 5¼c.

WOOL.—In the fleece is 22 to 24c. Pulled is lowest, 24c.; superfine, 25c., and extra-superfine 30c.

PROVISIONS.

BACON.—Long clear is 7½c. Roll is 9½c, and breakfast is 11c.

HAMS.—Smoked are 11 to 12c, and green are 10 to 11c.

LARD—American, in tubs, is 9c.; Canadian in tubs, is 9½c.; in pails is 9½c for America, and 10c for Canadian.

MESS PORK—Brings $13.50 to $14. Choice Canadian cuts are worth $14.50.

DRESSED HOGS—Really heavy weights are $5.25; medium, $5.25 to $5.40. Fancy light weights are $5.40 to $5.50. Butchers are paying for the latter $5.75 to $6. The arrivals are numerous.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

JANUARY 16, 1890.

GROCERIES.

There is a slight improvement noticed in groceries the past week, principally a country trade being done. The city trade still continues very dull, and will remain so until the river freezes over and allows the farmers to market their produce. The cold snap of last week made things look brighter, and if the weather continues cool the prospects are exceedingly good.

SUGARS.

There is no change in the prices of sugar and the market still continues to lack confidence with no indication of a rise, still as we said a few weeks ago it has reached a bottom figure. The demand has also been slow.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Business continues quiet at unchanged prices, although there is a great scarcity of syrups, which are quoted at 48 to 60c. per gallon as to quality. Molasses, Barbadoes ranges from 46c. to 47c. (Guild price) as to quality. Porto Rico, 41c. Antiqua, 39c. to 40c.

TEAS.

The market has been quiet and without feature to note, business having been light. The tone, however, has continued firm, with values well maintained and holders not anxious to press sales, having faith in the article. Low grades have continued scarce and anything at about 16c. would be quickly taken.

COFFEES

Remains stiff at unchanged prices. Moca, 28c. to 30c. Java, 24c. to 29c. Jamaica, 18c. to 22c. Rio, 19c. to 21c. Plantation Ceylon, 19c. to 24c. Marcabo, 18c. to 22½c.

DRIED FRUIT.

Business has been fairly good in dried fruit the past week, there being a good demand for Valencia raisins and currants principally. Valencias are quoted at 6⅞c. to 7c. for prime. London layers, $3 to $3.25. Sultanas only poor stock coming in are quoted 8½ to 12. Currants, 5½ to 6c. for Provincials, and Vostizza up to 7c. to 7½ for cholce cases. Prunes range from 5c. to 7½. Eleme figs, 9c. to 11c. Malaga figs, 5c. to 6c. Dried apples 7c. Evaporated apples, by car load, 9c. to 10c. Layer Valencias $8.25.

GREEN FRUIT.

In green fruit generally there has been little trade except in lemons, which have been in demand, and as supplies are scarce prices have advanced to $3, $4 per box. Valencia oranges are at $4.50, $5 per case, and Florida at $3.75, $4 per box. Cranberries are scarce, in fact there are none here except frosted stock, which ranges in value from $5, $8 per bbl.

NUTS.

Trade continues moderate at steady prices. Tarragona almonds, 13½c. to 14c. Ivica, 12½ to 13c. Ordinary French walnuts 10c. Grenobles, 14 to 16c. Filberts scarce at 9½ to 10c. for Sicily. Brazil nuts, 9 to 12c.

RICE.

There is no change in rice. Wholesalers always make their contract for the year's supply when the new rice comes in in May, therefore there is really no change in prices after that time.

CANNED GOODS.

The market for canned goods continues very quiet. The demand has been chiefly for small lots There has been some lots of tomatoes sold at $1.12½, yet holders are getting the Association prices of $1.15 to $1.20. One house here sold as high as $1.25. The demand for canned fruits is fairly good. Quotations are—pineapples, $2.25 to $2.40; strawberries. $2.35 to $2.45; peaches, $2.15 to $2.25; plums, $1.75 to $2 ; pears, $2 to $2.10. Fish still very quiet. Lobsters, scarce at $6.80 per case ; mackerel exceedingly scarce at $5.90 per case ; salmon, $1.65.

FISH.

Greater activity has been developed both in salt and fresh fish, owing to the approach of Lent, which is early this year. Stocks of salt fish are light and well held as a rule. Indeed an appreciably range of values is confidently expected by holders who are generally firm in their ideas as to values. Labrador herring has been sold in round lots as low as $3.75, with smaller quantities up to $4, with half barrels at $2.50. Newfoundland shore herring are at $3.50, and Cape Breton at $4.50, which prices are somewhat lower than those quoted last week. Green cod have continued scarce and in fair request at $5.50 for No. 1 large, and $5 for No. 1, with haddock at $4. Dry cod $4.50. B. C. salmon has remained steady at $11 per brl. Red sea trout $9. Whitefish has sold at $5.50 per half brl. ; lake trout at $4.50 per do, and sea trout at $5 per do. A small lot of eels is offering at $8 per brl. Smoked herring $11 per box. Scotch, Loch Fyne Herring are $2 and $1 for 28lb. and 14lb. kitts respectively.

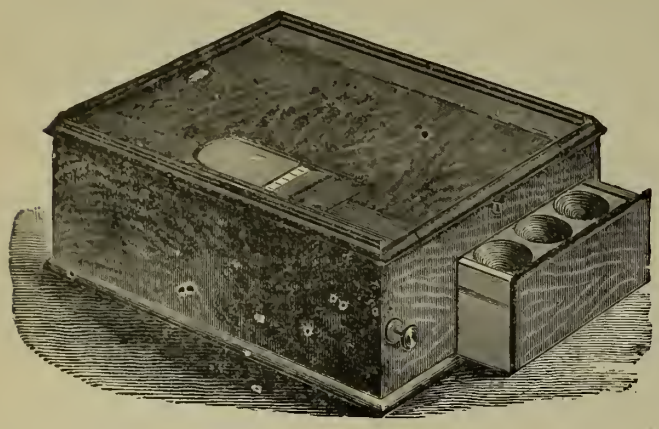
There has been a continued good demand for fresh frozen fish and all the receipts, which have been fair, have been well absorbed. Transactions have been effected readily at 3½c. per lb. for cod and 3¾c. for haddock, while herring have sold well at $1,50 per 100 count for ordinary stock. Tommy cods have been in demand and steady at $1.50 per bbl. Smelts have sold at 5c. per lb. and whitefish at 6c. per lb. Hand picked Malpecque oysters $2.50 per bbl.

POTATOES.

There has been a fair average movement at prices ranging from 65c, 80c. per bag as to quality in a wholesale way.

GRAIN.

There has been no important change in the local grain market, except that the feeling is strong in Manitoba wheat and the indications are that prices will go higher in the near future. Business on spot continues quiet, there being only a small local demand for car lots of peas and oats at steady prices. We quote : Wheat, No. 1 hard Manitoba, $1.05 to $1.06; No. 2 hard, $1.02 to $1.04; corn, duty paid, 50 to 51c. ; oats, 30 to 32c. ; peas, 67 to 69c. per 66 pounds; barley, 45 to 50c. ; rye, 50 to 51c.



FLOUR.

The demand for flour continues slow and the market has ruled quiet and steady with only a small jobbing trade doing, owing to fact that buyers are holding off to some extent and only taking sufficient for actual wants. We quote: Patent winter, $5.00 to $5.10; patent spring, $5.00 to $5.20; straight roller, $4.50 to $4.65; extra, $4.15 to $4.25; superfine, $3.10 to $3.90; city strong bakers', $4.80 to $4.90; strong bakers', $4.65 to $4.80; strong bakers', bags, $2.40 to $2.50; superfine bags, $1.50 to $1.90; extra bags, $2 to

MARKETS—Continued

$2.10. Oatmeal standard, $3.60 to $3.70; granulated, $3.80 to $4.00; rolled oats, $3.80 to $4.00.

PROVISIONS.

In provisions a fair volume of business was transacted, there being a good demand from both local and country buyers for small lots of pork and lard. The tone of the market is steady, and prices are unchanged all round. Smoked meats have met with a fair demand. We quote: Western short cut pork, $13; mess, $12.25 to $12.75; Canadian short cut, $14. Western (Armours and Fairbanks), $1.62½ to $1.65 per pail. Cases (Armours and Fairbanks), 8⅛ to 8⅜c. per lb. Canadian lard, $1.60.

EGGS.—The demand for eggs has continued slow, and the market has ruled quiet and steady, with only a small jobbing business doing at steady prices. Western limed sold at 16 to 17c.; Canadian do. at 18 to 19c., held fresh at 18 to 20c., and strictly fresh at 25 to 28c. per dozen.

GAME.—The offerings of game were small for which the demand was fair, and the market was well cleaned up of stock at steady prices. Choice partridges sold at 50 to 55c. and culls at 30 to 35c. per brace.

POULTRY.—Business in poultry has continued quiet owing to the limited demand and light offerings. There has been considerable enquiry for chickens but owing to the scarcity buyers have not been able to fill their wants and any lots offering fetch outside prices. We quote: Turkeys at 10 to 11c., geese at 7 to 8c., ducks at 9 to 10c., and chickens at 7 to 8c. per lb.

DRESSED HOGS.—The market for dressed hogs has continued fairly active and steady at the recent advance in prices. The demand has been better from both butchers and packers and a large volume of business has been accomplished. We quote: car lots at $5.75 to $5.00 for nice stock and small lots at $6 to $6.25 per 100 lbs.

BUTTER.—The tone of the butter market has continued quiet and steady with no changes to note. We quote: creamery 22 to 23c.; townships choice, 19 to 21c.; Morrisburg, 15 to 18c.; Prockville. 14½ to 16½c.; Western, 12 to 16c.

CHEESE.—The Liverpool public cable was unchanged at 52s. 6d. On spot business has ruled quiet and of a jobbing character at about steady prices. We quote: Finest September and October, 10½ to 10¾c.; fine stock, 9¾ to 10¼c.; earlier makes, 9 to 9½c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Messrs. Blaiklock Bros. are now busily engaged in booking orders for the first shipment which will be made about 1st February, of Cairn's Scotch Marmalade, manufactured in Paisley, Scotland. The demand for these goods this year greatly exceeds that of last.

Unlike daily papers and general periodicals, THE GROCER places advertisements before the eyes of just that portion of the industries most calculated to avail themselves of the announcements therein, and, therefore, is of more value to the Trade than any paper published in this or other worlds. Manufacturers please take note of this, and then act accordingly.

Mr. S. H. Ward, 30 St. Sacrament st., has secured the agency for the city of Montreal for Liebig's Extract of Meat.

Messrs. Lockerby Bros., who have the agency for Quebec for Walter Baker & Co's Cocoa and Chocolates, report a large sale of these goods. In the United States these cocoas and chocolates lead the van having an immense sale, and the prospects for the Canadian trade are good.

Messrs. Robert Scott and John Henderson of this city have filed a notice of partnership as produce merchants.

Michael Deery, grocer, at No. 49 Latour street, assigned yesterday afternoon with about $1,000 liabilities at the instance of Thomas Deery.

There is nothing new to note in affairs of Tiffin Bros., wholesale grocers of this city, except that the offer of forty cents on the dollar has been accepted by all of the Canadian creditors, and also by the majority of the English ones. The senior member of the firm will in all probability retire, leaving the remaining partners to share the prosperity that awaits them in the future. Their many friends are looking for a speedy settlement.

Messrs. James A. Gillespie and George Gillespie have formed a co-partnership under the style of Gillespies & Co., for the purpose of carrying on the grocery and wine and spirit business, heretofore carried on by the late firm of Gillespie, Paterson & Co.

LOSSES ON BUTTER.

Several lots of butter were bought here last week at 8 to 10c. per pound for shipment to the Maritime provinces. Among the butter sold at 8c. was part of a shipment which arrived last summer. It was then choice fresh butter, and several bids of 18c., were made for it. The commission merchant to whome the butter was consigned, advised the shipper to sell, but he would not unless he obtained 19c. The commission merchant was forced to sell part of it at 18c. to supply some of his local customers, but he kept the greater part of it all through the summer and until last Wednesday, when he sold at 8c. as stated above. Do our country shippers want a better proof of the fallacy of holding or carrying butter looking for higher prices, which seldom come?

Among the changes in the travelling staff of the Montreal hardware houses we notice that Mr. James Brent, late with Messrs. William Thomson & Co., Toronto, has secured a position with Messrs. Benny, Macpherson & Co., and will represent them on his usual ground west of Toronto.

To start a nut that is corroded in its place so that an ordinary wrench will not move it, strike a few sharp blows upon its end face; then, holding a dull chisel across the chamber of the nut, strike the chisel-head several sharp blows, which will, in the majority of cases, effect the object.

Lemieux's broom-handle factory, St. George street, Levis, was destroyed by fire on Friday. When discovered the fire had made so much headway that the firemen could do nothing with it, and the entire building was consumed with all its contents. The loss is heavy.

In Paris, says the Canadian Journal of Fabrics, whenever a local shopkeeper advertises to sell "at cost," a Government official, detailed for the purpose, swoops down upon him, and makes a careful inspection in order to satisfy himself that the merchant carries out what he advertises. If the latter is detected in fraud an adequate punishment is at once meted out to him. They don't deny a man's right to sell his goods at less than cost if he chooses, but he must not publish any lying advertisements.

TRADE SALES.

W. M. Moore, London, Ont., sold two general stocks on Tuesday afternoon. J. J. Johnston's Chatham stock, invoiced at $3,515.68, was sold to H. W. Scott at 47½c on the dollar. John Perrin's St. Mary's stock, invoiced at $4,086.23, was sold to J. A. Powell, Devizes, at 73c. on dollar.

In Marshall v. Martin, the plaintiff, a wholesale tea merchant of London, sued at the Middlesex Assizes the defendant, Martin, a Brantford tea dealer, and Hacking, a Toronto merchant, for the sum of $500, balance due on teas and coffees furnished Martin, and in respect of which the defendant Hacking had joined with him in a bond for $500. The defendant, Hacking, set up as a defence that the bond was obtained by misrepresentation. On the evidence for the plaintiff, judgment was entered against the defendants for $500, the amount of the bond, and $48.97, balance of the account.

A CASH BUTTER MARKET.

EDITOR OF CANADIAN GROCER.

DEAR SIR,—I have been much pleased with the very many opinions on butter making, and the handling of that momentous product by merchants. Many of the opinions are valuable, no doubt, but the next thing is to put them into practice. That is the great difficulty. It requires united efforts of the merchants. And now, as many of the farmers are advocating for cash markets for their produce, would it not be well for all merchants to urge the establishing of cash markets in every town and village throughout the country, and then refuse to buy butter in their stores for trade, but go on the market and buy for cash? There they can be independent to offer just what the butter is worth. That they cannot do in their stores. I am of the opinion that butter should not be bought in stores, but be handled by butter dealers on a cash market. Then if merchants want to deal in that commodity, let them go on the market where they can grade the butter and know just what they can afford to pay for it. It is an acknowledged fact that merchants all over the country have lost, and are losing money by handling butter. Why should that be? Because they are anxious to catch trade, and will give so much for butter without regard to quality, and in most cases two or three cents per pound more than the market price of first quality of butter, with the hope of making it up on their goods. Go into our towns and villages where there is no market, and we find that no two merchants are paying the same price for butter and eggs. One will not ask the others as to what price they pay. Many of the farmers take advantage of this, and declare that they were offered two or three cents per pound more by the other merchants. Then I must of course pay as much, or a little more, in order to satisfy, or lose my customers. I am of the opinion that cash markets in small places, as well as large, say two days each week, where all dealers in butter and eggs could meet together, would help to remedy the evil. I think, if the merchants would advocate more creameries in the country, that, in a few years, we would see as great changes in the butter business as there have been in the cheese making throughout the country. The butter and egg trade has come to be a very important product of the farm, and should command cash just as much so as wheat, oats, or barley. If merchants will insist on buying butter and eggs in trade for goods, why not do the same in all products of the farm? We often hear merchants complain that farmers go to towns and cities with their butter and eggs, and while there do their buying. The fact is, we are driving them away by refusing to give them cash for their butter and eggs, and they will go where they can get it. When our business men's associations get formed in every county, and I hope that will soon be, they will no doubt be able to handle the question to advantage. I would like to hear the opinions of others as to cash markets.

Exeter, Jan. 10, 1890.

The annual meeting of the dry goods section of the Board of Trade was held at the Board of Trade rooms on Monday afternoon. The first business done was the election of an executive, which resulted as follows: Hon. John Macdonald, S. Caldecott, John Knox, A. A. Allan, W. R. Brock, T. O. Anderson and S. F. McKinnon. After the election of the executive general trade matters were gone into and discussed informally, and some of the abuses now affecting the trade were brought before the section. The habit among wholesale men of dating ahead was remarked upon, also compositions, reduction of terms on grey cottons, and making up changes. Another meeting will be held on February 10. The dry goods section of the Board of Trade nowcomprises the following gentlemen:

John Macdonald,
F. Wyld,
S. Caldecott,

A meeting of the leading business men of Clinton was held in the Council chamber on Friday night for the purpose of organizing a Board of Trade, to look after the general interests of the town. Mayor Doherty occupied the chair. The following gentlemen and others addressed the meeting: A. H. Manning, W. Doherty, R. Irwin, W. Jackson, A. McMurchie, H. C. Brewer, R. Holmes, Jas. Scott, and W. C. Searle. A. H. Manning and R. Irwin explained fully the benefits to be derived from having a live Board of Trade formed. After listening to the different speakers, it was decided to appoint a President and Secretary, provisionally, also a committee, to draft by-laws and a constitution, and report at next meeting, a week hence. The officers appointed were as follows: Wm. Jackson, President; W. S. Swaffield, Secretary; By-laws and Constitution Committee, A. McMurchie, A. H. Manning, D. A. Forrester, George E. Pay, Richard Irwin.

A meeting of the council of the Toronto board of trade was held on Tuesday afternoon, at which there was a full attendance. The president, Mr. W. D. Matthews, occupied the chair. The following persons, who were nominated for membership, were admitted: Daniel Miller, manager Merchants' Bank, Toronto; Richard Turner, of the firm of Whitehead & Turner, wholesale grocers, Quebec, and Giles H. Williams, Ontario Coal Co., Toronto.

At the last meeting of the Buisiness Men's Association, in St. Catharines, the following gentlemen were elected to membership: D. L. Cruikshank, A. R. Thompson, Jos. Koch, Thos. Hastings, A. Jukes, H. C. Carlisle, E. C. Nicholson, G. W. Hodgetts, J. S. McClelland, A. McEdward, Mike McGuire. Merchants and manufacturers wishing to join the Association should hand in their names before the first of February, as after that date the iniation fee well be $5.

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC ANALYST,

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

GENTLEMEN,—I have personally taken samples from a large stock of your Granulated Sugar, "REDPATH" brand, and carefully tested them by the Polariscope, and I find these samples to be as near to absolute purity as can be obtained by any process of Sugar-Refining.

The test by the Polariscope showed in yesterday s yield 99·90 per cent. of Pure Cane Sugar, which may be considered commercially as ABSOLUTELY PURE SUGAR.

Do strikes pay? is an old, old question that has been given a new interest by some new figures. According to a competent authority, the 1,031 strikes last year resulted in a gain of $359,000 and a loss of $1,083,000 in wages. On the other hand, it is only just to say that the gain has a more lasting effect than the loss. Still, it looks very much as if strikes do not pay any way the matter is looked at.

The Inland Revenue Department has recently issued a bulletin of about thirty pages, which is devoted exclusively to the subject of baking powder, and which shows that the majority of the goods in the market are adulterated and unfit for use. Prof. A. McGill, who has had charge of this important work for the Government, says that "imperial baking powder is an excellent powder." A word to the sensible housekeeper should be sufficient.

WHOLESALE GROCERS AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Canadian trade yet bears vestiges of the primitive stage through which it has passed. The stamp of its pioneer history is not quite effaced. One of the ear-marks of its backwoods past survives in the system of barter. The circulation of money has not done away with that. We have a cash market for every article of natural growth or of human industry that we have to sell, but an immense quantity of our country produce, in its first transfer, goes for its direct equivalent in kind at the country stores. This is not all that could be desired. It is no longer necessary. But the thing is a very bulky and abiding fact in the constitution of our country trade, and must be dealt with as such. The custom has not died out with the simple social state in which it was introduced, and must now be regarded as incorporated into the trading system of our province. We should then apply to it rigid principles of business treatment; we should organize it and bring it under the sway of our commercial method. Thus shall we recognize it as an organic part of the business we do, and reduce it to the position of a known, profitable department of trade.

The wholesale grocers are beginning to recognize the produce department of their customers' country trade, and now buy of them dried apples, beans, onions, butter, poultry, etc. This might as well be done as not. The travellers have to go through the country to take orders, and they add very little to their labors by also buying round lots of a grocers' produce stock. It helps the retailer to get his produce into the market, and it is right that help should be given by the wholesalers. The wholesalers have the supplying of grocery stocks, but the grocer has to take produce for a great proportion of it. The extra labor he is put to to get this upon the market reduces his profit. He is not responsible for the fact that barter is a troublesome thing, or that he is troubled with it. The people find it a convenient system, and the grocer must countenance and make the most of it. He is trading to sell groceries, but an accident of his trade makes him a produce-buyer. We think it only right that his double business-position should be recognized and shared by those whose groceries he brings directly to the consumer. If there is liability to loss from the fact that the grocer has to go outside his own trade to find sale for his produce, the wholesalers are interested in preventing that loss. By opening a gap into the produce market through which the grocer's country stuff will reach it, they reduce his expense of handling and guard against chances of loss. For, we take it, they will not make a business of produce buying for what they can make of it, but only as the retailers do: to realize upon it an amount of cash equal to the value of the goods exchanged for it. In that view, they will always pay the retailer what the produce is worth, since they are not buying as speculators, but as obliging business men. It is better, both for the retail and the wholesale trade, that the latter has begun to look after the country storekeeper's produce, and to buy it of him. If in the former circumstances of the produce trade it was conducted at a loss, that loss must have affected both wholesalers and retailers. If there is benefit in the present mode of getting it off the retailer's hands, that benefit, likewise, must extend to both.

SALT IN BUTTER.

One of the questions on which two of our correspondents differed some time ago was the proportion of salt to be put in butter. Salt is nearly always left out by the best Old Country and European makers. The only reasons why it should be added are that it is a preservative, and that it agreeably modifies the taste. Taste is a matter of everybody's private concern, and anyone who should say that butter is better with than without salt, or, vice versa, would be heard as speaking from himself. We think Canadian taste, however, could be won to quite as unanimous a preference for unsalted butter as British taste now confesses. We feel that the taste plea for salt would be easily disposed of if salt could be done without on other grounds. But the first reason, given above, why we salt our butter, rests on firmer ground. As long as our butter requires salt as a preservative, so long, undoubtedly, will popular taste prefer butter with salt in it. No one will ever develop a liking for rancid butter, and rancid our butter quickly becomes if it is not salted—too soon it becomes rancid often when it is salted. Yet the Danish, Dutch, and Irish dairies produce and ship to England, butter that has not a grain of saline matter added in the manufacture. This butter reaches the English market and the English consumer sound and wholesome. This shows that salt is not an essential in butter-making. One thing we know to our cost, and that is with all our salting our butter has no chance against the unsalted butter of the Old Country makers.

When butter spoils, it is seldom as the egg does, by the action of its own nature, but because of the workings of some foreign matter in it. It is as an antidote to the effect of such workings that salt is put in. The importing of salt into the butter manufacture is a tacit confession that the butter is not pure; there is alien matter in it that should be got out of it. There is nothing in the nature of the aggregated particles of pure butter that contains the germs of decay, that is, if the butter is derived from a healthy source. The acid in the butter-milk which is left in the butter is the most usual cause of spontaneous decline.

Of course butter is a most susceptible commodity. An impure atmosphere, the contagion of neighboring ar icles, odors, tastes, the most intangible and seemingly insignificant influences at once taint it. No doubt salt tends to give more robustness to it, or perhaps it neutralizes those external influences. But to guard against external influences, there is a responsibility on packers, as strong as that upon the makers to guard against internal sources of deterioration. Packing-cases should be air-tight. All air should be expelled before the cases are closed, as it is impossible to say what decomposing principle is suspended in the air left in.

We do not say salt can be done without, but we say it might as well, because it fails to redeem the bad making, as it is. Distant as we are from the British market, we have to make use of all the means which will make our butter proof against noxious and insiduous agencies. These agencies, our makers and packers can mostly guard against, but to be provided against all chances the butter will have still to be salted. However, buyers prefer, if they are to handle it soon after being made, that it should be rather under than over salted. The presence of too much salt prevents the true taste of the butter being got at.

THE NEW DAIRY COMMISSION.

The appointment of Prof. J. W. Robertson, of Guelph, to the position of Dominion dairy commissioner was officially made on Friday. Prof. Robertson will be attached to the staff of the Central experimental farm at Ottawa and will commence his duties on the 1st prox. This appointment fittingly illustrates the desire of the Government to promote the dairy interests of the country as a whole, and will be generally accepted as the initiative in operations which may reasonably be expected to have a material effect on the commerce of the country. It will be remembered that the inaugural meeting of the Dominion Dairymen's convention was held in Ottawa less than a year ago. They made two requests: First, that the Government make a grant for the defrayment of expenses; and, second, that a dairy commissioner be appointed. Before the close of last session, Parliament voted the grant asked for, and now, on the recommendation of the Minister of Agriculture, Prof. Robertson has been appointed as dairy commissioner of the Dominion. This is a most responsible office, but it will be generally conceded that Prof. Robertson's training and qualifications eminently fit him for it. He is one of the best-known dairy experts on the continent, and as an officer of the Ontario Agricultural College for many years, he has become thoroughly acquainted with the capabilities and needs of the country in all that relates to the production of butter and cheese. Dairying has been his life study, and with a splendid practical knowledge he combines the faculty of clearly and comprehensively expressing his ideas. In fact, he is a speaker of rare ability. He will be a welcome addition to the experimental farm staff, which now embraces men of continental fame in their several special lines of scientific work. It is probable that an assistant will be appointed in the dairy branch at an early date, and a French-Canadian capable of communicating with, and addressing the people who speak the French language, especially those who live in the Province of Quebec, may be selected. It is scarcely necessary to add that Prof. Robertson's appointment meets with the approbation of the dairymen of the country and many prominent members of Parliament, who displayed a deep interest in this matter.

COMPROMISES.

We wish there were fewer compromises. The frequency of them is a sign that the sensitiveness of business virtue is becoming indurated, that the world of commerce looks with too much complaisance upon the man who boldly asks to be released from a portion of his liabilities. Not many years ago it was deemed a disgrace for a dealer to be brought to this pass, and there were few who faced such a necessity with impudence. The reputation of a man was considered to be tainted if in after years gossip was able to say truly that he still owed his creditors forty cents on the dollar. It was a commercial stigma. A state of public opinion which thus looked upon a compromise, although severe was wholesome. It tended to make a compromise something to be shunned, and when one did happen it was usually traceable to bad management or misfortune, seldom to fraud or strategy. The thing is so often happening nowadays that it has come to be looked upon as one of the ordinary devices of shrewdness. The dealer who can compromise with his creditors for sixty or seventy cents in the dollar is not withheld by any obloquy that is now attached to this mode of settling. Such a settlement is of so common occurrence that public opinion is familiarized and is scarcely outraged by the most flagrant cases of dishonest intent. The extent to which assigning and compromising are resorted to in our province is indicated by the fact that it is enough to yield lucrative employment to several assignees. The advent of the assignee did not take place in an era of rare commercial uprightness.

So long as a dealer can look forward to a compromise as a not desperate resort, he will be the less advised to manage his business providently. If he finds himself pitted against a competitor who has a strong hold on the local trade, he will not be hindered from lowering prices to attract some of that trade, by the consideration that such a course may run himself out of business. He feels that there is salvation for him even after he has got below the point of solvency. All he has to look out for is not to carry the thing too far. He will undersell and become behindhand with his engagements; he will secure an advantageous compromise, and like the mythical Antaeus, he will rise the stronger of his fall. Then he can compete with his rival in good heart-earnest, because, has he not bought his goods at a cost of one-half or three-fifths of the price that his rival paid? And the latter, a square-dealing man, is forced finally to the same shift as his guileful opponent took to from choice and natural depravity. Thus a custom, allowed to be successfully worked by unprincipled men, reacts upon the integrity of the trade in the same locality, and helps to thrust the most desirable dealers completely out of the business. In their own interests, wholesalers can not wish this to be an effect of any practice to which they give countenance. They surely want an elect among their customers from whom they will get all that is due them. If they do, then let them be more exacting with would-be compromisers.

One branch of the Canadian customs service of which the public sees little, but which none the less has important functions to perform, is the sugar. testing department. The tests are made by two young ladies, Miss Christie and Miss Parmelee, and during the past fiscal year they analyzed by polariscope 2,249 samples of sugar, and the amount of duty collected as a result of their laboratory work exceeded $3,500,000. Each sample of sugar is analyzed in duplicate to ensure accuracy, and if the two analyses agree within three-tenths of one degree they are taken as correct. Should there be a greater difference than three-tenths the analyses must be gone over, and it is a striking tribute to the skill these young ladies have acquired in handling the polariscope that during the year it was only found necessary to re-analyze eight samples; but as regards the final result and consequent classification for duty, in no instance was an error shown. In addition to the 2,249 regular tests made at the departmental laboratory, a great many tests of so-called molasses were made for the purpose of ascertaining their true character and the proper rate of duty payable under the tariff. Regular samples of sugar are tested at the department the day they arrive, no matter how numerous they may be, so that it sometimes happens that it is ten or eleven o'clock at night before the work is completed.

A clean store and tastefully arranged goods will invite trade.

CLEAN BUSINESS.

We need not specify, but some late revelations in the law courts make one the very reverse of optimistic as to the average conscience. The specially sinister element is the co ol and apparently knowing assumption on the part of experts that slimy methods in business are, of course, the rule. But, after all, this is no new thing. The old time divine who said he was too poor to keep a conscience was neither a sinner nor a fool. He was, in fact, much nearer being a philosopher and a saint. Neither was he entirely a satirist or a jester in saying that. It was far more likely that he spoke out of the bitterness of his heart. He only blurted out what ten thousand felt—and feel. Are we any nearer the demonstration of the truth of the highly proper, but dissapointing proverb that "Honesty is the best policy"? It is very doubtful. Here and there a man seems to prosper through sheer honesty, but it is not so much his honesty that pays as the good article that he sells. Let that fall off, and who will stick to him for his mere honesty? No; it is plate glass that pays, the flare of lights, rowdy advertisements, impudent assertion, and fooling and flattering the queer thing called public "taste." There are exceptions; but the man who will only do clean business, and stick to it, is in financial danger—at all events for a time. He must be prepared to say, in the spirit of the old Hebrew, "Better is a dry morsel with a good conscience than a house full of feasting with shame."

One of the most unclean and corrupting sides of modern business is the altogether pernicious system of giving tips, presents and bribes. The master who allows his servants to take discounts and tips from tradespeople is simply teaching them to cheat him. He is possibly conniving at a double fraud. The commercial traveller who paves his way with pianos ought to be suspected. He has got to cheat somebody in order to make that pay; or, if he is not a tricky seller, he is, anyhow, a mean competitor, who introduces into what should be straightforward business the spirit of the man who would win a race by doctoring an opponent's horse. A good story comes from America, which we hope is true. A pushing manufacturer calls upon a Government official about the supply of certain stores, and on concluding the interview, quietly puts on the table, in an off-hand way, a bill for a handsome sum. "Ah! and what is this for?" asked the cheery official. "Oh, that's nothing!—a trifling matter for some cigars for your young people." "Oh, then, I suppose you are in favor of the weed?" "Yes, I like a good cigar as well as anyone." "Then let me offer you one," said the wary official, handing him a box. The briber took one. "Now let me offer you a light," said the other quietly, rolling up the precious piece of paper into a pipe-light. Deliberately lighting it, with a smiling face, under the eyes of the briber, who, seeing the day of judgment had come, had just sufficient presence of mind to light his cigar at the blazing bill and bolt. That was a gay and light-hearted American way of washing one's hands of a briber. Here is a story with a different mood in it, illustrating the British bull-dog way of treating the same matter. A certain man occupied a post of great responsibility and influence as manager of one of the largest companies in England. One day a merchant called upon him and was anxious to sell some steel. He very quietly set down before him a roll of notes amounting to £500. "What are these?" asked the manager, taking them up. "Oh," exclaimed the merchant in an undertone, "you will be good enough to accept them with the compliments of the firm." Then it flashed upon the man that it was a bribe. Crumpling the notes together as if they were so much waste paper, he flung them out of the office door, and said indignantly, "Sir, if you are not gone after them in one minute, I will kick you there." Such men are priceless; and, whether they simply shame their man, or kick him out, is only a matter of detail. They are the very salt of the earth, who keep it from rottenness.

Young men starting in business are, in these days of sharp competition, tried as with fire. Here is a young accountant, clever and knowing it, with any amount of work in him, and longing to get plenty to do. Enter an auctioneer. "Glad to see you well started, Mr. Johnson. I wish you success. Thought I'd look in and say so. And, bye-the-by, if I can put anything in your way I shall be glad to do so We might make it mutually agreeable and useful. Tell you what, now. It might suit you to run all your sales through one man. Better for you in many ways. For one thing—if you will give me all your sales, I will share all my commissions with you." That is perhaps his first "temptation of the Devil." It looks so simple, too. Why should he not do it. If he has to wind up estates, it really might be most convenient to do with one regular man. No one would be wronged. The estates would not suffer. In any case, the auctioneer's commission would have to be paid out of each particular estate, and if he got half of that commission besides his own fees, why not? Lucky for him if he sees the cloven foot, and if he has resolution enough to feel his way right up from the cloven foot to tail, and jaws, and horns. Lucky for him if he says to himself, "But every sale should, of course, be given to a man who is the best man in regard to the particular things to be sold; land to one man, leather to another, timber here, cattle there. Of course, then, it won't do for me to tie myself up to one man, to the injury of my clients, simply for the sake of that half commission besides my own proper fees."

Or a solicitor's managing clerk comes in. "Morning, Johnson. There' a little matter I think I can manage to put in your way—that has come into our hands. But if I go out of my way to get the governor to give it to you, you must share your fees with me. What do you say?" Another temptation. What right has a managing clerk to plot for the placing of business behind the back of his principal, and behind the back of his principal's client, with his eye on fees that do not belong to him? What does that really mean? It means not going to the best man, who might be insulted by an offer like that, but to an inferior man, or to an over anxious novice, who might be open to the temptation. Lucky, again, if your young wayfarer tightens his belt and goes for the tempter with such protests and refusals as may serve both to strengthen himself and to frighten him.

Is this preaching? Would to heaven it were! Anyhow, it is good business. We have admitted that unclean business pays, but unclean business does not always pay. In the long run, unclean business is bad business. There comes a time when even the most brazen liar gets found out; and then the old foggy proverb, "Honesty is the best policy," comes slowly lumbering up, and demonstrates its truth. But what if it were preaching? Even on the score of living a happy life there is a good deal to be said for a clean bill of moral health. The old Hebrew was right—"The way of the transgressor is hard." It really becomes wearying and worrying at last to keep up the game of the briber or the cheat. Business based on unscrupulous competition, or on brazen ingenuity, is always an anxious thing. The old way was the pleasantest. Yes, a man is simply a fool, merely as a pleasure seeker, or a player for safety, who enters the thorny path of the sharper, and who allows his business to become unclean. —Australasian.

VERY MUCH APPRECIATED.

WAVERLY, Jan'y 18, '89.

DEAR SIR,—Enclosed please find m. o. for $2 on account of our subscription to the CANADIAN GROCER. We do not know what amount is due you. Please let us know and we will remit, as we very much appreciate THE GROCER.

Yours truly,
W. J. PARKER & CO.

The Inland Revenue Department has recently issued a bulletin of about thirty pages, which is devoted exclusively to the subject of baking powder, and which shows that the majority of the goods in the market are adulterated and unfit for use. Prof. A. McGill, who has had charge of this important work for the Government, says that "imperial baking powder is an excellent powder." A word to the sensible housekeeper should be sufficient.

THE CUSTOMS REPORT ON TEA.

We take the following remarks on tea from the thirty-third report of the Commissioners on Her Majesty's Customs :—

The gross revenue from tea has increased to the extent of £16,921 or 36 per cent. only upon the amount received from this source in the financial year preceding. This increase is £29,212 less than might have been expected from the increase of population during the year, but a reference to table 10 and its supplement will show that the yield of £4,630,316 is not unsatisfactory in respect of the increase of population alone taken over a period of ten years, and is upon this basis of calculation in excess of the sum which would have been strictly proportionate by £24,871.

The crop of tea, which was good in 1887, was bad in all the producing countries in 1888, and, the tea being of inferior quality, dealers would only buy to suit their immediate requirements. But although the inferior crop of 1888 may not have been without its effect on the consumption of tea in 1888-9, the main cause for the check which it appears to have sustained is no doubt the increasing consumption of Indian and Ceylon teas in this country, to which we have adverted in previous reports. The subjoined table, in continuation of that which appeared in our last annual report, exhibits in a marked degree the continued decline of our tea trade with China, and the continued advance of that with India and Ceylon. It is especially to be noted that our trade with our two dependencies has for the first time exceeded in amount our trade with China in a commodity with which her name has for a long period of time been so intimately connected.

In estimating the probability or otherwise of a recovery in the position of China teas in the home market the following considerations may be of interest :—

It is well known that the heavy export taxes levied in China have contributed to the decadence of the tea trade of that country and to the development of that of India and Ceylon, where the article starts free. The Chinese, laboring under this disadvantage, have endeavoured to compete by lessening their cost of production, with a consequent deterioration in the quality of the leaf. Imperfect preparation and the mixture of different qualities in packing have led to loss of trade in this country. It has been stated that medical opinions have recently been given that the excessive quantity of tannin found in the Indian and Ceylon teas is injurious to health. Experts, however, have asserted that injury is caused by the "sap or living juice" not being sufficiently expressed before the leaves are fired, and they predict with more or less confidence a revival of the trade of China, where, as they allege, tea is prepared in a less cheap and slovenly manner. On the other hand those who are more especially interested in the Indian and Ceylon teas do not consider that they will lose the position which they have obtained. The favor with which they are regarded by the British public is said to be in some measure due to the energy with which the trade has been pushed and the strong ties of relationship everywhere connecting the planters with the mother country. Much of the China crop has been gradually diverted to other countries, where it is more appreciated than the less-known produce of India and Ceylon.

But whatever weight may be properly attached to any of the foregoing observations, there is little doubt that the main cause of the popularity of the Indian and Ceylon teas in this country is the stronger liquid which they produce. We pointed out last year that a decline in this head of duty might be expected on this account, and as the point is of considerable importance in so productive a source of revenue we submit to your lordships some considerations as to the effect which this displacement of Chinese by Indian and Ceylon teas has had upon the yield of duty. A given quantity of Indian or Ceylon teas gives a deeper color and stronger flavor than a similar quantity of Chinese tea, the Indian infusion being somewhat deeper and stronger than that produced by Ceylon tea.

All authorities are, we are informed, agreed upon this point, but they vary in the estimate which they form as to how far a given quantity of Indian tea goes in comparison with a similar quantity of Chinese tea. From the information which has been afforded us on the subject, we believe that we make a moderate estimate in assuming that Indian tea goes half as far again as Chinese tea, so far as depth of colour and fulness (not delicacy) of flavor are concerned.

Thus, if one lb. of Chinese tea produces five gallons of tea of a certain depth of color and fulness of flavor, one pound of Indian tea will produce 7½ gallons of a similar beverage.

The proportion which the total quantity of tea taken into home consumption bears to the total quantity imported is, roughly speaking, somewhat more than three-fourths. In the year 1888, 112,383,217 lbs. of Indian and Ceylon teas were imported into the United Kingdom, three-fourths of which amount to 84,287,412 lbs., and, in the absence of exact figures, assuming this weight to represent the quantity of Indian and Ceylon teas delivered for home consumption, the duty thereon amounted to £2,107,185.

Upon the basis of the estimate which we have indicated above it would have taken 126,431,118 lbs. of Chinese tea to have produced a similar amount of beverage to that producible by the foregoing weight of Indian and Ceylon teas, and, if Chinese tea had been actually so consumed, the country would then have received £1,053,592 more in revenue than it actually did. It appears therefore that the displacement of Chinese tea by that produced in India and Ceylon is practically tantamount to a reduction of duty on Indian and Ceylon teas, the effect of which is differential in their favor as against tea from China.

Although our data are imperfect we will endeavor to place before your lordships an estimate as to the amount of this reduction in the rate of tea duty, which has thus imperceptibly taken place within the last five years. From the accompanying table it will be seen that in the period of six years, from 1883 to 1888, the quantity of Indian and Ceylon teas imported into the United Kingdom has been 486,000,000 lb.

PACK OF SALMON.

The total pack of salmon in British Columbia during the season of 1889, according to a statement supplied to the Fisheries Department, reached the enormous total of 414,294 cases. These were put up as follows : Fraser river, 303,875; Skeena river, 58,165; Rives inlet, 25,704; Naas river, 19,410; Alert bay, 7,140. The product was shipped to the following places: London, 182,432 cases; Liverpool, 156,015; Eastern Canada, 42,261; Australia, 24,031; South America, 400; local sales, 9,145. The phenomenal character of last season's pack may be judged when it is stated that the previous highest pack in one season was 255,061 in the year 1882. In 1888 184,040 cases were put up. Mr. Alex. R. Ewen, a hard-headed Scotchman, resident at New Westminster, was the pioneer of the salmon-canning industry. In 1876 he packed 3,125 cases, while in 1889 the total output of his cannery on the Fraser river was 33,582 cases, the highest number ever packed by a Canadian firm. A British Columbian now in town told a reporter that Mr. Ewen's profits on last season's operations could not be less than $150,000.

How to Sell Goods

The Grocer Publishing Co.
6 Wellington St. W., Toronto.

The above is a fac-similie of a letter received from Ellis & Keighley of this city.

Mr. A. J. Saunders, successor to Wall & Saunders, has an attack of la grippe, but the people of Paris keep gripping his goods just the same.

Mr. Robert Reid, of Aylwin, has taken possession of John Brooks' old business stand, Lowe, and is laying in a large stock of goods.

Mr. W. Watt, of the firm of G. Watt & Son, wholesale grocers, London, Ont., was married on Friday to Miss McKee, daughter of the late Dr. McKee.

An agent of the Armour Company of Chicago recently offered to Belleville butchers, beef by the quarter at less than six cents per pound laid down, duty paid. He stated that he had sold nine car-loads at Berlin, Ont.

Mr. G. T. Simpson's store, Paris, Ont., does not look old or rusty, but is clean and bright. He has flowers blooming in the window. Mr. Simpson's trade necessitates he opening up of fresh goods nearly every day, so one does not "get on" to any idea that it is ever dull with him.

Some time Friday night the store of the Merchant's Tea Company on James street, Hamilton, was burglarized, and a quantity of the jewelry which they are giving away with their canisters of tea carried off. The plate glass window in front was smashed, and entrance effected in that way. The tea packages were ransacked, and everything in the place turned topsy-turvy. Burnt matches were found all over the floor in the morning. The matter was reported to the police, and Detectives Doyle and Campbell succeeded in capturing one of the thieves, who gave his name as Morris Ryan. A quantity of the jewellry was found upon him when taken into custody. Henry Reid and Matthew Fisher, representing the company, will at the same time have to answer to a charge that they, "on the 17th day of January, did sell a package of tea, being the means of disposing of a breastpin by a mode of chance, contrary to the form of the statute in such case made and provided." This is the same company that operated in Toronto some time ago under the name of the Traders' Tea Company.

At the convention of Creameries Association in Seaforth on the 15th inst., it was moved by Mr. A. Wenger, seconded by Mr. J. S. Pearce, and carried unanimously. That whereas the Dominion Government has by order-in-council created the office of a commissioner of dairy husbandry for the Dominion of Canada, to assist in the further profitable developments and extension of dairy farming, to help in the improvement of the quality of milk, butter and cheese, and to furnish information relating to the needs of the markets, which are now or may be supplied by our products, we the officers and members of the Ontario Creameries Association in annual convention assembled, hereby express our satisfaction with and approval of the action of the Government in the creation of said office and in the appointment thereto of Prof. James W. Robertson, who has been intimately and actively interested in the work of the association since its inception. Resolved, further, that we commend to the special attention of the Government and the new dairy commissioner the needs of the butter-making industry as deserving special consideration and aid from Government experimental work, instruction and encouragement.

THE CANNED GOODS LAW.

Her Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and House of Commons of Canada, enacts as follows:—

In this Act the expression "package" means every can, tin or package in which articles or goods are put up for sale, and which are closed by being hermetically sealed. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 1.

Except in the case of goods packed previously to July 20, 1885, every package of canned goods sold or offered for sale in Canada, for consumption therein, shall have attached thereto or imprinted thereon a label or stamp, setting forth in legible characters the name and address of the person, firm or company by whom the same was packed, or of the dealer who sells the same or offers it for sale.

Every such package containing goods prepared from products which have been dried previously to being so prepared, shall, in addition, be labelled or stamped with the word "sealed," which word shall be plainly printed diagonally across the face of the label in large, legible type at least half an inch in height and three-eighths of an inch in width.

Every person who sells or offers for sale any such goods in violation of any provision of this section shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, for a first offence incur a penalty of two dollars for each such package, and for a subsequent offence a penalty not exceeding twenty dollars and not less than four dollars for each such package in respect of which any such provision has been violated. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 2.

Every person who places on any package any label, brand or mark which falsely represents the quantity or weight of the contents of such package, shall, on summary conviction before a a justice of the peace, incur a penalty of two dollars for each package on which the quantity or weight is so falsely represented; provided always, that a variation under the rate of three per cent. shall not be deemed a violation of the provisions of this section. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 3.

Every person who places on any package any label, brand or mark which falsely represents the date when the article or goods contained therein were packed, shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, incur a penalty of two dollars for each package on which such date is falsely represented. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 4.

SHOP WINDOW FROSTING AND GLEANING.

A correspondent of the "American Artisan" contributes the following for the benefit of those who have been troubled with frosted or steamy windows :—

Permit me to contribute to the discussion relative to preventing frosted windows in stores, etc. Several plans have been submitted, each more or less effectual, I have no doubt. The simplest way that I know of is that of introducing a circulation of cold air by means of a tin or galvanized iron pipe. In every case, of course it is necessary to have a double window, as your correspondents have described. Before fixing the inside movable windows, cut a hole through the bottom of the store window sash. This can be done at the side, and can be made of a size proportionate to the space inclosed ; for ordinary store windows, a pipe two and a half inches to three inches diameter will be found sufficient. Let the pipe be made with a straight elbow, and so fixed as to run up the side of the store window sash inside. It will take up very little room and will be unnoticed. Next connect the pipe in the store with the chimney flue or with a stove-pipe. A circulation of air will thus always be obtained between the store window and the air space, and an equitable temperature maintained which will prevent the great annoyance of windows becoming frosted. While upon the subject of store windows and the evils by which they are sometimes affected, let me say a word about window steaming. This is not so troublesome in this country as in some others where the climate is more humid and fogs are prevalent, but it does occur sometimes. I enclose a letter which appeared in the London Ironmonger upon this subject. If you think proper to publish it, doubtless some readers of the American Artisan will profit by the suggestions contained in it. The writer thus states his experience :—

I had two windows, both enclosed in an ordinary way with doors far from air-tight, and these used to be a great source of annoyance from steaming. I came to the conclusion that this was due to the fact that during the autumn and winter months, when the shop door would be kept closed, the air inside the premises became charged with moisture from gas burners alight, breath of customers and assistants, and wet about the place rising into the same air through warmth of shop. This moisture laden air would then find its way into the window enclosure, and coming into contact with the glass at several degrees colder temperature than the shop, would condense on the surface. I "cured" my smaller window thoroughly by making it air-tight in the following way : I glued several sheets of brown paper over the floor of the window (to keep out gas fumes from cellar below,) and gave it one or two coats of paint. With sheet-rubber draught stopping I had the door made air-tight. This window is now no trouble. The other window was not so easily managed, as I wished to light it inside. The floor was made air-tight in the way just described, and the doors also. A regenerative gas lamp was fixed in the ceiling, with a galvanized ventilating pipe let into a flue to carry off its fumes. To supply the necessary air to support combustion of this gas lamp, a zinc pipe was let into the floor of window and run out under the stallboard opening into the street. Two pieces of canvas were let into this air pipe at intervals to keep out dust, and at one end was a hit-and-miss ventilator, the other end being guarded by perforated zinc. This arrangement keeps the larger window free from steaming on most days, but is of course no benefit when the atmosphere is thoroughly charged with damp or fog.

THE INSURANCE QUESTION.

"How much insurance have you?" Is a question the credit man of your wholesale house will ask you when you come into market the next time, and this leads us to ask you the question now. This is the season of many fires. The defective flues in new buildings now become manifest when fires are built in stoves and furnaces for the first time. The accumulation of dust in hot-air pipes, the stoppage of chimneys, and the faulty arrangement of stoves newly set up, are all frequent causes of fires.

Not long ago a large hotel building in a prosperous town in Western Michigan was burned to the ground, the newspapers stating the loss to be $150,000. In conversation with an insurance man about this case, he made the remark that the house was insured for but $75,000. "That shows how much the owner valued his property at," said the adjuster. This is a view which merchants seldom take of the insurance matter. If you have a stock of $25,000, and only have it insured for $10,000, there is danger that the wholesalers and the insurance companies will take it for granted that the sum for which you had insurance was the amount you valued your stock at, and they may think there may have been some skullduggery in the fire.

On business principles we think a merchant should carry as much insurance as he can get on his stock. If he burns out it will not be through any fault of his own. You have not only to trust the carefulness of your own clerks and attendants, but you have to rely upon the good judgment of every other person connected with an adjoining property. A small fire, aided by a big wind, may wipe your stock out quicker than any "cost sale" could ever do, and you be the loser of all your business. With good, clean insurance, you will be far from ruined. You will be benefited, because you will have money enough to start in business again with a fresh, clean stock, and with the sympathy of your trade.

Although it is possible to look upon a fire as a benefit, it is only so looked upon after it occurs, and after the insurance companies have taken all the time they wished in which to pay the losses. Looked at from the other side, a merchant will hardly hail a prospective fire as a blessing, and will do all in his power to prevent it. There are some things a man ought to look to in the beginning of winter in order that he may not be burned out. When the stoves are put up in the store the chimneys should be cleaned.

Care should be taken that the register pits are clean from dust and sweepings, and that the hot-air pipes are well guarded where they pass through the floors. The fires that are caused by neglect of this precaution are many. The lamps which light the store should also be the object of some attention. It is dangerous to use too light a grade of oil, and although most States have oil inspectors, whose duties are to see that oil below a certain test is excluded from the State, there are still some States where this wholesale law has not yet been passed, and oil of low grade is sold. The temptation to dress windows with light, inflamable stuffs, and the danger of sudden draughts blowing these into the flames of lamps, or of gas jets, is one which should be carefully prevented. —The American Storekeeper.

Honor is to business men what courage is to the soldier; what zeal is to the advocate; or impartiality to the judge.

ABOUT FLOUR.

Flour, as sold from the grocery store, is one of the staple articles. Almost we may say of as much importance as butter and eggs, therefore you will find that handling a first class brand is essential.

Buying flour that has nothing to recommend it but its cheapness is detrimental to your trade. Get hold of a good flour that suits your trade and then stick to it. You will find that your customers get so used to the flour that they will almost swear by it and not use any other. The price should not materially influence you in buying, as from long experience we have proven that if you get a cut on the market value you are very apt to be buying flour made from inferior wheat.

Two grades for general trade is all that is required. A straight grade that can be used for pastry or bread and a cheap grade for bread purposes only.

The trade in cities is verging into the paper sack trade, and the mills to meet this demand put up ¼ and ⅛ barrel packages with their own brand on the bags.

This plan, besides being convenient to the grocer and saving time also, makes a very good pile for the center of the store, as the packages are always attractive.

If you buy flour in bags it is necessary to have a bin to hold about two barrels, built in a dry part of the store, and use from this for orders of one pound and upwards. The surplus stock should always be kept in a dry place, and when so kept improves greatly with age. Hence it is advantageous to watch the markets closely, and when prices are right, lay in a stock and give your customers the benefit of this.

Some manufacturers put up their flour in wood, but by buying this way you pay 30c. extra for your package, and have no benefit from it as the flour keeps equally well in bags and takes up less room.

Be very careful to keep your flour and meals away from any oil or grease—nothing will spoil flour quicker.

THE ONTARIO BANK.

The Ontario Bank whose head office is in Toronto, has been a most unfortunate institution. The many troubles in its career are well known to our readers. Recently, it suffered several large losses by the failure of the Polson Iron Works, a produce firm, and in the North-west. The most serious of all its recent troubles has first been made public. This has been the discovery that several of the employees in the Toronto Branch had made away with large sums of money, chiefly by permitting their friends to overdraw their accounts. Brown, one of these, has skipped to Buffalo, while "Rolly" Moffat the other is in jail here. The mode of proceedure was not altogether a novel one, for such cases have occurred before, but they were quickly detected. By an understanding with Brown, he marked cheques as good for certain of his friends. These were deposited in another bank, and on being returned to the Ontario, were stolen, it is said, by Brown, and not charged up. Brown admitted having taken $40,000 or $50,000 of bank funds in this way. The nature of the charges against Moffat are apparently not so serious. He says that when he discovered the irregularities referred to above, he called Brown's attention to them, and the latter promised to make things all right; not doing so, Moffat reported the matter to the manager. A thorough examination of the books was then commenced and is now going on. In the coarse of these it was discovered that Mr. Moffat had cabled £80 to London in August last, to put up on the O'Connor-Searles boat race, in the name of general manager Holland. It was on a charge of stealing this money that he was arrested. It is said that the matter would have been overlooked, were it not that the Guarantee Co. insisted on a conviction before paying over the money. What the losses to the bank will be it is difficult to say, but it would not surprise us if the total amount would be close to $200,000. That such irregularities were going on under the eye of the general manager and the leading officials of the bank, would indicate that something is radically wrong in a banking system that permits it. In any well regulated bank, such proceedings would have been discovered in a very short time. Either the banking law should be changed or the Directors of Ontario should see that a better system is adopted. Of course at this time we hear a great deal about the neglect of the Directors, but we do not agree with this cry. It is no part of the Directors' work to look after the office management. Ontario has a good Board. Its Directors are shrewd, careful, mature business men.

TORONTO, JAN. 23, 1890.

GROCERIES.

Trade has been quiet again this week, and payments slow. Values of sugar are ⅛c. lower on whites, while dried fruits are firmer.

CANNED GOODS.

The market on fruits and vegetables continues firm, but without any change. Demand is quite up to if not better than the average for this season of the year. For staples present prices are considered reasonable. There is apparently no probability of a decline, and it is generally believed that there will be further advances, as wholesale dealers are now selling in many instances at less than they can replace the same goods from first hand. Inquiries in the fruit growing districts of Ontario show that, so far, no damage has been done to the young buds, but in the States, unless the season should prove unusually favorable, the damage will be serious. No sales of round lots have been reported this week. Wholesale men have sold tomatoes from $1.10 to $1.20, and corn and peas at $1.15 to $1.25. Peaches are steady at quotations. Salmon is weak and offered at lower prices. There is a pretty fair stock here, and holders are apparently afraid of a decline. For pink salmon holders ask $1.50 for "Queen" brand, to $1.20 for British America and Horse Shoe. White salmon is offered at $1.40.

From the annual review of the American Grocer, it appears that the quantity of sweet corn put up in the United States in 1889 was 1,760,300 cases of two dozen tins each, against 3,491,474 cases in 1888, a decrease of 1,731,174 cases, or nearly 44 per cent. The industry is overdone, and the production of low grade and medium canned corn far in excess of requirements. Although there was a great shrinkage in the pack, the market does not improve. Prices have ranged from 45c. to $1.40 per dozen, there being great irregularity in quality and quotations. Maine is the banner state, having put up 505,362 cases; Maryland, 378,104 cases; New York, 272,925 cases; the Western States, 495,899 cases, and all other States and Canada, 108,109 cases. The outlook is discouraging for the packers, except for those who put up a first-class article. The production of canned goods keeps in advance of the demand, owing to the rapid extension of the industry throughout the union.

COFFEE.

The local coffee market has ruled dull but steady while outside Rios are steady and mild grades show more than usual strength.

DRIED FRUIT AND NUTS.

This market shows a good strong undertone notwithstanding the dull demand for there are very few buyers at present. We would not like to advise larger purchases than are required for immediate wants. Yet we think that they will not be able to buy at lower prices than are now prevailing. There are no Valencia raisins to be had in Denia, the stock of Sultanas in Smyrna is next to nothing; currants are higher in price; Malaga raisins, almonds, walnuts, etc., are low and stocks are limited. There are no stocks held in the States and our only source of supply is England where stocks are also not large. Bendelari & Co. received the following from their New York correspondent:—"We would call your attention to the strong statistical position of Valencia raisins in this country. As our interior points and neighboring cities are without stocks, an unusual thing so early in the season, we have only to consider the port of New York as a point of distribution. Of the crop of 1887 and 1888 the consumption was, from December 1 to end of season:

Crop 1887 - -	609,000 boxes.
Crop 1888 - -	453,000 "
The stocks on hand in New York December 1, 1889, of the crop of 1889 was -	172,000 boxes.
Shipped from Denia since that date - - -	203,000 "
	375,000 "

It is estimated that the future shipment from Denia to New York will not exceed 20,000 boxes, in which case, taking the average consumption of the past two years, 530,000 boxes, as an estimate of our requirements, there will be an insufficent supply. The consumption of the crop of 1888 was affected by the poor condition of the fruit, and even then we were entirely bare of stock long before the arrival of the new fruit. The absence of cheap Elemes, Sultanas and Belvideres is a good feature. The California product is only one-half, say 500,000 boxes, against 1,000,000 last year. The Malaga supply in this country is insignificant.

On this market currants have been steady. Dates and figs dull and unchanged. Prunes were in better demand, but the movement is still light. Valencia raisins are held at an advance of ¼c. at 7¼c. though the range is still 7 to 7¼c. for prime stock; no sales of round lots are reported; holders ask 6¾ to 7c. on spot. Good sultanas are held at 10 to 11c. Malagas are dull but steadily held.

NUTS.

Nuts are dull but steady. Grenoble walnuts are firmly held. New marbots are offering to arrive next week at 13c.

PEELS.

Dull but steadier. The domestic stock that was offered at lower prices is now exhausted.

SPICES.

From the circular letter of Symons & Bicker Caarten, of Rotterdam, we obtain the following upon the situation of nutmegs and mace: "There was brisk competition at the last public sale and Banda grown nutmegs, Nos. 1 and 2 brought full valuation, and Mace Favergad one penny above valuation. The offering was all more or less affected by the drought, the nutmegs showing quite a mouldy, rotten and corky nuts, and the mace hard, dry, mouldy and wormy. The arrivals of nutmegs in Holland during first eleven months of 1889 were 488,200 kilos, against 327,800 same time 1888, and 632,700 same time 1887. The importation of 1889 consisted of about 277,000 kilos Banda, Nos. 1, 2 and 2B; 68,000 do Padang, Penang, Java, Menados Nos. 1, 2 and 2B; 143,000 kilos Nos. 3 and 4, sundries, broken and wild nuts. The Holland stock on hand December 1st, was 178,700 kilos, against 89,000 kilos in 1888 and 156,400 in 1887. Much stress is laid upon the poor quality of the present accumulation, consisting principally of sick Banda nutmegs, Menados and Javas, substitutes not generally liked, and to a small extent of Padangs. The next sale of Banda growths will not take place until March, and is expected to embrace the same doubtful quantity, as the arrivals to that date can only embrace old crop."

SUGAR.

A decline of ⅛c. in all whites was the feature of the market since last report. Demand has been light. Yellows are now generally sold at 5⅛c. up, with an occasional shading below that figure when compelled by competition. Outside markets are dull but steady. The New York Bulletin draws attention to a singular feature in the Canadian market, that prices of refined sugar in Montreal are lower than raw sugar in New York "showing that prices are lower there than in any market on this continent. A fairly bright refined sugar has been sold there recently at 5⅛c. in round quantities, and low grades as low as 4⅝ to 4¾c., whilst sales of raw in this city of the same description as that from which the latter qualities of refined were made sold at 4⅞ to 5c."

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Demand is quiet and prices are unchanged.

TEAS.

In a general way there has not been much business done but now and then a sale of a good sized lot was reported. All kinds have received a fair share of attention. Cheap Japans and Young Hysons are scarce. In Indian tea the local market continues dull and without much enquiry. On the resumption of business in London bidding was strong and prices for all grades were maintained. Judging from the figures just issued the statistical position is favorable, the deliveries for December being 8,746,009 lbs. against 7,003,000 for the same month previous year; and for the past six months about 6,000,000 more than for the corresponding period of 1888; while the stock on the 31st ulto. was 2,250,000 lbs. smaller.

The local business in Ceylons was small. The London market is opened with a brisk enquiry and prices were slightly firmer, the weekly average having improved about ¼c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The prices of the classes of butter in which the transactions have been fewest have undergone no change since the last report. On the other hand those with which the market has been most abundantly stocked have shifted below the prices at which they were quoted a week ago. The latter are the two classes of roll butter, the fall in pound rolls being the greater. Pound rolls are now 20 to 22, with much more bought at the lower figure. The quality is up to that marketed a week ago, but the quantity is greater, and the demand unchanged. Large rolls are a cent lower than last week, running from 13 to 15c. The most commonly paid price has been 14c. Dairy packed is 16 to 17c. The usual proportion of it has been marketed. Store-packed is 10 to 13c., and the interest of buyers in it is decreasing, as there is an adequate supply of the better qualities at a price people will pay. Good creamery butter keeps its own circle of consumption, and remains at 23 to 24c.

Cheese has experienced no change in the prices current for the past two months. The summer make brings 8 to 9½c., and early autumn cheese is 10½ to 11c. The October and November make are not yet being brought into the trade by the wholesale dealers here.

handling has so far been great. The fruit was scarce enough and good enough, but the unlooked-for condition of the weather has made apples a source of anxiety to every man who handled them on a large scale. Prices are therefore down to $1.50 to $2.50 in car lots, and $2.50 to $2.75 in store quantities. Very select apples will bring $3 for local selling. There are not many offering, and there is no longing among shippers for any increase.

BEANS—Are worth $1.60 to $1.65, and in small lots $1.75. There is a very quiet demand, but it seems capable of absorbing the whole season's growth before the new crop comes in.

DRIED APPLES—Have not yet received much attention, sales being infrequent and small. They are worth 5 to 5¼ in large orders, and 5½ to 6c. per single barrel

EVAPORATED APPLES—The prices have not shifted from the point at which they stood when the market opened. They are still 9 to 10c.

EGGS—Limed are worth 15 to 16c. Fresh in cased lots are 19 to 20c. New laid eggs in lots of three to six dozens are 22 to 23c. Eggs are now quite plentiful. It is most unusual that hens should begin laying before March, but the extreme mildness of the winter has got them started thus early. Our own supply is therefore very good. A large stock of American eggs are also on our market, and these helped to drag down prices from the high position they held at the beginning of the year.

GAME.—Rabbits are 20c. per pair, and pigeons are to 25 to 30c. per pair.

HAY.—No. 1 pressed is $10.50; No. 2, for which a slight demand is setting in, is worth $8. Hay, loose on street is worth $11 to $13 for No. 1, and $7 to $10 for No. 2.

HIDES.—Cured are 4¾c., and green are 4c. for No. 1, 3c. for No. 2, and 2c. for No. 3.

HONEY.—Trade is slightly better than it was last week. Prices, however, are unaltered, being 11½ to 13c. for clear, and 17 to 19c. for comb.

HOPS.—New ones are 12 to 14c., and yearlings are 8 to 11c.

OATS—in car lots are worth 29 to 30c., and on the street are selling at the same price.

ONIONS—Are worth $1.60 to $1.80.

POTATOES.—Not many are offering and not many are sought. The price keeps steadily at 55c. with 57 asked, for car-lots. In small store-lots they remain at 65 to 70c.

POULTRY.—Geese are worth 7½ to 8c. Turkeys are 9 to 10c. Chickens are 50 to 75c. Ducks, very scarce, are 50 to 75c. Chickens are in special demand, and come in slowly.

SEEDS.—The market is in a position which enables wholesalers' quotations to be given. They are paying for red clover $3.50 to $3.75; for alsike, $4.50 to $5 50, only very choice bringing the upper figure; for timothy, $1.25 to $1.50, and for choice to fancy, slightly more.

SKINS.—Sheepskins are $1.10 to $1.25, No. 1 calf skins are 6c., and No. 2 are 5c.

STRAW.—No. 1 tight-pressed oat is worth $6.50; loose on street is $5 to $6; in sheaves, is $8 to $9.50.

TALLOW.—Rough is 1¼ to 2c., and rendered is 5 to 5¼c.

WOOL.—There is little now to be had in the fleece. Its price stands at 22 to 24c. Pulled wool is worth 24c. for lowest grade, 25c. for superfine, and 30c. for extra superfine.

CRANBERRIES.

Prices are running upwards and are firm. The stocks of dealers are not large, and continue to diminish at a rapid rate, although present prices confine the demand. In barrels the Cape Cod fruit is worth $14, and in crates $4.50. Our provincial crop has been long run off.

FISH.

By this time the market has usually been fairly active in former years, but the present open weather seems not to draw consumption towards fish. The prices reported last week stand for this. Salmon trout are 7½c. Salted sea salmon are $12 per barrel. Fresh cod are 5c. per lb. and steak cod are 6c. Haddock are 5 to 5½c. Labrador herring are $5 to $5.50 per barrel, and $3.25 to $3.75 per half barrel. Shore herring are $4 per barrel, and $2.25 per half barrel. Boneless cod is 8c. in small quantities, and 6c. in 40 lb. boxes.

GREEN FRUIT.

Valencia oranges remain firm at $4.75 to $5. Florida russets are $3 to $3.50, and fancy brights are $3.50 to $4. There are scarcely any fancy bright of the Florida growth now in stock. There are now some Messina oranges, 200 to the box, sold at $3. They are not well upon the market yet. The California navel, said to be one of the finest sort of oranges grown is also being brought into Toronto stocks. They are seedless, and will be sold at $7 per box. The run on lemons continues to be strong, and prices threaten to be double what they were at this time last year. They went up again in New York on Monday after having twice advanced since the influenza began. That disease being so widespread, prices are not merely locally affected. Also the stocks in this city are light, Palermos are worth for fancy 300's $5 to $5.50, and for 360's $3.50 to $4. Messinas are worth $3.50 to $4 in 360's, and $5 to $5.50 in 300's. Of the latter, there are scarcely any to be had. Malaga grapes are $7 to $8, rising in price as they increase in scarcity. Sweet potatoes are again ready for the market. Some are expected next week, which will be sold at $5.50 per barrel.

PROVISIONS.

BACON.—Long clear is 7¼ to 7½c.; roll is down to 8½c. boneless, and 10c. with bone.

HAMS.—Smoked are 11c., and green 10c.

LARD.—The Canadian in tubs is 8½c., in pails 9c. The American in tubs is 8c., and in pails is 8½c.

MESS PORK.—Heavy mess is $13.50 to $14. Canadian short is $14.50 to $15.

DRESSED HOGS. — Heavy weights are down to $5. Mediums are $5.25 to $5.30. Light weights are $5.40 to $5.50. For the latter, butchers' are paying $5.75 to $6.

DRY GOODS.

Trade has been somewhat better since last report. It has not been dull enough to affect prices. Cotton and woollen Canadian staples are as firm to-day as they were when the winter trade was a good prospect. The prices of imported goods, such as flannels, stuffs, clothes, etc., are still where they were in the autumn. Travellers report a better trade since they set out than the condition of the weather warranted any expectation of. It is not by any means a large trade now, but it is an aggregate of a great many small contributions.

HARDWARE.

The trade done this week has been a notably quiet one. Prices continue firm, but local business is dull. The season of the year, and the peculiar weather operate against an active trade.

There is no art or science that is too difficult for industry to attain to."—Clarendon.

MONTREAL

MONTREAL MARKETS.

JANUARY 23, 1890.

GROCERIES.

The cold snap of last week made a slight improvement in trade, though hardly worth mentioning, but if the cold continues a greater volume of business may be expected. Payments are considered fair. Excuses are being offered for the non-payment of accounts that "they have had la grippe and have been unable to attend business." Sugars and syrups have again dropped.

SUGAR.

White sugar has taken another drop of an ⅛ cent, owing no doubt to the continued dullness of trade, which will have the effect no doubt of stimulating the market. It is quoted at 6⅛ to 7c. Yellows 5 to 5¼c.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Business still continues quiet with a ¼c. lower than quoted last week. Refiners have a fair stock of all grades on hand. Sales here have been a little easier. The refiners are now making a brighter syrup than for years past. Molasses remains unchanged. Prices are: Barbadoes from 46 to 47c. (guild price) as to quality; Porto Rico, 41c. Antique 39 to 40c.

TEAS.

The market still remains quiet, business continuing light.

COFFEE.

Market remains at unchanged prices. Moca, 28 to 30c. Java 24 to 29c. Jamaica 18 to 22c. Rio 19 to 20c. Plantation Ceylon 19 to 24c. Marcabo 18 to 22½c.

DRIED FRUIT.

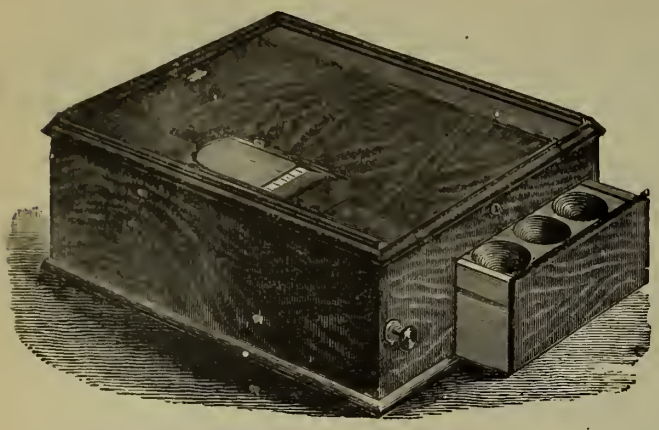
Business is fairly good for this season of the year, being always quiet after the holiday season. The brisk demand for Valencia raisins and currants still continues. Prices unchanged. Quotations are: London layers, $3 to $3.25. Sultanas are quoted 8½ to 12. Currants 5½ to 6c. for Provincials, and Vostizza up to 7c. to 7½ for choice cases. Prunes range from 5c. to 7½. Eleme figs, 9c. to 11c. Malaga figs, 5c. to 6c. Dried apples 7c. Evaporated apples, by car load, 9c. to 10c. Layer Valencias 8¼c. Valencias are quoted at 6⅞ to 7c.

NUTS.

Trade continues moderate at steady prices. Tarragona almonds, 13½c. to 14c. Ivica, 12½ to 13c. Ordinary French walnuts 10c. Grenobles, 14 to 16c. Filberts scarce at 9½ to 10c. for Sicily. Brazil nuts, 9 to 12c.

CANNED GOODS.

There is really nothing moving in canned goods, the demand continues very slow. Holders of old pack of tomatoes and corn don't seem so anxious to sell at the low prices some of them have been getting of late, though one house here is offering special lines of tomatoes, corn and peas at less than Association prices, still the new pack are bringing the full price. Corn quite firm at $1.17½ to to $1.25. Peas very scarce. Canned fruits are meeting with fair sale at the following quotations:—pine apples, $2.25 to $2.40; strawberries, $2.35 to $2.45; peaches, $2.15 to $2.25; plumbs, $1.75 to $2.00; pears, $2 to $2.10. Canned fish still remains very quiet. Lobsters scarce at $6.80 per case; mackerel very scarce at $5.90 per case; salmon $1.67½.



FISH.

The good demand for fish all around still continues as Lent approaches, especially in green cod Labrador, herring, stocks of the former being entirely bought up. There is a very large demand for Labrador, and round lots have been sold as low as $3.75, with smaller quantities up to $4, with half barrels at $2.50. Newfoundland shore herring are at $3.50, and Cape Breton at $4.50, which prices are somewhat lower than those quoted last week. The demand for green cod the past few days has been quite large and almost all the stocks here have been bought up. Quotations are:—No. 1 large, $5.80; No. 1. $5.25 with haddock at $4. Dry cod $4.50. B. C. salmon has remained steady at $11 per brl. Red sea trout $9. Whitefish has sold at $5.50 per half brl.; lake trout at $4.50 per do, and sea trout at $5 per do. A small lot of eels is offering at $8 per brl. Smoked herring $11 per box. Scotch, Loch Fyne herring are $2 and $1 for 28lb. and 14lb. kitts respectively.

There has been a continued good demand for fresh frozen fish and all the receipts, which have been fair, have been well absorbed. Transactions have been effected readily at 3½c. per lb. for cod and 3¾c. for haddock, while herring have sold well at $1.50 per 100 count for ordinary stock. Tommy cods have been in demand and steady at $1.50 per bbl. Smelts have sold at 5c. per lb. and whitefish at 6c. per lb. Hand picked Malpecque oysters $2.50 per bbl.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

The tone of the grain market has ruled stronger on Manitoba wheat, and prices are quoted somewhat higher. There has been some enquiry, and sales of car lots have been made along the line at equal to $1.07 here. Business on the whole continues quiet. Wheat, No. 1 hard Manitoba, $1.06 to $1.07; No. 2 hard, $1.03 to $1.04; corn, duty paid, 50 to 51c.; oats, 30 to 32c.; peas, 67 to 69c. per 66 pounds; barley, 45 to 50c.; rye, 50 to 51c. There has been no important change or improvement in the flour market, business having ruled quiet and of a jobbing character owing to the limited demand. Prices are unchanged. We quote: Patent winter $5 to $5.20; patent spring, $5 to $5.20; straight roller, $4.50 to $4.65; extra, $4 to $4.20; superfine, $3.10 to $3.90; city strong bakers' $4.80 to $4.90; strong bakers' $4.65 to $4.80; strong bakers' bags $2.40 to $2.50; superfine bags, $1.50 to $1.90; extra bags, $2 to $2.10. Oatmeal standard, $3.60 to $3.70; granulated $3.50 to $4; rolled oats $3.80 to $4.25.

PROVISIONS.

In provisions a fair volume of business was transacted, there being a good demand for pork and some round lots have changed hands at steady prices. There has been little enquiry for lard, which has ruled easy. We quote: Western short cut pork, $13; mess, $13 to $13.25; Canadian short cut, $13.50 to $14. Western (Armours and Fairbanks), $1.60 to $1.62½ per pail. Cases (Armours and Fairbanks), 8⅛ to 8¼c. per lb. Canadian lard, $1.60.

EGGS.—The situation of the egg market is unchanged. The tone continues easy and lower prices are looked for on account of the large stock offering. The demand is slow and business dull at about quotations. We quote: strictly fresh, 20c.; Montreal limed, 15 to 17c.; held fresh, 12 to 15c., and western limed, 12 to 13c. per dozen.

POULTRY AND GAME.—The receipts of game have been small, for which the demand is fair and all offerings meet with a ready sale at 50 to 55c. for choice partridges, and 30 to 35c. for culls per brace. In poultry business continues quiet owing to the light supply. The demand is principally for chickens, which are scarce and firm, and any nice stock would fetch 9c. We quote: turkeys 10 to 11c., geese 7 to 8c., ducks 9 to 10c., and chickens 7 to 9c. per lb.

BUTTER.—There continues to be a fair local demand for choice grades of butter which are scarce and firm, while other grades are plentiful and little enquired for. We quote: creamery, 22c. to 23c.; townships, choice, 19c. to 21c.; Morrisburg, 15c. to 18c.; Brockville, 14½c. to 16½c.; Western, 12c. to 16c.

CHEESE.—The Liverpool public cable was weak and 6d. lower, at 52s. On spot, business was dull with no new features to note. We quote: finest September and October, 10½ to 10¾c.; fine stock 9¾ to 10¼; earlier makes, 9 to 9½c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The annual meeting of the Edwardsburg Starch Co., (Ltd.) was held at the company's offices St. John street, Tuesday afternoon last. The old directors:—Messrs. Bolton, Warden King, Robert Anderson, John Fairbairn, Wm. Strachan, G. F. Benson and W. E. Cheese were re-elected, after which the following officers were elected:—President, Richard Bolton; Vice-President, Warden King; Sec-Treas. M. Thomson.

Special lines of corn, peas and tomatoes, of extra value, at special prices are being offered by Messrs Caverhill, Hughes & Co.

Turner, Rose & Co., have on hand a large supply of the well known Serting brand of canned corn, which they are offering at low figure.

In the Tiffin Bros. affair there is one obstacle to the settlement in the person of Mr. S. B. Heward, who cannot be induced to fall into line with the rest of the creditors, as he contends the manner in which he became a creditor for about $4,000 was scarcely a fair deal. It is alleged that Mr. Heward sold Messrs. Tiffin Bros. some time before they failed a line of tea amounting to the above named sum, and that immediately afterwards, and before the goods had been removed, the warehouse receipt for same was transferred to the bank, at the full value of Mr. Heward's invoice, and hence the reason why that gentleman has shown fight by putting his case into the hands of a lawyer To afford an adequate conception of the large business carried on by Messrs. Tiffin Bros. during a period of thirteen months, we may mention that their transactions footed up to $1,250,000 and this extensive trading was effected upon a capital of only $30,000 or $40,000. Fancy the amount of financing it would requre to run a business like that on such a capital.

Unlike daily papers and general periodicals, THE GROCER places advertisements before the eyes of just that portion of the industries most calculated to avail themselves of the announcements therein, and, therefore is of more value to the Trade than any paper published in this or other worlds. Manufacturers please take note of this, and then act accordingly.

Mr. J. D. Adams, one of the oldest members of the grocery trade in Montreal, died last Wednesday week, aged 68 years. Mr. Adams was a native of this city, and commenced business in 1844, on the site on St. Lawrence street, now occupied by the firm, though not in the same building, the original premises having been destroyed by the great fire which devastated the Quebec suburbs. Mr. Adams had retired for some years, the business passing into the hands of his son. He was one of the oldest members of Christ Church cathedral, a life governor of the Montreal General hospital, and an old member of St. George's Society. He was well known to many of our oldest citizens, who will learn of his death with feelings of deep regret. Mr. Adams left a family of five sons and one daughter.

The annual meeting of the Canada Meat Packing Co. was held in their handsome offices at the factory, at the corner of Murray and Wellington streets, Jan. 15. The secretary, Mr. J. B. Saul, presented the annual report which showed the Company to be in a flourishing condition, and although formed but six or seven months ago, the outlook is exceedingly encouraging. The old board of directors:—Messrs. W. Clark, President; W. Strachan, Vice-President; W. S. Paterson, A. L. Lockerby and M. C. Acer were re-elected for the ensuing year. These gentlemen are well known to the trade at large as careful and experienced business men, and with them at the head of affairs the company will be bound to succeed.

The heads of our large grocery houses here have not escaped the prevailing epidemic and many are still suffering. Mr. Chaput, of Chaput, Fils & Co., was out for the first time Tuesday after a severe illness of about two weeks, and Mr. Hebert, of Hudon, Hebert & Co., is again able to attend to business after a sojourn in bed of ten days. Many others are compelled to attend business, though hardly fit for it, through the sickness of many of their employees.

Thomas Lawry & Son, pork packers, of Hamilton, have written to the Mayor of Toronto, asking what inducements the city will offer them to establish their factory here.

TRADE NOTES.

Smith & Keighley have received a consignment of Eleme figs in two and ten lb. boxes, which they are offering at low prices to the trade.

Mr. S. Fenton, Jr., of the Erie Preserving Co., St. Catharines, was in the city this week. He always spends the winter with his family in New York and Washington.

In a conversation with Mr. John Sloan, of Galt, that gentleman gave our representative some excellent ideas on the grading of butter practiced by him, which we should be pleased to give to our readers, if he will kindly set them forth in a communication to this journal.

The business of the late W. B. Chisholm, known as the Oakville Basket Factory, has been purchased by P. Doty & Son from the estate and will be carried on in the same line as before. The same foremen and employees take up the work and will push every part to its utmost capacity, keeping in view the importance of turning out nothing but first class work.

Messrs. B. E. Charlton, of Hamilton, and T. A. Lytle, of Toronto, had an interview with Hon. Mr. Foster, when they urged an equalization of the duties on acetic acid and vinegar. The Minister promised to consider the matter. Mr. Lytle, accompanied by Mr. Bryant, of Toronto, also saw Mr. Bowell in reference to the duties on pickles and sauces.

By the proposed amendments to the Adulteration Act, parties from whom the Government obtain samples to be analyzed will have to pay for the same if any adulteration is discovered, but if they are found to be pure no charge will be made. The present Act has no such proviso, and the change is proposed so as to make this branch of the Inland Revenue a little more than self-sustaining.

Messrs. Fish & Nichol, Guelph, are large shippers of butter and eggs. The open weather for the past few weeks have enabled them to pick up about 3,000 dozen strictly fresh eggs. Mr. Nichol says there are tons of butter in his section awaiting buyers, but much of it is poor, and as they are in the market for good butter only, it is difficult to get the grade they want for shipment; therefore they are not open buyers at present.

We find great interest being taken in the butter question by readers of the GROCER throughout the country. We hope all our friends that have not already done so, will commence with the new year and grade every roll or tub of butter they buy. Your goods cost you par value and why give them out for that which is only fit for the soap vat, and think you can ship it to some commission house, and get any kind of butter value. Better have your goods on the shelves and let the loss fall where it belongs, on the maker.

The St. Catharines' Business Men's Association met on the evening of the 18th in their new club rooms over the China Hall. At a previous meeting it was decided that the medical and legal profession would be excluded, but dentists are eligible on the ground that they are manufacturers. There are at present one hundred members and it is expected that fifty new members will join at the next meeting. The rooms will be comfortably fitted up and be opened to the members every evening except Sunday for social chat, games, etc.

SUNLIGHT IN THE WORLD
LARGEST SALE SOAP

Winner of THREE GOLD MEDALS in 1889---Paris, France, Ghent, Belgium, and Ottawa, Canada.

The Wide-Awake Grocer, even if he gets a smaller profit out of SUNLIGHT Soap than he does out of Inferior Soaps, recognizes the fact that the increased volume of business done by reason of keeping the BEST article, more than compensates for the smaller profit. The aim of every Grocer should be, to earn a reputation for selling THE BEST.

AFFAIRS IN ST. CATHARINES.

ST. CATHARINES,
Saturday 18th Jan., 1890.

TO THE GROCER :

We have had nothing but mud in this section for three months. I think it is on account of the dirty writings in our local papers about butter. I think we had our Withrow & Hillock refrigerator filled to-day with a lot of butter you would have been pleased to see. We buy for cash and get the best. The reason I like to do this is on account of the poor stock we would take on trade. I bought sixteen pounds one day, and to get it off lost 6c. a pound. Next time this farmer came I told him to take his butter to some second-class store. I am sure to get my money back when I buy the best.

I read THE GROCER all through am well pleased with it. The short writings all seem to the point.

Yours truly,
ARCH. WILSON.

[We like Mr. Wilson's method of doing business, as we have all along contended retailers situated as Mr. Wilson is should handle butter on a cash basis. There are some merchants so situated however, that it would injure their trade to refuse even poor butter. We look forward to the day not far distant when nearly all the butter will be made at the creameries.—ED. GROCER.]

TRADE SALES.

Suckling, Cassidy & Co. had their closing sale for the season on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Last week 3,000 boxes of cheese were shipped from Watford, consigned to the English office of the Imperial Produce Co., Toronto.

The bank stock of Rumball Bros., of Harrow, Essex County, was sold Thursday to Mr. Wigle, of Amherstburg, at sixty cents on the dollar. The stock was invoiced at $2,112.39.

The failure is announced of W. Arnall & Son, fruit dealers, Yonge street, Toronto. The curious feature in this case is that the assets are $25,000, while the liabilities are stated at only $900. The property, however, consists of real estate, which could not be realized on in time to meet demands.

Under the auspices of the Indian Tea Districts Association.

The object of the company is to push the sale of their product, feeling certain that when systematically brought to consumers' notice its merits will be so manifest as to give it the front rank in public favor, as is the case in Great Britain.

Roundly, the annual consumption in that country is 80,000,000 lbs. during last crop year This is the best answer to the twaddle about the excessive quantity of tannin in Indian tea. Consumers in England are no fools : they know a cup of good tea.

Supplies will be held in Canada and the States and the undersigned, or his assistants, will make regular calls on the Trade. Samples will also be promptly forwarded on application.

CERTIFICATES OF STRENGTH AND PURITY.

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC ANALYST,

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

GENTLEMEN,—I have personally taken samples from a large stock of your Granulated Sugar, "REDPATH" brand, and carefully tested them by the Polariscope, and I find these samples to be as near to absolute purity as can be obtained by any process of Sugar-Refining.

The test by the Polariscope showed in yesterday s yield 99·90 per cent. of Pure Cane Sugar, which may be considered commercially as ABSOLUTELY PURE SUGAR.

JAFFRAY & RYAN.

Mercantile circles in the city were more than surprised yesterday on hearing the report, which was authenticated, that the large wholesale liquor firm of Jaffray & Ryan, 67 Front street east, were unable to meet their liabilities and had been compelled to make an assignment. The assignment was made on Thursday afternoon to Mr. E. R. C. Clarkson, but the fact did not become known on the street till yesterday. The creditors have not yet been officially notified of the failure, but will receive that information at once, and a meeting will doubtless be held at an early day. A statement of the affairs of the firm has not yet been completed, but those who should know estimate the liabilities at between $30,000 and $40,000. Mr. Ryan, when interviewed on the matter, explained as a reason for the collapse the general dulness in trade and slow collections but it is hinted as an immediate cause of the failure that the Standard Bank refused to extend the firm's line of credit without better security than Jaffray & Ryan were able to offer. Gooderham & Worts are said to be one of the chief creditors.

Started over twenty-five years ago, the firm of Jaffray & Ryan was originally carried on by Robert Jaffray, who did a grocery and liquor business combined on Yonge street. Some time ago Robert Jaffray retired and his brother George took over the business, Mr. James Ryan, then an employe of the firm, being admitted into partnership, and the business flourished under the style of Jaffray & Ryan. At the time the law was passed separating the grocery and liquor trades, they got rid of the grocery branch, and devoted themselves to the wholesale liquor trade exclusively. It was always thought that they were doing a large and successful business, and were supposed to be thoroughly solvent. Their credit was good, and as far as outside appearances went there was nothing to show that they were in anything but a safe position.

Now Autumn Summer puts to rout

SPECIAL TO OUR READERS.

As the design of THE CANADIAN GROCER is to benefit mutually all interested in the business, we would request all parties ordering goods or making purchases of any description from houses advertising with us to mention in their letter that such advertisement was noticed in THE CANADIAN GROCER.

OUR MONTREAL OFFICE.

Our Montreal Office is located at 115 St. Francois Xavier St. Our representative, Mr. Hugh C. McLean, will be pleased to have subscribers and advertisers call upon him there. He will also pay special attention to gathering business items and attending generally to the interests of this paper.

TO MERCHANTS.

To be on friendly terms with your rivals is the best policy. How often do we find it otherwise? The merchant first in the field seems to think that he has a proprietory right to the trade in his neighborhood, and when a rival merchant opens out a stock close at hand a strong feeling of jealousy takes hold of the first man in the field towards the newcomer. First man can see no good in his rival, thinks it an outrage that his rights should thus be invaded by a stranger, and decides there and then to make it hot for the new man.

First thing to do towards the desired end, is to cut prices; last comer does the same, for, being a new man, it is necessary to meet prices to obtain trade. Then disparaging remarks are made about the quality of the goods and financial standing of the new man. This war of prices and bad talk is carried on for some time, the public being the gainers and the merchants the losers. It is inevitable that new men will always take advantage of what may seem to them to be a good opening for business. Old established houses must expect this. They were new beginners at one time and must expect competition at some time in their business life. Then when the competitor comes along show a disposition to be friendly. It will pay to do so.

An illustration of this is the case of a merchant, long established in a western town, who had a competitor settle down within two doors of his place of business. A disposition to act ugly and make it hot for the newcomer by cutting prices, etc., was at first shown, but soon better thoughts prevailed, an acquaintance was sought. It was found by merchant number one that number two was not a bad kind of a fellow. A mutual understanding was arrived at to maintain prices, to post each other as to the paying qualities of customers, and to accomodate each other with goods for customers that one or the other might be out of stock. It was found by the old established merchant, after the end of one year, that his trade had increased, the new-comer having also succeeded in doing a very good trade also.

Another case looms up before the vision of the writer showing the reverse side. Two men are doing business side by side. Business jealousy is so strong that they cannot say a good word one for the other. Sometimes when the spirit moves them they will slaughter their goods, just for pure cussedness. It can't be for anything else, for they don't make a profit at these times, and they don't care so much for the public that they are willing to give away to them their legitimate profits. Now where does this kind of thing generally end? The man with the smallest capital will perhaps be best able to answer the question when he finds it necessary to call a meeting of his creditors, and has to ask them for an extension of time. Depend upon it, it pays to be upon friendly terms with your rivals in business.

COMPROMISES AND INSURANCE.

If a dealer loses his stock by fire at a time when his debts are large, the spirit in which his overtures for a compromise are met will be dependent upon the amount of his insurance and the attitude of the insurance companies concerned. If his insurance is large, and the insurers admit his claim, his prospect of a favorable settlement and a complete discharge is good. If, on the other hand, he has no insurance, or has but a small amount, he will not appear, in the absence of other collateral provision, to have been very solicitous for the interests of his creditors. He accordingly can not expect them to show any great readiness to facilitate his early return to business. Further, as well as showing himself a man rather indifferent to the security of his creditors, he will expose the honesty of his intentions to question. The fire may have been entirely beyond his prevention, but unless there is some party seriously concerned and amply competent to investigate and demonstrate this—as an insurance company—there will be misgivings. By getting himself well insured a dealer gives what in some sense is a guarantee of his honesty. He pays a yearly premium that a portion of the value of his merchandise may be recoverable in case of its being burned. He also puts himself and his business in a position to be thoroughly sifted and searched as to his relation to any fire that may take place. All this has a frank appearance when he makes a proposal to compromise, particularly if the insurance companies are satisfied with the result of their enquiry. The dealer, by insuring sufficiently, not only makes insurance companies his security to his creditors, but makes them the vindicators or the accusers of his honesty.

It is, therefore, not to be wondered at that wholesalers are loath to compromise with a burnt-out man who owes much and is not heavily insured. So much importance does the wholesale grocers' guild attach to a man's insurance that none of its members are allowed to consent to a compromise if the burned stock has not been insured for 60 per cent. of its value. When this condition is not present, the guild regards the dealer as lacking in foresight, shiftless or dishonest. Any of these faults would be enough to incapacitate a man for trade, and the best way to punish a man for having them is to keep him out of trade until he has made good the losses his fault wrought upon others.

CEYLON TEA.

In their recent circular, Messrs. Gow, Wilson & Stanton say : To say that Ceylon depends largely upon the tea industry for its prosperity is merely to state a recognized fact. At the present time there are some 200,000 acres under tea cultivation, of which about 180,000 acres are already in bearing. Up to this year the price obtained was high when compared with teas from other countries, and must have shown a fair margin of profit to the majority of planters. The natural result of this was, systematic extension of tea culture, by which means planters were enabled, while increasing the output, to produce at a lower rate, and thus to some extent to counteract the reduction in price. The year 1889 : Perhaps the first severe shock to the industry occurred during the early months of this year. Increasing quantity led to a serious fall in prices ; and a falling off in quality still further depressed the market, until the average price dropped to a point which gave cause for alarm. During the slack months of May and June, when large arrivals were taking place, the average price fell until, during two suceessive weeks in June it touched 8¾d., and fears were entertained of its falling to a still lower figure. The quality at this time was poor, as is usual at that season of the year. In many quarters it was thought that Ceylon tea was played out, that the soil was exhausted, and that a general collapse of the industry was imminent. Forebodings of dark and gloomy days for the planters were indulged in, and the advisability of cultivating other products was extensively discussed. Happily, as shown below, a very short time sufficed to dissipate these fears. Early in July an improvement began to be noticeable in quality. At this juncture the new season's teas from China commenced to arrive, and, the crop being considered disappointing in quality, buyers quickly turned their attention from these to the then improving Ceylon teas. Having reduced their stocks with the intention of operating in China teas, they became eager purchasers of Ceylon, and speedily and steadily drove the price up until in four months the lower grade of whole leaf tea had advanced about 100 per cent., and all descriptions had participated in the general rise in price. Such a transformation seems incredible, but is none the less true ; an article of produce in a few months increasing 100 per cent. in value without the aid of speculation, and the weekly average price of Ceylon tea rising from 8¾d. to 1s. and 2d. in four months. It is also not a little remarkable that the quality should have continued to improve, until during September and October it was superior to any ever grown in the island—a strange answer to those who argued that soil and climate were against the tea plant, and who prophesied ruin to the industry. It should be also recorded that during November the average price reached a higher figure than it had ever done for two years—viz., 1s. 2½d., the last time it reached this figure being in November, 1887, at which date the quantity was insignificant, compared with the present yield This displacement of China tea has been even more marked during the present season—that is since June 1 last ; the percentages of tea used for home consumption from that date to October 31 being—Indian, 49 ; China, 32 ; and Ceylon, 19 ; that is to say, for every 32 pounds China tea consumed in Great Britain, 19 pounds of Ceylon tea have been used. Quality.—After the above remarks, the importance of maintaining good quality must be evident. If Ceylon tea is to supersede China tea, quality and not quantity must be the aim of every planter. China can always supply us with an unlimited quantity of poor tea. Effect of Recent Depression.—In spite of its gloom, the recent depression has not been without its brighter side. The low prices had the effect of diverting a large quantity of China tea from this country, and even now the exports from China to the United Kingdom are 15 million pounds below last season. In addition to this, advantage was taken of the low price, by some of the largest estate owners, to make experimental consignments of Ceylon tea to numerous foreign markets, and seed was thus sown which is likely to bring forth abundant fruit in years to come. It is especially gratifying to note that a market for Ceylon tea is apparently being established in the large centres of the United States of America, Canada and Australia, and that Russia is now taking the most flavory kinds of Ceylon tea. South Africa and South America appear likely to become gradually markets for Ceylon tea. So many new fields have been tapped that should another depression take place some of these may prove useful in arresting the downward course, and relieving any over-pressure which may temporarily be placed upon London. London should thus become a distributing centre for Ceylon tea, as it has long been for China tea, and now is for Indian tea. Paris Exhibition.—It is satisfactory to know that the representation of Ceylon tea at the Paris Exhibition has resulted in the establishment of several agencies in Paris and the provinces for the sale of Ceylon tea, which is thus finding its way into quarters where it has hitherto been entirely unknown. The Ceylon Planters' American Tea Company, which has been formed during the last few months, starts at a time when its influence may be exercised beneficially in fostering an industry which is at present only in its initial stage. It was only in the early months of this year that a company was formed amongst Indian tea planters for introducing Indian tea into Canada and America ; this will doubtless assist in opening up these fields to Ceylon tea.

INTERESTING TO COMMISSION HOUSES.

A very peculiar case has come to our notice within the past few days, in which a firm consigned a lot of goods to a Montreal commission merchant and drew for three-fourths of its value, the draft being duly honored. Shortly afterwards the market commenced to decline, and the consignee at once sold the goods to protect himself, and returned account sales. The consignors are now suing the Montreal merchant for the difference between the net proceeds of account sales rendered and the amount which they consider the goods should have realized. The result of this suit will be watched with considerable interest by the commission trade of this city, which is a very large and important one. It is contended by a number of our commission houses that when a consignor obtains advances on his shipments to the extent of two-thirds or three-fourths of their value he relinquishes his right to dictate the terms of sale. If it were otherwise, firms advancing money on consignments would have no protection whatever. Still we do not pretend to state what the strict letter of the law is on this point, but we have no doubt that it will be found in accord with the generally recognized custom in all such cases. It would be very hard, indeed unjust, if a commission merchant, after advancing two-thirds or three-fourths of the value of the goods consigned to him was subject to the dictation of the consignor as to when or how they should be sold. We do not hesitate to say that any man who would submit to such terms should never be in business, for in these times, when prices are subject to repeated fluctuations, the holding for higher figures would soon preclude the possibility of realizing the advances made. We hope to be able to chronicle the result of the above dispute before long.—Montreal Trade Bulletin.

BUY FOR CURRENT WANTS.

We believe that experience has demonstrated that the merchant who buys goods only for current wants is the one who, in the long run, makes the most money. There is no necessity now-a-days for the retailer to carry surplus stocks of goods, and when it is done the speculative factor has doubtless been the cause.

With such rapid transportation facilities as almost every part of the country now enjoys, a dealer can replenish his stock in a few days' time, and is thus enabled to have fresh and clean looking goods. We are satisfied that small and frequent orders is the rule with most retailers, and while they may not make much on the rise in price of some article, neither do they lose on a decline.

But it may be said that in buying in larger quantities better prices may be obtained. This is often true ; but is not this advantage frequently overcome by the deterioration in quality, interest on the investment, and a probable decline in price? One might suppose that the decline might be offset by a probable advance ; but observation has shown us that when an advance in the wholesale price takes place the retailer does not at once put up his price in a corresponding ratio. But when a decline comes he is forced, by some competitor, to slap the price down at the first break in the market.

By buying only for current needs there should be no accumulation of odds and ends as invariably accumulate when large lots are bought and sales are dragging. And then the retailer who pursues this policy has great peace of mind. He need not be awake nights worrying over loss by a probable decline, neither does he lie awake to figure probable profits on some anticipated rise. He cares not for these fluctuations, but pursues the even tenor of his way, and as the novelists say, he lives to a good age and dies happy. —St. Louis Grocer.

TRADE-JOURNAL ADVERTISING.

Every special class of advertising medium, says a writer in the Industrial World, has its peculiar advantages. For instance, the daily press most fully embodies the force and value of the principle of reiteration, which is one of the most powerful elements in the work of all progress. Continuity of effort is essential to success in every undertaking. A day's journey on foot is, after all, but a persistent repetition of the first step. Education is line upon line and precept upon precept. Skill of every kind results from doing the same thing over and over until it becomes a species of second nature. Familiarity with any object grows out of a continued reproduction of individual impressions. A principle so important and effectual should not be lost sight of in its bearings upon advertising. A French writer has said that "the reader of a newspaper does not see the first insertion of an ordinary advertisement ; the second insertion he sees but does not read ; the third insertion he reads ; the fourth insertion he looks at the price ; the fifth insertion he speaks of it to his wife ; the sixth insertion he is ready to purchase ; the seventh insertion he purchases." This cogently illustrates the cumulative power of reiteration. Ten lines repeated fifty times in succession yield far more scope, intensity and permanence of impression than five hundred lines printed once. In the former case they operate with all the force of the constant dropping which wears away the stone. In the latter they cause a momentary agitation which subsides the instant after into the accustomed routine of the current.

But the power of quick reiteration in the daily press is subject to the drawback of being an indiscriminate appeal to a miscellaneous assortment of people—to a large aggregate of readers whose promiscuousness is their most obtruderant and most noticeable attribute. It may not be the advertiser's purpose to reach a class so indefinite or general. If it should be his desire to arrest the attention and secure the custom of near-sighted persons, it might happen that out of many thousand patrons of the paper only a few score would be afflicted with that form of optical defect. In that case the advertisement would be wasted so far as the great mass of the readers were concerned. Supposing that he could find a periodical which circulated exclusively among the victims of myopia : that would be the precise medium which would give him the best return for his outlay in money, time and effort. This illustration, changed only in object sought, would conform to a wide range of experiences, and furnish abundant reasons why special advertising should be confined to particularly-adapted mediums. It certainly would not pay to advertise a learned and abstruse work on mathematics in a paper which was read by none but the devotees of imaginative and romantic literature.

Trade journals as means of finding out new customers offer some special advantages to business men. These advantages may be classified as follows :—

1. The trade journal represents to a remarkable degree a community of interrelated and sympathetic interests, bounded by certain industrial limitations, and is restricted by its specialty to a particular range of inquiry and discussion, so that the advertiser is able to determine beforehand with considerable certainty the specific scope of appeal at his service, with its value to him as a vehicle of publicity.

2. The trade journal has for its subscribers and readers an exceptionally intelligent class of persons — men and sometimes women—who have brains as well as culture, solid judgment besides education, making them the cream of the inhabitants of the land ; hence persons ready to consider in the right spirit fresh ideas, new projects, original inventions, useful improvements and radical innovations.

3. The trade journal, in possessing such subscribers and readers, has patrons with a superior measure of purchasing power ; for it is a demonstrated fact that in this country of equal political rights and of equal opportunities the great bulk of the wealth is in the hands of intelligence—ignorance and poverty going together—a fact set forth with emphasis, and made manifest to the eye by a statigraphic map in the census report of 1870.

4. The trade journal, on account of its special field of service, sometimes furnishes a direct approach to capable purchasers, nearly every one of whom may stand in need of the article advertised, which would be much cheaper and far more effective than any appeal to an indiscriminate mass of readers such as that represented by a daily newspaper.

5. The trade journal, particularly of the highest grade, often obtains a reputation as an advertising medium so peculiarly its own that outside parties get in the habit of resorting to its pages as occasion may suggest in order to keep posted about the introduction of new things, or to ascertain if there is any recent improvement which could be used with advantage in their business. No daily print could be depended on to supply that sort of information.

6. The trade journal is not ephemeral like the daily sheet, which is rarely preserved beyond the date of its issue, and which is difficult to find twenty-four hours afterward in the offices of its patrons. Indeed, the trade journal is filed for further reference by some of its subscribers with as much care and regularity as a receipted bill ; hence an advertisement which in any daily paper would have ceased to do service may attract attention again at some accidental moment and become the adventitious means of an order.

7. The trade journal commonly prints in each edition a classified list of advertisements and an alphabetical index to advertisements, thus supplying easy access to every essential detail and saving the interested eye from a painful search through page after page for any business announcement of the desired sort.

These seven advantages do not need the emphasis of comment. They are their own best recommendation, and they touch with much force the pocket nerve of many advertisers.

We have yet to be much impressed with the various methods under which merchants give away articles of more or less value and charge the cost up to advertising account. A clothier in Allegan, Michigan., gave every boy applicant a calliope, and the town was driven frantic with noise. A firm in Holyoke, Mass., gave away 1,000 handkerchiefs, at an expense of $30 or $40 probably. In Bridgeport, Conn., flying-tops were presented to every boy between six and fourteen years old. In Benton Harbor, Mich., a dealer gave a polo cap to every boy who brought him a bouquet of flowers on Saturday morning, the flowers being given to the churches the next day. All these schemes are attractive in a certain way, but there are drawbacks to them which merchants do not generally recognize. If his money is expended in newspaper advertising, the cost of which the public has little idea, the opinion created is that the merchant is an enterprising man and deserves patronage.—American Storekeeper.

PERSISTENT DUNNING.

Delinquent accounts and bad debts, with their prevention and correction, is another subject to which the attention of the Association has been given ; and the mere discussion of this matter has done more to teach the grocer who has taken part in the discussion how to respectfully say "No," or in case the use of that emphatic negative was not immediately desirable, the Association furnished a ready means of getting some information as to the standing of the applicant for the grocers, and the deliquent account has always been a "tale of woe" to the grocer, and it may be said of the account, in the words of a popular song : "And it grew—and it grew—and it grew." In connection with the delinquent account agency, for a year past, two collectors have been kept on the street lookiug after the delinquent debtors ; and the result of their labors is that over $6,000 have been collected in bills, most of which otherwise would have been lost. The secret of this has been found in the persistent dunning by the collectors. When the position of the debtor makes the intervention of the lawyer necessary or advisable, by special arrangement with our attorney the account will be looked after on a basis of percentage payable only in case of success.—From President Yoran's Address to the Philadelphia Grocers' Association.

SUGAR.

The visible supply of sugar, according to M. Licht, as published in Mr. Czarnikow's Circular of 13th inst., shows the following contrast :—

	1889. Tons.	1888. Tons.	1887. Tons.
France - - -	90,384	77,153	100,825
Germany - -	206,838	124,764	169,832
Hamburg - -	23,310	1,000	23,500
Austria - -	110,000	60,000	170,000
Holland - - -	32,130	16,924	31,466
Belgium - -	10,612	27,218	12,361
	463,274	307,059	507,984

We have, therefore, 166,215 tons more this year than at corresponding date last year, and a deficiency of 34,710 tons as against 1887. This season has been exceptionally favorable for taking up the roots early and converting their contents into sugar, and great progress has been made by the several factories in accomplishing the work in hand—so much so that it is generally understood that during the next two months work will be as good as finished. The question then arises, what is thought of M. Licht's estimate of this year's crop being 600,000 tons larger than that of last year? Some allowance must certainly be made that early in October stocks were smaller this year than last—say about 56,993 tons—which had to be replenished out of the new production ; but this is but a small matter where 600,000 tons are concerned, the half of which must by this time be available along with the other half of the whole production. As far as is known no explanation has been offered as far as Germany and Austria are concerned, but if we could possibly apply Mr. D. Winter's explanations as to the position in France, the prospect would indeed be astonishing.

Mr. David Winter, one of the best authorities in Paris, writes under date of December 14th :—

"The official figures of the production to November 30th, issued to-day, are as follows :—

	1889. Tons.	1888. Tons.
Roots worked up - -	4,121,641	3,164,157
Production - - -	329,948	233,316
Indigenous stock - -	147,021	135,384
Increase of stock in November - - -	71,694	54,007

The production will no doubt be larger ; still the above figures show that notwithstanding the large production, the increase in the stocks in November is 10,000 tons less than the increase in the same period last year, in consequence of the large exportation and a very active and increasing consumption.

Later figures—

	Tons.		Tons.
Cane imports	28,000	against	38,000	last y'r.
Consumption of Beet -	123,000	"	119,000	"
Stocks - -	166,000	"	159,000	"

As regards our own position, our supplies of cane sugars are now beginning to diminish, and are likely to continue so for the approaching months, as the arrivals, especially from Java, which used to come in about this time of the year by sailing vessels, have long since gone into stocks or consumption, owing to the employment of steamers instead of sailers.

The market has lately stood the test of another depression, without effecting any considerable change in prices. Beet is sparingly offered, and comparatively well sustained in price.—London (Eng.) Statist.

KEEP YOUR OWN BOOKS.

At the risk of arousing the ire of those who say that those who write for the press should not give advice or tell of useful things which they see, or of which they hear, I am going to give the substance of a conversation with a merchant which I had some time since. He is a successful man, practices what he preaches, and all that he says is therefore worth hearing :

"Most dealers commit the fatal error of allowing those of whom they buy to keep books for them. They attend, indeed, to their accounts with their own patrons very well, and keep them well in hand ; post up regularly, and see that ledger and passbooks agree as to items and amounts.

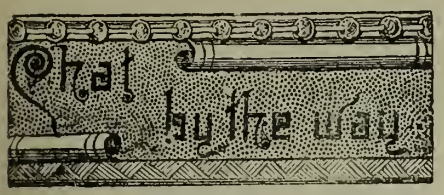
"But I know any number of them who can not tell, without 'hunting over bills,' and figuring, just what they owe any one firm or all the firms with whom they deal. Invoices are opened, thrown into a heap, and the heap allowed to lie until the statements come in.

"It is the cause of many losses to retailers, this slipshod way of doing business. All houses are not scrupulously honest, and with those that are, mistakes are frequent, and occur with every account. Men have frequently paid accounts more than once on account of a lack of system which would tell them at once just what their liabilities were. On the other hand, I could name a house in New York City which would have lost $190 in two accounts had not the dealer who owed it been a scrupulous bookkeeper and pointed out their error to them.

"There is but one way to do these things, and it is not at all hard. Simply get a three or four quire (small) ledger ; open accounts with every one with whom you deal, and credit each account with the amount of the invoice at the date of its receipt. When the account is paid, debit the same account with the amount paid. This is simple, easy and satisfactory. No one should neglect to have such a book."

"To complete the system absolutely, buy an 'invoice book' with pockets, all lettered, (and you can buy them for thirty-five cents), and file all your bills where you can at once lay your hands on them.

"In this way you will have a system that will show you a bill at any moment, and will tell you just what are your liabilities in fifteen minutes.



'It is worth while taking a little trouble to know this, and further than that, it is the way to do ; will help your credit and make you have more confidence in yourself."

I don't know that any of my readers are guilty of throwing their bills in a heap and sorting them out afterwards by guess, but if there are any such, it isn't too late yet in the New Year to begin a solid attempt at reform. The interview given above will repay perusal.—Patterson in New Jersey Trade Review.

The cost of advertising is based on the space to be occupied, and is fixed wholly by publishers. It follows that the advertiser who uses skill, care and intelligent attention to all the details will secure many advantages over one that is inexperienced, skilled work costing the same as work without skill, so that the best work is not only the cheapest, but there is no other occupation that so forcibly illustrates its many advantages.—J. W. Thompson.

Grocer—What noise is that in the cellar, John?

Boy (after an inspection)—It's only the vinegar singing "No One Cares for Mother Now."—Time.

P. W. Bell & Co's. store in Orillia was burnt last week. It was insured for $9,000.

In our trade notes last week we located the firm of Fish & Nichol, egg and butter dealers, in Berlin. It should have read Waterloo.

In the fire which swept a portion of King st., Cobourg, last week, Mr. Louis Woodcock's grocery was destroyed. It was insured for $3,000 and was worth $5,000.

The youth, Wm. Henderson, who robbed the grocery store of Mr. Dunfee, Port Hope, was sentenced by the police magistrate to pay a fine of $5, or serve 30 days in gaol.

Influenza got its (grip) on Mr. Reith, of Claremont. He was making sure of his GROCER coming this year by renewing his subscription, he having called on us this week. We wish you speedy recovery, Mr. Reith.

Among the free imports from Detroit last week, as reported to the Windsor custom house, was a quantity of ice. It will held to be somewhat remarkable that ice was imported into Canada from the United States in the latter half of January.

W. P. Clay is one of Galt's busy grocery men, and this is as it should be, as Mr. Clay had the misfortune about a year ago to lose nearly all he had by fire, but the large stock and large attendance at his store daily is a sure indication of recovery and future prospect in his business.

Messrs. J. & R. Elliott, soap and candle manufacturers, Galt, claim to make a brand of soap that, being analized, proves to be the purest sample of soap, but one, in the world. The prices are in accordance with the quality, but that should have little or no effect on the sale with those who want to handle a pure article.

Morris Ryan, the young man captured on Saturday, a week ago, as the perpetrator of the robberies at Robert P. Leask's house and the gift tea store on James street, Hamilton, and who pleaded guilty to both charges at the Police Court on Monday morning, was brought up for sentence on Friday. The magistrate sentenced him to four years in Kingston.

Mr. T. W. Smythe, Chatham, has been manager of a grocery store for Mr. J. Waddell the past three years, and under his management it has proved a perfect success, Mr. Waddell having sold out his other store and retained this success. Mr. Smythe was in the grocery business in London six years before coming to this country. He certainly knows how to run a grocery store.

A firm of boot-makers, says the Waverly Magazine, have hit on a novelty in the advertising line which must possess attraction for snobs. They announce "best boots and shoes, made on selected lasts of the following gentlemen, perfect feet only having been chosen for stock models." Then follows a list of the owners of these perfect feet in assorted sizes, including a distinguished collection of eminent names.

In the House of Commons the other day Mr. Small, member for East Toronto, asked whether it was the intention of the Government during the present session to amend the Inland Revenue Act in so far as it relates to the sale of tobacco. Hon. Mr. Costigan—The subject is being considered with a view to meeting the wishes of the trade, if it can be done without prejudice to the revenue.

W. T. Hunt, Amherstburg, has made extensive improvements in his store lately, extending it thirty-five feet on Cave street, which give much needed room for his increasive trade. Mr. Hunt says he is well pleased with THE GROCER. He takes an interest in the butter question. He grades all the butter he buys and has a home trade for it all. He supplies river boats in summer. Fresh eggs are abundant with him just now.

It is not at all improbable that vigorous efforts will be made this session to secure the re-imposition of duties on small fruits and vegetables. The members representing the fruit-growing districts of Nova Scotia, chiefly the Annapolis valley, are moving in the matter, and they will doubtless receive hearty co-operation from the representatives of the Niagara, Hamilton and Toronto districts. It is understood that a large delegation will interview the Ministers of Customs and Finance on the subject at an early date, and the question will also be discussed at the forthcoming Dominion Fruit Growers' convention.

New oats, new wheats, new potatoes, new plants and bulbs, are offered in the 1890 catalogue of The Steele Bros. Co., Toronto. No need to send to the U. S. for seeds when such a work is issued here, for it beats them all. It is the largest, the handsomest, the most modern, and fullest in matter and illustrations of any we have yet seen. Canadians should be proud of a firm of such enterprise, energy and high standing. They offer the Banner oats, that yielded 96 bush. per acre in York county; nine new varieties of potatoes; new clovers for the North-West, etc. The catalogue is priced at 20c., which may be deducted from first orders sent in, or they will send 1 lb. of Banner oats by mail prepaid, or 5 packets of vegetable or flower seeds and catalogue included for a remittance of 25c. It will pay every amateur, gardener, florist and farmer to send for it.

The Merchants' Tea Co., which for some days did a roaring trade on James street, Hamilton, by selling packages of tea in which articles of jewellery were placed, made a mysterious flit on Thursday night, and the place that knew it knows it no more The fact that the manager of the company had been served with a summons to appear at the Police Court to answer to a charge under the Lotteries Act may possibly account for the sudden flight. At all events at eight o'clock the clerks were selling tea as usual, and at ten o'clock the place was in darkness and the shelves stripped of their load of Pekoe and Souchong and other tempting teas. In the Police Court Mr. Carscallen, Q.C., appeared for the company and pleaded guilty to the charge preferred. The defendant did not appear, but the magistrate fined him $20, which Mr. Carscallen at once paid.

At a general meeting of the Toronto Board of Trade last week, Mr. John I. Davidson, of Davidson & Hay, wholesale grocers, was elected President by acclamation. In nominating him, Mr. Henry W. Darling said that Mr. Davidson, had performed the duties of his office as vice-president efficiently. He had been a member of the council during 1886 and 1887, was elected second vice-president in 1888 and had occupied the post of first vice-president during the past year. Mr. Davidson had also been chairman of the building committee, and in that office had performed perhaps as important duties as any member of the board. Mr. Davidson had further the especial qualification of being able to secure the generous and general support, when occasion required, of all the members of the board. For first vice-president Messrs. H. N. Bair and W. R. Brook were nominated. For second vice-president Messrs. Hugh Blain, of Blain & Eby, was elected by acclamation.

Mr. Marshall gave notice in the House of a resolution to the effect that in consequence of the large importation into Canada annually of fresh beef, mess and salt pork or bacon, it is expedient in the interest of the farmers of this country that the duty on such should be increased. The question was the subject of a speech by Mr. Wood, of Westmoreland, N. B. It appears that in the Maritime Provinces the meat imports are growing very fast. In 1880, 364,000 pounds of beef were brought in ; in 1886, 1,172,000 pounds ; in 1887, 2,000,000 pounds ; in 1888, 3,210,000 pounds. These increases are attributable to some extent to discriminatory railway rates. It seems that ra lways carry beef from Chicago to St. John at about the same rate as is charged for the carriage from local points in the Maritime Provinces, say 150 miles distant, to the same destination. This discrimination strikes at the farmer and neutralizes the protective duty. Mr. Wood demands that the duty be doubled.

The measure promised in the speech from the throne to improve the Adulteration Act is now before the House. The leading feature of the projected statute is the infliction of penalties or charges to cover the cost of analysis upon the person whose goods on examination are found to be adulterated. Any sample that is not adulterated is analyzed free, but for each sample that is adulterated the owner or vendor will pay into the treasury according to the following scale :—For milk, $8 ; for bread, sweets, and any other articles not mentioned, $9 ; for butter, cheese, malt liquors, cider, wines, alcoholic liquors, tinctures, liqueurs, condiments, spices, drugs, oils, fats, proprietary medicines, infants' and invalids' foods, condensed milk, and fertilizers, $12 ; for tea, coffee, tobacco, cocoa, chocolate, opium, pharmaceutical liquors, fluid extracts, dispensed medicines, and waters, $14. The charges, however, are to be collected in the discretion of the Minister. Should the vendor refuse to pay on demand legal proceedings can be instituted against him.

The death of Public School Trustee Geo. Downard was learned on Tuesday in all circles in the city with general regret. The melancholy and sudden event was brought about by an attack of pneumonia. Mr. Downard had been ill for a week, having contracted a cold which gradually had more serious developments. Mr. Downard was known all over the city, but particularly in the west end, where he carried on an extensive grocery business. He was first elected to the Public School Board in 1885. He was a prominent member of the Orange organization, having occupied for the past year the position of District Master of West Toronto. He was also a prominent Mason, a member of St. George's Lodge and of the Royal Arcanum Home Circle and Sons of Ireland benefit societies. He was a highly respected and influential officer of the Board of the Euclid avenue Methodist church. Mr. Downard, who was born in the town of Clones, Monaghan, Ireland, was in his 38th year. He had been a prominent figure in public life in the city from his earlier manhood. Upon the annexation of Parkdale to Toronto he was appointed tax assessesor for the new ward, which position he continued to occupy up to the time of his death. He held the position of captain in the 12th York Rangers. He leaves a wife and six children, the former being a sister of Mr. J. J. Vaughan, chief constable of Brantford.

ADVICE TO THE OFFICE-BOY.

My boy, you're soon to be a man.
Get ready for a man's work now,
And learn to do the best you can
When sweat is brought to arm and brow.
Don't be afraid, my boy, to work;
You've got to if you mean to win.
He's a coward who will shirk.
Roll up your sleeves and then "go in."
Don't wait for chances; look about;
There's always something you can do.
He who will manfully strike out
Finds labor—plenty of it, too.
But he who folds his hands and waits
For "something to turn up" will find
The toiler passes fortune's gates,
While he, alas ! is left behind.
Be honest as the day is long,
Don't grind the poor man for his cent;
In helping others you grow strong,
And kind deeds done are only lent.
And this remember if you're wise,
To your own business be confined.
He is a fool and fails who tries
His fellow-men's affairs to mind.
Don't be discouraged and get blue
If things don't go to suit you quite.
Work on. Perhaps it rests with you
To set the wrong that worries right.
Don't lean on others. Be a man !
Stand on a footing of your own.
Be independent if you can
And cultivate a sound backbone.

TO AMEND THE COMBINES ACT

Mr. Wallace, M.P., will introduce a bill in the House of Commons to amend the Combines Act of last session, his desire being to have the Act placed on the statute book in the form that it passed the committee on banking and commerce. It will be remembered that the Senate last year greatly weakened the effect of the bill by the insertion of the sub-sections, so that the declaration in the clause reads, "any person who unduly restrains or limits competition by combinations," etc. Mr. Wallace also proposes to strike out the clause empowering an appeal from any judgment. Speaking of the Act itself, Mr. Wallace said there was no doubt whatever that the combines had been scared by its passage. For instance, the wholesale grocers formerly issued a weekly circular giving the scale of prices for the following week, but they dare not risk the publication of such circulars now, and send the information round to members of the association by word of mouth. We presume that Mr. Wallace refers to the sugar price list. If so, he is misinformed, for this circular is sent out every week by the secretary.

READ THE FOLLOWING PLANS

For advertising, and then don't do it that way. Have your card in the hotel register by all means. Strangers stopping at a hotel for a night generally buy a cigar or two before they leave town. Print in the blackest ink a great sprawling card on all wrapping paper. Ladies returning from a shopping tour like to be walking bulletins, and if the ink rubs off and spoils some of their finery, no matter. If an advertising canvasser wants your business advertised in a fancy frame at the depot, pay him about 200 per cent. more than it is worth, and let him it put up in there. When a man has three-quarters of a second in which to catch a train he invariably stops to read depot advertisements. Don't fail to advertise in every circus programme. It will help the circus to pay its bills. A boy with a big placard on a pole is an interesting object on the street, and lends a dignified air to your establishment. Advertise in a calendar. People never look at a calendar. People never look at a calendar to see what day of the month it is. They merely glance hurriedly at it so as to be sure that your name is not spelled without a p.—Moberly Monitor.

It is easy to show that a 3-inch advertisement by the year will cost much less per thousand for its circulation than any method of distributing circulars. If a tradesman could get his circulars free, he could not get them before the public for twice the price that his advertisement costs him. Circulars have their use, and this is no argument against their value, but a simple comparison showing the extraordinary advantage which the newspaper affords the advertiser. - Rome Sentinel.

TORONTO, JAN. 30, 1890.

GROCERIES.

Business has improved this week very much on the past few weeks. In fact this has been the most active week since the holidays. This has been caused by the better roads in the country enabling farmers to come out. Payments are still dull, but country merchants report large deliveries of grain, and in consequence they anticipate an improvement in payments in the near future.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been a fair demand for fruits and vegetables at firm prices. Packers, however, have done very little. About a car of assorted goods has been placed here this week at full prices. Fish have ruled unchanged, with a continued easy feeling in salmon.

COFFEES.

Rio coffees have been more active and prices firmer. Small lots are selling here at 20c. to 22c. Mild grades steady and unchanged.

DRIED FRUITS.

Currants are quiet and unchanged in spot but cables are firmer, while New York has advanced slightly. Dates and figs are dull at quotations ; a few small lots of natural figs in bags have sold at 4¾c. to 5c. here. Prunes are in good demand, sales of hogsheads have been made at 4¼c. to 4½c. and in cases at 6c. to 8c., as to letter ; cables are firm and in some instances higher. Valencia raisins continue the strong feature of the market ; the demand, however, is dull and sales are being made at 7c. to 7¼c. In lots 7c. is asked for prime off-stalk. Sultanas are dull but firm at 9½c. to 10½c. Demand for Malagas is light. London layers are held at $3 to $3.25 ; blue baskets at $4.75 to $5, and black baskets at $3.75 to $4.

NUTS.

Dull and unchanged. Demand light.

SUGAR.

Sugars are dull. Locally they are unsettled. New York has declined another ⅛c., and buyers here expect a similar concession from refiners, but the latter say they are now losing money and are asking full figures. The drop in New York was not a surprise, but was expected. The market is now approaching what must be a safe basis for purchases, as it is now as low as at any time last year. Yellows are selling mostly at 5¼c. up, but some times at 5⅛c. Granulated unchanged. It is doubtful whether there will be a reduction in prices this week unless there is a further drop in New York. In outside market the policy seems to be a conservative one.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Market is fairly active with prices steady.

TEAS

Are the most active feature in the market. Some very satisfactory sales have been made of assorted lots. The market is simply a reaction from the long continued dullness. Dealers are now replenishing what are now and have been very light stocks, as at no time in some years have retailers generally held such light stocks.

In Indian teas the local demand continues slight. In London there has been a good tone generally, with brisk competition for all useful parcels. Pekoes at from 9d. to 1s. 1d., Pekoe Souchongs at from 7d. to 9d., and Pekoe fannings at from 8d. to 1s., receiving special attention. The strongest demand is for Pekoe souchongs and rates are ¼d. to ½d. above those ruling in middle of December. The cheapest teas just now are medium Pekoes, but with the prospect of prices generally tending upwards on account of Pekoe souchongs becoming too dear. The selling brokers have arranged to limit the offerings of Indian tea during this month to 35,000 packages per week. This is the first step toward preventing the periodical glutting of the market, and will tend to steady prices. In Ceylons there is a fair local enquiry. In London the quantity brought forward, although large, was not too great to meet the demand. Competition was good and the market firm.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The butter market is rather dull. Good dairy tubs bring 15c. to 17c. per lb., and store-packed is worth 10c. to 13c. Creamery-packed is down to 22c. and 24c. Large rolls go from 12½c. to 15c., with much bought between these prices. Pound rolls run from 18c. to 22c. There is a falling off noticeable in the supply of the latter since last week, and an increase in large rolls.

Cheese of the June and early July make is 8½c. to 9½c. The early autumn make is still 10½c. to 11c.

SALT.

The salt market for this week is very active. The syndicate has advanced barrel salt 5c. and sack 5c. The following are the prices reported for the week by the Toronto salt works :—Six cars barrel salt at $1.32 ; 1 car sack at 68c. ; 2 cars dairy in sacks at $1.20. Small quantities have sold at $1.45 for bbls., 85c. for sacks, $1.50 for dairy and 45c. for quarter-sacks dairy.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

APPLES—There is no improvement in the tone of the market. Better weather will probably revive business, but at present there is little disposition on the part of either buyers or sellers to deal. They remain $1.50 to $2.50 for car lots, and $2.50 to $2.75 in store lots.

BEANS—Are worth $1.75 in small lots, and $1.60 to $1.65 in large quantities.

DRIED APPLES—Continue to go very slowly into consumption at 5c. to 5¼c. in large orders, and 5½c. to 6c. in lots of a few pounds' weight.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Are 9c. to 10c., the latter being the price for the new crop. There is only a light business done yet.

EGGS—For limed there is scarcely any call, the market now being well stocked with fresh ones. Native and American limed are down to 14c., and are infirm at that. Fresh in cased lots are 17c. to 18c., and new-laid in small lots are 21c. to 22c.

GAME—Rabbits interest but few consumers now. They will presently be neglected entirely. They are down to 15c. per pair. Pigeons are 20c. to 25c. The game season is about closed.

HAY.—No. 1, pressed on track, is $10 to $10.50 ; loose, on street, is $11 to $13. No. 2, pressed, is $8 ; loose, is $7 to $10. The supply varies little, week after week.

HIDES.—Dullness continues. Cured are 4¾c., and green are, for No. 1, 4c., for No. 2, 3c., for No. 3, 2c.

HONEY.—Prices maintain the regular course they have run since the market was established. Good clear is 11½ to 13c., and honey in the comb is 17c. to 19c.

HOPS.—Yearlings are 8c. to 11c., and new are 12c. to 14c.

OATS—Are worth 29c. on the track, and 28c. to 30c. on the street. There is a steady supply.

ONIONS—Are $1.60 to $1.80. Business is quiet, but consumption goes on.

POTATOES—Have gone down a few cents since last report. They are now at 50c. to 53c. in car lots. Not many are offering. In store lots they are worth 65c. to 70c.

POULTRY.—Geese are 7c. to 8c., turkeys 10c. to 12c., ducks 50c. to 90c. per pair, and chickens 30c. to 60c. per pair.

SEEDS.—The prices reported last week as those paid by wholesalers, remain unchanged. The bad roads in the country have kept farmers from the local market. Wholesale seedsmen pay $3.50 to $3.75 for red clover, $4.50 to $5.50 for alsike, and $1.25 to $1.50 for timothy.

SKINS.—No. 1 calf are 6c., and No. 2 are 5c. Sheepskins are $1.10 to $1.25.

STRAW—Is $6.50 tight pressed in car loads, $5 to $6 loose, and $7 to $8 in sheaves. Only good oat is wanted.

TALLOW—Is worth 1¼c. to 2c., rough, and 5c. to 5¼c., rendered.

WOOL—Is 22c. to 24c. in the fleece. Pulled wool is 24c. for lowest grade, 25c. for superfine, and 30c. for extra-superfine.

CRANBERRIES.

Very few dealers have any. The prices grow stiffer. They are $14 to $15 per bbl., and $4.50 per crate.

FISH.

The market is not yet opened. Prices are : whitefish 7c. per lb., salmon trout 7½c., salted sea salmon $12 per bbl., fresh cod 5c. per lb., steak cod 6c., haddock 5c. to 5½c., Labrador herring $5 to $5.50 per bbl., and $3.25 to $3.75 per half bbl., shore herring $4 per bbl., and $2.25 per half bbl., boneless cod 6c. to 8c. per lb., boneless fish 6c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Valencia oranges are $5 per box and firm at that figure. Florida russets are $4, and fancy brights are $4.50. Messinas are $3. California navels are $6.50. Palermo lemons are $5.50 to $6.50, in 300's, and all the way from $3 to $5, in 360's. Messina lemons are $5.50 to $6.50, in 300's, and $4 to $5, in 360's. Malaga grapes are all but out of stock. They are $9 to $10 a keg. Sweet potatoes DRESSED HOGS—Heavy are worth $5 to $5.30, medium are $5.20 to $5.50, and selected light weights are $5.50 to $5.75. For the latter butchers are paying $6.

DRY GOODS.

The condition of the dry goods trade has not been materially altered since we last reported. The improvement in the weather will no doubt be accompanied by a better feeling on the part of buyers. In the meantime, prices are steady, business is no worse, and a general spirit of caution, maintained throughout the season, has tided the trade over a great part of the dull period. One failure in this city, that of Tait, Burch & Co., was undoubtedly owing, however, to the depressed condition of trade.

Newspaper advertising may be compared to a vigilant and watchful salesman, who goes after business early and late, who accosts the lawyer in his office, the student in his study, the retired man of wealth at the family fireside, who can be in a thousand places at once and address a million people each day, saying only the right thing in the right place and at the right time.—J. W. Thompson.

MONTREAL

MONTREAL MARKETS.

JANUARY 30, 1890.

GROCERIES.

The continued cold weather has not improved business so far, but has had a stimulating effect on trade, a general business being done all round. Payments may be considered fair. The business of last year commenced about the first of January. February being exceedingly dull, this year it will be vice versa from present indications.

SUGAR.

There is nothing new to report in sugars. Prices of last week have been maintained. Only a small volume of trade been done the past week. Quotations are: Granulated, 7c. to 7¼; Yellows, 5c. to 5½.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Business has been a shade better than last week. Fair stock on hand. Prices of last week have been well maintained, viz: medium, 50c. per gal.; light, 60 to 70c. Molasses unchanged at the following prices: Barbadoes, hhds, 46c. to 47½c.; bbls., 51c. Porto Rico, 41c.; Antigua, 39c. to 40c.

TEAS.

Trade continues quiet in teas, enquiries being wholly for medium grades, or teas that would retail at about 25c. per lb. This is owing, no doubt, to the hard times, and also to the fact that teas, or what they call tea, are now being handled by large numbers of dry goods merchants and others—or perhaps "fakers" would be a better word to call them—in our large towns and cities. The following from the Trade Bulletin is a summary of the whole thing: "The tea trade of Montreal is dullenough in all conscience, without its being thrown into a state of utter demoralization by dry goods merchants and others interfering with the business who know nothing whatever about the department. It is these outsiders, who are continually opening up speculative sideshows, who work a great deal of the mischief that business is heir to in these days of severe competition. It is bad enough to have teas of a bankrupt estate offering around to the trade at about 3c. to 4c. per lb. under actual market values without having the trouble intensified by interlopers jumping in who are wholly incompetent to judge the quality of the goods they sell, and are thus liable to unhinge the whole tea trade of the country by disturbing values and otherwise upsetting the even tenor of ligitimate trade. Our readers have recently been made aware of the frightful condition into which the dry goods trade has been plunged, but we never dreamed that it was so bad as to compel respectable dry goods houses to open up tea side shows."

Dealers would find it greatly to their advantage to handle higher grades.

COFFEE.

Market remains at unchanged prices. Moca, 28 to 30. Java 24 to 29c. Jamaica 18 to 22c. Rio 19 to 20c. Plantation Ceylon 19 to 24c. Marcabo 18 to 22½c.

DRIED FRUIT.

Business is fairly good for this season of the year, being always quiet after the holiday season. The brisk demand for Valencia raisins and currants still continues. Prices unchanged. Quotations are: London layers, $3 to $3.25. Sultanas are quoted 8½ to 12c., lower grades of which are very poor stock. Currants 5½ to 6c. for Provincials, and Vostizza up to 7c. to 7½ for choice cases. Prunes range from 5c. to 7½c. Eleme figs, 9c. to 11c. Malaga figs, 5c. to 6c. Dried apples, 7c. Evaporated apples, by car load, 9c. to 10c. Layer Valencias 8¼c. Valencias are quoted at 6⅞ to 7c.

NUTS.

Trade continues moderate at steady prices. Tarragona almonds, 14c. to 15c. Ivica, 12½ to 13c. Ordinary French walnuts, 10c. to 11c Grenobles, 14c. to 16c. Filberts scarce at 9½c. to 10c. for Sicily. Brazil nuts 9 to 12c.

CANNED GOODS.

We might say that trade has been a little better for the past few days than for some weeks, although hardly worth mentioning. Prices continue very firm at unchanged prices. The market here has been pretty well cleared of old pack tomatoes and corn. As far as can be judged, packers only hold about 3,000 cases of tomatoes. Corn firm. Peas scarce. Following are association prices : Corn, $1.20 ; marrowfat peas, $1.15; sweet peas, $1.25 ; tomatoes, $1.20 ; stringless beans, 85c.; butter beans, 90c.; apples, 3 lb., $1.05 ; per gal., $2.35. Canned fruits are fairly active. Strawberries are scarce and have advanced. Quotations : Pine apples, $2.25 to $2.40 ; strawberries, $2.35 to $2.50 ; peaches, $2.15 to $2.25 ; plumbs, $1.75 to $2.00 ; pears, $2.00 to $2.10. Canned fish has become quite active. Lobsters scarce at $6.80 per case ; offers have been made in Halifax at $7.50 per case and refused. Mackerel very scarce at $6 per case. Salmon at $1.67 to $1.70 is now taking the place of mackerel, owing to the scarcity and high price of the latter. Sardines are now moving pretty freely at the advanced prices, viz., $8 to $10.

FISH.

The demand for fish becomes larger as Lent approaches, especially in green cod and Labrador herring, stocks of the former being entirely bought up. The demand for Labrador continues good, and round lots of low grades have been sold at $3.75, while better lots are bringing $4.00 to $4.25, with half barrels at $2.50. Newfoundland shore herring are at $3.50, and Cape Breton at $4.50. The demand for green cod the past few days has beeu quite large, causing an advance in prices. Almost all the stocks here have been bought up. Quotations are : No. 1 large, $6.25 ; No. 1, $5.50. with haddock at $4.50 to $5. British Columbia salmon remains steady at $11 per barrel. Sea trout, $9. Dry cod, $4 to $4.50. Lake trout, $4.25. White fish, $5.50 per half barrel. Salt water eels, 6½c. per lb. Smoked herring, 11c. to 13c. per box.

There has been a continued good demand for fresh frozen fish, and all the receipts, which have been fair, have been well absorbed. Transactions have been effected readily at 3½c. per lb. for cod and 3¼c. for haddock, while herring have sold well at $1.50 per 100 count for ordinary stock. Tommy cods have been in demand and steady at $1.00 to $1.25. Smelts have sold at 5 to 6c. per lb., and white fish at 6 to 7c. per lb. Hand-picked Malpecque oysters, $2.50 per barrel. Lake trout, 7 to 7½c.; brook trout, 7c.

The trade in dried fish fair. Quotations : —St. John bloaters, 90c. to $1 per box ; Yarmouth, $1.25 to $1.35. Finan Haddies, very firm, stocks light, 6½c. to 7½c.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

Flour—In flour the feeling is steady and prices are fairly well maintained all round. Business rules quiet and of a jobbing character, owing to the fact that buyers are only taking sufficient for actual wants. We quote : —Patent winter, $5 to $5.20 ; patent spring, $5 to $5.20 ; straight roller, $4.50 to $4.65 ; extra, $4 to $4.20 ; superfine, $3.10 to $3.90 ; city strong bakers', $4.80 to $4.90 ; strong bakers', $4.65 to $4.80 ; strong bakers' bags, $2.40 to $2.50 ; superfine bags, $1.50 to $1.90 ; extra bags, $2 to $2.10. Oatmeal standard, $3.60 to $3.70 ; granulated, $3.50 to $4 ; oats, $3.80 to $4.25.

PRODUCE AND PROVISIONS.

PROVISIONS—The demand for pork and lard was limited, and the market was quiet and steady at the recent decline in prices. For hams and bacon there has been a fair enquiry at steady prices. Green meats have also met with a steady demand. We quote :—Western short cut pork, $12.75 ; mess, $13 ; Canadian short cut, $13.50 to $14. Western (Armours and Fairbanks), $1.60 to $1.62½ per pail. Cases (Armours and Fairbanks), 8⅛c. to 8¼c. per lb. Canadian lard, $1.60.

EGGS—There has been no change in the egg market, business having continued quiet owing to the limited demand, and few sales were made outside of small lots. We quote: —Strictly fresh, 20c.; Montreal limed, 14c. to 16c.; held fresh, 12c. to 15c., and western limed, 11c. to 12c. per doz.

BUTTER—The butter market was quiet and steady. The demand from local buyers is principally for choice creamery, which is scarce, and any lots offering are quikly picked up at outside prices. In low grades business is dull and will likely continue so until buyers work off their present stock. We quote :—Creamery, autumn made, 21c. to 23c.; do, medium, 17c. to 20c.; Townships, autumn made, 18c. to 20c.; straight dairy, 14c. to 16c.; Morrisburg and Brockville, autumn made, 16c. to 18c.; do, straight dairy, 13c. to 15c.; Western, choice, 14c. to 15c.; do, inferior, 11c. to 13c.; Morrisburg roll in baskets, 14c. to 16c.; barrels and boxes, 13c. to 14c.

CHEESE The situation of the cheese market is unchanged, it being dull and uninteresting, with little or no business doing. We quote :—Finest September and October, 10¼c. to 10½c.; fine stock, 9½c. to 10c.; earlier makes, 9c. to 9¼c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Turner, Rose & Co. have just received a fresh supply of the well known Sterling brand of canned corn, which they are now offering at a low figure.

We are in receipt of a very handsome calendar from the press of the Sabiston Lithographing and Publishing Co. of this city. The work is perfection.

S. Davis & Sons, one of the largest cigar manufacturers in Canada, with their usual thoughtfulness, favored THE GROCER with a sample of their latest lithographic advertising cards.

T. A. Morrison & Co., manufacturers' agents, Montreal, have secured the sole agency for Canada for Harrison & Crosfield, London, one of the oldest tea houses in England. These teas, in the hands of Mr. Morrison, who is pushing and enterprising, ought to find favor with the trade.

Mr. Alex. Third, of Huntington, probably one of the best known grocery travellers in Lower Canada, and late with Turner, Rose & Co., of this city, has gone over to Coverhill, Hughes & Co., and will represent them in the Huntington district and the Lower Ottawa.

THE CROCER had the pleasure of a call from Mr. E. Bowron, of Joseph Travers & Sons (Ltd.) of London, one of the oldest grocery houses in England, being established in 1787. Mr. Bowron intends visiting all the principal cities of Canada, in the interests of his firm, who intend to open branches of their business in this country.

Unlike daily papers and general periodicals, this paper places advertisements before the eyes of just that portion of the industries most calculated to avail themselves of the announcements therein, and, therefore is of more value to the Trade than any paper published in this or other worlds. Manufacturers and wholesalers please take note of this, and then act accordingly. It is the only paper in Canada that reaches this trade direct.

We are in receipt of one of the handiest things seen for some time. It is issued and patented by H. N. Bate & Sons, wholesale grocers, of Ottawa. It is in the shape of an order book and calendar combined. On the cover is a pocket containing a number of addressed envelopes, and also a list of all goods handled by them from which to order. Inside are a large number of order blanks. They are sent free to their customers and friends.

Heretofore the sale of prepared soups in Canada has been confined entirely to that of one maker, for the simple reason that no other has been offered to the trade. Prepared articles of diet, such as canned vegetables, canned meats and prepared soups, are coming into general use more and more every day over the whole world. The machine that saves labor, time and money is the machine that is worth working in every manufactory at the present time. The same with articles of diet. The preparation that can be prepared in the shortest possible time, with the least labor and least cost, is the one that will be found in the hands of every first-class housekeeper. The soup that combines all these excellent qualities is known as Huckins' Soups, manufactured by J. H. W. Huckins & Co., of Boston, Mass. This firm was established in 1855 for the manufacture of these goods. The unexcelled quality of these soups soon won them a name and now they are in the hands of every grocer and housekeeper in the United States. Not content with their American trade, they are after the Canadian also, and as a first move to their success they have appointed Leonard H. Dobbin, 41 St. Francois Xavier street, well known to the Canadian grocery trade, as their sole agent for the Dominion, who will be happy to forward circulars and all information. These goods are also for sale by all wholesale grocers.

"AT HOME."

Toronto Grocers have a Brilliant and Successful Gathering.

One of the most enjoyab'e and successful social events of this whole season was the second annual "At Home" of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association. It was held, as most of our readers know (for affairs of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association are watched as carefully over the entire Dominion, from Vancouver in the west to Halifax in the east, as they are in Toronto), in Harry Webb's assembly rooms, on Monday evening. The gathering was a larger one than was generally anticipated. In fact there was not a vacant chair in the room, and quite a number of gentlemen were standing. Had any great effort been made to rush the sale of tickets, Harry Webb's spacious apartments would not have held nearly all who would have been present. We have since heard several complaints made by people who would have liked to be present, that no opportunity was given them to purchase tickets, and some knew nothing of the affair until it was over. No fault, however, can be found with the committee, for they did their very best to bring the affair under the notice of all the trade. To give a complete list of those present would be an impossibility, as names were not given on invitation cards, while it would be perhaps not fair to give only a partial list. It is only necessary to say that with few exceptions all the leading retail grocers in the city, with their wives, daughters and fair ones, were there. Of the absentees, one was especially regretted. That was Mr. D. W. Clark. He was one of those who originated the idea of an "at home," and who has always been an indefatigable worker for the Association. The recent death of his brother-in-law, Mr. A. M. Sinclair, also a member of the Association, prevented his attendance. His Worship, Mayor Clarke, had accepted the invitation on behalf of himself and Mrs. Clarke, but was unable to be present through illness. Another gentleman whom the Association would have liked to see there was Mr. Adam Ballentine, of Hamilton, that they might have an opportunity of recognizing in some way his kindness to the executive committee when they were in Hamilton attending the Business Men's Association. Mr. Ballentine had not sufficiently recovered from an attack of influenza to come down. He wrote the secretary as follows :—

J. F. THACKRAY, Sec'y, R G. A., Toronto.

DEAR SIR,—I very much regret to inform you that I have not recovered sufficiently since accepting your very kind invitation to be present with you at your "At Home" on Monday evening. You will please convey my thanks to all the members of your Association for their kind remembrance of me. I sincerely hope your entertainment may prove a very beneficial event (which I have no doubt it will) both socially and financially and also assist in uniting all the Retail Grocers in bonds of friendship which is one of the most important objects under the present state of affairs. Wishing you and your wives and families a happy time and prosperous year.

I remain,
Yours respectfully,
ADAM BALLENTINE.

P.S.—I prize very much the trio of your Association in the CANADIAN GROCER of the 10th inst. I think this Journal is doing a noble work for the retail merchants. I hope it may long continue to do so and not in a short time go over to the wholesale trade and leave us out in the cold.

I look as anxiously for its weekly arrival as I do for the largest monthly account I have on my books. Yours, A. B.

The wholesale and manufacturing trade were well represented. There might, however, have been a greater number of wholesale grocers present, although a good many of them are confined to their houses with the influenza. The best represented trade was the produce and provision. A member of every firm in the city but two was there.

The president, Mr. Robert Mills, took the chair shortly after eight o'clock, and by way of introduction spoke as follows :—

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN :

I am glad to welcome you to this, the Toronto Retail Grocers' Second Annual "At Home." You all know that it is customary for associations, after the election of their office bearers, to have some sort of social gathering, and we have not departed from that custom. We have sometimes had a dinner, but last year we held an "At Home" to which we invited the ladies. Whether it is because we are paying more heed to the old declaration, "It is not good for man to be alone," or because of the progress of the Womans' Rights movement, I am not prepared to say. But here we are to-night, with our wives, sweethearts, (or cousins), to have another "At Home." The grocer's lot is supposed to be like the lot of some others whom we know, "Not to be a happy one," but I trust this idea will be dispelled, and our meeting to-night will convince every one that when the grocer's shutters are up he is not busily employed in sanding his sugar and dusting his pepper, and anxiously awaiting the opening of another day when he may again prey on a long suffering public ; but that after his work, which is indeed laborious, he can find enjoyment with his family and friends, and over and above these, still work for his church, his city and his country. I trust this "At Home" will be one in the best sense of the word, and that every one will leave feeling that, whatever other "At Homes" may have lacked, the Retail Grocers' "At Home" is not a misnomer.

The president's opening remarks were followed by a felicitous and felicitating speech from Ex-Alderman Tait. Mr. Tait jokingly took as a hint to himself, the request of the chairman to Professor Bohner that the latter would be as expeditious as possible with the programme, so that the dancing might not be put off too late. Therefore, he said, he did not intend speaking more than a minute or two and only for the purpose of saying a few words complimentary to the occasion, as, he presumed, speaking was not one of the things they had come there to be entertained by. Such gatherings he held to be valuable in their remoter effects, as well as pleasing in their immediate enjoyment. He believed in them as a good way of opening the year, and congratulated the Toronto grocers on the successful beginning of their "At-Home".

The regular programme was then gone on with. It was under Prof. Chas. Bohner. It proved to be one of his best. He had no alternative, for the committee told him that he must prepare a good one. It was as follows :—

PART I.

Violin Solo. "Il Trovatore."
—Mr. Camille Napolitano.
Song. "The Night Bird's Cooing."
—Miss Roulston.
Song. "Only Once More."
—Mr. Geo. Taylor.
Song. "La Primavera."—Mrs. F. Bennett.
Reading. "Sugar for Naething."
—Mr. Alexander.
Comic Recitation. "The Laughing Man."
—Mr. W. Ramsay.

PART II.

Duet. "Army and Navy."
—Messrs. Geo. Taylor and Chas. Bohner.
Song. "Love's Sorrow."—Miss Roulston.
Comic Recitation. "Goose." (By request.)
—Mr. W. Ramsay.
Song. "A Bird from O'er the Sea."
—Mrs. F. Bennett.
Reading. Mr. Alexander.
Comic Recitation. "I was in it."
—Mr. Alexander.

The echoes of the last song had scarcely died out before the attendants were moving the seats preparatory to dancing and the gentlemen were busily engaged in filling their programmes. In this last they were greatly assisted by the Messrs. Gibson, Mills, Barron and other members of the committee. Mr. Barron was general floor manager and did his duties to the satisfaction of everyone, excepting perhaps at the last when he cut the programme a little too short for some. The floor was in excellent condition being far ahead of the one danced on last year. The music was also satisfactory. In fact everything conduced to make this part of the evening an enjoyment, a success. The programme as will be seen below was quite varied enough to suit everyone. As already noted the only regret felt was when the strains of "Home Sweet Home" told everyone that it was time to be at home, for it was nearly three o'clock. The dance programme was as follows:—

1. Waltz.
2. Lancers.
3. Polka.
4. Highland Schottische.
5. Quadrille.
6. Jersey.
7. Waltz.
8. La Broncho.
9. Lancers.

Home Sweet Home.

A large refreshment table was spread in the supper room where tea, coffee, lemonade, jellies, creams, ices and cakes were served throughout the evening. Webb had a full staff of assistants on duty and the attendance was very satisfactory all evening.

It would not be fair to close this report without some reference to the committee who did all the work. The association can never repay them for the disinterested way in which they have devoted their time and energies to this and similar events, for the work nearly always falls on the same men, and as usual the greater part is done by a few members of the committee. It is the same in all organizations. The following were the members of the committee :

R. Mills, chairman, J. G. Gibson, treasurer, J. F. Thackray, secretary,

D. W. Clark, W. Binnie,
J. Berwick, J. Butcher,
F. S. Roberts, W. Radcliffe,
R. Barron, A. R. Williamson,
H. W. McCulloch, A. G. Booth.
F. Britton,

There was not a happier lot of people in the room than the members of the committee, they were so pleased with the successful termination of their labors. All wore their happiest smiles, Mr. Mills and Mr. Gibson beaming all over ; so did Messrs. Roberts and Barron. Mr. Thackray looked the meekest man in the room ; no one would have suspected that it was he whose exertions kept Inland Revenue officials awake all night, and who was a terror to delinquent debtors. Mr. Berwick was not sure at first whether to be pleased or dissatisfied, but when he saw all the others so happy he became the same. Messrs. Williamson, Booth, McCulloch, Binnie and Radcliffe made excellent ushers, and Mr. Butcher—well he spent most of his spare time explaining that Ex-President Mara had met with a painful accident while endeavoring to assist a mutual friend of theirs named "McGinty" out of some difficulty which had befallen him.

THE LATE A. M. SINCLAIR.

It is with feelings of the deepest sorrow we have to record the death of our friend, Andrew M. Sinclair, who died very suddenly at the residence of his brother-in-law, Mr. Musgrove, 91 Baldwin street, on Tuesday afternoon, January 21, at four o'clock, at the early age of twenty-eight years. Deceased, for a number of years, carried on a very successful grocery business, corner of McCaul and Baldwin streets, but sold out to his brother in September last, and entered into partnership with Mr. Genereux, in the real estate business. The day before his death he was attending to business as usual, making preparations anticipating a prosperous year, and was about to move into larger and more central premises near the corner of College and Spadina avenues. Just the night before his death, he had signed a five years' lease of the place. He was feeling remarkably well, and was full of push and energy. Mr. Sinclair was a member of the Retail Grocers' Association from the time it was organized until his death, and at the last meeting paid his fees in order that his name would appear good on the books, although he was out of the business for over four months. He was universally respected by all who knew him. His character any one might envy, being kind and affable at all times. His funeral was very largely attended, and, not being a member of any society, is evidence of the esteem and respect in which he was held. A young widow mourns his loss, who has the heartfel sympathy of all.

SPECIAL TO OUR READERS.

As the design of THE CANADIAN GROCER is to benefit mutually all interested in the business, we would request all parties ordering goods or making purchases of any description from houses advertising with us to mention in their letter that such advertisement was noticed in THE CANADIAN GROCER.

OUR MONTREAL OFFICE.

Our Montreal Office is located at 115 St. Francois Xavier St. Our representative, Mr. Hugh C. McLean, will be pleased to have subscribers and advertisers call upon him there. He will also pay special attention to gathering business items and attending generally to the interests of this paper.

THE LEGAL IMMUNITY OF DEBTORS.

Will any of our business men give us a reason why there are so many bankruptcies in Ontario and so few in Quebec? My view is that the Division Court law is the real cause. The numerous petty accounts that it is impossible for the grocer to collect from men who are earning good wages and are perfectly able to meet their bills would be, I may safely say, worth five hundred dollars to every general merchant if there were a law that would compel the payment of them. This sum alone means assignment to many struggling merchants, who have very little money to lose. It would also mean hundreds of thousands of dollars that would finally make its way into the wholesale houses. Now that the screws are about to be put on banks, and that their abundance of money to accommodate country store keepers, merchants and wholesale houses will be shortened by nearly one-half, we may expect assignments to increase. Now is the time for the Ontario Government to enact a more stringent law for collection. I will propose a simple remedy in my next letter for the consideration of our brother grocers and general merchants.

COUNTRY MERCHANT.

"Country Merchan's" letter touches an important question. There is a vast amount of money lost by the retailers throughout the country every year through their dealings with non-paying customers. This is an effect of the credit system. But the credit system has been so long a fact in our commercial constitution that it and its issues would naturally be expected to have affected our laws more than they have done. Law has adapted itself very incompletely to the state of things that a credit system involves. One would almost be led to surmise from the inefficiency of our collecting laws, that in this country business was done on a strictly cash basis. It is to the plain interest of society that repressive or protective law should develop in correspondence with the growth of any form of dishonesty. Law should not be at a standstill while evil is progressing. But our laws for the collection of debts have been long stationary, while the practice of abusing credit has increased. One amendment was made a year ago, which was in the right direction, but its scope was small, and the benefit to retailers was proportionally insignificant. That amendment allowed the creditor to attach the wages or other income of unmarried men so long as there were any, small or large, to attach. The limited range of this amendment is its fault. The debtors who make the worst inroads on the retailer's books are those who buy for several consumers, those who have a family to absorb their income. With relation to these the law has not moved. The wages or other income of a householder can be attached only conditionally, the condition being that the attachment leaves twenty-five dollars still in the hands of the garnishee. Consequently all a householder has to look out for is that he never lets his employer or other debtor fall in arrears beyond twenty-five dollars of the money the householder is entitled periodically to receive. The latter may be receiving a hundred dollars a month; but if he is paid weekly he can protect himself from the operation of the garnishee law. No matter, therefore, how large may be the source of the householder's income, the retail merchant can touch none of it unless his debtor is a very sleepy man. Therefore the Garnishee Act is of little service as a collecting law. The retailer then has recourse to the courts, and may get an execution against the chattels of his debtor. This may turn out to be of as little relief as the Garnishee Act, for the wife or some one else may appear as the proprietor of such goods as the bailiff may undertake to seize.

The next thing to be done is to get out a judgment summons. By the order of the court the debtor is commanded to pay so much a month, upon his own admission that the specified sum is not too much. If he neglects to obey the judicial order, a warrant for contempt of court may be issued against him. This law should be useful, but it is not administered thoroughly. The debtor is not apprehended for contempt in many cases, but is generally brought before the judge again and given another order, usually a mitigation of the first, which he quite frequently disregards. Nor when a warrant finally is issued is it always served. So that this provision of the law for the collection of debts is nearly as futile as are the other two. The fault, however, is not with the law, but with its lenient administration by the judges. There are cases where lenity should prevail, but there are cases where it props up not the poor man, but the dishonest one, who has it in his means to pay.

At about the same time as we received "Country Merchant's" communication we received another one from the New York Retail Grocers' Association, asking about our law in respect to its bearing upon the collection of retailers' bills. The interest of this Association should be imitated by our own of this city, with the object of getting our law so amended as to make it operative agaist the dishonest debtor. It is a question that should be taken up by the Business Men's Association.

We hope "Country Merchant" will soon send the suggestion that he promises at the end of his letter. It will interest ourselves and our readers.

TORONO BOARD OF TRADE.

The annual meeting of the Toronto Board of Trade was held on Friday afternoon. The chair was occupied by the retiring president, Mr. W. D. Matthews. The entrance of Mr. J. I. Davidson, the newly-elected president, was greeted with an ovation.

President Matthews read his annual report which was an able review of the state of trade during the past year and of the operations of the board.

He referred to the beneficial influence that the board had upon the business interests of Toronto. Speaking of trade generally, he said :

The past year has been one of varied interest to merchants, and while the results of trade generally have not been more than moderately satisfactory, yet they have fully justified the opinion held at the beginning of it. During August and September the excellent crop reports stimulated trade considerably, and expectations were general that a more active and extended business would continue. It soon became apparent that the crop was over-estimated, and this, combined with the low prices realized for all kinds of produce, caused a reaction that has been felt up to the present time. The report of the Ontario Bureau of Statistics regarding the crop of cereals and roots gives as large a yield in the aggregate as the year previous, but unfortunately in consequence of the low prices, farmers' deliveries up to the present date have been much below the average. Added to this, the unfavorable weather experienced during the past two months has made it almost impossible for farmers to deliver their produce even when disposed to accept the low prices offered. The volume of trade done by the country merchant, and remittances up to the present date have been disappointing. There still remains in farmers' hands, however, a very large stock of grain and produce yet to be sold, which is certain to find a market this season, and we may therefore fairly expect a more active business for the spring months. It may not be out of place to point out some of the causes for the low price of barley, usually the first grain to be marketed in Canada. Our Canadian farmers have always given particular care to the cultivation of this grain, and the reputation of Canada barley with the American brewer has been very high. Durthe past few years the very radical changes in the system of brewing and in the use of cheaper materials as substitutes for malt, such as corn and rice, have done away very largely with the necessity for a high grade barley, as they give the results that formerly our barley was relied on to produce. Added to this, the fact that the growing of barley in tne western states has increased to such an extent that when a favorable crop has been secured it is almost equal to the requirements of the trade. It therefore behooves our farmers to face the matter squarely and decide whether with a duty of 10 cents per bushel and freight charges added to reach the consumer in the United States, they can continue to grow barley in such large quantities as formerly.

The milling trade has continued to feel the effect of the competition from the importation of American flour. The duty on wheat imported into Canada is 15 cents per bushel, which, by way of comparison, is equal to 71¼ cents per barrel of flour, whereas the duty on flour is only 50 cents per barrel. It seems to me unfair under our policy of protection to home industries that the millers should not have the same treatment as accorded to other manufacturers, so as to participate in the advantages of our home market. There can be no doubt that this industry is suffering, and, although the farmers, as a class, have not appeared to take much interest, yet whatever affects its welfare must indirectly affect the agricultural interest, with which it is so intimately allied.

I am informed, and it is easy to understand, that a radical change must take place in the conditions under which this branch of trade is done before it is made generally profitable. The large number of failures among the retail dealers is pretty conclusive proof that the looseness with which credit is dispensed, and the absurdly long terms upon which the goods are sold, are not conducive to a healthy state of trade. It is easier to diagnose this state of affairs than to suggest an infallible remedy. Over importation and excessive competition, with constantly lessened profits and increasing expenses, will ultimately bring about a cure, but is it not possible to antlcipate (by conference and concerted action) where such would be advantageous to all, and avoid so undesirable a consummation as the forced retirement of the many, for the ultimate benefit of the few? The decided advance in the value of all textile fabrics, and the fact that stocks in the hands of all Canadian manufacturers are quite limited, more so probably than they have been for years, suggests an opportune time for a united move in the direction of a more rational dispensing of credit than at present obtains in this important branch of business.

Since my last report the question of combinations has been freely discussed by the board and also before the banking committee of the House of Commons, as well as in parliament, and a bill has been passed dealing with the subject. In the opinion of the prominent members of the House of Commons the act is chiefly useful as a fresh declaration of the law. It will be admitted by all fair minded people that trade agreements (usually termed combinations) in force in Canada are on a just and reasonable basis, and have not been inconsistent with public interests, and that on the other hand public interests demand that no unnecessary restrictions be placed on the trade and commerce of the country. I regret to observe the proposal to again discuss the question at Ottawa during the present session. The continuous agitation of a subject affecting interests so far reaching and important is calculated to disturb the business of the country, and deter investors, and is to be deprecated, and especially so when in charge of a private member. It is manifestly a matter of such vast concern to our people that no further action should be permitted without the Government assuming complete responsibility.

During this year great interest will centre around the banking legislation necessary from the fact that the charters of all our banks expire in 1891. Further discussion upon this important topic has brought about very general agreement that the system of bank circulation in the United State is not superior to our own, and the serious dearth of the circulating medium felt recently on the other side has emphasized the necessity for the Canadian system (in fact the editor of one of the chief financial papers in the United Sates is thoroughly advocating the adoption there ef the Canadian system.) It is reasonable, as I had occasion to remark last year, that all fear of loss from or discount upon tne bank note circulation should be removed from the public mind. Certain Ontario and Quebec banks have made arrangements during the year for the redemption of their notes in distant provinces, reciprocating in kind with the banks there, so that notes which formerly were taken at a discount now pass at par. Enough of this has been done to show that all objections on this score to the circulation can be removed by the existing banks themselves, if they so desire. The other point, namely, the guaranteeing of the bank circulation where the resources of the larger and older and the smaller and newer banks vary so much, is probably more difficult for them to arrange among themselves, especially if provision has to be made for guaranteeing the circulation of every new bank venture that may be attempted. Even this, however, may be attained by the cooperation of the Government in surrounding the granting of new charters with such conditions as will secure their being granted only upon a substantial and lasting basis, which the law as it stands does not secure. Free banking, theoretically, is good, and will always be popular as against what savors of monopoly, but a wise conservatism is necessary in dealing with monetary institutions having power to issue bank notes, and if the needful guarantee of absolute indemnity against loss can be secured by the action of the banks themselves, who are best acquainted with the attendant risks and necesssary precautions, it will be infinitely preferable to their being compelled to hold gold or Government securities against their circulation, with the periodical stringency and contraction which this would precipitate. It would also seem advisable that the renewal of the bank charters should not be limited as heretofore, their expiry always causing more or less disturbance to commerce, and then, like any other enactment, they could be the subject of revision or improvement as the necessity arose.

He spoke of the progress of the new building, and of the success of the scheme adopted to provide the money to pay for it. The appointment, he said, of a professor of political economy at the Universlty of Toronto promised to be of great service to the mercantile community. He discussed municipal reform, and concluded with an expression of the gratification he felt at the position of the board, an acknowledgement of the generous support accorded him by the members, and a complimentary reference to Secretary Wills.

Mr. S. E. McKinnon moved the adoption of the report, and Mr. George A. Cox seconded the motion, which was carried.

Mr. Davidson delivered the following inaugural address :—

My first duty, gentlemen, is to thank you for the honor you have to-day conferred on me. I assure you I enter upon the office of president of the board of trade with full purpose to use whatever powers belong to it with a single view to the promotion of the commercial interests of the citn of Toronto. Fortunately, for me, my presidency has fallen in a favorable year for the advancement of the position of the board. My successor will, I hope, speak to you in a more stately edifice than than that which we now occupy—one which will be admired as a fine specimen of architecture, and as affording ample and handsome accommodation for the merchants of a great and growing city. The influence of the board has been usefully exercised in the past, and it will be my endeavor to direct that influence with judgment and caution. Many matters of importance requiring your action are sure to rise during the year; some are already pressing upon us. The Esplanade question will, I am confident, in the near future be settled on the basis first suggested by you. I hope that you will see it to be your duty to insist that all electric wires, for whatever purpose employed, shall be put under ground and made absolutely free from danger to life and of fire. Of late there has arisen an agitation for the appointment of an inspector or scaffolds as a protection to the lives of workmen. I am of opinion that this appontment should be extended so as to embrace an inspector of buildings. The appointment of a weigher, measurer and gauger is authorized by the Act Vict. 28, on the recommendation of the board of trade. The certificate of the official so appointed is receivable as prima facie evidence in all courts of justice within the province. I strongly recommend the speedy use of the powers of the board in this matter as an absolute necessity to some branches of trade. Before leaving our own immediate surroundings, I desire to call your attention to the urgent necessity for some system of municipal reform. Your council will no doubt view with approval the proposal to reconstruct the public works department of the city, but it would strengthen the hands of the council if you will appoint a committee to co-operate with them in the work in which they are engaged. The renewal of bank charters is now occupying the attention of the Dominion Parliament. It will be your duty in that matter to guard carefully the interests of the trading community, embracing bankers as well as traders. The need for an amended extradition treaty between Canada and the United States becomes more apparent every day. Even if our neighbors were not willing to return our refugees we should not hesitate to rerurn theirs, but it is evident from the recent action of Congress that they have repented past errors and will grant that which justice and good morals demand. The proposal to grant a liberal subsidy to Atlantic steamers of greater speed than now enter Canadian ports is a matter of deep interest to the business community. It will be for you to consider whether the public money will be well spent in bringing mails, freight and passengers across the Atlantic at a rate of speed which will place the Canadian route on an equality with that of New York. The Provincial Legislature has asked your opinion on tax exemptions. I would ask you to consider the matter fully, and a meeting of the board will specially be called to consider this very important matter. In conclusion, I congratulate you upon the continued growth of our city. Throughout the Dominion we find no city in which the progress of trade, of manufactures and of the arts of life has been of late so rapid as in the city of Toronto. I trust that its prosperity may continue and ever increase during the present year. I again thank you for the honor you have bestowed on me, and assure you I shall never cease to take deep interest in the welfare of the body over which, by your kindness, I have been called on to preside.

The following officers were elected :—

President, John I. Davidson, wholesale grocer (acclamation); First Vice-President, H. N. Baird, grain merchant; Second Vice-President, Hugh Blain, wholesale grocer (acclamation); Treasurer, G. M. Rose, publisher.

Council—W. D. Matthews, grain merchant; Wm. Christie, biscuit manufacturer; W. R. Brock, importer of dry goods; D. R. Wilkie, cashier Imperial Bank; Wm. Ince, wholesale grocer; Elias Rogers, coal merchant; D. W. Alexander, wholesale leather; S. F. McKinnon, wholesale milliner; A. A. Allen, wholesale hats, caps and furs; G. B. Smith, M.P.P., importer of dry goods; A. M. Smith, wholesale grocer; A. B. Lee, hardware; Robert Jaffrey, real estate; R. W. Elliott, wholesale druggist; W. K. McNaught, watchcase manufacturer.

Board of arbitration—R. S. Baird, (Confederation Life); G. A. Chapman, grain merchant; W. Galbraith, grain merchant; S. Crane, coal merchant; J. D. Laidlaw, grain merchant; J. H. G. Hagarty, steamship owner; N. McLaughlin, miller; Jos. Oliver, lumber merchant; R. J. Stark, grain and flour merchant; T. Flynn, grain merchant; J. H. Sproule, grain merchant; J. Carrick, grain merchant.

Harbor Trust—J. H. G. Hagarty, steamship owner; A. M. Smith, wholesale grocer.

Industrial Exhibition Association directors—James Carruthers, grain merchant; W. B. Hamilton, boot and shoe manufacurer.

MONTREAL BOARD OF TRADE.

The annual meeting of the Montreal Board of Trade was well attended. The contents of the president's report is indicated by the topics discussed before the election of officers.

Mr. Henshaw thought the Government should assist in the support of the harbor police. Mr. Geo. Childs complained of the practice of allowing goods to accumulate on the wharf, and the promiscuous mixing of cargoes. Mr. H. McLennan said they were doing all they could in this matter. Mr. E. B. Greenshields considered the insolvency law in Qnebec very good. In Ontario they could not make the debtor assign, and although most of the creditors lived in Quebec, only the Ontario men had to do with the winding up. In the Maritime Provinces the law with a right of preference was a disgrace. If the law of Quebec were enacted for the Dominion it would be an improvement. Auction duties were condemned, and their injury to Montreal's fruit trade was pointed out. It was decided to urge their repeal. The following resolution from Mr. G. W. Stevens was seconded by D. A. Lockerby :—

That the incoming council be instructed to compile a statement of facts showing how trade has been diverted from Montreal by the discrimination in freights practised by the steamship, railway and transportation companies, and that for this purpose a special committee of the council be formed of merchants only, to take evidence bearing on the question and submit their report at the next meeting of this board.

It was unanimously adopted. The same gentlemen submitted the following, also adopted :—

That the attention of the city representative at Ottawa be drawn to the action of this Board in the matter of unclaimed bank deposits, and that they be requested to urge upon Parliament the necessity of inserting a provision of the nature recommended by this Board in the new Banking Act.

It was decided to push the new building scheme. The treasurer's statement showed an increase of $20,956. and a balance of $13,201. The report was adopted,

The scrutineers' report declared the following elected :—President, Mr. Cleghorn; First Vice-President, Mr. Robert Archer; Second Vice-President, Mr. H. A. Budden; Treasurer, Mr. Edgar Judge. Council, E. B. Greenshields, dry goods; William Wainwright, railways; H. Montagu Allan, shipping; R. Reford, shipping; J. K. Ward, M.L.C., lumber; A. A. Ayer, dairy prodnce; James A. Cantlie, manufacturing; Charles Chaput, groceries; T. G. Shaughnessy, railways; R. Hampson, insurance; C. P. Hebert, groceries; A. C. McBean, grain.

Board of arbitrators :—Hon. George A. Drummond, Andrew Allen, Hugh McLennan, Jonathan Hodgson, Charles A. Gould, Hon. Edward Murphy, W. W. Ogilvie, Jacques Grenier, C. P. Hebert, A. F. Gault, Geo. W. Stephens, James Slessor.

A resolution presented by Mr. Lockerby, congratulated Sir Joseph Hickson on receiving the honor of Knighthood, was passed. Mr. D. A. P. Watt dwelt upon the obligation under which the Board was to the members of the Senate and House of Commons living in Montreal. Mr. William Stewart urged the Board to ascertain from the Government whether it intended to deepen the St. Lawrence canals to fourteen feet. He thought the Board should do something to correct the impression in Ontario that this Board of Trade opposed such deepening. Steps should be taken to improve the buoy and light-house system on Lakes St. Francis and St. Louis. Mr. Esdale complained of the placing of the buoys and maintaining of the lights by contract. Last spring the buoys were not in position until after the opening of navigation. Mr. Watt denounced the contract system and adverted to the fact that the Minister of Marine is advertising for tenders for the buoy and light-house service on the Lower St. Lawrence. He urged the new council to protest, as this innovation threatened to be dangerous.

After discussing a suggestion by Mr. Edgar Judge to adopt a system of electing officers, which will interfere less with business than the system in vogue, the meeting adjourned.

If you have to complain of any shipment of merchandise, do so by first mail.

GLUE.

The following interesting information is extracted from a paper read by H. R. Proctor, F.C.S., at the annual meeting of the Institute of British Carriage Manufacturers, recently held at Newcastle, Eng :

Glue only differs from gelatine in being a cruder and less purified product, and both are made from the waste portions of the skin, which have been freed from hair by liming, and then from caustic lime by washing and exposure to the air, or sometimes by the use of acids, which should afterwards be removed by careful washing. The quality of glue greatly depends on the perfection with which these processes are accomplished. The gelatinous tissue is dissolved by boiling with water in steam-jacketed pans, and the liquid size is run into wooden coolers in which it solidifies into a stiff jelly. It is then cut into sheets by means of a wire or thin steel blade, and dried upon hemp or galvanized wire nets. Pure gelatine is tasteless and colorless and quite insoluble in cold water, although it swells in it to a soft jelly. By long continued boiling, however, especially in presence of small quantities of lime or acid, it becomes decomposed and soluble in cold water, while it ceases to form a solid jelly and loses the power of setting as it cools.

A good glue should be tough and not easily broken, and when steeped in cold water, to which, in warm weather, a little carbolic acid should be added, it should retain sharp edges and corners, and not give much color to the water. Other things being equal, the best qualities will be palest, but, as inferior glues can be bleached, this is not a sign of much importance in itself. A good glue should be free from any putrid smell.

A chief source of the cheaper glues of the present day is from the boiling of bones. The pure gelatine of bones is almost identical with that of skins, though perhaps somewhat more brittle, but as it is usually extracted by digesting at a high temperature and under pressure, and as the weak sizes thus obtained require concentrating by prolonged boiling, the gelatine is often much decomposed, and the glue is brittle and soluble in cold water. This is the case with all the cheaper French glues.

While glue-boilers take great pains to shorten the boiling, and use as low temperatures as possible, users often boil for days in glue pans till the setting is lost, and the glue darkened and rendered brittle. It will be found that though a glue of high setting power is rather more difficult to use, and especially so in a cold workshop, the trouble is well repaid by the greater tenacity of the joints. Fresh glue should never be added to that in the pots, but as far as possible they should be emptied and cleaned out before refilling. It is customary in some shops to boil the cakes of glue till they dissolve, a custom which is not only tedious but injurious. If they are allowed to soak over night in plenty of cold water they will swell and dissolve readily, while nothing is wasted by pouring the surplus water away. With powder glue this soaking is not so much required.

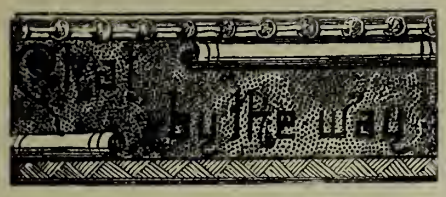
MR. GIBSON AND THE THIEVES

Police constable Robertson, while patrolling his beat on Thursday night, noticed five men engaged in rifling the grocery and liquor store of J. G. Gibson, at the corner of Yonge and Maitland streets, Toronto. He sent the alarm to the police headquarters from the nearest box, and, returning to the store, captured one of the housebreakers. Pulling a revolver, he tried to intimidate the others, but they were not to be intimidated, and made a break for a back window. The constable fired one shot at the thieves as they disappeared through the window, but it only hastened their movements. The prisoner was then taken to No. 2 police station, and there gave his name as John Larner. He said that he lived at Smith's lodging-house, on the corner of Simcoe and Pearl streets. About midnight detective Burrows and Black visited Smith's lodging house and there arrested four men supposed to be the other burglars that escaped. They were taken to police headquarters, and there registered their names as John Dempsey, Geo. Barry, Tom Macdonald and John Mitchell. The midnight visitors had been disturbed before they had attached any of Mr. Gibson's property. On Tuesday they were brought up for trial before the Police Magistrate, but the case was remanded for a week.

Mr. Gibson's store appears to attract burglars. This is the fifth time that it has been resorted to for spoil, and not one of the attempts to rob it has been a success. About a year ago one poor wretch in his efforts to get a caddy of tea through the window cut his hand on the glass, and died the next morning from lock-jaw. Another former visitor got two years, and six months each were served by two more. What advised the policeman of this latest entrance was the till alarm, which was rung upon the attempt to open the money drawer. Seeing no light, and believing that to be a late hour for Mr. Gibson to be in the store, he looked through the window and saw four figures, He at once undertook the task of stopping the robbers, and succeeded admirably.

BUTTER AND MEAT.

In the House of Commons Mr. Marshall moved that, in consequence of the large importation into Canada annually of fresh beef, mess and salt pork or bacon, it is expedient, in the interests of the farmers of this country, that the duty on such should be increased. Hon. Mr. Foster explained that the hon. gentleman would be able to have a fuller discussion of this subject towards the end of the session and suggested that in the meantime the motion be withdrawn. Mr. Marshall consented to the withdrawal of the motion.



In the House Mr. Bain (Wentworth) asked —Is the Dominion of Canada the "British North America" referred to in the official trade returns of the United States for the eleven months ending November 30 last, which show, among exports to British North America, "Oleomargarine 534,146 lbs." ? If so, has the Minister of Customs any reason to believe that oleomargarine enters into consumption in Canada under a fraudulent or assumed name ? Has recent investigation been made by the officers of the department to ascertain whether it is being brought into the Dominion in evasion of the statute forbidding its importation ? Hon. Mr. Bowell explained that there was reason to believe that the oleomargarine referred to was exported to Newfoundland. There was no evidence that any was exported to Canada, and the Dominion customs officers had been instructed to exercise constant vigilance to prevent its importation. A few pounds of the article had been sent to St. Thomas from Chicago as a sample, and the Customs Department instructed the collector to confiscate it. A consignment of oleomargarine to Halifax was entered for consumption and seized by the customs officials, but the entry had been made by mistake and it was allowed to be exported. Similar entries were made at Cornwall in December last, and the article was now under seizure there. There was reason to believe that there was a large quantity passing through Canada for export to Pacific countries, and as Canada was the first foreign country reached, it was in the United States returns as being exported to British North America.

WHOM TO TRUST.

A successful business man has suggested the following "don ts" to govern credit clerks in opening and closing accounts with customers :

Do not trust a man who is unwilling to make a statement over his own signature ; do not trust a man starting anew in business who has not sufficient capital of his own to pay for his stock and fixtures ; do not trust a man unless eonvinced that his daily profits are more than his daily expenses ; do not trust a man who habitually and continually sells his goods for less than an average cost of doing business ; do not trust a man who drinks to excess ; do nct trust a man who is a constant better on horse races, or is a gambler ; do not trust a man who lives beyond his means ; do not trust a man for more than one-quarter of his visible assets.—Ex.

Granby, in the province of Quebec has recently been made a port of entry for raw leaf tobacco.

La grippe in the case of Mr. John T. Porter, one of the most esteemed and energetic of Orillia merchants, has proved fatal after a very short illness.

On account of the increating demand for the "Monsoon" brand of inblended Indian Teas, Messrs. Steel Hayte & Co., have had to enlarge their packing premises.

At the corner of Parliament and Oxford Ave., City, may be seen a striking grocery store. Mr. W. J. McCann, the proprietor, is a young man and is doing the good trade that he deserves.

Mr. J. H. Hunt's grocery was destroyed by the great fire which swept through Glencoe last week. Mr. Hunt's stock was valued at $2,000. None of it was saved. The insurance amounted to $1,000. The cause of the fire is unknown.

It is reported that the Dartmouth, N. S sugar refinery, which has been idle for some years, will be again started in a few weeks. Two cargoes of sugar are now en route for Halifax to be refined at this factory. Its capacity is nearly one thousand barrels per week.

Snowdrift Baking Powder, Snowdrift Co's. spices, and Snowdrift prepared Buckwheat Flour have been a large items in the railroad shipments from Brantford the past year, and the steady demand for this company's goods from year to year is an enconium on the popularity of the goods as well as the management by Mr. Fullerton.

A small blaze occurred on Thursday night in Notter & Priest's grocery store, Owen Sound, caused by the gas light in a widow igniting some evergreen trimmings. A large plate glass window valued at $100 was broken and other damage done, amounting in all to about $150; covered by insurance.

On Friday night, some unknown parties broke into A. Y. Polly's general store, Simcoe, and carried off a quantity of underclothing, socks, mitts and several pairs of boots. Entrance was effected by forcing open the front door, using as a jimmy the coulter of an old plough that lay in front of Sutton's foundry.

At the last board of trade meeting at Guelph a communication was read from Thos. Lawry & Son. pork packers, Hamilton, stating that at the opening of spring they intended removing their business either to Toronto or some point west, and that in the event of sufficient inducements being held out, Guelph would be as suitable a location as any other,

The latest information to hand shows that the combined salmon production of the Pacific coast for 1889 was 1,750,000 cases. The following is the output of the various canneries on this coast: Alaska, 675,000 cases; British Columbia, 414,400 cases; Columbia river, 328,000 cases; Sacramento river, 57,300 cases, and other places, including Puget Sound, 275,300 cases.

Mr. Fred Gillespie, the well-known tea merchant, has found his business increasing to such an extent since he left his old stand, next to Mr. Fitz Gerald's office, that he is again going to move, this time to the handsome Alexander block. He has leased the ground floor on the eastern wing, which is being fitted up in first-class style by Mr. McComb as a store, into which Mr. Gillespie will shortly move, and will open up a large assortment of teas and fine groceries. We trust the move will be attended by success.—Calgary Tribune.

Tilsonburg Liberal.—H. S. Wilcox, who has been book-keeper in the store of W. H. Hogarth here for several years, leaves on Saturday for London, Ont., where he has secured a situation as traveller for J. R. Shuttleworth, wholesale fruiterer and commission merchant. Bert will be greatly missed by the young people of the town, as he was generally liked by all, and was well liked by the many customers of Mr. Hogarth's store. He is a thoroughly reliable and moral young man, and we hope to hear of his success as a commercial traveller.

The Wm. Cane & Sons Manufacturing Co., Newmarket, Ont., is one of the progressive industries in Canada. New machinery has been added to each department during the past year, and the order, skill and care characteristic of the management enable the company's various staple lines to compete favorably in every part of the Dominion. Their staple goods are pails, tubs, washboards, clothespins, candy, lard and syrup pails, oil, paint and pickle wooden packages proof against leakage of whatever nature, besides other articles. This firm merits their large trade throughout the country, which they have held for many years. Send for price list.

Lord Knutsford, colonial secretary, has forwarded to the Government of Canada copies of regulations for the Jamaica exhibition, which is to be opened at Kingston, Jamaica, on January 27, 1891. The exhibition will be one of island products, manufactures and works of art, together with exhibits of works of art, machinery and industrial and agricultural products from Great Britain and other countries and colonies. It will comprise specimens of all Jamaica products—sugar of all qualities and its allied industry of rum manufacture, liquors, cordials, etc., coffee, oranges, pine apples and fruits of all kinds, pimento, cocoa, annato, woods in all degrees of preparation for use, spices, condiments, etc., fibres and fibrous materials, cinchona bark, oils, essential oils, perfumes, etc., medicinal and economic substances, works of art, pictures, fancy articles and ornamental work; horses, cattle and live stock of all kinds. The botany and geology of the island will also be fully illustrated. It is hoped that all the colonies of the empire will send exhibits, and in view of the opening up of steamship lines between Canada and Jamaica our Ontario manufacturers should not let this opportunity pass of exhibiting their products.

WESTERN PACKERS' ASSOCIATION.

LEAVENWORTH, KANSAS, JAN. 17, 1890.

The regular annual meeting of the Western Packers Canned Goods Association, for the election of officers, the discussion of current topics appertaining to the packing business, etc., will be held at the new Denison Hotel, Indianapolis, Indiana, on February 12, 13 and 14. All manufacturers and inventors of any and all kinds of machinery used or intended to be used in canning factories, are invited to meet with the association and exhibit the same. The Van Camp Packing Co., have bindly provided a building with ample space and motive power where all exhibitors will have use of same, and any machinery shipped care of Van Camp Packing Co., freight prepaid, will be removed from the depot, and taken care of until the owners arrive to set it up; if you wish any further information, please inquire of Messrs. Van Camp Packing Co. As there are some very important matters to be discussed which will interest every packer, it is earnestly requested that every packer be present, if he is not already a member of this association, to join, as he will find it a great benefit. Independence of action is a weakness of purpose and effect; our interests ought to be the same, and by putting ourselves in communication our interests become more united, and our advice and support more beneficial Again I cordially invite you to be present If impossible, and you want to join with us, send your proxy to some member of the association, instructing them to vote for you. Please advise me at once, or L. G. Seager, President, of Gilman, Iowa, of your intention to come. Hoping I may meet you at Indianapolis, Ind., on Feb. 12, 1890.

Respectfully Yours, J. S. EDWARDS,
Sec. and Treas.

[The editor of THE GROCER regrets very much that he cannot be with the Western Packers this season. He hopes they will have a very pleasant and profitable gathering. Several Canadian Packers talk of going but nothing definite has been decided yet.]

COUNTRY vs. CITY STORES.

What a vivid contrast is presented when the ordinary country store, with its ill-assorted stock of merchandise and its poorly arranged business facilities, is compared with the well-kept, well-managed department store of one of the large cities. It is a curious fact that the goods handled by the general store of the country—the pioneer of commercial progress in a new land—and those handled by a large department store of the city, which, in a sense, is the cap-sheaf of commercial activity, are very nearly the same in range and kinds. The only difference is in methods of management, but methods of management include a great deal. Invention is always from the complex to simple, and the country store represents the complex, while the department store of the city represents the simple. The essence of the difference is summed up in the single phrase, "adequate accounting." Good accounting is the corner-stone of department stores, for without it they would be impossible. The country store very commonly has a large margin of profit; the large department store of the city, on the other hand, frequently sells goods so cheap that there is apparently no gain at all. Its chance for profit is in very small margins and large sales. Close sailing requires the best seamanship. To make money out of small profits requires the best of business management. Good business management depends upon good accounting as much as the sailing of a vessel depends upon chart and compass.—Office.

PROFIT SHARING.

The N. O. Nelson Manufacturing Company, of St Louis, in a letter to the Age of Steel, thus gives the result of profit sharing in their establishment:

"We have just closed our fourth year under that system, and have declared a dividend of 10 per cent. cash on wages. This makes 33 per cent. in the four years. While the dividends are always paid in cash, the privilege is given of investing it in stock of the company. A mechanic earning $2.50 a day, and making say 310 days a year, would now own $313.26, if he had each year invested his dividends in the company's stock. In like manner the office boy at $5 a week would now have $105.10, the traveling man at $2,000 would have $808.46, and the porter at $12 a week $252.24. It is needless to say that the interest in the business, in whatever capacity a good man is at work, is cumulative just as much as the dividend fund. The entire stock of the company is alike in character, and is subject to the provisions that it cannot be sold until sixty days' option has been given the directors to buy it at its book value at last inventory and 6 per cent. interest to date of purchase. In like manner the directors may call the stock at the same valuation. The stock is thus prevented from going on the market or becoming a means of speculation, and at the same time the company retains the independent position of dispensing with objectionable stockholders. In addition to the cash dividends there is annually placed to credit of surplus fund 10 per cent. of the earnings and between 5 to 10 per cent. to provident fund. Every employe thus has his proportionate interest in these funds. The former makes him a sharer in losses should a losing year make it necessary to draw on the surplus, and from the provident fund he and his family will receive all necessary help in time of need.

"You remember the very simple plan of division: the usual wages and salaries are paid and the business conducted in every respect in the usual way. Market rate of interest is charged for the capital employed—formerly 9 per cent. now 6 per cent. Of the net profits the remaining 10 per cent. goes to surplus fund, 5 to 10 per cent. to provident fund, and the remainder is divided by equal percentage on the capital and wages. With a 10 per cent dividend the holder of $100 in stock gets $16 and 10 per cent. on his year's wages. The plan is mutually satisfactory to employers and employed."

FROST ON WINDOW PANES.

Most merchants have a plan whereby frost deposit on windows may be avoided, still in small towns the transparency of the windows is not looked after in cold weather. There is nothing more provoking on cold mornings, than to wake and find your window panes so covered with frost that the half day spent in trying to make things look attractive, is lost, as the things are now hidden from view by Jack Frost's handiwork. To prevent this it is necessary to have a current of cold air on the inside of your window to counter act the sharp air on the outside. A few holes cut in the baseboard below the window proper, are all that it is necessary to have. It will admit a cold current of air, and prevent the window pane from freezing.

A FREE BREAKFAST TABLE.

Sir Roper Lethbridge is opposed to the general abolition of the duty on tea. In the following letter, which appeared in the Times, he maintains that it would be inimical to the interests of Indian and Ceylon planters :—

"Will you allow me, as one who has aiways advocated a reduction or abolition of the import duty on the wholesome and palatable teas of India and Ceylon, to direct public attention to the disastrous re ults that would inevitably ensue from any ill-advised attempt to bolster up the trade in the doctored and deleterious tea products of the heathen Chinee by any general abolition of the tea duties? It will be admitted by everyone who is acquainted with the trade that any such indiscriminate abolition will act simply as a heavy bounty, paid by the British taxpayers, to the Chinese producers of those low priced teas which, even under present conditions, do so much to injure the good name of tea as a wholesome article of food. For the abolition all round of a duty of 6d. a pound means a reduction of something like 33 per cent. on the average cost of production of Indian and Ceylon teas; but it is a reduction of at least 100 per cent. on that of the low class China teas. The course of trade of late years has shown incontestably that the British consumer, if left to himself, prefers the pure and wholesome growths of his own fellow countrymen in India and Ceylon to those of China. Moreover, for every pound of tea that we purchase from India and Ceylon we are able to sell to those countries a proportionate amount of our cotton and other manufactured goods, far greater relatively than our sales to China on the same inducement. An immense amount of British capital is now invested in the tea gardens of Assam, Darjeeling, and Ceylon, and is now, solely on the merits of the tea produced, beginning to yield a fair return, which return, if the trade be not checked by fiscal changes, is daily becoming larger. But this trade, I think, would be greatly injured, and I am sure that the cause of temperance would be greatly discredited, if the cry of 'a free breakfast table,' seductive as it sounds, were to induce us to give protection to the cheap and nasty growths of China. Of course, it will be obvious that the better and more wholesome teas of China—of which, equally, of course, there are many—will suffer equally with the teas of India and Ceylon from any such ill-judged measure."

REGULATING THE SALE OF TEA.

In compliance with the request of the Indian Tea Districts' Association, the selling brokers interested held a meeting on Jan. 3. 1890, at the offices of Messrs. Stenning, Inskipp & Co., and it was resolved : "That they will endeavor to regulate the sales, so that for the month of January not more than 35,000 chests shall be printed each week, and not more than 15,000 chests in one day. And after that date for this season a much less quantity will have to be printed per week as the quantity unsold to be dealt with will be smaller."

MARKETS

TORONTO, FEB. 6, 1890.

GROCERIES.

There has been a fairly active demand for most staples this week. Beyond a further decline of ⅛c in white sugars there is but little change to note in values. Dried fruits are generally firmer.

CANNED GOODS.

Canned goods continue to attract increasing attention, though no further round lots have changed hands on spot. There have been no actual advances, but prices of fruits and vegetable are all firm. Packers report an increased demand, showing that old stocks are being reduced in wholesale hands. Quite a number of orders have been received for fine fruits, chiefly strawberries, raspberries, peaches and pears. Vegetables are also moving more freely, especially tomatoes, corn, peas and beans. Prices are firm and no concessions are reported. In fish there is still an easy feeling in salmon and prices show an unusually wide range of $1.55 to $1.70 for pink and $1.40 to $1.50 for white. Lobsters are scarce and very firm at $1.80 for talls.

The annual meeting of the Canadian Packers' Association will be held late in February in THE GROCER office. A number of new members have signified their intention of joining, so that the entire trade will be represented. Mr. W. Boulter, president of the Canadian Packers' Association, was in the city this week. He intends going to the Western Packers' Association meeting at Indianapolis, to which he has received a cordial invitation.

CHEMICALS.

Soda-vicarbonate is dearer, selling at $2.25. Sal soda is also higher, at 95c. to $1.

COFFEE.

Complaints are made of the scarcity of really fine Rios. Importers say that in all the recent shipments they have not been able to get any first class quality. The range of values on both Brazils and mild grades remain the same as before. Outside markets are of an unsettled character.

DRIED FRUITS.

There is a pretty firm feeling all along the line of dried fruits, but the demand has been quiet, and in consequence there have been no important advances in values. Currants continue dull but steady, though outside markets have stiffened somewhat ; small lots have been selling on spot at 5⅜ to 5½c. in barrels and 5½ to 5¾c. for half barrels and 5⅞ to 6c. for cases of provincial and Filiatra. Vostizzas run from 7½c. for ordinary in cases to 9½c. for extra in half cases. Dates are quiet at 5¾ to 6c., though foreign markets are firm at an advance. Figs are getting scarce again ; the local stock of Elemes has got into a few hands which are firm holders at 12½ to 15c., as to quality. Naturals are held at 5c. in boxes ; bags are very scarce. Prunes are more active and prices are higher both here and abroad ; on spot an advance of ¼c. is asked, but the former range of quotations holds good. Valencia raisins have not attracted so much attention but they are still firmly held on a basis of 6⅞ to 7¼c. for good to prime off-stalk and 7½c. for fancy. Sultanas are firm at 10c. for good average quality. Malagas unchanged.

NUTS.

Demand is limited, but stocks being light prices are fairly maintained. A lot of Marbeau walnuts just arrived has met with an active demand both on spot and from outside markets; in a retail way they are offering at 12 to 13c. The supply of Grenables and Bordeaux is light. Good Brazil nuts are very scarce, but some poor quality are on the market.

SUGARS.

The sugar market has been only fairly active this week. The drop of ⅛c. in granulated and other white sugars has not improved the demand. Reports of the reopening of the refinery at Dartmouth has given buyers an excuse for asking concessions on prospects of an easier market. In this, however, they have not met with much success. Low grade yellows are not plentiful and few houses report sales at less than 5⅛c. Medium and bright sugars have been shaded a little on last week's prices. Among wholesale men a more confident feeling exists ; it being generally believed that the market is now at or near the bottom.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Demand has been more active and prices are a trifle easier. Though we do not reduce our range of quotations better value is now given for the money. Mollasses are going out freely in small lots. Trinidads are selling at 35c. in hhds., 38c. in bbls and 40c. in half bbls., and St. Vincents at 37c. in puncheons, 40c. in bbls. and 43c. in halves.

TEAS

Demand for China and Japans has been good and there is a good tone to the market. All desirable liquoring greens and Japans are held with greater firmness. Blacks dull. There has been better local enquiry for Indian teas. London market reports show Pekoes and broken Pekoes from 9d. to 1s. 2d., a little easier, while Pekoe Souchongs and broken teas remain firm. Many breaks begin to show autumn flavor, and the quality on the whole is desirable. The general action of importers in regulating the weekly and daily supply is working satisfactorily, and the trade have not found the quantity offered beyond their powers of careful examination. Local business in Ceylons small. Although the supply on the London market was considerably less, there was not a corresponding response from the trade excepting for teas "for price" Pekoe Souchongs at from 9½ to 10½c. selling freely at firm rates.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

There is no improvement in the state of the market for butter. Good butter is scarcer, although there is no falling off from the aggregate of all classes. There is an increasing number of large rolls marketed, and with the increase in quantity there is a lowering in quality. Large rolls now represent nearly all the graded, good and bad, that are made. The prices are as last week, 12½ to 15c., the upper figure being weak. Pound rolls sell from 18 to 22c., and 20c. is a very general price. Dairy tub butter is 16 to 17c. for good. There is less put up in this form than there was a few weeks ago, the make running mostly to large rolls, as is usual at this season. The dairy tub is also of a better character than the average of large rolls. Store-packed tub are worth 9 to 13c., and continues unheeded by buyers. Its own low quality, and the abundance of other sorts, are likely to keep it neglected and cheap. Creamery butter is 22 to 24c. The prices grow weaker as the butter gets older. The butter market is not showing any signs that it will improve.

Cheese continues at prices which bring it moderately into consumption. The early summer make is 8½ to 9½c., and the early autumn make is 10½ to 11c.

SALT.

The salt market for the week is very active. The following are the prices reported by the Toronto Salt Works: 1 car barrel salt, $1.38; 2 cars coarse salt at 68c.; 1 car dairy in sacks $1.25.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

APPLES—There were very few on the market this week, and buyers and sellers agree in their indifference. It is supposed there are a good many car-loads yet in Ontario, but the owners are holding them for spring. They are apt to be worth having then if they can be kept, but the weather is against the chance that they can. Apples are now $1.50 to $2.50.

BEANS—Are not receiving any special attention. All that are in the market are there simply to supply the quiet unnoticed domestic demand. They are $1.75 in small lots, and $1.60 to $1.65 in large ones.

DRIED APPLES—Bring 5 to 5¼c. in large quantities, and 5½ to 6c. in small ones. Trade is dull.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Are worth 8 to 9c for old ones, and 9 to 10½c. for new ones.

EGGS—Are getting down to low prices. There is no interest worth mentioning in pickled eggs. They are now 13c. Fresh eggs are 16 to 17c., and new laid are 17 to 20c.

GAME—Is not of sufficient concern to anybody to be deserving of a quotation after this one. There are some rabbits bought at 20c. per pair, and some pigeons at the same price per brace, but they are few.

HAY—No. 1 pressed is worth $10 on the track ; No. 2, pressed, is $7 to $8, but is not wanted. No. 1, loose, is $10 to $12, and No. 2, loose, is $7 to $9. The unvarying abundance of the weekly supply is bringing prices lower. There seems no likelihood that they will improve before spring.

HIDES—There is no change in the prices or the lethargy of the market. Cured are 4¾c., and green are 4c. for No. 1, 3c. for No. 2, and 2c. for No. 3.

HONEY—Good clear is 11½c. to 13c., and honey in the comb is 12c. to 14c. There is a very steady trade.

HOPS—The prices ruling at the opening of the market in the fall have been preserved to the present Yearlings are 8c. to 11c., and new ones are 12c. to 14c., with a leaning in each case to the lower figure.

OATS—Prices grow weaker. Car as well as street lots are 28c. to 29c. One of the causes of the low prices is the abundance of the crop ; another is the grinding in bond of so large a quantity of United States oats. The crop in that country was large, a large share of it is ground in our mills, and in bond since it left the United States; the product is shipped to England, where of course it goes in free of duty. This gives employment to our mills, but it makes native oats cheap.

ONIONS—Are $1.60 to $1.80. The market will be quiet from this out.

POTATOES—Are 53c. to 55c., the latter price being hard to get. There appears to be a good supply of potatoes yet in the province, and buyers are not so sure of a good future market to $1, and chickens 30c. to 60c. The demand and the supply are both giving out.

POULTRY—Geese are 7c. to 8c., turkeys 10½c. to 12c., ducks—now very scarce—80c.

SEEDS—Bad roads continue to keep business dull. Seedsmen here pay $3.50 to $3.75 for red clover, $4 to $6 for alsike, and $1.25 to $1.50 for timothy.

SKINS—No change. No. 1 calf are 6c., and No. 2 are 5c. Sheepskins are worth $1.10 to $1.35.

STRAW—Tight pressed oat on the track is $6 to $6.50. Loose oat is down to $3 and $4. Bundled oat is $6 to $8.

TALLOW—Rough is 1¼ to 2c., rendered is 5 to 5¼c.

WOOL—Is 22 to 24c. in the fleece. For lowest pulled is paid 24c.; for superfine 25c., and for extra super 30c.

CRANBERRIES.

There has been no provincial fruit for a long time, and there is scarcely any of the Cape Cod growth now. Prices are $14 to $15 per barrel, and $4.50 per crate.

FISH.

The approach of Lent has not yet made any perceptible improvement in the market. Stocks are not being disturbed on account of the soft weather. The prices are unchanged. Whiefish are 7c. per pound, salmon trout 7½c., salted sea salmon $12 per barrel, fresh cod 5c. per pound, steak cod 6c., haddock 5 to 5½c., Labrador herring $5 to $5.50 per barrel, and $3.25 to $3.75 per half-barrel, shore herring $4 per barrel, and $2.25 per half-barrel, boneless cod 6c. to 8c. per pound, boneless fish 6c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Valencia oranges are $4.50 to $5 per box. Florida russets are $4 to 4.25, and fancy brights $4.25 to $4.50. Messinas are $3 to $3.25. California navels are $6 to $6.50. Palermo lemons are $5 to $6.50 in 300's, and $3 to $5 in 360's. Messinas are $5 to $6.25 in 300's, and $4 to $5 in 360's. Malaga grapes are $10, and scarcely a keg in stock. Sweet potatoes are $6. Bananas are back to the market again and are selling at $2 to $2.50.

PROVISIONS.

BACON—Long clear is 7½c., breakfast is 11c., and roll is 8½c.

HAMS—Smoked are 11c., and green 10c.

LARD—Canadian tub are 8½c., pails are 9c. American tubs are 8c., pails 8½c.

MESS PORK—Heavy mess is $13. Canadian short-cut is $14.

DRESSED HOGS—Heavy are worth $5 to $5.50, according to quality. Light, select weights are $5.75 to $6. Medium $5.40 to $5.75. The supply has declined somewhat during the present week.

DRY GOODS.

The week's trade shows an improvement. Further changes must be in the direction of improvement, as the lowest point has been reached no doubt before this. The fourth of February has come and gone, and although it never fell in a duller period before, it has often recorded many more failures. The price of raw cotton has gone up more than 10 per cent. This will not affect prices of the manufactured product, as no doubt mills will close one by one as soon as they get their present stock of new material made up. No mill will buy now and undertake to continue manufacturing against competitors whose old stock holds out.

If you can arouse curiosity by an advertisement, it is a great point gained. The fair sex don't hold all the curiosity in the world.

MONTREAL

MONTREAL MARKETS.

FEBRUARY 6, 1890.

GROCERIES.

At last we have to note a decided improvement in all lines of groceries the past few days, owing to the continued cold weather. Tuesday was looked forward to with considerable anxiety for some weeks, as, owing to the scarcity of money, due to the unseasonable weather and the influenza epidemic, it was feared that much of the paper drawn for the first of the month, and due at the banks to-day could not be met. The banks, however, from the Bank of Montreal down, report that the payments were considerably more satisfactory than had been expected.

SUGARS.

The sugar market is in a very poor state at the present time. Few sales are being made. Prices for granulated have dropped 1 ⅛ cent. Quotations, granulated 6⅞ to 7⅛; yellows, 5 to 5½c.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

As the season advances the demand for syrups and molasses increases, with a fair supply to meet all present requirements. Molasses has taken a sudden drop, owing no doubt, to the advertised sale by auction of 1,400 puncheons of Barbadoes, the disputed lot of Ward, Carter & Co., and John Piader. Quotations are: Syrups, medium, 50c., light 60 to 70c. per gallon. Molasses, Barbadoes, under car load, hhds. 45c,; bbls. 48½c.; Porto Rico, 38c.; Antiqua, 39 to 40c.

unchanged prices. Advices from New York state a very firm market.

COFFEES

The market continues very firm at unchanged prices. Moca, 28 to 30c. Java, 24 to 29c. Jamaica, 18 to 22. Rio, 19 to 20c. Plantation Ceylon, 19 to 24c. Marcabo, 18 to 22½c.

DRIED FRUIT.

There is a fairly good trade doing in dried fruit for this season of the year, particularly in Valencia raisins and currants. Dealers have held back so long before buying, looking for lower prices, that they have run themselves short, and are compelled to buy at present figures, which show no indication of a drop on account of small stocks; if anything, they will advance. Prices remain unchanged. Quotations are: London layers, $3 to $3.25. Sultanas are quoted 8½ to 12c., lower grades of which are very poor stock. Currants 5½ to 6c. for Provincials, and Vostizza up to 7c. to 7½ for choice cases. Prunes range from 5 to 7½c. Eleme figs, 9 to 11c. Malaga figs, 5 to 6c. Dried apples, 7c. Evapored apples, by car load, 9 to 10c. Layer Valencias, 8¼c. Valencias are quoted at 6⅞ to 7c.

NUTS.

Trade continues quiet at unchanged prices. Tarragona almonds, 14 to 15c. Ivica, 12½ to 13c. Ordinary French walnuts, 10 to 11c. Grenobles, 14 to 16c. Filberts scarce at 9½ to 10c. for Sicily. Brazil nuts, 9 to 12c.

CANNED GOODS.

There is a decided improvement noticed in canned goods as the season advances. Packers will not sell a case less than association prices, and stocks held are small. Corn remains firm. Peas are very scarce. Following are association prices: Corn, $1.20; marrowfat peas, $1.15; sweet peas, $1.25; tomatoes, $1.20; stringless beans, 85c.; butter beans, 90c.; apples, 3 lb., $1.05; per gal. $2.35. Canned fruits are fairly active. Strawberries are scarce and have advanced. Quotations: Pine apples, $2.25 to $2.40; strawberries, $2.35 to $2.50; peaches, $2.15 to $2.25; plums, $1.75 to $2.00; pears, $2 to $2.10. Canned fish has become quite active. Lobsters scarce at $6.80 per case; offers have been made in Halifax at $7.50 per case and refused. Mackerel very scarce at $6 per case. Salmon, now taking the place of mackerel, owing to the scarcity and high price of the latter, are lower, and is now quoted at $1.50 to $1.65. Sardines are now moving pretty freely at the advanced prices, viz., $8 to $10. A report from Bordeaux states an advance equal to $1.25 per case.

FISH.

We have no change to note in fish. The demand continues good at unchanged prices. The demand for Labrador herrings continue good, and low grades have been sold at $3.75, while better lots are bringing $4 to $4.25, with half barrels at $2.50. Newfoundland shore herring are $3.50, and Cape Breton at $4.50. Quotations are: Green cod, No. 1 large, $6.25; No. 1, $5.50, with haddock at $4.50 to $5. British Columbia salmon remains steady at $11 per barrel. Sea trout, $9. Dry cod, $4 to $4.50. Lake trout, $4.25. White fish, $5.50 per half barrel. Salt water eels, $6½c. per lb. Smoked herring, 11 to 13c. per box.

The demand for fresh frozen fish continues good, and the receipts, which have been fair, have been well absorbed. Cod has sold readily at 3½c. per lb., and haddock 3¼c. Herring is also selling well at $1.50 per 100 for ordinary stock. Tommy cods have been in demand and steady at $1 to $1.25. Smelts have sold from 5c. to 6c. per lb., and white fish at 6c. to 7c. per lb. Hand-picked Malpecque oysters, $2.50 per bbl. Lake trout, 7c. to 7½c. ; brook trout, very scarce at 12c.

Quotations for dried fish are : St. John bloaters 90c. to $1 per box; Yarmouth, $1.25 to $1.35. Finan Haddies, very firm, stocks light, 6¼c. to 7½c.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

GRAIN—Business remains dull and quotations are nominal. We quote : Wheat, No. 1, hard Manitoba, 99c. to $1, No. 2, do., 97c. to 98c., peas, per 66 lbs., 70c. to 71c., oats, 30c. to 31c., corn, in bond, 40c. to 42c., barley 48c. to 53c.

FLOUR—No sales were reported on 'Change. The only business is of a jobbing character. We quote as follows : Patent winter $4.75 to $5, patent spring $4.75 to $5, straight roller $4.50 to $4.75, extra $4.15 to $4.30, superfine $3 to $3.75, city strong bakers $5.80 to $5.90, strong bakers $4.25 to $4.60, superfine (bags) $1.50 to $1.75, extra (bags) $1.75 to $2.

PRODUCE AND PROVISIONS.

EGGS—American eggs are being offered here at very low prices, and there is a weaker feeling. Twenty cents can be made for a really fine case of Canadian new laid, but most of the stock here is not salable at more than 16c. to 17c.

HOG PRODUCTS—Dull and quiet. Canada short cut, $14.50 to $15 ; Western short cut, $13 to $13.50 ; Western mess, $12 to $13.25; hams, city cured, 11½c. to 12½c ; lard, 8¼c. to 8¾c. ; bacon, 12c. to 13c. ; dressed hogs, $5.70 to $6.

DRESSED POULTRY AND GAME—The season is almost over, not because the demand is not good, but because there is very little stock. Chickens sold to-day at 12c., and turkeys at 14c.

GREEN FRUIT.

The following are the quotations for to-day : Valencia oranges $4.50 ; Messinas, $3 per box of 300 ; Floridas $4 to $4.50 per box ; apples $3 to $4 per barrel ; Malaga grapes, $8 to $8.50 ; cranberries, $10 to $12 ; lemons $4.50 to $5.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

CHEESE—There is nothing new in cheese, the demand for cheese worth under 10c. leading to some business and finest being held at above that figure. Finest September 10¼c. to 10½c., finest Augusts and Octobers 9¾c. to 10c., good to fine 10c. to 9½c.

BUTTER—There is nothing new in butter. We quote to-day as follows : Finest creamery 23c. to 24c. ; finest townships 19c. to 21c. ; fair to fine 13c. to 16c. ; Morrisburg, 13c. to 17c. ; western 11c. to 16c ; rolls 14c. to 17c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

We are indebted to Messrs. James Guest & Co., commission merchants, St. Sacrament Street, for a very handsome calendar.

Thibaudeau Bros. & Co., wholesale dry goods, St. Paul Street, can lay claim to the finest advertising card to date. Standing out from a finely lithographed card on which are seen a fleet of British men-of-war, is a complete man-of-war, fully rigged and called the "Thibaudeau."

A demand of assignment has been made on Francois Giroux, French manufacturer's agent, of St. Francois Xavier street, by Messrs. Lamaille & Co., of Paris, France. The liabilities will amount to between thirty and forty thousand dollars. The principal creditors here are Auge & Lafortune, advocates, interested to about five thousand dollars.

Charles Boden, commission merchant of Montreal, has been arrested on a capias at the instance of Ulric Courchene, farmer, on a debt of $400. Courchene obtained judgment against Mr. Boden a few weeks ago for cheese which he left with Mr. Boden to be sold, but for which Boden never paid him. Courchene now wants his money paid to him. Mr. Boden has been released on bail.

Joseph Dagenais, dry goods dealer on St. Lawrence street, has assigned with about $20,000 liabilities at the demand of James Slessor & Co. The municipal creditors are E. Delaunay, $4,204 ; Thibaudeau Bros. & Co., $3.315.76 ; Gault Bros. & Co., $1,741 ; James Johnston & Co., $1,613 ; Robertson, Linton & Co., $1.000 ; Thomas May & Co., $800 ; J. G. Patterson & Co., $827.84.

Mr. Hormisdas Gariepy, grocer, 155 St. Paul street, has assigned at the demand of Messrs. John Duncan & Co., with liabilities of about $25,000. The principal creditors are the Jacques Cartier Bank, $5.875 ; estate Victor Beaudry, $4,000 (mortgage) ; Henry Shippel, $3,500 ; Chas. Lacaille & Co., $1,886 ; P. Grace & Co., $2,037 (secured) ; Meagher Bros. & Co., $1,018.

Mr. Wm. Duckworth, city traveller for Turner, Rose & Co., has been a staunch admirer of THE GROCER from its infancy. Here is how he expresses himself : "I have taken a great deal of interest in THE GROCER from the first number, feeling sure that it was filling a long-felt want. I read each number carefully from beginning to end and profit thereby, and I take pleasure in drawing the attention of my customers of its value to the trade." Thanks, awfully !

At a special meeting of the Montreal Wholesale Grocers' Association held last Friday, the following delegates were appointed to interview the Minister of Customs in reference to the duty on molasses and other matters relating to the wholesale grocery trade : Messrs. John Baird, C. P. Herbert, John Major, C. Chaput, John Pinder and H. H. F. Hughes. They left to-day, accompanied by a delegation from Quebec.

STOCK-TAKING.

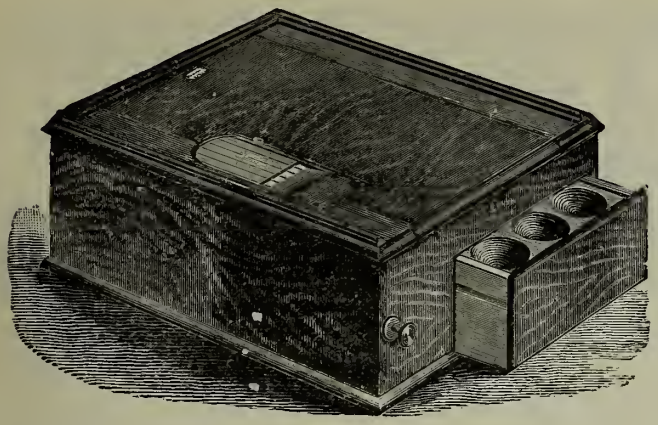
Our Montreal correspondent this week refers to a method of taking stock which was described to him by Mr. Hebert of the firm of Messrs. Hudon, Hebert et Cie., wholesale grocers, of that city. The plan is one which has long been followed in Mr. Hebert's firm, and on account of its relation to our former articles on stock-taking, we bring it out of its connection in our Montreal news to present it in these columns.

Messrs. Hudon, Hebert et Cie. attach nearly as much importance to the preparation for stock-taking as they do to the stock-taking itself. At the end of the eleventh month of their commercial year the preliminary process is begun, and continues throughout all but the last day of the remaining month. This preparatory work consists in placing and collecting goods, removing obstacles, and getting everything into the best of shape to expedite the making of the inventory. The putting in order of a large stock is a piece of labor that cannot be estimated until it is begun. The actual practice of the work is prolific of suggestions that bewilder, impede and stretch out the task until it is chaos on a magnificent scale. The thing requires time and deliberation. This is why Messrs. Hudon, Hebert et Cie. take a month to do it. No movement of the stock is made in that time but with an eye to the convenience of stock-taking.

Thus, when the day of entering comes, everything is ready. Messrs. Hudon, Hebert et Cie., close their place of business on that last day of their commercial year. That day is dedicated wholly to stock-taking. No other business, no intrusion, is allowed to dissipate the attention of the stock-takers. They have therefore the whole day, and having a conveniently disposed stock they can do all the work possible to be done in that day. They always finish the stock-taking without trespassing on another day. Further, they have never to cancel or amend entries, which they would have to do if sales were going on concurrently. When they close their year their inventory is a true statement of the stock on hand. Their method should be imitated.

SELLING BISCUITS.

All are anxious to do more business than they are at present doing. Thus, to get an increase in any one line of goods, that line must, for an uncertain time be carefully looked after. One line that we would suggest, where one has a good family trade, is the increasing sale of biscuits. The profit on biscuits runs from three to seven or eight cents per pound. It is desirable to sell as many, and increase your trade as much as is possible.



To do this, the goods must be on view, and our object is to give the best mode putting them on view, and we suggest the following, knowing that if special attention is paid to showing them to your customers, they will use more of them.

Our plan is this. Have a case made with a slanting top. This cover should have a good piece of plate glass in it as ordinary glass is too light and will break easily thus giving constant trouble. The case may be made to hold any number of samples, but for an average trade about twenty partitions of four inches square. In these, samples may be put, and changed twice a month or thereabout. Then they will always be nice and fresh. This case should be made of plain oak and oiled; if made of pine and painted or stained, it always presents a dirty appearance, whereas the oak oiled can always be touched up a little and kept clean and neat.

There are few merchants who have not a carpenter dealing with them, who would be glad of such a job and would likely take, groceries for his trouble. You would then get the case at a low figure, and your biscuit trade, we are sure, would increase. There are other lines that we may say something about in the near future.

A MOLASSES CONTRACT.

Mr. John Pinder, commission merchant on St. Sacrament street, is suing Messrs. Ward, Carter & Co., importers and wholesale grocers on Commissioners street, for $10,000 and for $3,000 in two separate actions. The case came up on an incidental demand before Mr. Justice de Lorimier in Chambers this morning, when, Mr. E. Guerin, attorney for John Pinder, explained the nature of the actions. The plaintiff and the defendants, he said, made a joint contract for molasses to the amount of over $100,000 part of the molasses being placed with each of the parties. Some difficulties arose between them, and on January 23rd inst. Messrs. Ward, Carter & Co., made a demand of assignment on Mr. Pinder for $4,500 but were never returned in Court. Then in his turn Mr. Pinder took out an action for $3,000 against Messrs. Ward, Carter & Co., alleged amount of an overdue note. And, again, Mr. Pinder entered the other action of $10,000 damages, for having made the demand of assignment upon him A few days ago an agreement was reached to sell the whole stock of molasses en bloc and divide the money. It is alleged by Mr. Pinder's attorney that Messrs. Wood, Carter & Co., backed out of that agreement. This morning Mr. Pinder petitioned the Court to set aside the demand of assignment and to order that Messrs. Ward, Carter & Co., do not proceed any further in the matter pending this petition. The answer to this petition will be heard to-morrow.—Montreal Star.

OUR CREDIT SYSTEM.

That our credit system is entirely worong, has been demonstrated by the heavy losses sustained recently by our manufacturers. It is not only injurious to the manufacturer but to the retailer as well. If the retailer were obliged to pay for his goods in 30 or 60 days he would be more careful in his purchases, and more than all, would be more particular as to whom he credits. Book accounts and long credits are the general causes of bankruptcy. A retailer, knowing that he can get all the goods he wants on four months' time, sells a great many goods on the monthly payment plan. For a month or two his customers pay up well and then stop a month or two, or become very irregular in payments, and the merchant, not being a good collector, or fearing to offend his customers, allows this to go on, and the time comes when he finds his liabilities running up, his assets appearing all on his books, and not available, then he begins to scatter his purchases, buys a bill or two from this firm, two or three from another, until they become so widely scattered that he cannot handle them. If he be dishonest, he can work in so many goods before the first comes due that he disposes of them at any price and puts in his pocket a good round sum, and gives his creditors what they can get. If he be honest, he can struggle on month after month, harassed by his small creditors until he can stand it no longer, and succumbs to the inevitable.

The manufacturer, if he be in good credit, readily obtains money on his drafts, and not being obliged to carry the account himself, does not hesitate to sell on long time, and himself overtrading or doing more business than his capital warrants, is obliged sometimes to make a quick turn over and sell his goods without a profit to realize. Another manufacturer, not wishing to run any risks, gives a very large discount for cash, in fact so large that the profit is about all taken off, and finds at the end of the year that he has made very little, if anything. Such is the result of our credit system; in fact the result has not half been told. The remedy is in the hands of the manufacturers, and is one of the first things the associations should take hold off.—Furniture Dealers' Journal.

THE CANNED GOODS LAW.

Her Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and House of Commons of Canada, enacts as follows:—

In this Act the expression "package" means every can, tin or package in which articles or goods are put up for sale, and which are closed by being hermetically sealed. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 1.

Except in the case of goods packed previously to July 20, 1885, every package of canned goods sold or offered for sale in Canada, for consumption therein, shall have attached thereto or imprinted thereon a label or stamp, setting forth in legible characters the name and address of the person, firm or company by whom the same was packed, or of the dealer who sells the same or offers it for sale.

Every such package containing goods prepared from products which have been dried previously to being so prepared, shall, in addition, be labelled or stamped with the word "soaked," which word shall be plainly printed diagonally across the face of the label in large, legible type at least half an inch in height and three-eighths of an inch in width.

Every person who sells or offers for sale any such goods in violation of any provision of this section shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, for a first offence incur a penalty of two dollars for each such package, and for a subsequent offence a penalty not exceeding twenty dollars and not less than four dollars for each such package in respect of which any such provision has been violated. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 2.

Every person who places on any package any label, brand or mark which falsely represents the quantity or weight of the contents of such package, shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, incur a penalty of two dollars for each package on which the quantity or weight is so falsely represented; provided always, that a variation under the rate of three per cent. shall not be deemed a violation of the provisions of this section. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 3.

Every person who places on any package any label, brand or mark which falsely represents the date when the article or goods contained therein were packed, shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, incur a penalty of two dollars for each package on which such date is falsely represented. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 4.

CERTIFICATES OF STRENGTH AND PURITY.

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC ANALYST,

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

GENTLEMEN,—I have personally taken samples from a large stock of your Granulated Sugar, "REDPATH" brand, and carefully tested them by the Polariscope, and I find these samples to be as near to absolute purity as can be obtained by any process of Sugar-Refining.

The test by the Polariscope showed in yesterday s yield 99·90 per cent. of Pure Cane Sugar, which may be considered commercially as ABSOLUTELY PURE SUGAR.

JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, P.L.D., D.C.L., F.C.S.,

Public Analyst for the District of Montreal, and Professor of Chemistry.

CHEMICAL LABORATORY, MEDICAL FACULTY, MCGILL UNIVERSITY.

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Company:

GENTLEMEN,—I have taken and tested a sample of your "EXTRA GRANULATED" Sugar, and find that it yielded 99·88 per cent. of Pure Sugar It is practically as pure and good a Sugar as can be manufactured.

Yours truly,

G. P. GIRDWOOD.

THE SUCCESSFUL BLACK LIST.

The Toronto Retail Grocers' Association has adopted the black list plan, and is finding it successful. Each member is furnished with blank lists, which he fills out with the names of all the deadbeats which he finds on his books. These lists are then tabulated and printed for the use of members. So far a good many thousand dollars worth of bad debts have been placed on record, and the persons who contracted them are shut off from credit in any of Toronto's Association stores.

This is one of the ways which Associations may be made to pay. Pennsylvania Grocer.

SPECIAL TO OUR READERS.

As the design of THE CANADIAN GROCER is to benefit mutually all interested in the business, we would request all parties ordering goods or making purchases of any description from houses advertising with us to mention in their letter that such advertisement was noticed in THE CANADIAN GROCER.

OUR MONTREAL OFFICE.

Our Montreal Office is located at 115 St. Francois Xavier St. Our representative, Mr. Hugh C. McLean, will be pleased to have subscribers and advertisers call upon him there. He will also pay special attention to gathering business items and attending generally to the interests of this paper.

ANOTHER FRAUD ON THE TRADE.

One of the latest frauds that is being worked successfully on the retail merchants of the country is done through an agent for wrapping paper and paper bags. His plan of operation is to go into a retailer's to sell paper. He quotes extremely low rates, and, of course, gets an order. He then offers to print the firm's name and business card on a few thousand bags which, to save trouble, being an entirely separate transaction, is to be paid for in advance at prices ranging from 90c. to $1.50. The unfortunate retailer gives the order and pays for printing and that is the last ever seen of the agent or his bags. A case has come before us this week which may be all right but it looks rather suspicious. A person who signs himself "H. C. Hammond, agent for the Kingston Paper Co., Kingston, Ont.," is canvassing the trade for paper. He also represents a woodenware firm and offers to supply two hooped pails at 95c. and three at $1.05, which, as every one knows, is away below the cost. He also sells paper at a corresponding reduction. In the case to which we refer he took an order for paper amounting to $10.76 which he was to ship by the Grand Trunk, freight prepaid on sixty days net, four per cent. off ten days. He then offered to give 2,500 S.O.S. bags 2, 3, 6, 12 and 14lb. for the charge of printing, which was to be 95c. prepaid. The firm who were giving him the order became suspicious and refused to pay the amount for printing and after some further discussion the order was cancelled. Inquiry was made at Kingston from a reliable authority as to whether there was any such firm there. The reply came back—"I know of no such concern and could get no particulars of there being any."

As we said before the firm in question may be all right but their way of doing business is suspicious and we consider it our duty to put the trade on their guard.

MEETING OF THE RETAILERS' ASSOCIATION.

The Toronto Retail Grocers' Association held its February meeting on Monday night in its rooms in Shafetsbury Hall. The following members were present: Messrs. Mills, Thackray, Gibson, McCullough, Berwick, Bennie, Williamson, Clarke, Roberts, Booth, Barron, Johnston, Tolchard, Mara, Britton. The chair was occupied by the president, Mr. R. Mills. The minutes of the last meeting were read and, upon the motion of Messrs. Williamson and Gibson, were confirmed. The roll-call found all the officers present.

NEW MEMBERS.

The following new members were proposed: A. White, 438 College St., by Mr. Gibson; J. R. Hogg & Co., corner Carlton and Church Sts., and J. F. Cleary, 217 College St., by Mr. Thackray; W. McCleary, Elizabeth St., and J. Patterson, cor. Esther and St. Patrick Sts., by Mr. Clarke. The rules of procedure were suspended for the election of the first three candidates for membership, who had already deposited their initiation fee, and their admission to the Association was duly passed, and their names recorded among the members'.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. Gibson, the chairman of the "At Home" committee reported the gratifying success of the entertainment his committee had charge of and stated that there was a small balance on hand from the proceeds of it after all expenses had been paid. It was moved by Mr. McCullough and seconded by Mr. Booth that the committee's report be received, and the thanks of the Association be accorded Mr. Gibson and his colleagues for their efficient management of the "At Home." The motion was carried.

It was moved by Mr. Clarke and seconded by Mr. Berwick, that the Association present the At Home surplus to the Hospital for Sick Children, and add as much more to it from the funds of the Association as shall be necessary to make the entire donation twenty dollars.

In support of the motion Mr. Berwick said he felt that the benefit of the At Home should not flow wholly to the Association, as grocers outside the Association, as well as wholesalers, had greatly contributed to the financial success of it. He thought it would be selfish of the Association to seize every accident of the entertainment, particularly since they had such an enjoyable time at it, and were at no loss. The Hospital for Sick Children was a worthy object of charity, and being a non-sectarian institution, none could have any personal reluctance to make it the recipient of the Association's bounty.

Mr. Barron concurred in Mr. Berwick's view that it would appear too grasping of the Association to take to itself every advantage of the At Home. He wished the surplus had been fifty dollars, and he would have readily voted its bestowal upon the Hospital.

Mr. Gibson approved of the donation. His own view was that the members of the committee would have made up the surplus to twenty dollars out of their own pockets sooner than see the gift to the hospital fall below that amount.

Mr. Tolchard hoped that the Association would soon be large and wealthy enough to support a fund for the widows and orphans of its deceased members. Such a fund would render unnecessary the seeking of any outer objects of charity. The motion was carried.

THE MARKET BY-LAW.

The secretary reported that he had heard nothing from the council. Mr. Gibson said the by-law had got so far as the legislative committee. He was therefore of the opinion that Mr. Gillespie, chairman of that committee, should be seen to hasten the matter. Inspector Awde should be supported by the Association's committee which has charge of the matter. The meeting concurred in Mr. Gibson's opinion, and upon the motion of Mr. Gibson, seconded by Mr. Booth, reinforced the by-law committee by adding to it the names of Messrs. Tolchard, Barrron, Clarke, Gibson and Mara.

THE TOBACCO SEIZURES.

The secretary reported that, instead of advertising for the names of dealers whose tobacco had been seized he had personally visited several. He had collected the particulars of each case and had forwarded them to Mr. Small, M.P. for East Toronto, to be by him brought before the Minister of Inland Revenue. The secretary had made, along with these particulars, a claim for a remittance of the fines imposed and a return of the tobacco seized, or of its equivalent, alleging that in all the cases the dealer had been carrying on a legitimate trade. He had so far received no reply.

PLACE OF MEETING.

Mr. Mills reported that owing to the pressure of At Home business, the committee had been too much engaged to look after a place to hold the Association's meetings after to-night. The meeting agreed to leave the matter still in the hands of the same committee.

COMMUNICATIONS AND ACCOUNTS.

The secretary read (1) an acknowledgement from J. Ross Robertson of the vote of thanks tendered at last meeting for the attitude of the Telegram on the tea-fakir question ; (2) a letter from a Morrisburg grocer concerning the measures to be taken to recover the value of tobacco wrongfully seized in this city. The correspondent says he suffered a seizure of 79 pounds in November, 1888, which he would be glad to know any means of recovering. He was led to enquire of the Association, as in the report of its last meeting he had read its resolution to take steps to recover the Toronto seizures ; (3) an account of $5 for hall rent.

The communications were received, and Messrs. Booth and McCulloch moved that a warrant be drawn on the treasurer for the rent. Carried.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The new regulation regarding the examination of scales was discussed. After each examination a certificate is given, on which are placed stamps recording charges for the alterations made. Some members found fault that there were charges for cartage of which the certificate took no cognizance, and held that if it were a statement of what a man paid for scale examination it should be a full one and leave out nothing. The verdict of the meeting appeared, however, to be very favorable to the inspecting officials, of whose courtesy more than one member had good words to say. The chairman approved frequent examination. He wished it could overtake those fugitive scales that were used in farmers' wagons. The farmers should be required to show certificates.

Mr. Britton brought up a question that had been touched upon at a former meeting, viz., the collection of the debts of employes' of the Ontario government. The salaries of these officials could not be garnisheed, and very many of them took advantage of this to run large accounts and leave them unpaid. This would be a good time to memorialize the government, while the Legislature was in session. He felt their wages could be secured as well as could those of civic officials. He was aware that if employes' of the city disregarded their debts redress could be had from the heads of departments. He knew personally that Mr. Coatsworth, for instance, would soon discharge a man who would not pay his debts. He felt the same would be done by heads of Government Departments, if an appeal were made. After further discussion, it was moved by Mr. Williamson, seconded by Mr. Britton, that a committee be appointed to draft a memorial to the Ontario Government, setting forth the views of the association, and asking the co-operation of the Government to obtain the payment of grocers' debt from Government employes': The committee to act along with similar committees from the tailors' and bakers' associations, and to be made up of Messrs. Mills, Berwick, and Thackray. Carried.

REMARKS IN INTERESTS OF ASSOCIATION.

Mr. Roberts referred to a circular in which eleven bars of laundry soap were offered for fifty cents. The soap was Morse's and the circular emanated from a dealer who was not in the grocery trade. It was the opinion of members that the manufacturers of this soap would discountenance any such practice if they knew of it. The secretary was therefore authorized to write to Messrs. Morse & Co., and report the matter.

THANKS.

Mr. Gibson moved, seconded by Mr. Barron, that a vote of thanks be tendered to Mr. Alexander for his gratuitous and valuable services at the At Home.—Carried.

Mr. Gibson moved, and Mr. Berwick seconded a vote of thanks to Harry Webb for his satisfactory catering at the At Home.—The meeting then adjourned.

BLACK-LIST NOTES.

Another benefit of the black list is that it is operative upon the sense of shame of delinquent debtors. Three of those already listed, have paid up in full upon notice from their grocers that their names had been handed in. Of course their names will not appear in the completed list.

The secretary is constantly receiving letters from different parts of the country asking for copies of the Association's constitution, and for details of the black-list scheme. These are signs of the growing spirit of organization, which is to be the means of revolutionizing the present unsatisfactory condition of business.

The black list has been extended by the addition of 100 new names, the increase of the February gathering. The amount represented by them is about $1,500. There are now 241 names on the list and the aggregate of the bad debts upon it is $4,500.

An incidental advantage of the list is its usefulness as a means of bringing new members into the Association. Mr. Thackray took several names again on this round.

There is a decidedly improved feeling among the members this winter, as compared with last. Mr. Thackray contrasts favorably the spirit he is now received in with that he generally encountered a year ago. There was dissatisfaction, or reluctance to pay fees, and a lack of heartiness concerning the usefulness of the Association. Now there is a sanguine feeling reflected in the manner of the members called upon, which shows that the Association is becoming very popular. The black list is one of the reforms since last year, to which this improved feeling is due.

The secretary has still to complain of delay in furnishing lists. Too many dealers are not prepared at the time of calling, despite the notice they receive. This should not be. We hope the March trip will be an experience of greater readiness on the part of members.

Messrs. J. Cleghorn & Son have just received a car of California oranges, and exceptionally fine stock they are. They include Washington navels, Riverside seedlings and Mediterranean sweets. The well known superiority of the Pacific fruit is borne out by the sample of this year's growth that Messrs. J. Cleghorn & Son have brought upon the market. In fact this crop is better than usual, because of its being picked a month earlier than in former years. This early maturity is an advantage to the flavor. The remarkable mildness of the weather is no doubt the reason of the California oranges being so far forward. A very goodly sight to look upon is the array of orange packages in Cleghorn & Son's warehouse. Their advertisement in another column notifies the trade.

"BUSINESS IS BUSINESS."

The story is told of a young man who had accumulated a thousand dollars and was debating whether he should buy a small candy store with it or lend it on a mortgage. After stating his perplexity to an older man the question was asked :

"Do you understand the candy business ?"

"No ; I did not think it was necessary. I expect to supervise it merely."

"Then you will lose all your money in three months."

"You think I had better lend the money on the mortgage ?"

"I do not say that. What is your business ; that is, what do you perfectly understand ?"

"I know the pickle business through and through. I can make pickles of all kinds, but I do not like it."

"Never mind what you like. Go and get a small place and make pickles ; go from hotel to hotel, restaurant to restaurant, and sell them. In ten years come back and see me ; you will have $10,000 at least."

As the young man was going away he was called back.

"Here is a card ; I want you to put it where you can see it a hundred times a day." These were the words on the card : "Business is business. Men don't do what they like, they do what they can."

The card had a strange fascination for him ; he read it with care as he walked along the street. As he studied it, new light seemed to enter his mind.

He found a dingy basement and began to arrange for his operations. Of course vinegar must be got, several barrels of it ; some was offered him at 10 cents a gallon, some more was shown at 5 cents. "Which shall I take ?" He thought of the words on his card. He seemed to see people testing his pickles, and, not liking them, depart without buying. "They will know good vinegar," thought he, and so he bought the honest stuff.

In a few days several tubs of materials were ready, and he knew he must market them. Now he greatly dreaded to face strange peopie and push his goods upon their notice. He never had courage when a boy, and now as a young man he felt more timid it seemed. But he thought of the words on the card, and entered a restaurant. The evident manager was a blooming young woman, and the pickle dealer was more afraid of women than men. But "business is business" repeated itself over and over in his mind.

The answer to his statement was that his pickles would be tried, and, if found all right, would be purchased.

"Glad I got that good vinegar," thought the young man ; and he began to feel that there was a certain power in the maxim his adviser had given. He began to feel a courage he had never expected in meeting people and trying to sell his goods to them.

Calling at a store to get, if possible, an order for pickles in bottles, he was quickly and rudely met with, "Don't want to see any such stuff." Noticing the utter dismay on the young man's face, the merchant said, short and sharp, "Don't you know enough of business to put up your goods attractively ?"

As he retreated, ruffled and disheartened, the maxim repeated itself over and over with this additional sentence, "It is business to put up goods attractively." He sought out a lithographer and had some handsomely colored labels printed. "They will buy the bottles," said a friend, "just for the picture you have on them."

When he had gained sufficient courage he sought out again the merchant who had rebuffed him. "I have come to make you a present of a bottle of fine pickles."

" Why do you make me a present of them ?"

"Because you gave me advice that is worth a great deal."

The morning of one Fourth of July came, and he pondered whether to go to his store or not. All at once he thought, people going on picnics will want pickles ; it was the magic words on the little card that ran through his mind. He found, as he had thought, a large number of buyers waiting for him.

The little card was consulted in all sorts of weather. If a man made a proposition to him of any kind, and he was in doubt, he would go and look at the words, though he knew them by heart already. One day a cheese merchant came to persuade him to buy his stock.

"People," said he, "who buy pickles always buy cheese ; you will do a big trade." It was a temptation. He went and looked at the words and studied them intently, trying to think out their application to the case in hand. "Men do what they can," he reflected. "I would like to sell cheese, but I know I can sell pickles ;" then he returned. Now he was resolute and firm, although by nature easily bent and swayed by the words of others.

"Business is business," he said. "I am in the pickle business ; if I cannot make money in this I shall quit and go into something else ; but I will not have two kinds on my hands."

It was a turning point ; after this he could refuse all influence to go into something that seemed at the time more lucrative. He was not only industrious, it is plain, he had a fixed principle of action. Of course he was successful ; all men who put industry and mind to their work are bound to be successful. When the ten years were up of course he had the $10,000 and more, too.—American Grocer.

"A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches."—Solomon.

DUTY ON MOLASSES.

Messrs. R. Turner, president of the Quebec Board of trade ; C. P. Herbert, C. Chaput, P. Hughes and F. Stephen, wholesale grocers of Montreal, had an interview with the Minister of Finance on Thursday in reference to securing a change in the duty on molasses from ad valorem to spicific of so much per gallon, according to a test of saccharine strength. The deputation explained that if a cargo of molasses were purchased in the West Indies at the current market price, say fifteen cents per gallon, perhaps before it could be landed at Halifax, Montreal or Quebec, the market price would have gone up to twenty-two cents and the importer would have to pay duty on the higher price as well as on certain charges. They contended that an ad valorem duty made it impossible, owing to the fluctuations in the molasses market, to conduct a fair business, and urge that if the duty were specific it would relieve them from a serious disability. The ministers promised to give the case careful consideration.

TRAVELLER'S NOTES.

The merchants in the west rejoice at the sight of snow. Business that has been so dull is beginning to pick up, and they expect to make good the dull days they had at the beginning of the year.

One merchant told GROCER that if trade kept moving as it does now since the snow fell he would far exceed last year's receipts.

Collections also are easier, and altogether things are looking favorable.

Two years ago Weinger & Co. started grocery business in Berlin, to-day he has one of the best trades of that place. Next year he expects to enlarge and get more hands on. He is a close reader of the GROCER.

Mr. A. S. Hallman says he has tried all papers of interest to his trade, and, like other Berlin grocers, is "stuck" on the GROCER. TRAVELLER.

The Nova Scotia Fruit Growers' Association is in session at Wolfville. It was stated that speculators had made $50,000 profit on apples purchased in the Annapolis valley last season, and that by ignorant and dishonest packing the fruit growers had only received three-fifths of the actual value of their products and had lost $200,000. It was stated that previous to the Government giving a subsidy to the Furness line of freight steamers from Halifax and St. John to London, the fruit growers were afforded competition by the Anchor and Furness lines, with freight at seventy cents a barrel ; but the $25,000 subsidy to the Furness boats had driven the Anchor line out of this region and consequently the rates had jumped up to over one dollar a barrel. The association passed a resolution that a Government subsidy to any line of freight steamers to London is prejudicial to the interests of shippers of apples to Great Britain.

THE HON. JOHN MACDONALD.

A life that was an influence for good in many spheres has just reached its close. Commerce, politics, patriotism, religion and benevolence, all are bereaved in the death of Senator Macdonald. The country has lost a good man. Honor and gratitude are the tribute it owes to his memory, a tribute which many of its individual citizens will always render.

The Hon. John Macdonald was born sixty-five years ago. He was a Scotchman by birth, but a Canadian by early adoption and education. His business training he received in Gananoque and Toronto. A little over forty years ago he started a dry goods store on Yonge street, which four years after he left for one on Welligton street, to carry on business as an importer. There his business developed year by year, until it reached the magnificent proportions betokened by the stately edifice in which it is now done. His commercial career is an example of success founded on application, uprightness and liberality.

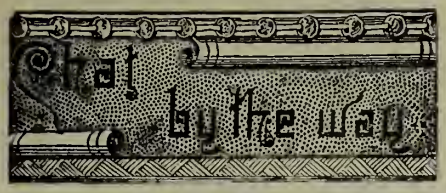
ARGUMENTS AT THE TOBACCO CONFERENCE.

After the account we have given of the conference of the joint committee of the Retail Grocers' Association and the Wholesale Grocers' Guild with the Chief Commission and the Minister of Inland Revenue, it may not be uninteresting to our readers to know some of the arguments adduced at those conferences in favor of a change of the regulations, as against the objections put forth by the Minister and the Commissioners.

The grocers' committee held that the regulations should be constructed so as to make it obligatory on the excise officer who delivers tobacco, to see that none gets out of bond without the certificate upon it that it is legally released. This should be the excise officer's responsibility, and might be discharged by him either at the factory or at the warehouse, a matter of detail the committee had no object in being express about. After the collector had seen each package invested with whatever credentials of legitimacy the Department might adopt, the committee argued that it should be a private right of trade for every dealer to sell, dispose or exhibit his tobacco in any manner or quantity he might see fit.

Another plea of the grocers was, that the regulations were so numerous and involved that but few dealers could ever thoroughly understand them. At present every trader needed to understand them that he might be competent to say whether the marks on any given package were adequate to make the contents of that package lawful stock in trade. If it should happen they were not, and the retailer should unwittingly treat them as if they were, he exposed himself to the possibilities of confiscation, fine and imprisonment. Thus, his own ignorance, for which there is manifest reason in the obscurity and volume of the regulations, would expose him to punishment for the fault of the manufacturer, wholesaler or collector. It was submitted, therefore, that the only way to prevent this sort of injustice to a large body of honest traders, was by the same means suggested to permit the trader to sell as he pleased, viz., for the Department to see that all the regulations were complied with, and so signified, before the tobacco left the custody of its officials.

To this the representatives of the Department objected that the numbering, stamping and cancelling of packages were the guarantee that the property had paid duty, and that when any of the Department's officers entered any place of business and saw that the packages had been stamped and properly cancelled, they had evidence satisfactory to them. The committee endeavored to show that this was only false security, as any dealer could, if there were such a thing as contraband tobacco within reach of the trade, fill with it any empty box that had been regularly stamped and cancelled, and so use the Department's precautions against such trade as one of the means to carry it on. The committee further urged that it would be more just if the Department would require, in any suspected case that the retailer be obliged to furnish proof of honest possession, proof independent of the absence of certain cabalistic revenue marks on the box. It is quite enough to put on the retailer the onus of such proof. Such proof the record of his invoices supplies.



With reference to selling tobacco in quantities less than a box, the Minister suggested that the trade could get tobaccos put up by the manufacturers in smaller packages, say of five or ten pounds' weight. The committee shewed him that this would enhance the cost and eventually deteriorate the quality of the tobacco, and that when black tobaccos were put up in buiks lighter than seventy pounds, there was loss from damage through contact with the wood, through the insufficiency of the pressure, through saturation. Therefore, if tobacco were put up in still smaller packages, the step would be equivalent to a debasing of the tobacco offered to consumers. There would likewise be increased loss to the dealers.

THE VERDICT OF THE WORLD.

The man who conducts his business on the theory that it doesn't pay, and he can't afford ro advertise, sets up his judgment in opposition to that of all the best business men in the world. With a few years' experience in conducting a small business on a few thousand dollars of capital, he assumes to know more than thousands of men whose hourly transactions aggregate more than his do in a year, and who have made their millions by pursuing a course that he says doesn't pay. If advertising doesn't pay, why is it that the most succeesful merchants in every town large and small, are the heaviest advertisers? If advertising doesn't pay, who does the most business? If it doesn't pay to advertise, why do the heaviest business firms in the world spend millions of dollars in that way? Is it because they want to donate those millions of dollars to the newspaper and magazine publishers, or because they don't know as much about business as the six-for-a-dollar "store-keeper" in a country town, who says money spent in advertising is thrown away, or donated to the man to whom it is paid? Such talk is simply ridiculous, nnd it requires more than the average patience to discuss the proposition of whether advertising pays or not with that kind of a man. His complacent self-conceit in assuming that he knows more than the entire business world is laughable, and reminds us of the man who proved that the world doesn't revolve by placing a pumpkin on a stump and watching it all night.—Burlington Republican.

Mr. W. Boulter, of Picton, Ont., president of the Canadian Packers' Association, passed through Toronto on Sunday to attend the meeting of the Western Canned Goods Association of the United States at Indianapolis, Ind., which meets on the 12th, 13th and 14th. On Tuesday a meeting of all the presidents of the different associations of the United States will be held to form a national association to include Canada. The Canadian association interests will be carefully looked after by Mr. Boulter. Mr Ferguson of Delhi, chairman of the executive committee will meet him at London.

It is easy to show that a 3-inch advertisement by the year will cost much less per thousand for its circulation than any method of distributing circulars. If a tradesman could get his circulars free, he could not get them before the public for twice the price that his advertisement costs him. Circulars have their use, and this is no argument against their value, but a simple comparison showing the extraordinary advantage which the newspaper affords the advertiser.—Rome Sentinel.

The New England Tea Co., is now in Port Hope with a stock of diamonds and tea.

The store of R. Hamilton, 144 Queen street, Toronto, was entered the other night and 20 lbs. of tea stolen.

B. O'Loughlin, of Yarker, says G. l. Ham, the merchant reported to have left Napanee under a cloud, forged his name to a note for $500.

Mr. Beatty, the Toronto wholesale carpet merchant whose sudden death took place last week, began as a general merchant in Omemee.

F. J. Schrader, cigar manufacturer, Hamilton had his premises broken into on Thurday night, and about 40 boxes of cigars were stolen there from.

It is proposed to incorporate the Bushnell Company (limited) to carry on petroleum works at Montreal. The capital stock is placed at $100,000.

W. E. Shipley & Co., general merchants of Ailsa Craig, have dissolved partnership. The business will hereafter be carried on by Mr. Geo. Shipley.

The steamer Halifax took to Boston a cargo valued at $150,000, mostly refind sugar, from the Halifax refinery for the upper provinces and Pacific coast.

Thos. and Fred. McConnell were arrested by acting Detective Black the other night, charged with breaking into the general store of Denham & Ashworth, 474 Yonge street.

One night last week the general store of Messrs. Bemrose Bros. Bradford, was entered by burglars. A quantity of woollen goods was carried off, and a few cents that were left in the till were also pocketed.

Mr. W. H. Smith, wholesale commission merchant, Toronto, is rapidly recovering from a severe sickness, which has confined him to his bed during the last month. The doctors have pronounced him out of danger, and it is hoped in a few days he will be able to attend to business as usual.

The grocery firm of Buckley & Simpson was dissolved on Tuesday. Mr. Buckley withdraws from the business and in future it will be carried on by Messrs. Donald Simpson, & Co. Mr. Simpson is one of Sarnia's most popular and energetic business men and the business is bound to prosper under so competent a management.

A reader of THE GROCER in a city in Western Ontario is compelled to retire owing to ill health, and wishes to dispose of his business or rent it for a term of years. It is a complete general store. At present there is a stock of dry goods, groceries, flour and feed, boots and shoes, etc. There is a shoe shop, wood yard and tailor shop in connection. The turn-over in the year is about $25,000. An energetic man could double this amount. Besides the proprietor there are now employed three clerks and a boy. For fuller particulars apply at THE GROCER office.

One of our reporters had a short conversation with a subscriber, J. F. Gibson, Yonge street, about collections this week. Mr. Gibson says in fifteen years he has not had one hundred dollars bad debts on his books. He spoke of one instance where a lady had owed him a bill for twelve years, but last season came in and paid it. Such a showing as the above was not obtained by carelessness.

Robert F. Kingsmill, London, who has carried on a general dry goods business for the last three or four years, has put up his shutters and closed his store. Mr. Kingsmill is paying his debts and going out of business. There is no assignment, but the dullness in trade of the past few months has sickened him of the business, he says.

At the meeting of the Central Farmers' Institute in Toronto last week, the following motion was submitted and carried : "That we do hereby endorse the bill of Clarke Wallace against combines, and that a deputation consisting of the president, vice-president, secretary and Messrs. Kells and Vallance be appointed to interview the Dominion Government on the question."

The firm of Hamilton & Huether, general merchants, Walkerton, was dissolved on Feb. 1st, and on that date a new firm of Huether Bros. began its mercantile life in Walkerton. A few yars ago Mr. J. Huether came to Walkerton as a clerk, and since that time has risen to be junior partner in a strong firm, and has now taken his brother, Mr. W. B. Huether, into partnership with him.

At a late meeting of the Toronto City Council, Licence Inspector Awde submitted a proposal that all farmers who peddle produce from door to door take out a license After some discussion the matter was referred to the Markets Committee, the reason for this being that the committee is of opinion that the Local Legislature would not allow such a tax on the farmer, and the City Solicitor thonght this matter could be dealt with by that council.

The new Government fish hatchery in Ottawa has been completed, and this week some millions of fish ova from the Newcastle and other establishments will be placed in the hatching troughs. The hatchery will be in charge of Mr. John Walker, who for the last seven years has been employed at the Newcastle establishment. A large supply of "sock-eye" salmon ova from the Fraser river hatchery is now on its way east and will be incubated there.

At a large and representative meeting o the Perth Board of Trade, for the purpose of organizing and election of officers for the ensuing year, the following gentlemen were elected : William Meighen, president ; T. H. Code, vice-president ; W. B. Hart, secretary ; W. A. Meighen, treasurer. Committees were appointed to confer with the town and county councils, in reference to the toll roads. The tax exemption question was also fully discussed, and the papers sent by the Ontario Government, on this question, were carefully considered and answered.

The Novelty Tea Company with its jewellery prizes has vanished from St. John, N.B. They left on the day set for the prosecution of the concern under the Lottery Act, but the proprietors did not wait for a verdict. It is supposed that the "company" went to Halifax. After the departure a party calling himself Pickett arrived, who said that he was the representative of the Importers' Tea Company, which does business in several cities. He charges Cox, one of the Novelty men, with embezzling $500 from the Importers' Company, and has gone in pursuit of him to Halfax.

A delegation of crockery manufacturers had a lengthy interview on Thursday morning with Hon. Messrs. Bowell and Foster. They were accompanied by Mr. Curran, M. P. They asked that the duty on crockery be increased and that certain raw materials used in the industry be put upon the free list. The manufacturers complain that a large quantity of imported goods is not appraised at the proper value, and that on this account they labor under great disadvantages. They say that the industry is becoming a very important one in Canada, and therefore is entitled to protection. The firms represented were the Dominion Sanitary Works, St. Johns, P.Q.; St. Johns Stone Chinaware Co., St. Johns, P.Q.; British Porcelain Works, St. Johns, P.Q.; Messrs. Campbell, of Hamilton, Ont.; Glass, of London, Ont., and Hart, of Belleville.

INSURANCE ADJUSTMENT.

Articles appear in print from time to time on the difficulties that Fire Insurance Companies have in adjusting losses, and from the tenor of some of these articles people are led to believe that there is a good deal of rascality practised by country merchants and others where fires occur, indeed the opinion prevailing largely among insurance men is that a large proportion of the fires where the risks are pretty well insured are incendiary fires, and that cooked statements are presented to prove claims.

In this article we propose to show the other side of the question. We admit that incendiary fires do occur, we also admit that insurance companies are sometimes defrauded by false statements prepared by the assured, but we are unwilling to admit that there is the amount of business immorality existing throughout Ontario that some insurance inspectors and adjusters would have us believe.

Any unprejudiced individual reading the Statutory Conditions on a policy will come to the conclusion that there is no class of corporations whose interests are more protected by Act of Parliament than fire insurance companies, in fact the conditions are of such a protective nature that one would suppose representatives of these companies had legislated alone in this matter, and yet they are not satisfied with the Acts of Parliament passed on their behalf, they must have still better terms on which to take a risk and print on their policies, variations in conditions, which, if they could be legally enforced would be a great injustice to the assured.

As our publication circulates largely among the country merchants, we think it in their interest to sound a note of warning on this subject.

When the local agent of a company takes a risk, the assured usually gives him the cash, or a promise to pay the premium, signs his name to a blank application which the agent at his leisure fills up. In a great many cases this application is not properly filled up, sometimes through carelessness on the part of the local agent, and frequently through his want of knowledge of the business in which he is engaged. We would recommend every country merchant when insuring his stock to fill up the application himself, and if he does not thoroughly understand it, he should get his solicitor or some other competent person to do it for him, for if a fire occurs the company will tell him that the local agent was not their agent, but the agent of the assured, and will hold the assured responsible for all errors.

In cases where there are policies in several companies, he ought to be sure that all the policies are concurrent, and that the companies are notified of the other insurance. These notifications should be written by the assured, copies kept by him, and the originals mailed by registered letter to the head offices of the different companies.

The best kind of policy for a general storekeeper to take is a blanket policy covering equally all of the different lines of goods kept in stock and also his shop furniture. If he insures each class of goods separately, he will have no end of trouble in getting the loss adjusted. The adjusting of a loss under any circumstances is a serious matter, and in cases where books are kept without a merchandise account it is a very complicated affair.

From information we have obtained on this subject we are compelled reluctantly to state that a large number of the Mutual and a few of the smaller stock companies do not try to pay the actual loss sustained, but try to pay the smallest amount they can succeed in settling for. They send out men as appraisers and adjusters who go about their business more like detectives hunting up evidence to condemn a criminal than like business men ready to deal on business principles.

Their motto is, "consider every man a rogue until he is proved an honest man." They pay more attention to the evidence of enemies than to that of friends of the assured, or persons whose opinions are likely to be unbiassed, and should incendiarism or fraud of any kind be suggested by some with whom they converse, they shrug their shoulders or give some other indirect hint in a way that sets the tongues of the gossips wagging. The appraisers sent out by some of these companies, in too many cases, instead of trying to meet the appraiser of the assured in a friendly spirit to arbitrate in a friendly manner on the amount of damage done to the goods, will talk learnedly about the different kinds of damages, consequential damages, and a variety of other damages that exist only in the minds of such men, will try and make the local man feel that he knows nothing about appraising, that the mysteries of the business are known only to a few experts, and in fact so bulldoze him that unless he, the local appraiser, has a pretty solid head on his shoulders the insurance company will get the benefit of the doubt in every case, and get an appraisement that is far from just to the assured.

We have heard of some of these men who could tell by the number of iron hoops found after a fire the number of gallons of vinegar or molasses that were in a stock, could match odd boots into pairs, could form an estimate of the clothing destroyed by the number of buttons found in the debris, and of the total loss by taking stock of the ashes.

The unfortunate country merchant having got rid of the appraiser, perhaps after several sleepless nights, congratulates himself that the worst of his troubles are over, poor unfortunate man, he has only escaped from Scylla to Charybdis. The adjuster next appears on the scene to examine his books, then will he be called upon to show up a complete record of his daily transactions. With a properly kept set of books he may not have much difficulty in showing the amount of his purchases and the amount of his sales since last stock-taking, but his amazement will be great when he finds that he has to prove the profit he has made on every pound of tea, yard of calico, or pair of boots that he has disposed of, that deductions will be made for what the adjuster calls shop-worn goods, loss in weighing and measuring, shrinkage on produce, leakage, warpage, perhaps even stealage, and a variety of other ages that will make an aged man of him in a very short time.

The system of bookkeeping that he gained at a commercial college or from some local expert will avail him little. He will be paralyzed by the array of figures presented to his vision, which in all probability will harass him in his sleep, and make his life so miserable that he will accept the figures of the adjuster rather than run the risk of having his hair become prematurely grey through the mental effort required to steer him through the labyrinth of figures.

The remarks do not apply to respectable stock companies who charge fair premiums for the risks they take, but unfortunately there are a number of fire insurance companies, principally mutual, who try to do business below paying rates, and endeavor to settle their losses not on the principle of common honesty, but on the principle of taking as much of the loss as possible out of the assured.

We would recommend every country merchant to pay a fair premium to a respectable company rather than take a policy at a cheaper rate in a company that will throw obstacles in the way of settling a loss.

This is a matter that is also worthy of the consideration of wholesale merchants who have goods unpaid for in the hands of dealers throughout the country.

There is no art or science that is too difficult for industry to attain to."—Clarendon.

GROCERIES.

Trade has been more active this week. A liberal fall of snow over the greater part of the country that has hitherto been without sleighing has brought out the farmers and brightened business up generally. Its effects are perceptible in increased travellers' and mail orders. There have also been more out-of-town merchants here during the week. Payments are fully as good as expected. Taking everything into consideration the prospects are much brighter than a couple of weeks ago.

CANNED GOODS.

Retailers are buying with increased freedom, and wholesale houses have also been more active buyers. There is, however, very great caution displayed. for orders are nearly all in small lots. Prices are steadily maintained. The only large sale noted for some time has already been reported, but the particulars have not been made public until this week. It was the lot of 1,000 cases, Ontario Company's 1888 pack, of tomatoes. They were sold by the trustees of the Burgess estate to a wholesale house here, and were afterwards purchased by Mr. A. E. Carpenter. He resold them to another house here at 90c. This house has done well with them, having sold out in lots of 50 to 100 cases at abont $1.10. Canned peaches were called for more freely, and holders are firm at $2.25 for 2's. More enquiry has been heard for salmon, but the market is in a very unsatisfactory condition. present prices afford no margin of profit to wholesalers. Good brands, such as the Drysdale, are offering at $1.60 to $1.65, and Horseshoe at $1.70, while off-grades can be bought as low as $1.40. Lobsters, on the other hand, are considered good property, and are firmly held; there are very few here. Finan haddies are offering at $1.35.

COFFEE.

Coffees have developed a good deal of strength the past week or so but especially Rio's and Java's. Fine samples of the former are hard to get on this market at even fancy prices. The New York Bulletin referring to Javas says : "The upward movement of prices of Java coffee at first hands latterly, along with the strong position of supplies on the spot and "points" on future supplies calculated to foreshadow even a stronger situation later on, are beginning to have a somewhat pronounced effect upon the jobbing market. Jobbers have purchased with some freedom the past few days, thereby placing themselves in a fair position for the time being ; but it is asserted that supplies in importers' hands have been cut down to a low point, and, furthermore, that the quantities due to arrive during the next three months are not equal to the average consumption. "Points" on Java coffee, like those on other commodities in which speculative interest figures prominently, may be taken with a measure of allowance. It is the fact, however, that an advance of ½c. has been established on actual sales within about a week's time, aed indications are greatly at fault if distributers are not satisfied that the advance has come to stay. In any event the advance paid to importers is firmly held for by jobbers. Not only that, but a certain amount of credence is given the representations as to supplies for the future, while the prophecy of a rise in the first cost to 25c. ere long is looked upon as likely to be realized.

DRIED FRUIT.

This market has not attracted much attention during the week. Cables have been quoting an advancing market on prunes; prices abroad are now on a higher basis than they are here, efforts have been made to get an advance here ; but though stocks are not large, they are ample, and it is impossible to get higher figures; hogsheads would, it is claimed, cost 4¾c. to lay down, but sales are being made at 4⅜ to 4½c. Currants are quiet and steady at 5⅜ to 5¾c. for ordinary in barrels and halves. Dates are plentiful at 5¾ to 6c. Figs are firmly held; natural are very scarce. More inquiry has been heard for Valencia raisins but prices are still about 6⅞ to 7c. for good to prime off-stalk, and 8½c. for layers. There is a fair supply of dark Sultanas at 9c., but the brighter qualities are scarce and firm; Malaga fruits are dull and easy.

SUGARS.

The sugar market is in an uncertain condition. Values have now reached the lowest point they touched a year ago. On this market there were sales of low grade yellows at $4.87½ two weeks later than this a year ago, and a large buyer might get a no brand at almost this figure to-day. The market commenced to recover last year late in February. With this experience in view some of the trade who are inclined to speculate, and who were large buyers a year ago, are now inclined to be buyers. In this they have been encouraged by the advance of ⅛c. in soft refined in New York and the strong advices telegraphed from there and cabled from Europe. The situation is somewhat different this year, however. Last season commenced with light stocks. The high prices of 1889 increased the production and now the beet crop exceeds that of last season by 742,000 tons. Total stock in all the principal countries on the latest even date of January 1 was 1,323,910 tons, against 996,260 tons on January 1, 1889—say, 327,650 tons excess. The stock at latest uneven dates is 1,340,476 tons, against 1,082,360 tons at same time last year.

On spot there has been no change in values. Yellows have been selling nominally from 5⅛c. up, but 5c. is not an unusual figure. Whites are unchanged. Refiners are talking firmer, but there has been no actual advance.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Syrups quiet and easy. There is also an easy feeling in molasses. Ordinary Porto Rico are offering in hogsheads at 33 to 34c. and in barrels at 33 to 34c.

TEAS

There has been a little better general demand on spot. Values remain about the same. Low grade blacks are very plentiful and of good value. Some very nice teas were offered to-day at 4¾d. here. Low and medium greens and Japans are firm. A better tone is noticed in the market for these grades.

The local demand for Indian teas is a fair one, especially for well made medium Pekoes. In London the concerted action of the selling brokers and importers to regulate the supply have imparted more strength to the market and medium Pekoes have rallied. For Pekoe Souchongs, and cheap brokens, up to 8d. the bidding continues very brisk. Ceylons are in good demand locally. The London supply continuing large was only disposed of at a further decline of a farthing to a half-penny under last week's rates.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The prices appear to become relaxed as the weather improves. The reason appears to be that the quantity increases, but the quality is stationary. There is a very liberal supply of rolls. These now bring 12½ to 14c. the latter price not being often paid, as very good butter in this form is scarce. Good dairy tub butter is 14 to 16c. Exceptionally good is 17c. but there are very few tubs bring above 16c. and not many bring that. Of store pack there is still little bought, prices running from 8 to 13c. Some houses have upwards of two tons of this class of butter, the accumulation of the season's buying, and for which there has been no market, local or distant. Pound rolls are plentiful, but represent better making than the other classes. Consequently prices have not fallen, they are 20 to 22c. Creamery tub has got down to about the same price, 20 to 22c. but some of it yet goes at 23c. It is becoming scarcer but its age is now against it. There seems to be as much butter made now as there was in the fall, although it is not usual for this to be the case. The market, however, indicates no slackening of the dairies.

Cheese is at the prices long current, 10 to 11c. for that of the early autumn make, and 8½ to 9½c. for early summer cheese. The stock in the hands of dealers show no signs of failing, and there is little chance for the higher prices asked by the makers being paid before late in spring.

SALT.

The salt market for the week is very active. The following are the prices reported by the Toronto Salt Works : 3 cars coarse sack salt, 70c.; 2 cars barrel salt, $1.40; 1 car dairy sacks $1.18. Smaller quantities have sold at, barrels $1.45; sacks coarse 85c.; ¼ dairy 45c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

APPLES—Prices have improved, not that there is a better demand but that a superior class of fruit is making its way into the market. Farmers appear to have disposed of all their poorest apples, keeping their best in reserve for a later market. However, the quantity offering is not large. Prices are $1.75 to $2.85.

BEANS—Are $1.50 to $1.65. There have been no sales since last report.

DRIED APPLES—Are dull at 5½ to 6c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Old are 8 to 9c. New are 10 to 10½c., and in some cases 11c. There is little doing.

EGGS—Limed are nominal at 12 to 13c., but holders are satisfied with nearly any price. Fresh are 14 to 15c., and the upper figure is not very firm. Strictly new-laid are 17 to 18c., but they must be unquestionable and in very small lots.

GAME—Has now ceased to be of interest. The stocks are run out.

HAY—The market has improved slightly. No. 1 loose on the street is $11 to $13.50. No. 2 is $7 to $10. The supply has fallen off slightly since last week. On the track No. 1 is $10; No. 2 is $7 to $8.

HIDES—Cured are 4¾c. Green are 4c. for No. 1, 3c. for No. 2 and 2c. for No. 3.

HONEY—The market continues moderate. No. 1 clear is 11½ to 13c., and comb honey is 12 to 14c.

HOPS—Are 10 to 12c. for old, and 13 to 15c. for new. There is a full stock in the country and prices are apt to continue low.

MARKETS—Continued

OATS—In farmers' loads are 30 to 31c. On the track they are 29 to 30c.

ONIONS—Are $1.60 to $1.80. The market is still dull.

POTATOES—Are growing cheaper. Reports from Montreal say the market is very fully stocked. One car-load was bought here this week at 45c. The price they are now worth is 50c., but this is not low enough for buyers to take any interest. In small store lots potatoes are 60 to 65c. per bag.

POULTRY—Turkeys are growing scarcer and dearer. They bring 11 to 13c. Geese are 8 to 8½c., and are scarce. Ducks are scarcely to be had for 80c. to $1. Chickens are 50 to 70c., and the market is poorly supplied.

SEEDS—Red clover is $3.50 to $3.75. Alsike is $4 to $5.75. Timothy is $1.25 to $1.50. Local business is very dull, most of the seed so far having to be imported. The above are the prices paid here by wholesalers.

SKINS—Sheepskins go from $1.10 to $1.30. Very rare ones bring $1.40. No. 1 calf are 6c. and No. 2, 5c.

STRAW—Hardly a load of loose now appears on the market, another scarcity of it can't bring the price beyond $3 to $4. Oat straw sheaves are $6 to $7.50. Tight pressed oat is $6 to $6.50.

Tallow—Rough is 1¼ to 2c. and rendered is 5 to 5¼c.

Wool—In the fleece is virtually out of the market. It quotes yet, however, at 22 to 24c. Extra super pulled is 30c. super is 25c. and lowest grade is 24c.

CRANBERRIES.

There are some dealers who have a few left. They are now $5 per crate, and $11 to $14 per barrel, with the latter price ruling. Frozen ones are to be had at $4 per crate, but the difficulty is to keep them frozen.

FISH.

The prices are not yet affected by approach of the season of greatest consumption. Steak cod, which is now 7½c., is the only kind that has gone up. Whitefish are 7c. per pound, salmon trout, 7½c., salted sea salmon, $12 per barrel, fresh cod, 5c. per pound, haddock 5 to 5½c., Labrador herring $5 to $5.50 per barrel, and $3.25 to $3.75 per half-barrel, shore herring $4 per barrel, and $2.25 per half-barrel, boneless cod 6 to 8c. per pound, boneless fish 6c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Valencia oranges are firm at $5, though some few are to be had at $4.50 Florida russets and fancy brights are still coming into the market, perhaps the choicest of them are now on sale. They are at about the same price, $3.50 to $4. A few early Messinas are now in stock at $3 to $3.50 per case. The latest arrivals are from California. The navels were in some stocks ten days ago. They are $6.50. The Riverside Seedlings are now in and sell at $4.50. Mediterranean sweets are also on the market at $4.75. Lemons are slightly easier, in keeping with the relaxing of the epidemic. Palermo oranges are $ 5.00 to $5.50 in 300's., and $3 to $5 in 350's. Messinas are at the same prices. Yellow bananas, the only kind yet here are $2.25 to $2.50. Malaga grapes, not all gone yet, are $14. Sweet potatoes are $6.

PROVISIONS.

BACON—Long clear is 7¼ to 7½c. Breakfast is 11c., and roll is 8½c.

LARD—Canadian 8½c. in tubs, 9c. in pails. American ½c. less on each.

HAMS—Smoked are 11c., and green are 10c.

MESS PORK—Heavy is $13.50. Choice Canadian short-cut is $14.50 to $15.

DRESSED HOGS—Heavy run from $5 to $5.50. Mediums are $5.40 to $5.60. Select weights are $5.75 to $6.

DRY GOODS.

The improvement in the weather has not been long enough yet to be felt in the dry goods trade. From whatever causes, however, there is noticeable a slightly increased activity, which may be due in some measure to the fact that a critical date has been tided over, and encouragement and relief work to produce a better feeling. There seems too little money for a large business to be done, and the weather is not decided enough to warrant heavy buying. There is simply a quiet trade.

GROCERIES.

We have nothing special to note this week. the great improvement in trade generally, noted in our last, continues to increase, and things are now becoming quite active. Payments can hardly be called slow.

SUGAR

The sugar market remains unchanged. The expectations are that unless the New York markets stiffen up a little there will be a drop of ⅛c. here. In the European and foreigh markets, sugar has become stronger. A leading New York sugar broker writes a house here as follows:—"The beet market seems to be rising, influenced no doubt by the fact that European holders see our markets bare of stock; in the meantime our refiners drop the price of refined, hoping, no doubt to influence selling markets but will, I think, be disappointed and perhaps be caught very short should we have any demand for refined. The N. Y. Trust have hardly three days meltings with any active demand."

Prices unchanged, viz: Granulated 6⅞ to 7⅛c.; yellows 5 to 5½c.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is nothing new to note in syrups, which are quiet and unchanged prices. There was considerable excitement in the molasses market here last week over the advertised sale of 1,400 puncheons Barbadoes, the disputed lot of Ward, Carter & Co., and John Pinder & Co., some feeling that if properly nursed would realize 45c. About fifty merchants were present at the sale. The first lot consisting of 92 puncheors was knocked down at 42c. The next lot of 121 puncheons went more slowly. It was bid up to 39⅞c., at which point buyers seemed to stick. It was decided by the parties owning the goods to withdraw them, which was accordingly done, and the sale brought to an abrupt conclusion. It has been generally understood that stocks were light, but such is not the case, as Ward, Carter & Co, hold 1,400 puncheon; Magors Bros. 1,000; Tiffin Bros. 1,000, and outside of these 1,000 are held.

A cable from Barbadoes states that the market is open at 14c. and $4, which means 35 to 38c. here. Quotations are: Syrups, medium 50c., light 60 to 70c. per gallon. Molasses, Barbadoes, under car load, hhds. 45c.; bbls. 48½c.; Porto Rico, 38c.; Antigua 39 to 40c.

DRIED FRUIT.

There can be nothing new said of dried fruit since our last. Valencia raisins and currants are still quite active, the former slightly advanced. Dealers have held back so long before buying, looking for lower prices, that they have run themselver short, and are compelled to buy at present figures, which show no indication of a drop on account of small stocks ; if anything, they will advance. Prices remain unchanged. Quotations are : London layers, $3 to $3.25. Sultanas are quoted 8½ to 12c., lower grades of which are very poor stock. Currants 5½ to 6c. for Provincials, and Vostizza up to 7 to 7½c. for choice cases. Prunes range from 5 to 7½c. Eleme figs, 9 to 11c. Malaga figs, 5 to 6c. Dried apples, 7c. Evaporated apples, by car load, 9 to 10c. Layer Valencias, 8¼c. Valencias are quoted at 7 to 7¼c.

TEAS.

There is really nothing doing in teas more than the ordinary business Prices unchanged but firm.

COFFEES

The market continues very firm at unchanged prices. Moca, 28 to 30c. Java, 24 to 29c. Jamaica, 18 to 22c. Rio, 19 to 20c. Plantation Ceylon, 19 to 24c. Marcabo, 18 to 22½c.

NUTS.

Trade continues quiet at unchanged prices. Tarragona almonds, 14 to 15c. Ivica, 12½ to 13c. Ordinary French walnuts, 10 to 11c. Grenobles, 14 to 16c. Filberts scarce at 9½ to 10c. for Sicily. Brazil nuts, 9 to 12c.

CANNED GOODS.

We again note an active demand in canned goods which will no doubt continue as the season advances. Tomatoes seem to be rather scarce and higher prices are looked for. Corn remains firm. Peas are very scarce. Following are Association prices: Corn, $1.20; marrowfat peas, $1.15; sweet peas, $1.25; tomatoes, $1.20; stringless beans, 85c.; butter beans, 90c.; apples, 3 lb., $1.05; per gal., $2.35. Canned fruits are fairly active. Strawberries are scarce and have advanced. Quotations: Pine apples, $2.25 to $2.40; strawberries, $2.35 to $2.50; peaches, $2.15 to $2.25; plums, $1.75 to $2.00; pears, $2 to $2.10. Canned fish has become quite active. Lobsters scarce at $6.80 per case. Mackerel very scarce at $6 per case. Salmon, now taking the place of mackerel, owing to the scarcity and high price of the latter, are lower, and is now quoted at $1.65 to $1.70. Sardines are now moving pretty freely at the advanced prices, viz., $8 to 10.

FISH.

The fish market continues quite active at unchanged prices. Demand for Labrador herrings continue good, and low grades have been sold at $3.75, while better lots are bringing $4 to $4.25, with half barrels at $2.50. Newfoundland shore herring are $3.50, and Cape Breton at $4.50. Quotations are : Green cod, No. 1 large, $6.25 to $6.50. No. 1, $5.50, with haddock at $4.50 to $5. British Columbia salmon remains steady at $11 per barrel. Sea trout, $9. Dry cod, $4 to $4.50. Lake trout, $4.25. White fish, $5.50 to $5.75 per half barrel. Salt water eels, 6½c. per lb. Smoked herring, 11 to 13c. per box.

Quotations for dried fish are : St. John bloaters 90c. to $1 per box ; Yarmouth $1.25 to $1.35. Finan haddies, very firm, stocks light, 6¼c. to 7½c.

HAY, STRAW AND FEED.

Since our last the receipts of hay have not been so large owing to the recent mild weather which broke up the roads considerably in the country, consequently the offerings have not been so heavy, but quite ample to fill all requirements. The demand has been good and the market has ruled active and steady at the recent decline in prices. Choice hay is somewhat scarce and we quote choice timothy at $9 to $9.50 and inferior at $6.50 to $7.50 per hundred bundles. There has been an active demand for straw of which the offerings are fair, and prices steady at $4 to $6 per hundred bundles as to quality. The market for pressed hay has ruled quiet and steady on account of the limited demand which is usually the case at this season of the year owing to the fact that buyers generally prefer loose hay, especially when they can buy it at such low prices. The offerings of pressed hay are large but values are unchanged. We quote : No. 1, $9.50 to $10.50 ; No. 2, $8 to $9, and No. 3, $6.50 to $7 per ton in car lots. The demand for feed has been fair at steady prices. Mouillie sold at $20 to $22 per ton, bran at $12 to $13, and shorts at $14 to $16.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

GRAIN—The market remains stagnant, and no change can be reported. We quote: Wheat No. 1, hard Manitoba, 99c. to $1 ; No. 2, do., 97 to 98c. ; peas, per 66 lbs., 70 to 71c. ; oats, 30 to 31c. ; corn, in bond, 40 to 42c. ; barley, 48 to 53.

FLOUR—A fair business was done in a jobbing way ; otherwise there was nothing doing. No sales were reported on 'Change. We quote : Patent winter, $4.75 to $5 ; patent spring, $4.75 to $5 ; straight roller, $4.50 to $4.75 ; extra, $4.15 to $4.30 ; superfine, $3 to $3.75 ; city strong bakers', $5.80 to $5.90 ; strong bakers, $4.25 to $4.60 ; superfine (bags), $1.50 to $1.75 ; extra (bags), $1.75 to $2.00.

EGGS.

Eggs are very dull. Fresh new laid eggs are scarce, and are worth 22c., and the common price for the usual stock is from 14c. to 17c.

GREEN FRUIT.

We quote the following prices for to-day: —Valencia oranges, $4.50; Messinas, $3 per box of 300; Floridas, $4 to $4.50 per box; apples, $3 to $4 per barrel; Malaga grapes, $8 to $8.50; cranberries, $10 to $12; lemons, $4.50 to $5.

PROVISIONS.

Dressed hogs are pretty slow, and carload lots are worth from $5.70 to $5.90 for light, and down to $5.60 for heavies. We quote: —Canada short cut, $14.50 to $15. Western short cut, $13 to $13.50. Western mess, $12 to $13.25. Hams, city cured, 11½c. to 12½c. Lard, 8¼ to 8¾c. Bacon, 12 to 13c. Dressed hogs, $5.70 to $6.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

CHEESE—The shipments for the past week were 11,534, bringing up the total shipment to date since the close of navigation to 144,922 boxes, of which 79,681 were on local and 62,241 on through account. A sale of a good sized block of cheese at 10c. for shipment is reported. We quote: Finest Septembers, 10¼ to 10½c. Finest Augusts and Octobers, 9¾ to 10c. Good to fine, 10 to 9½c.

BUTTER—There is very little doing in butter of any kind, but fine is being firmly held. Roll butter brings 13 to 15c. We quote:— Finest creamery, 23 to 24c. Finest townships, 19 to 21c. Fair to fine, 13 to 16c. Morrisburg, 13 to 17c. Western, 11 to 16c Rolls, 14 to 17c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The difficulties between Mr. John Pinder, commission merchant, and Messrs. Ward, Carter & Co., wholesale grocers, have been amicably settled to the satisfaction of both parties.

Tiffin Bros. have secured another 20 days extension in order to carry out successfully their arrangements for the payment of their first dividend. Mr. Heward has also disposed of his claim on them.

The regular monthly meeting of the Montreal Retail Grocers' Association was called for last Thursday night. The noble few turned up as usual but not enough to form a quorm, so they adjourned.

In our issue of last week we referred to Messrs T. A. Morrison & Co., of this city, having secured the sole agency for Canada for Harrison & Crosfield's teas. We should have said the sole agency for Montreal.

Mr. F. James Gibson, of Bryant, Gibson & Co., Toronto, favored THE GROCER with a call the other day. He is doing Montreal and East, laying down the law regarding the superior quality of pickles and sauces. He of course, refers to the "John Bull" brand.

Macaire Laurier, dry goods merchant, 2507 Notre Dame street, has assigned with $15,397 liabilities on the demand of James Johnston & Co., the chief creditors being all Montreal firms; James Johnston & Co., $5241, Thibaudeau Bros., $5184, McIntyre Sons & Co., $2748.

Our item in last week's issue referring to the method employed by Messrs. Hudon, Hebert & Cie. in their stocktaking has been read carefully by the trade here, and they all agree to a man that it is the only proper way of taking stock, if a true inventory of the stock on hand is desired.

L. Pelletier, grocer, Ontario street, was arrested on a capias at the instance of Messrs. Turner, Rose & Co., who claimed that Pelletier had left his goods to some of his creditors, and without settling with the complainants had gone to Quebec where they had him arrested. The bill was $119 and the expense of the capias was $190. Pelletier settled.

"The retail grocers of this city are not going to take a back seat with anyone" is what Mr. Thos. Gauthier a successful retail grocer, and Ex. President of the Montreal Retail Grocers' Association, thought when he allowed his name to be brought forward as candidate for Aldermanic honors, nor was he mistaken, as the overwhelming majority he received convinced him that he was about right.

BUSINESS HABITS.

We are frequently and very wisely bidden to remember that a sacred regard for the principles of justice forms the basis of every transaction and regulates the conduct of the upright man of business.

The following are worth repeating, and if adhered to strictly cannot fail to contribute largely to one's success :—

A man of business is strict in keeping his engagements.

Does nothing carelessly or in a hurry.

Employs nobody to do what he can easily do himself.

Leaves nothing undone that ought to be done, and which circumstances permit him to do.

Keeps his designs and business from the views of others, yet he is candid with all.

Is prompt and decisive with his customers, and does not overtrade his capital.

Prefers short credit to long ones ; and cash to credit at all times, either in buying or selling ; and small profits in credit case with little risk, to the chance of better gains with more hazard.

Is clear and explicit in all his bargains.

Leaves nothing of consequence to memory which he can and ought to commit to writing.

Keeps copies of all his important letters which he sends away and has every letter, invoice, etc., belonging to his business, titled, classed and put away.

Never suffers his desk to be confused by many papers lying upon it.

Keeps everything in its proper place.

Is always at the head of his business, well knowing that if he leaves it, it will leave him.

Holds as a maxim that he whose credit is suspected is not to be trusted.

Is constantly examining his books, and sees through all his affairs as far as care and attention will enable him.

Balances regularly at stated times, and then makes out and transmits all his accounts current to his customers, both at home and abroad.

Avoids as much as possible all sorts of accommodation in money matters, and lawsuits where there is the least hazard.

Is economical in his expenditure, always living within his income.

Keeps a memorandum book in his pocket, in which he notes every particular relative to appointments, addresses and petty cash matters.

Is cautious how be becomes security for any person.

And generous when urged by motives of humanity.

Mr. T. P. G. Bryan, of Messrs. Pigot & Bryan, crockery and glassware dealers, London, has left on a three months' trip to the English markets.

Mr. John Hannah, of Seaforth, one of the leading creamery men of the Province, while in the city the other day, called at the GROCER office to pay his subscription. Mr. Hannah is very much pleased with the GROCER. He says he finds lots of interesting news relating to creameries, and thinks that no grocer should be without it.

A soft answer turneth away wrath, and a harsh answer turneth away a customer.

Mr. Alexander Begg, British Columbia Crofter Commissioner, is in New Westminster. Mr. Begg's visit is for the purpose of interviewing the leading cannerymen on the subject of the disposal of salmon offal, which can be manufactured into an excellent fish oil. He says that for some time back his attention has been directed to the manufacture of fish oil as an important industry in which the Crofter fishermen could engage profitably and without loss of time after their arrival. He is now engaged in forming a joint stock company primarily for their benefit, to prosecute fishing in all its branches (including oil-producing fishes), both for their oil and guano. The difficulty heretofore has been to solidify the residuum of the fish after extracting the oil from them, but as Mr. Begg has visited several of the principal fish guano establishments in Scotland, and also that in which all the refuse of fish in London is converted into guano, he is in a position to apply his observations to this important industry in British Columbia. He is sending samples of fish offal to the laboratory of the Dominion Government Experimental Farm, Ottawa, that the respective values and products of these different sorts of fish may be tested and reported on, in the interests of agriculture and progress. It is to be hoped Mr. Begg's visit will bear good results, and that the objects he seeks to obtain will be accomplished.—Winnipeg Tribune.

TO THE GROCERY TRADE.

The undersigned has been appointed Agent in the United States and the Dominion of Canada by

The Associated Tea Planters, Ltd.

OF LONDON, CAPITAL, £50,000.

Under the auspices of the Indian Tea Districts Association.

The object of the company is to push the sale of their product, feeling certain that when systematically brought to consumers' notice its merits will be so manifest as to give it the front rank in public favor, as is the case in Great Britain.

Roundly, the annual consumption in that country is 80,000,000 lbs. during last crop year This is the best answer to the twaddle about the excessive quantity of tannin in Indian tea. Consumers in England are no fools : they know a cup of good tea.

Supplies will be held in Canada and the States and the undersigned, or his assistants, will make regular calls on the Trade. Samples will also be promptly forwarded on application.

THE CANADA SUGAR REFINING CO'Y [LIMITED],

MONTREAL,

Offer for sale all grades of REFINED SUGARS and SYRUPS of the well-known brand of

Redpath

CERTIFICATES OF STRENGTH AND PURITY.

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC ANALYST,

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

GENTLEMEN,—I have personally taken samples from a large stock of your Granulated Sugar, "REDPATH" brand, and carefully tested them by the Polariscope, and I find these samples to be as near to absolute purity as can be obtained by any process of Sugar-Refining.

The test by the Polariscope showed in yesterday s yield 99·90 per cent. of Pure Cane Sugar, which may be considered commercially as ABSOLUTELY PURE SUGAR.

JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, P.L.D., D.C.L., F.C.S.,

Public Analyst for the District of Montreal, and Professor of Chemistry.

CHEMICAL LABORATORY, MEDICAL FACULTY, MCGILL UNIVERSITY.

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Company:

GENTLEMEN,—I have taken and tested a sample of your "EXTRA GRANULATED" Sugar, and find that it yielded 99·88 per cent. of Pure Sugar It is practically as pure and good a Sugar as can be manufactured.

Yours truly,

G. P. GIRDWOOD.

Mr. E. E. Adams, grocer, Leamington, Ont., wishes THE GROCER to correct the report that has gained currency among several wholesale houses in Toronto and Hamilton that a man has been placed in charge of his store by the London creditors of Mr. G. C. Adams. Mr E. E. Adams bought the stock of Mr. G. C. Adams and the creditors claim that the sale was made with the object of defrauding them. They have entered an action to recover the amount due them and the report is that they have placed a man in charge of the store until the suit is settled. Mr. Adams says there is no one in charge of his store.

The fellow employes of Mr. R. Martin, of Perkins, Ince & Co., presented him with a handsome gold chain and inscribed locket on his severing his connection with the firm. The presentation was made last evening in the sample room by the senior traveller, Mr. R. W. Gouinlock. In doing so Mr. Gouinlock, on behalf of the staff, expressed regret that they were losing him, and hoped that he would prosper in his new undertaking. Mr. Martin responded in a few well put remarks. Mr. Martin, or, as he is better known, plain "Bob," has been with Perkins, Ince & Co., for the past eight years as western traveller, and has made himself one of the most popular men on that ground. He left on Tuesday for his new home in the Northwest, Mr. W. Bremner succeeds Mr. Martin.

ORILLIA'S PRICES.

The bad eminence of being one of the foremost price-cutting towns in Ontario was attained by Orillia several years ago, and is becoming latterly more and more deserved. Its newspapers quote prices in their advertising columns that must astound the dealer who aims to live by his trade. Quotations down almost to the bare wholesale cost appear in the advertisements of several traders, and these quotations relate not to one or two special articles, but to close upon a score of the staple lines. Here is an example, which will briefly present both fact and comment :

20 lbs. bright sugar for	$1 00
13 lbs. granulated sugar for	1 00
20 lbs. currants for	1 00
12 lbs. Mount Forest oatmeal for	25
10 lbs. Mount Forest rolled oats for	25
15 bars laundry soap for	25
7 bars electric soap	25
3 lb. box soda biscuits for	20
3¼ lbs. evaporated apples for	25
2 lbs. baking soda for	5
3½ lbs. pearl tapioca for	25
6 lbs. best rice for	25
Best satin gloss starch for	5
Pure Gold baking powder, per lb	20
9-piece colored toilet sets for	1 75
Best stone cups and saucers, wheat pattern, per doz	85
6-piece glass sets for 37½c., 1 dozen elegant goblets for	50

Such an advertisement implies a feverish state of competition. Other advertisements from the same town give prices quite as extravagantly low, and the number of those advertisements indicates that the bulk of Orillia trade is largely impregnated with this evil. There is nothing particularly hysterical in the nature of the trade at present time done in Orillia ; the price-cutting appears to be rather a cold-blooded affair.

In everybody's interest such ruinous methods of doing business should be decried. The dealers themselves can make no money; their wholesale creditors are exposed to the very probable chances of heavy loss ; their square-dealing rivals are driven out of trade; the public is ultimately the loser. The immediate effects of so aberrated a state of trade are not confined to Orillia. North and west of that town is an extensive timber region, dotted with many villages, as Waubashene, Coldwater, Foxmead, etc., into which a large amount of trade would naturally flow from the lumbering operations carried on about them. These are connected with Orillia by rail. Between Orillia and Barrie, to the south and west, stretches a fine agricultural country, also traversed by a railroad. Another railroad joins Orllia to Beaverton on the east shore of Lake Simcoe, and a fourth connects Orillia with Washago at the head of Lake Couchiching. Along these roads special market rates are given on certain days, and they carry an immense volume of trade into that thriving town, which is the natural hub of a fertile area. The methods of the Orillia traders are therefore felt by a large number of country merchants whose customers have facilities for getting to Orillia to do their buying. Orillia should prosper. Its natural advantages betoken that it will, but the extreme eagerness of many of its business men may do much to cripple or stunt its growth.

There is a reason for the wild state of prices in Orillia, that is as grave as the evil. That reason is that Orillia has long been a resort of bankrupt stocks. The state of trade in that town is largely the effect of its being made a general market for the disposal of such bankrupt goods. Business men have been forced to low prices by the presence among them of goods that were never fully paid for, and that in some measure excuses them. Such an excuse we hope will not long do service as a palliation of price-cutting, for the Business Men's Associations throughout the country may be expected to devise soon some other way of disposing of such stocks.

THE CRACKER TRADE.

Two weeks ago we suggested that more attention be paid to the biscuit trade. The American Grocer of the same date deals with the same subject. It says :

Push it ! Why ? Because it makes the store more attractive, and pays a handsome profit. Is not that sufficient ?

"Ah, no !" says Mr. Hatopush, "the sales are small, and so do not run up your volume of business, and besides crackers are troublesome to handle and they invite nibbling on the part of customers and clerks."

With this Mr. Shekelgleaner disagrees, and says : "I devote special care to the cracker department, constantly enlarging the number of kinds, always introducing the latest novelty. In a show case near the door, which, by means of two-inch glass strips, is divided into squares, I exhibit all the paying varieties, the fancy sorts which tempt people to patronize me instead of the baker. In each division is a neat white card giving the name and price of the cracker upon which it rests. There is no chance for customers or clerks to sample the different kinds. I can secure a profit of from twenty to fifty per cent. This being the case, what a short-sighted merchant I would be to leave the cracker trade to take care of itself in order to push the sale of provisions, sugar, flour and staples that scarcely pay the cost of selling and in some instances like sugar and flour, are an actual burden on the rest of the business ! No, siree, I can make more on $10 worth of crackers than on $100 worth of sugar, and so I push the sale of crackers and let sugar paddle its own canoe."

The secret of a cracker trade is in having the stock fresh and attractive ; therefore, supplies should be secured frequently in quantities so regulated to the demand that the crackers are always crisp. Almost everybody is fond of crackers and everybody is given to self-gratification, especially when it only costs from 7 to 25 cents per pound to tickle the palate. Thus the cracker eater falls an easy prey to a tempting display.

This the cracker manufacturers appreciate, and so we have a great variety of fancy crackers put up in elegantly decorated and inexpensive tin boxes. And so Mrs. Buyseverythingshesees invariably adds a box of crackers to the list, because the "children so love to run to the cracker box, when they come home from school hungry, and papa must always have water crackers and cheese to top off his dinner."

"A delicious table dainty and a great seller," says an advertiser in referring to crackers in a recent issue of the American Grocer, and again last week : "Worth always wins." Both are timely hints. No one need expect to build up a cracker trade who does not keep the best, not only as regards material but style, for the latter captures the eye and then if the palate is pleased the consumer has a double gratification and is sure to indulge an inexpensive habit which puts good profits into the pocket of the purveyor.

No manufacturer excels in every variety ; therefore test and select the best. Handmade crackers continue in great favor and some of the best have a national reputation. No stock is complete without them. Three of the best makers keep their address constantly before our readers. Make their acquaintance and remember it pays to push trade in goods that afford splendid profits.

PERSONAL LIBERTIES.

"What is the benefit of being your own boss?" said a prominent business man to a GROCER reporter this week as he was closing up his store for an evening's rest. "My store should be opened at seven o'clock every morning, and is closed at eight every evening, except Saturdays, but unless I am constantly on hand, my clerks are a little late in opening, a trifle too previous in loafing around the store, or standing with a duster in their hands at the front door looking at our pretty girls that pass the window a dozen times a day, and as I have noticed, slacken their pace as they pass my store." "I wish, Heck," he says, taking a personal liberty with the reporter, "that you would write a good stiff article to clerks, telling them about these habits. I would give every one of them an advance in salary to-morrow if they would work a little more in their boss's interest, instead of stealing our time as I have told you. I have heard many other merchants speak on the same subject, and they all say it is personal liberties that will take some time to put a stop to.

"Your paper gives good articles nearly every week on advice to clerks as well as employers, and I always leave my paper where the clerks can take it home in turn and read it. They do read it, I know, but, a best girl, or, some evening amusement knocks it out of their heads, and the next day they are as bad as ever. I was a boy once myself, but am not strict enough with my clerks, too easy altogether, altogether." And away went Mr. Boss to the bosom of his family. Since then I have watched how clerks do act, and think in many cases it would be well for some, and that "some" takes in a good many names, if they would pay a great deal more attention to their duties. I know when you are thinking how slow the day goes and you wish it were closing time, that a good hard job filling shelves or cleaning out some dirty corner in the store, making neat piles of goods around the store, and making things look clean and neat, that the day will go much quicker to you, and that you will know a little more about the business that you are at when the day's work is over. You know Reporters never have time to loaf, so they do not know how nice it is, but I for one sympathize with some of you, and think that those who have this habit will start afresh when they see how their employers are troubled about them, especially with the prospect of an advance in salary.

HOW TO KEEP CERTAIN FOOD PRODUCTS IN GOOD CONDITION.

There are few grocers who do not carry in stock certain kinds of merchandise which are more or less subject to some deterioration and loss by exposure to the air, heat, cold, moisture, or by contact with other articles possessing communicable odors. When this state of affairs occurs, it generally becomes a source of annoyance to the grocer who, either from a lack of knowledge required for the care of the articles in question or of the methods of preventing their contamination, stops carrying them in stock, or else does his utmost to restrict their sale as far as it is possible without too much loss to himself or inconvenience to his customers. By following the few simple suggestions which I shall give, the grocer will not only be able to keep his stock in prime, fresh and attractive condition for a considerable time, but also be enabled to derive a substantial benefit therefrom, which can all be accomplished by the timely and persistent use of a little labor, and in many instances without much expense :

Pickled or salt fish, such as mackerel, salmon, herrings, whitefish, trout, etc.. are a constant source of trouble, from their liability to become oily, rancid and rusty when the barrels are opened and the contents exposed for sale ; this is occasioned by the fatty or oily particles of the fish absorbing oxygen from the air, and can to a great degree be prevented by keeping the fish under the brine and tightly covered. The brine must be poured off and fresh, strong brine must be used to replace it every week or two, and a few handfuls of rock and Liverpool salt added to make the fish retain their natural color. The brine used must, in every instance, be sufficiently strong to float an egg or potato partly out of the water. Brine can be made expeditiously with Dairy or Liverpool salt, but when from economical or other reasons rock salt is used, it must be prepared some time before using, either by heating or by gradually allowing it to dissolve ; when the latter is decided on, the salt is to be placed (the more salt, the sooner is the brine ready for use) in a suitable vessel or barrel, and the barrel filled with water and occasionally stirred to aid solution. Whenever any brine is removed from the barrel, more water and salt are to be added so as to keep a stock on hand ready for use. The following method of displaying salt fish of this description is one that I have personally used and which I can highly commend, making an attractive exhibit and exposing only a small quantity of fish : on a table, stand, counter or other suitable device, arrange a series of glassware, crockery or agateware dishes (of any desired depth) with the different kinds of fish you keep in stock, one or more of each kind—the least possible number exposed is the object to be attained. The fish are to be returned to their respective barrels at closing time (unless previously disposed of) every evening, and the dishes are to be frequently cleaned. By following this method the dirty looking barrels can be kept in the cellar or fish room, and so much more room and cleanliness will be obtained in the store. The full barrels of fish that have not been opened must be occasionally filled with brine through the bung-hole and the position changed, that is, after standing on one end for some time it is to be reversed.

Dried salt fish such as codfish, must be kept covered in a cool and moist place. If you handle much of this commodity and also of the pickled kind, it would be very advantageous to have a separate cellar or room specially arranged for their storage, which must embrace the following essentials : It must be in a cool, dark situation and only ventilated from the top and must be kept constantly moist by sprinkling the floor with brine or else keep the brine in open vessels in different parts of the room. This will prevent excessive evaporation of brine from the barrelled fish and loss of weight on the dried fish and will also keep it from getting "red." When the above conditions are impossible the dried fish can be kept in good order by covering with sacks soaked in brine and renewing the application frequently.

Smoked fish should only be purchased in small quantities and stock frequently replenished, for if placed in a cool or damp place they become mouldy and when in a dry place surrounded by currents of air they soon become rancid. The mould may be removed by brushing the fish with warm water and then drying thoroughly with a cloth ; this will also freshen and brighten them up a good deal.—Grocer and Country Merchant.

THE LEGAL IMMUNITY OF DEBTORS.

EDITOR OF THE GROCER.

DEAR SIR:—In my last letter I promised to give a simple remedy for the bad working of the law in reference to judgments summonses. Here is a sample of the working of the act. A debtor owes me $35 on an account of 1885; part of it borrowed money got by straight lying. He is head sawyer in a lumber mill at $1.50 a day and board. He always draws his wages as soon as he has earned any, and sometimes before. He lies around all winter, waiting for the spring sun to thaw out his dormant energies, when he resumes work at the saw smill. I had him up before the judge on judgment summons. His statement runs thus : "I have not had steady work, have been sick part of the time and require all my wages to support my family, but will agree to 50c. per month." This payment is undertaken and continued until the bailiff's fees are paid, then a stop is made—no more payments. Where is the judge will send a man to jail for contempt of court with a tale of this kind in his mouth? The truth was, he had been of work two days after a holiday and a spree. This was his sickness. His being out of employment would be owing to a break in the machinery of the mill, and one or two days off for repairs. This is a picture from real life, and my own experience. The remedy for this; a law that will give the creditor a right to claim 10 per cent. of all money earned by or due to the debtor for any cause, without requiring the consent of judge or debtor. After the debtor has been examined as to his earnings, a notice should be sent by the Division Court Clerk by registered letter to the employer or payer of the debtor, stating that a judgment summons had been issued ordering 10 per cent. of money or wages to be paid over to said court. By such an arrangement the master or payer would not require to appear in court unless in default of payment. In the case of men who shift from master to master earning two or three dollars at one place, the debtor should be compelled to hand over 10 per cent. of his earnings, or in default be liable to three days in jail at the discretion of the creditor. No working man could object to meet such a small payment.

There is very little doubt but hundreds of dollars would be paid forthwith if such an act were in force. Any new act should apply to all debts not out of date. Would it not be well for some of our trade associations to meet and discuss this question, and forward their views to the head of our local government while in session ?

My view of the reason why Quebec shows so few bankruptcies is that there is a salutary machinery at work that makes the collection of small debts easily effected without expense to any one. Let us imagine a conversation of this kind between a reverend father and one of his flock : "I understand you owe my friend, Mr. Merchant, twenty or thirty dollars. He has waited two years for this money, and he requires to use it in his business. Now, we don't want to see our friend bankrupt. Try and pay him up as soon as you can." You may be sure it will be paid to the cent. Ontario has no such influence and drops thousands of dollars into bar rooms that should go to pay for the necessaries of life. Yours,

COUNTRY MERCHANT.

The instance which our correspondent quotes from his own experience is not an exceptional one, but is, we are assured typical of a large class. There are few country merchants who are unable to give specimen cases of exactly the same class, where the debtor is improvident and unprincipled, secure in the opinion that the law affords his creditor little or no chance of redress. Here the law is seriously at fault, and its imperfect operation has other effects besides those detrimental to traders. In the same way as the old Poor Law, although aiming to ameliorate the lot of the needy, actually made more paupers than the want of it had done, so the present collection laws, with the numerous loop-holes in their construction and administration, actually make more dishonest men than there would be without them. The existence of these laws is to the merchant inexperienced in them a guarantee that he can collect what is owing him, and therefore misleads him into trusting men whom, without some such guarantee, he would not trust. Thus these men get trusted on the faith that the law is sufficient to make them pay, whereas if there were no law for such a purpose they would have much less chance to defraud, and would, in act at all events, be honester men.

The suggestion of "Country Merchant" appears workable, and in our view is a fair one, subject, however, to a single limitation. The claim of ten per cent. should not be admitted to more than one creditor at once, otherwise the debtor might resort to subterfuges to avoid payment. If there were four creditors, all at once authorized to a ten per cent. each, he might refuse to work, or get a son, brother or other person to put in an anticipatory claim to the most of his earnings. A mere ten per cent. of his wages paid to one man would not be so heavy a burden as to drive him to any shifts to escape the payment of it. We understand correspondent to speak with this limitation, however, that only one creditor shall be paid at a time. We would like to see the Protestant clergy imitate the excellent example of the Catholic Father in Quebec. Some of them, we are happy to say, do so. Some months ago we republished a sermon by Dr. Talmage on this question. Would it not be a good idea for our readers to suggest to their spiritual advisers that they deliver a discourse on this subject.

TORONTO BOARD OF TRADE.

Friday afternoon was held the inaugural meeting of the council of the Toronto board of trade. It was a large meeting, every member, nineteen in all, being present, and duly sworn in. It is, perhaps, the first time in the history of the council that there has been so complete an attendance. After the oaths had been administered the president, Mr. John I. Davidson, made feeling reference to the Hon. John Macdonald, who was a member of the board, and the following committee was appointed to draft a resolution of condolence, suitably engrossed, and convey it to the family of the late senator : Messrs. W. R. Brock, S. F. McKinnon, Hugh Blain, R. W. Elliott and A. Smith.

A committee was appointed to urge upon the Ontario Government certain amendments to the Act for the equitable distribution of assets. The committee comprised the following gentlemen : Messrs. W. Christie, Hugh Blain, J. B. Smith, A. A. Allan, R. W. Elliott and William Ince.

Another committee was appointed to draft a petition to the Dominion Government praying for the appointment of a railway commission, the said committee to report to the council at a future date. The names on the committee are : R. W. Elliott, convener; Hugh Blain, S. F. McKinnon, D. W. Alexander and A. M. Smith.

The next committee appointed was one to report to the council on the expediency of petitioning the Government for the immediate passing of a Coinage Act and the establishment of a mint in the Dominion. Those composing the committee are D. R. Wilkie, W. R. Brock, R. W. Elliott and G. B. Smith.

A. B. Lee, W. D. Matthews, R. Jaffray, W. Christie, D. R. Wilkie, H. N. Baird and W. H. McNaught are a committee to report to the council on the subject of municipal reform.

The president and secretary were instructed by the council to sign the petition as prepared by the Canadian Institute for the adoption of the 24 hour system of time, the petition to be presented to the Dominion and Local Houses.

The first number of the Money Maker, a new trade journal edited and published monthly in this city by Mr. I. A. Taylor, has reached our table. The Money Maker is an exponent of one of the most important commercial interests, viz., advertising. Its monthly issues will form a series of lessons upon the art and artifices of advertising, and, judged by the first number, the paper promises to be itself an important means of developing the advertising art. For such a paper there has long been in the business world an aching void. In the philosophy which Mr. Taylor has to teach there is a long way more than our merchants ever dreamed of. There is no concern of their business in which they need schooling more than in advertising. Of that very few have learned the rudiments, and of its potentialities there is but an elect remnant that have any conception. Much is written on the subject these days ; if the Money Maker did nothing more than merely focus such fugitive lore it would render invaluable service to the trading public. But the matter of the first number, and the presentation of that matter show that the paper has a full editorial and mechanical fountain to draw from.

RICHARD TEW & CO.

Messrs. Richard Tew & Co., have got their stock fully transferred to their new warehouse on Front st., next door to the Board of Trade building. Their buyer, Mr. Ede, has just returned from the Continent, and the samples he collected will be after him in a few days. He has bought a large stock of choice wares, all of entirely new pattern and finish. The present is therefore an important time for the trade to look after their orders. Messrs. Tew & Co., bought their large stock at an opportune moment. Their buyer had just left the market when prices sprang up at all the potteries in correspondence with an advance in the cost of coal, an advance in the form of higher wages to the colliers. Nor have the prices of earthenware, porcelain, and china goods yet reached their zenith. No orders will be booked abroad for delivery a week ahead. The prices of granite alone are 12½ per cent. in advance of what they were. Messrs. Tew & Co., having contracted before the advance are in a position to sell for some time at the old prices. They have some special lines in porcelain opaque, a new thing, manufactured by the same process as china, but, unlike china, not semi-transparent. Their new patterns are varied and elegant. One needs to go through their sample room to learn the form is in which fine glassware is manufactured for this season's trade. What further tends to make the present a favorable moment to buy is the action of manufacturers in this country who are petitioning the Government to put a higher duty on imported porcelain, chinaware, etc. See Messrs. Tew & Co's. advertisement.

TRUST AND COMPETITION.

During last summer, when the price of sugar was advancing, there was a great hue and cry about the exactions and wickedness of the Trust. An advance in the price of granulated sugar from 6½ to 9¼ cents was charged to the manipulation of the market by the Sugar Refineries Co. It was useless to point out to the critics and enemies of the Trust that there was good ground for an advance in the price of raw sugar, as there was a marked disparity between supply and demand, and stocks were unusually small. A speculation was started in Europe which carried the price of raw sugar to extreme figures, and for this the Trust was roundly abused.

What are the facts? During 1889 the refiners had a margin between the average cost of raw and refined sugar of 1¼ cents or about ⅝ of a cent per pound over and above the actual cost of refining; some claim ½ of a cent. During the summer, when prices were at the highest point, the profit was ⅜ of a cent per pound, owing to the high price of raw sugar. To-day the margin between raw and refined sugar has been reduced to the bare cost of refining, without allowance for wear and tear and depreciation of the plant.

During January the average cost of Centrifugals, 96 test, was 5.88 cents, of granulated 6.48 cents, affording refiners a margin of 60 cents per 100 pounds, which some refiners claim is less than the cost of refining. Evidently there is not the power in a Trust to control prices permanently that the enemies of combination have asserted. They may have power to do so temporarily, but their permanent gains must come from the economies effected, rather than excessive margins of profit.

Sugar is again cheap, and from two causes:

FIRST.—The crops of 1889 are heavy and in excess of the world's requirements. Is it not fair to conclude that the liberal supplies of 1890 are due to the comparatively high prices in 1889, and 1889 having stimulated growers to increase the acreage?

SECOND.—Competition has checked the Trust and compelled it to reduce the charge for refining. This emphasizes the point made by Mr. Gunton and other eminent writers upon economic subjects, that self-protection enforces a conservative policy upon combinations. If they exact unjust prices they invite excessive competition. This lesson has been taught the Sugar Refineries Co. just as it was the Standard Oil and other trusts. It is stated that the price of bagging, owing to the operations of the Trust, will be lower this year than ever before known. There is too much money seeking investment to worry about any Trust robbing the public for any length of time. We can safely rely upon natural causes to overcome evils, without invoking the costly and uncertain operation of law which should be framed so as to supervise instead of prohibit combinations of capital for manufacturing as it supervises banks, insurance companies and railroads.—American Grocer.

NEW ZEALAND BUTTER.

Great efforts are being made in New Zealand to improve the system of packing butter in cold chambers for transport to this country. In the New Zealand Farmer the editor remarks that a ton weight of butter can be packed, including packages, in a space equivalent to a ton and a quarter, ship measurement, and he adds that it has been calculated that 40 tons would only displace 500 carcases of frozen mutton. The dairy farmers of the colony are in a position of great difficulty, and efforts are being made to induce the Government to act with still greater energy in order to bring about some means of promoting their direct interests. When the New Zealand butter system has reached the advanced stage, and when the butter is landed in this country, as it probably will be, in fine condition, farmers will more thoroughly appreciate the new competitor with whom they will have to deal, for it will be only a matter of time for New Zeland to place very large quantities of butter in this market. They have determined to pack in square boxes rather than in tubs, more espeeially on account of the space which the latter occupies.—Manchester Grocers' Review.

EMBARRASSMENTS.

David Ward, general merchant, Lanark, has effected a compromise.

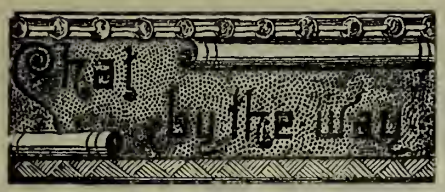
The stock and estate of John Flanagan, general merchant, Lucan, has been seized by the sheriff.

Wm. Walden, grocer, St. Thomas, has been sold out for rent.

Ryan & Phelan, dry goods merchants, Ottawa, are offering to compromise at 40c. on the dollar.

Bower & Co., grocers, 380 College street, Toronto, are seeking a settlement at 45c. on the dollar. They owe $1,900 and have assets of $700.

Powell, Allen & Breckenden, who carry on one of the largest retail dry goods stores in London, have been granted an extension of two years by their creditors. The liabilities are $35,000.



G. C. King & Co., general merchants, Calgary, have effected a settlement with their creditors on a basis of sixty cents on the dollar. Payments are spread over two years in quarterly instalments. The liabilities are placed at $63,000 and assets at $65,000. The creditors were represented by Mr. McMartin, of Montreal; Mr. Nugent, of Winnipeg, and A. D. Braithwaite, for the Bank of Montreal.

The creditors of Hoffinan Bros., dry goods merchants, Stratford, met on Friday afternoon and heard a statement showing liabilities of between $10,000 and $11,000, and assets $8,000. An offer of 60c., secured in 3, 6, 9 and 12 month, was recommended for acceptance, and the meeting adjourned to give the debtors a week to furnish security.

Thos. C. Clarke, dry goods merchant, Pembroke, is seeking an extension of 2, 4 and 6 months.

WHEN TO WIND YQUR WATCH.

A dry goods merchant and a jeweler were going home together on a street car at the close of their day's labors, and the former drew from his vest hts handsome Waltham and proceeded to wind it up. "This is'nt the right time to do that," said his friend. "Every watch should be wound at home the first thing in the morning, so that the fullest tension of the spring may be upon the movement during the jarring of the owner's footsteps while he is up and awake. This will save frequent regulation of the time-piece. Try it for a month or two and you'll be surprised at the improvement in your time."—Detroit Grocer and Trade Reporter.

Mr. F. McDonald, Port Lambton, has moved his store ot to Whitebread station.

The Royal Grocery, Wingham, takes GROCER. Mr. Griffin, the proprietor, is a business man, and has a good steady trade.

Mr. W. Kirton has bought out Lamson & Stepler's grocery business, Sarnia, and took possession last Saturday.

The committees appointed at the last meeting of the Retail Grocers' Association here will meet in Mr. Mills' office on Friday night.

J. A. Macdonald, inspector of weights and measures, visited Yarker last week, and found tin measures made in Kingston and sold without being inspected.

Messrs. Mark & Graham opened out on Saturday in McCrimmon Bros'. old stand, Lindsay, with a choice selection of groceries, etc.

The petition circulated among Woodstock shopkeepers to close at 9 o'clock Saturday night has received a large number of signatures.

Fred and Harvey Dawdy, sons of J. W. Dawdy, of Dawdy & Adley, general merchants, Welland, had a narrow escape from drowning on Friday, breaking through the ice on the Welland river, but were rescued by other parties.

While Mrs. Henry Neal, who keeps a small grocery on Davis street, Sarnia, was engaged in a back part of the house Wednesday forenoon some sneak thief entered the store and made off with the till, which contained a small amount of money.

A car of Florida russets is on its way to the warehouse of Mr. James Breen, of this city. This fine fruit is now at its best, and will soon be out of stock, which makes the arrival mentioned of special interest to the trade.

Mr. J. Turbet, Kingston, is recovering from a severe relapse of la grippe. Men like Mr. Turbet who can say they never knew by experience what sickness was seem to be special favorites for a particularly hard grippe.

Messrs. J. Cleghorn & Son shipped a lot of Booth & Sons' pack of select oysters all the way to Moosomin, to Mr. J. Maguire, a dealer in fruits, fish, etc. Oysters must be liked in that distant town, for they come high when they reach it, the express charges being $7.65 per cwt.

"Money is a little close, but I must spare two dollars for THE GROCER another year, says Mr. G. E. Vandusen, of Picton, Ont. Mr. Vandusen has no reason to complain of his business, he has a good trade, sells at a fair profit and does not bother about what others do with their goods, if they choose to give them away he cannot help it.

Mr. John T. Porter, general storekeeper, Orillia, has died of pleurisy, following from an attack of la grippe. Mr. Porter was only 38 years of age. He began his business career eleven years ago with Mr. Kean, of Orillia, and five years ago entered into a partnership with Mr. Christopher Moore. Three years ago he bought out Mr. Moore, and continued the business alone.

Messrs. Thackray and Mills visited the Hospital for Sick Children on Tuesday afternoon, and presented the check of the Retail Grocers' Association of this city for twenty dollars. This was in accordance with a motion at the last meeting. The donation was thankfully accepted for the hospital by Mrs. Harvie, the acting president.

Mr. T. O. Leonard, Kingsford's Oswego Starch Works, was here this week. He says their business for 1889 was the largest for several years. Their Canadian business has shown a very gratifying increase. Present prospects are that there will be a still further increase in 1890, as the Oswego starch is becoming more and more popular every year.

"I could not do without THE GROCER," said Mr. W. A. Carsons, Picton, Ont., and Mr. Carsons has as fine a store, as large a stock and as good a trade as any groceryman outside of any city in Ontario. He makes time to read THE GROCER, and says he sees a great many good articles in it, and thinks the market reports very good. Mr. Carsons has just made a large shipment of dried apples to Montreal.

Mr. Jas. Craig, of Jas. Craig & Co., Trenton, said, "Yes, I've got interested in THE GROCER and will take it, but I don't agree with it about taking stock in the summer season. You can't find a better time to take stock than the last of year." He puts his stock up at Christmas time to attract customers, and if he does not have to tear it to pieces before stock taking time he is disappointed and fails in the Christmas trade he always has.

Last week a boy discovered several caddies of tobacco covered with hay in an unused hen-house adjoining the Grand Central hotel stables at St. Mary's. The tobacco proved to be the property of A. Beattie & Co., wholesale and retail grocers. A policeman watched the place, when at about one o'clock that night two young men named Mulligan and Egan were seen entering the building and began to search for the lost treasure. The two youths were safely placed under arrest, and were committed to stand their trial at the next assizes.

Mr. Fairhead, of the Springwater Ice Company, has commenced cutting ice in Lake Scugog, and has been shipping at the rate of 300 tons per day. Also the Knickerbocker Ice Company, Mr. Burns and O'Keefe & Co., all of Toronto, are taking ice from the same water. The supply of ice is practically unlimited, and there can be no question about its purity, as there is no sewage entering into the lake. About 100 men and 25 teams are at present employed cutting and teaming the ice, which is nearly 14 inches thick.

Messrs. Haaz & Co., Kingston, are now moving into their commodious new factory on Fagot street, where they have improved facilities for manufacturing their celebrated brands of pure wine and cider vinegars. Mr. Haaz has been engaged in the manufacture of vinegar for over 20 years, and the increased demand has necessitated this removal to larger premises. Mr. C. De Carteret, the "Co." in this firm, is an old traveller, and is well and favorably known to the trade in Ontario. He knew what he was about when he went into this business, as articles "specially pure" are what all good travellers like to handle. There seems to be a good field here for a pure article of vinegar for table and pickling uses. For two years the trade has responded liberally to Mr. De Carteret's warrantee of their goods.

Grocers throughout Ontario who think there is no special advantages to be derived from a grocers' association in towns and cities, as well as a head or Provincial association, should hear the experience of the secretary of the Kingston Association, Mr. J. Gilbert, who has labored for the interest of the Kingston Association with unflagging zeal for over a year. He has prepared a very complete list of dead beats and slow pay customers, and if the grocers generally would show an interest and furnish such information as was asked or required of them by the secretary without having to be called on so often, the system adopted by the Association could be carried on without so much of the time and labor of the secretary.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

LARGEST SALE IN THE WORLD

Winner of THREE GOLD MEDALS in 1889---Paris, France, Ghent, Belgium, and Ottawa, Canada.

The Wide-Awake Grocer, even if he gets a smaller profit out of SUNLIGHT Soap than he does out of Inferior Soaps, recognizes the fact that the increased volume of business done by reason of keeping the BEST article, more than compensates for the smaller profit. The aim of every Grocer should be, to earn a reputation for selling THE BEST.

Grocers do not seem to realize that there are no dollars and cents in it for the secretary, and when a spirited man like Mr. Gilbert gives his time and money for the interests of the trade generally, he should meet with encouragement and help on all sides. The Kingston Association should be next to Toronto in size and influence.

"Every town has it troubles," said Mr. O'Flaherty, of O'Flaherty & Quirk, grocers, Stratford, to a GROCER reporter this week, "but I would like to see a by-law in this town done away with." There is to-day, a by-law in force, something to this effect:—"That no merchant shall buy at the market or on the street, eggs, for selling before ten a. m., or butter before noon." This is to give the citizens a chance to purchase, and not let the merchants pick up all the choice butter or fresh eggs. This does not exclude the commission merchant from buying, and to-day we are short butter and eggs, and cannot get enough to supply our customers, because, these commission men will not sell us, even at a small margin in advance of what they paid. A few others were spoken to on the same subject, and it is likely that they will take some action to have the by-law changed so that the merchant can get enough to supply his trade at least. We are rather surprised that such a go-ahead place as Stratford should permit such a law to appear on the books.

"A Grocers' Association here, in Stratford, would benefit us in two ways, and, if in nothing else, we should have one," said Mr. J. W. McEwan to THE GROCER? "First, we could get a certain profit on all our goods, and, secondly, we could capture the dead-beats who are dealing with us, and leaving suddenly with a bill of goods against them." You're right Mr. McEwan, and if you continue working faithfully as you have been doing in trying to form an Association in Stratford, it will not be long before such is on a sound footing. There are some grocers who will go into it. Start with a few, and the rest will follow as they are doing in the Toronto Association to-day. You must not be discouraged if you have only half a dozen members. That is quite sufficient. In Toronto, there are over a thousand grocers, but there are seldom more than twelve or fifteen present at the regular meetings. The work has all been done by half a dozen energetic spirits. By their untiring efforts they have put thousands of dollars into the pockets of the retail merchants of this city. Above all, have a good Secretary, and pay him well for his work.

LETTERS FROM SUBSCRIBERS

SHELBURNE, Feb. 5th, 1890.

DEAR SIR,—Enclosed please find two dollars for subscription to CANADIAN GROCER for 1890. I would not like to be without it. I wish you every success.

CHIGNECTO SHIP RAILWAY.

This railway, which is to afford sea-going vessels a short means of communication between the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the Bay of Fundy, is progressing rapidly towards completion, and it is expected to be in operation in about two years. Twelve hundred men are employed on the works. Vessels will steam or sail up to dock at either end of the railway, will be raised in a cradle to level of the rails, and will then be carried at the rate of eight or ten miles an hour to the opposite terminus, where they will be returned to the water.

The old, old question of danger arising from the use of lead water pipes continues to haunt certain circles of scientific students, and probably will remain a bone of contention as long as the world shall stand. Quite recently at Sheffield, Eng., considerable anxiety was manifested, owing to the sufferings of several citizens which were attributed to this cause, and the water committee authorized an investigation by an expert. In the report of the latter he suggested that the danger might be overcome, at least temporarily, by adding 3½ grains of carbonate of soda to every gallon of water. If the water should happen to be free from any trace of lead the addition would be harmless. The committee also resolved that the opinion of one of the principal chemists in London and of Mr. Thos. Hawksley should be obtained and presented without loss of time. They also recommend that the citizens remove the lead pipes and replace them with others lined with glass, which is certainly a sensible suggestion. If lead pipes are deleterious to health, they certainly ought to be abolished.

The Rio News has the following interesting item: "That Reunion seed, which is to supplant coffee, according to some of the French press, has been examined by an English analyst who has reported to the Pharmaceutical Society that it is not a dangerous competitor for the real bean. The new article is called 'Mussœnda' coffee, and Professor Dunstan says that the seeds resemble coffee slightly, and those who are responsible for telling the French that it could be used in place of coffee said that it contained caffeine to the extent of 0.3 to 0.5 per cent. The Kew authorities took up the matter and requested the Professor to examine the seeds chemically, but previously it was determined that the seeds did not come from a plant of the rubiaceous family as was claimed. A Reunion gentleman, Mr. St. John, had made inquiries on the spot, and reports that the plant is not abundant, yields but few seeds, and that these would be dearer than coffee. Mr. Dunstan's analysis shows that the seeds contain no alkaloid whatever, but do contain some fat, resembling that of nux-vomica and a little sugar. Reunion seed coffee need not, therefore, alarm Brazilian real coffee planters."

GROCERIES.

The record of the past week's business is a good one. The event of the week was the advance in sugar. This stimulated trade in all other lines. A very heavy all round business was done, but a specially large one was done in sugar. Wholesalers say this so far has been one of the best Februaries in their experience. Not only are purchases numerous, but they are large. Payments have improved since last report, and the outlook from the standpoint now reached is one that inspires general confidence.

CANNED GOODS.

These have had a share in the general enlargement of the week's trade, though perhaps in as low a degree as any other line. Buying has been fairly active, moving not so much along with the increased trade in sugar as in correspondence with a shrunken state of the retail stocks common at this season, which makes replenishment necessary. This condition has begun to influence buying. The week has not been marked by any large transactions. A special demand is already noticeable for salmon, which, at the outset of the Lenten season, was to be expected. There is no improvement in the prices quoted. Lobsters and Finnan Haddie are firm at the list quotations and are engaging a fair amount of attention. All canned fruits are in fairly good demand, and show steadiness in price.

COFFEE.

All coffees have advanced half a cent. This was anticipated in our last report, from the strong position, particularly of Java's, outlined in our quotation from the New York Bulletin. The scarcity of the Rios continues to be a feature of the market, and an irritant to advance. The business done here has been rather active.

DRIED FRUITS.

The market for prunes is stronger. An advance in keeping with the upward movement abroad is noticeable in this week's prices, which rule 4¾ to 5c. for barrel here. The latter price yet affords too bare a rate profit, the cost of the fruit when it arrives here being fully 4¾c. Currants are also held firmer, selling at 5⅜ to 6c., the latter being the ruling figure. Dates run higher as well, being quotable now at 6 to 6½c. In figs the stocks are light in Eleme as well as in natural. Very few houses are holding any stock now. The list prices are firm, but there is no advance. Valencia raisins are very firm, both for off-stock and layer, at last week's prices. In Sultanas stocks are light, and prices are stronger. Only very dark, almost black, are to be had at 9c.; the prices of the better fruit running from 10 to 14c. Malaga raisins show no change, although all the blue fruit is nearly exhausted.

SUGARS.

There has been a little spurt in the sugar market on former foreign advices here and an advance in the refiners prices here. At the moment an easier feeling has set in on reports of a decline in New York. Large purchases have been made by retailers in expectation of higher prices and to-day the market is dull. Granulated and white sugars are all ¼c. up at the refineries and wholesale prices are ⅛c. here granulated now standing at 7⅛ to 7¼c. Yellows are dull; low grades scarce at 5¼c. up; but some sales are reported at 5⅛c. The total visible supply in all the principal countries at latest mail dates is 1,345,385 tons and 1,042,552.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Syrups quote from 52 to 65c. There has been rather a quiet trade the past week. Molasses is firmer and in good demand at 35 to 38c. in puncheons, 40 to 42c. in barrels, and 43 to 45c. in half-barrels.

TEAS

There has been a fair demand, business flowing through small and numerous orders rather than large ones. In all lines prices have been steady, and are unchanged. Low grade Moyunes are the most likely to advance, if they are not very soon run off, as they are becoming scarce.

The local demand for Indian continues fair. There is not much change in the London market, teas for price are still wanted. Medium Pekoe receded about ¼d., but good mediums to fine are firm, although somewhat irregular. Fine broken Pekoes with thick liquors, marked an advance. Ceylons continue in demand locally. In London prices had given way slightly. Teas over 11d. having suffered most.

Tea (in lbs.) entered for consumption in Canada, during 1879, 1880. 1881, 1882, 1883, 1884, 1885, 1886, 1887, 1888. Quantity per head of population (in lbs.)—1879, 13,555,-021, 3·15; 1880, 11,968,257, 2·75; 1881, 16,-647,325, 3·85; 1882, 19,232,500, 4·42; 1883, 17,372,032, 3·95; 1884, 15,412,168, 3.42; 1885, 18,118,605, 3·94; 1886, 22.394,756, 4.74; 1887, 18,306,260, 3·79; 1888, 17,220,541, 3·48.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

Very good dairy tub brings 14 to 16c. with the latter price reserved for prime. The special price 17c. of last week has given way a point. There is a good demand for tubs, a demand which was mostly engaged some time ago by the large rolls. These are getting worse instead of better, and can't bring higher than 14c.; from that they go as low as 12c. The make is going very largely into this form, so that there is danger of a further depreciation. Store tubs are still 8 to 13c. The quantity offering is large, but only a moderate proportion is taken. Creamery tubs are 20 to 23c. with little moving. Pound rolls are 21 to 22c. and firm at that. The quality is improving, and is superior to that of any of the other home makes.

Cheese shows no sign of becoming dearer. There is a quiet but constant trade done, the early autumn make selling at 10½ to 11c. and the June make at 8½ to 9½c. Stocks keep fairly filled, although not lately replenished from the factories. Sales from them are mostly made out of the country.

SALT.

The salt market for the week is not quite so active as it has been the last two or three weeks. The following are the prices reported by the Toronto Salt Works: 2 cars coarse sacks, 70c.; 1 car barrels, $1.40. Smaller lots have sold at, sacks 85c.; barrels $1.45; dairy ¼ do. 45c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

APPLES—In car lots are $2 to $2.50. In job lots they bring $2.75 to $3. Few are offering, and the demand is quiet.

BEANS—Are $1.55 to $1.65. Sales are small and infrequent.

DRIED APPLES—Are selling slowly at 5 to 6c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Are 8 to 9c. for old, and 10 to 10½c. for new. There is a very light business done.

EGGS—There is a very large number of pickled in the country. These, owing to the high prices and scarcity of fresh, would be supposed to have been worked into consumption before this, but they were increased late in the season by several carloads from the United States. Prices of pickled are therefore now very low, 10 to 12c. representing prices hard to get. Fresh, now plentiful, are 14c. in case lots, and strictly new laid are 16 to 17c. in basket counts.

HAY—There is any quantity arriving, No. 1 is $10 to $12 loose on street, $10 pressed on track. No. 2 loose is $7 to $9, and pressed is $7.

HIDES—Cured are 4¾c. for choice buff hides. This price is hard to get. Green are 4c. for No. 1, 3c. for No. 2, and 2c. for No. 3.

HONEY—No. 1, clear, is 11½ to 13c. and in the comb is 12 to 14c. Business is fairly brisk.

HOPS—Are 13 to 15c. for those of the new crop, and 10 to 12c. for yearlings.

OATS—Are selling on the street at prices slightly better than those quoted last week. Very good are worth 32c. In car lots, the best price is 29c. at which there are plenty to be had.

ONIONS—Are becoming quite scarce, and rising in price. They are worth $1.80 to $2.

POTATOES—The market is exceedingly dull. By the car-load, they are worth 50c., and this price is not very firm. In job lots they are worth 60 to 65c. per bag.

POULTRY—Turkeys are scarce and dear. They bring 11 to 13c. Geese are 8 to 9c. Ducks, if they were on the market, would bring 70c. to $1. Chickens are also leaving the market. The lowest price for them is 55c. Prices are paid from that up to 80.

SEEDS—Very little of any kind has begun to come in from our own agricultural regions. The main supply has so far been imported. Red clover is cheaper than it was last week, quoting now $3.40 to $3.60. Alsike is up, now bringing $5 to $6. Timothy remains $1.25 to $1.50.

SKINS — Good butchers' sheepskins are $1.25 to $1.40. and for extra large, $1.50. No. 1 calf is 6c., No. 2 is 5c.

STRAW—There is no demand for loose. Bound is $6 to $7. Light-pressed on the track is $5.50. The market is kept full of it.

TALLOW—Rough is 1¾ to 2c., and rendered is 5 to 5¼c.

WOOL—In the fleece is 22c. The lowest pulled is 24c. Super is 24 to 25c., and extra-super is 29 to 30c.

CRANBERRIES.

The remains of the Cape Cod stock are worth $14 to $15 in barrels, $5 in crates, and 75c. in gallon tins. They are just arriving upon this market in the last form. There is also some Wisconsin fruit now in the market selling at $11 per barrel. Frozen fruit is $4 per crate.

FISH.

The opening of Lent finds stocks well supplied and prices correspondingly reasonable. The prices long current are not likely to be increased, as the demand being dull for so many months stocks have accumulated, and are now full enough to prevent advances. Whitefish are 7c., salmon trout, 7½c., salted sea-salmon, $12 per barrel, fresh cod 5c., steak cod, 7½c., haddock, 5 to 5½c., Labrador herring, $5 to $5.50 per barrel and $3.25 to $3.75 per half-barrel, shore herring, $4 per barrel, and $2.25 per half-barrel, boneless cod 6 to 8c. per pound, boneless fish 6c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Valencia oranges are $4.50 to $5. Latest advices report them up 1s. in England. Floridas are $3.50 to $3.75 for russets, and $3,50 to $4 for fancy brights. Messinas, very choice fruit now in, are $3 to $3.50. California navels are $6 to $6.50. Riverside seedlings are $4 to $4.25. Mediterranean sweets are $4.25 to $4.50. Palermo lemons in 300's are $5 to $5.50, in 306's $4.75 to $5. Prices of the Messinas are the same in both packages as the Palermos. The Cuccios are the newest lemons in stock. They are very choice lemons and sell at $5.50. Bananas sell at $3 to $3.50 for firsts, and $2 to $2.50 for seconds. Malaga grapes, that is, what is left of them are $10 to $14 per keg. Sweet potatoes are $6.

PROVISIONS.

BACON—Long clear is 7 to 7½c., according to quality. Breakfast is 10 to 11c. for backs and bellies. Roll is 8½c.

HAMS—Green are 9½ to 10c., and smoked are 11c.

LARD—Canadian is 8½c. in tubs, and 9c. in pails. American is 8c. in tubs, and 8½c. in pails.

MESS PORK — Heavy is $13 to $13.50. Canadian short-cut is $14.

DRESSED HOGS—Heavy are worth $5 to $5.25. Medium are $5.40 to $5.60. Select light weights are $5.75 to $6. The arrivals are quite numerous.

DRY GOODS.

The week's trade has been variable. On some days the volume of business done has been fairly large, on others it has been fairly small. Travelers send in liberal orders too infrequent however, and wholesal rs on all hands agree that this has been an extremely dull winter. Prices, however, show no sign of weakning, but rather grow firmer. The last rumor is that grey cottons are likely to go up. Woolen goods are held as dear as if the season's trade had been a good one. The conservative policy of importers and and wholesale dealers has left them mostly in a position to uphold prices through the course of a period of depression.

MONTREAL

MONTREAL MARKETS.

FEBRUARY 20, 1890.

GROCERIES.

The general aspect of the grocery business has undergone little change. In volume trade has been fair for the time of year, while it has developed no new feature of importance, except for the decided improvement in sugar. Reports from country points, while not very encouraging, seem to convey the impression that trade has a tendency to improve, in fact, on the whole, a better distribution is looked for during the remainder of this month. Payments have been fairly well provided for in most cases, although here and there complaints are heard of.

SUGAR.

The market has manifested a decided improvement in temper, and prices have advanced ⅛ to ¼c., owing to stronger raw markets, besides which refiners are loath to sell even in small lots, as stocks have been well reduced, both of raw and refined, in fact it has been hinted that the supply of raw material is running short here. Hence the market is decidedly better, with refiners refusing to sell except in small quantities. Granulated has advanced ⅛ to 6¾c. at the factory, which means 7c. as the grocery price. Low grade yellows have been in specially active demand, probably because they are very scarce, and 5¼c. is now marked as the inside, which is an advance of ¼c., and only trifling quantities can be obtained at that. Brighter grades range up 5⅞c., as to quality.

SYRUP.

There has been a better demand for syrup for Lenten wants. Prices have been inclined to stiffen and rule at 3¼ to 4c. per lb., as to quality.

MOLASSES.

Cables from the Islands report the opening of the market for new molasses and prices quoted equals 34c. per imperial gallon laid down here. The market for new has opened considerably easier than usual. Here the market has had a weaker tone. General prices range from 42 to 45c., as to quality, but it was rumored that the inside had been shaded to close out a lot.

TEAS.

Trade has continued quiet and the movement moderate, being practically confined to about the ordinary run of jobbing requirements. Prices have ruled steady. A few invoices of Japans have changed hands at from 16 to 26c. as to quality. Low grades of all varieties are not plenty.

COFFEES.

An ordinary jobbing movement has taken place at unchanged prices. Some choice lots of Rio have sold as high as 22c., with commoner at 20c., and Jamaica at about the same range. Mocha 28 to 30., Java 24 to 29c., Plantation Ceylon 19 to 24c., Maracaibo 18 to 22½c.

DRIED FRUIT.

There has been a fair turnover of most kinds, but not of a character to attract special attention. Ordinary Valencia raisins have been dealt in at 6½c., but best brands command 7c. owing to small supplies. London layers $3 to $3.25. Currants have had a rather slow sale. Round lots of low grade Provincial in barrels have changed hands at 5c. with best quality at 5¾ to 6c. Vostizza have sold at 7c. in cases. Bordeaux prunes have realized 4 to 4½c. Dates 5¼c., and Eleme figs 11 to 15c. as to quality. Evaporated apples firm at 9c., with dried at 6½c. Cocoanuts $5.25 per sack.

NUTS.

There has been a moderate movement. Tarragona almonds 14c., with Ivica at 12c. Pecans 12c. and Brazil nuts 11c. Walnuts 14c. for Grenoble and 10c. for French. Filberts firm at 10c. for Sicily and 9½c. for Turkey.

GREEN FRUIT.

Demand has been fair but not specially active. Apples have shown increased firmness with an upward tendency to prices, which are on the basis of $3 for greenings and $3.50 for red stock. Lemons $3.75 to $4 per box. Valencia oranges $4.25 per case. Messina oranges $2.75 per box. Florida oranges $3.75 per box. Frozen cranberries $7 per bbl.

SWEET POTATOES.

Consignments of sweet potatoes are coming to hand, and sales of such have been made at $5.50 per bbl.

RICE.

The ordinary amount of business has been accomplished in rice at steady prices. Patria 4½ to 5c., and Japan 4 to 4½c.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been no apparent improvement in canned goods. Trade througout has been on the quiet side and has presented little of interest. Some speculators in tomatoes have been unloading and have been let go cheap, one sale being below quotations. Jobbing lots may be quoted at $1.15. Salmon and lobsters are firm at $1.70 per dozen and $6.80 to $7 per case respectively. Mackerel scarce at $5.50 per case. Corn $1.20. Plums $1.75 to $2. Pears $2 to $2.10.

FISH.

There has been an active demand for all kinds of fish and a large turnover of stock has been effected. The event has been a further material advance in green cod under a good demand and limited supplies, in fact the market has been practically cleared of stock. Prices have now reached an unusually high level, No. 1 large being up to $7.50 and No. 1 ordinary to $6.50. Labrador herring have worked easier. Some round lots have sold below quotations (net cash), with small quantities at $3.25 to $3.75. Cape Breton herring $5 to $5.25. B. C. salmon have sold at $11 per brl. Dry cod $4.25 to $4.50. Sea trout $9. Lake trout $4.25 and white fish $5.50. All receipts of fresh fish which have been moderate, have been rapidly absorbed and nothing has been left over. Haddock and cod have sold freely whenever offered at 3½c. Carloads of Newfoundland herring have sold at $1.30 per 100 count, with smaller parcels up to $1.50. Tommycods $1.20 to $1.25. Smelts 2½c. to 3c. Finnan haddies 6½c. to 7c.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

GRAIN—There has been no important change in the market, business having continued quiet owing to the limited demand and light offerings. Wheat, No. 1 hard Manitoba, $1.05; No. 2 hard, $1.03; corn, duty paid, 50 to 51c.; oats, 30 to 32c.; peas, 67 to 69c. per 66 pounds; barley, 45 to 50c.; rye, 50 to 51c.

FLOUR—A moderate amount of busiuess has been accomplished in a jobbing way, there being a fair demand from country buyers, but there is little enquiry from local buyers. Prices are steady. Patent winter, $5 to $5.20; patent spring, $5 to $5.20; straight roller, $4.60 to $4.65; extra, $4 to $4.20; superfine, $3.10 to $3.90; city strong bakers', $4.80 to $4.90; strong bakers', $4.65 to $4.80; strong bakers' bags, $2.40 to $2.50; superfine bags, $1.50 to $1.90; extra bags, $2 to $2.10. Oatmeal, standard, $3.60 to $3.70; granulated, $3.50 to $4; oats, $3.80 to $4.25.

PRODUCE AND PROVISIONS.

PROVISIONS—The tone of the market has ruled steady and we have no change to note. The demand for pork is fair and sales of Western short cut are reported at $12,75 in small lots, but a car lot could no doubt be bought at $12.50. There is little enquiry for lard at quotations. Western short cut pork, $12.75; mess, $13; Canadian short cut, $13 to $14. Western (Armours and Fairbanks), $1.60 per pail. Cases (Armours and Fairbanks), 8⅛ to 8¼c. per lb. Canadian lard, $1.50 to $1.55.

EGGS.

Since our last the egg market has been weak and prices have declined 1c. to 2c. per dozen all round, except on held fresh stock, which have dropped from 2c. to 5c. per dozen, owing to the large offerings and the stock being of a very poor quality. The market at present is demoralized on account of the large offerings from the West and the big stocks held on spot; in fact, holders state that they have not seen the market in such an unsatisfactory condition for a long time Demand is chiefly for fine stock, such as Canadian new laid and St. Louis strictly fresh which have been moving fairly well, Canadian new laid sold at 18c. St. Louis, strictly fresh, at 15 to 16c. Montreal limed at 12 to 13c. Western do. at 8 to 10c. and held fresh at 5 to 10c. per dozen.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There has been no improvement, business having continued dull and of a small jobbing nature at about steady prices. Creamery, autumn made, 21 to 23c; medium 17 to 20c.; Townships, autumn made. 18 to 20c.; straight dairy, 14 to 16c.; Morrisburg and Brockville, autumn made, 16 to 18c.; do. straight dairy, 13 to 15c.; Western, choice, 14 to 15c; do, inferior, 11 to 13c.; Morrisburg roll in baskets, 14 to 16c.; barrels and boxes, 13 to 14c.

CHEESE—The situation of the cheese market is unchanged. The feeling is steady and business quiet. Finest September and October, 10¼ to 10½c.; fine stock, 9½ to 10c.; earlier makes, 8½ to 9c.

FEED.

Pressed has been quiet, owing to the limited demand, but prices have ruled steady. No. 1, $9.50 to $10.50; No. 2, $8 to $9; No. 3, $6.50 to $7 per ton in car lots. There has been more inquiry for feed and a good trade has been done. Mouillie, $20 to $22; bran, $12 to $13, and shorts, $14 to $16 per ton.

ASHES.

The feature of the market for ashes has been the strength in pearls, which have advanced 25 to 50c. per 100 pounds., owing to the decrease in stocks and the improved demand, sales having been made at about $6, with prospects of higher prices in the near future. The receipts of pots so far this year are smaller as compared with the same time last year. There has been more enquiry and sales of some round lots have been made. First pots, $3.50 to $3.55, and second pots at $3 to $3.10 per 100 pounds.

MEETING OF DRY GOODS MEN.

Several interesting subjects came up for discussion at the meeting of the dry goods section of the board of trade the other afternoon. There was a large attendance, nearly every house in the city being represented. Reference was made to the circular issued to the retail trade last year in regard to the returning of goods to wholesale houses, and it was the unanimous opinion of the section that the circular had done an immense amount of good, and that much less goods were returned last year than ever before. The members of the session also expressed the hope that in time the evil would be entirely done away with. The question of "terms" was discussed, and as usual strong expression of opinion was given against the custom of "dating ahead."

Discussing the duty on the making up charges of goods, the section was unanimously of opinion that while merchants should pay duty upon cartoons and things that form a legitimate part of the value of goods in the opinion of the section all charges for "making up, cutting and examining textile fabrics," of all descriptions being charged or examined, which are intended for the proper carrying on of business, should not be subject to duty, and they propose memorializing the Minister of Customs in accordance with the idea.

The question of the proper disposal of bankrupt stocks was carefully discussed, and it was the unanimous opinion of the members of the section that they wished to do everything in their power to abate the evil effects of selling bankrupt stocks, and it is only a question of time when the proper steps can be taken in the section. A committee was appointed consisting of Messrs. Anderson, G. B. Smith and Caldecott, to give it careful consideration and report to the meeting of the section to be held, say a fortnight from yesterday.

The executive met before the regular meeting and elected Mr. S. Caldecott, chairman; T. O. Anderson, deputy chairman, and Alexander Boyd on the executive to fill the place of Hon. John Macdonald.

Short weight in barreled herring received from Newfoundland latterly has been more conspicuous than usual, and, for their own as well as their customers' protection, the jobbing trade should "sit down" heavily upon this growing evil. Some of our local jobbers apply the motto, "weigh, measure and gauge everything you buy," with fish as well as other goods; but others, for want of room or facilities, have to depend upon the probity of the shippers, and dependence in this quarter is not infrequently misplaced confidence. Receivers have had to make short weights good on some stock sold, but it is stated that they now insist that fish shall be taken as received for full weight, whether 200 pounds to the barrel or 40 to 50 pounds short. In reply to objections from careful buyers they (the receivers) remark, "other houses accept weights as marked."—New York Commercial Bulletin.

THE CANNED GOODS LAW.

Her Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and House of Commons of Canada, enacts as follows:—

In this Act the expression "package" means every can, tin or package in which articles or goods are put up for sale, and which are closed by being hermetically sealed. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 1.

Except in the case of goods packed previously to July 20, 1885, every package of canned goods sold or offered for sale in Canada, for consumption therein, shall have attached thereto or imprinted thereon a label or stamp, setting forth in legible characters the name and address of the person, firm or company by whom the same was packed, or of the dealer who sells the same or offers it for sale.

Every such package containing goods prepared from products which have been dried previously to being so prepared, shall, in addition, be labelled or stamped with the word "soaked," which word shall be plainly printed diagonally across the face of the label in large, legible type at least half an inch in height and three-eighths of an inch in width.

Every person who sells or offers for sale any such goods in violation of any provision of this section shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, for a first offence incur a penalty of two dollars for each such package, and for a subsequent offence a penalty not exceeding twenty dollars and not less than four dollars for each such package in respect of which any such provision has been violated. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 2.

Every person who places on any package any label, brand or mark which falsely represents the quantity or weight of the contents of such package, shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, incur a penalty of two dollars for each package on which the quantity or weight is so falsely represented; provided always, that a variation under the rate of three per cent. shall not be deemed a violation of the provisions of this section. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 3.

Every person who places on any package any label, brand or mark which falsely represents the date when the article or goods contained therein were packed, shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, incur a penalty of two dollars for each package on which such date is falsely represented. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 4.

TRADE SALES.

The estate of A. W. Morris & Bro., Montreal, is advertised for sale in three lots, the cordage works in Montreal, the binder twine factory in Port Hope, the plaster mine at Manon, B. C., and moveables aggregating to $409,800; book debts $37,000, and lump cordage and material under advances $241,068. The sale takes place on February 25.

The grocery stock of Mr. James Beattie, St. Mary's, amounting to $1,746,08, was sold by auction last Thursday, by Mr. J. Brown to J. W. Broderick, of London, at 65½c. on the dollar.

Suckling, Cassidy & Co. held their own trade sale on the 18th and 19th.

The general dry-goods stock belonging to W. G. Cumming, Ridgetown, valued at close upon $8,000, was bought at 70c. on the dollar by Mr. J. O. Hymmen, Berlin. Messrs. Suckling & Cassidy sold it on Tuesday at their auction rooms in this city.

On Wednesday the boot and shoe stock of F. H. Rodern was sold at 59½c. in the dollar by Messrs. Suckling & Cassidy. The stock was valued at $1.137, and was bought by Mr. H. B. McArthur, Port Hope.

On Wednesday afternoon Mr. J. B. Pierce of Norwood bought a stock of millinary trimmings at Suckling & Cassidy's for 10½c. in the dollar.

On Tuesday next, the 25th inst., the wholesale dry-goods stock of Messrs. Tait, Burch & Co., amounting to above $100,000 will be offered at the auction rooms of Messrs. Suckling & Cassidy.

On Wednesday at the same auction rooms, will be sold the general stock of J. H. Vernon, Orillia, amounting to $13,580.42. The terms are; one-fourth cash, with the remainder in two, four, and sixth months on security, with interest at 7 per cent.

On Wednesday next the dry-goods stock of W. J. Kilmer, Gravenhurst, will be sold by Suckling & Cassidy at their ware-rooms. The value of the stock is $7,053.34. The terms require one-quarter cash, the rest in two, four, and six months, secured, at 7 per cent.

On Tuesday Messrs. Suckling & Cassidy will also sell the stock of clocks, watches and general jewelry belonging to Emile Waldt, King St. East, Toronto, amounting to $1,969.84. Terms cash.

The stock of W. Waldron, confectioner, St. Thomas, was sold on Saturday by the bailiffs, at auction, to Culver & Son, bakers, at 35c. on the dollar. The total sum realized was $165.

A floating paragraph says that syrup is being manufactured in California containing 75 per cent. of saccharine matter. This syrup is made by concentrating grape juice in a vacuum pan. One ton of grapes yield 160 gallons of juice, which is reduced to one-fourth of its bulk. At the price which this syrup ought to bring it seem as good outlet for the over-production of grapes. Mission and Malvoisie grapes principally are used.

Messrs. Lamarche, Prevost & Co., wholesale dry goods merchants, Montreal, Que., have held a meeting of creditors, and, after submitting a statement of their business, have asked for a compromise at seventy cents in the dollar, which will probably be accepted. The difficulty is due to heavy losses sustained through the failure of several retail dealers in the country.

Unlike daily papers and general periodicals, this paper places advertisements before the eyes of just that portion of the industries most calculated to avail themselves of the announcements therein, and, therefore is of more value to the Trade than any paper published in this or other worlds. Manufacturers and wholesalers please take note of this, and then act accordingly. It is the only paper in Canada that reaches this trade direct.

Goods sold habitually below their cost are not likely to be paid for in full.

"No man has a right to hazard other men's property without fairly apprizing his creditors of the nature and extent of the risk, and obtaining their consent to the measure."—Horace Greeley.

The London Grocer has the following: "Another tea producing district is the latest novelty in the tea trade. Lately it was tea from Fiji now it is the growth of Perak, situate in the Strait Settlements of the East Indies. The first consignment to the London market has just taken place, and has consisted of an invoice of seventy-eight half-chests from the 'Perak' estate, where the tea has evidently been grown, cultivated and manipulated by persons of considerable skill and experience in the industry. By expert valuers in 'The Lane' the quality of this experimental shipment is favorably spoken of, and on its being offered in public sale on Wednesday last it found ready buyers at full rates, viz., broken pekoe, at 1s 3¼d, pekoe at 11¾d, pekoe souchong at 9¼d, souchong (a single package) at the same price, and dust at 6¾d per lb. Should the tea production of Perak materially increase it will doubtless come into competition with Indian and Ceylon, and in the course of time add to the general supplies for this country, and afford a wider and more desirable assortment for the trade to choose from throughout the year."

The undersigned has been appointed Agent in the United States and the Dominion of Canada by
The Associated Tea Planters, Ltd.
OF LONDON, CAPITAL, £50,000.
Under the auspices of the Indian Tea Districts Association.

The object of the company is to push the sale of their product, feeling certain that when systematically brought to consumers' notice its merits will be so manifest as to give it the front rank in public favor, as is the case in Great Britain.

Roundly, the annual consumption in that country is 80,000,000 lbs. during last crop year This is the best answer to the twaddle about the excessive quantity of tannin in Indian tea. Consumers in England are no fools: they know a cup of good tea.

Supplies will be held in Canada and the States and the undersigned, or his assistants, will make regular calls on the Trade. Samples will also be promptly forwarded on application.

CERTIFICATES OF STRENGTH AND PURITY.

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC ANALYST,
MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

GENTLEMEN,—I have personally taken samples from a large stock of your Granulated Sugar, "REDPATH" brand, and carefully tested them by the Polariscope, and I find these samples to be as near to absolute purity as can be obtained by any process of Sugar-Refining.

The test by the Polariscope showed in yesterday s yield 99·90 per cent. of Pure Cane Sugar, which may be considered commercially as ABSOLUTELY PURE SUGAR.

JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, P.L.D., D.C.L., F.C.S.,
Public Analyst for the District of Montreal, and Professor of Chemistry.

CHEMICAL LABORATORY, MEDICAL FACULTY, McGILL UNIVERSITY.
MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Company:

GENTLEMEN,—I have taken and tested a sample of your "EXTRA GRANULATED" Sugar, and find that it yielded 99·88 per cent. of Pure Sugar It is practically as pure and good a Sugar as can be manufactured.

Yours truly,
G P. GIRDWOOD.

MATURING WHISKEY.

A process for maturing whiskey has been patented which if successful on a large scale promises to yield a handsome fortune to the owner of the patent. Neither electricity nor chemicals are used, but the method suggested by the course of nature is followed.

On the theory that the action of the oxygen of the air on the liquor improves the whiskey by slowly maturing it, pure oxygen gas is introduced into the barrels containing the whiskey. By agitating the barrels every part of the liquid is brought in contact with oxygen gas. The whiskey is in addition slightly heated in order to make it more susceptible for the action of the oxygen gas.

We have seen samples of fresh whiskey which were said to have been subjected to this maturing process for ninety days. These samples tasted very much like whiskey three years old. About fifteen feet of oxygen gas had been used to mature fory-two gallons of whiskey . The apparatus consists of a cyndrical air-tight tank or vessel holding about twenty-one gallons, which is kept slowly revolving.—Wine and Spirit Gazette

The Montreal Chambre de Commerce presents the record of its third year's labor in its report, just to hand, for 1889. Some important questions on which it has taken action during the past year are the extention of the wharfs, the improvement of the streets, the inspection of green hides under sanitary conditions, the South Bank Railway, ferry service for the parishes across the river, the Sunday opening of the canals, licensing of a river police, peddling, underground electric lines, prison labor, overcharges in duty, the slaughter-houses, circulation of bank-bills, etc. The third annual meeting of the Chambre de Commerce was held on Wednesday.

SPECIAL TO OUR READERS.

As the design of THE CANADIAN GROCER is to benefit mutually all interested in the business, we would request all parties ordering goods or making purchases of any description from houses advertising with us to mention in their letter that such advertisement was noticed in THE CANADIAN GROCER.

OUR MONTREAL OFFICE.

Our Montreal Office is located at 115 St. Francois Xavier St. Our representative, Mr. Hugh C. McLean, will be pleased to have subscribers and advertisers call upon him there. He will also pay special attention to gathering business items and attending generally to the interests of this paper.

CUTS IN SUGAR.

So far all attempts to regulate the price of sugar have been confined to the white. There was no serious difficulty in the way of establishing standards in that class of sugar, and the prices of it have accordingly been uniform, at all events in the Wholesale Grocers' Guild. We have not recently heard of white sugar being overtly sold as such at a price per pound different from the standard price. The Guild's price-regulations appear to be respected in the letter, but it remains to be questioned if they are in the spirit. It is publicly asserted by men who buy sugar that they are not. Retailers have been getting white sugars from members of the Guild below what it would cost them at the Guild's prices. They get no lower quotations on the white, but they virtually pay a lower price for it. And the wholesalers who sell white sugar so as ultimately to cut the price, can easily persuade themselves by a little casuistry that they are not doing wrong. Here is the whole front of their offending: They sell yellow sugar at whatever price they please; they break no covenant in doing that, for there is no combination on yellow sugar. White sugar there is a combination price on, and they will firmly stand by it. But if a customer wants to buy white sugar, and objects to paying the combination price, who can gainsay the right of the wholesaler to sell him some yellow sugar at a low figure, on the condition that the retailer shall take the white sugar at the standard price? Who could object to the wholesaler even giving away some yellow sugar to the man who can't otherwise be induced to pay the standard price of white?

But men do object to such methods. Wholesalers who feel that they have to descend to compete on such terms, who feel that the plain intent of the Guild's regulation is violated, do not resort to such shifts, and with one voice deprecate them. Retailers who buy on strictly Guild terms condemn artifices which cause them to be undersold by men who have succeeded in breaking up the combination. Such devious ways of drawing custom do very much to derange business, and rightfully bring those who take to them into discredit.

There was a meeting last week of the Guild, for the purpose of agreeing upon a remedy for this state of things. A proposal was submitted, which was not heartily received, and the matter was left pending. It is certain, however, that some action will be shortly taken. The close of the dull season which usually corresponds with the close of March, may be expected to be attended by a mitigation of the evil.

ASSOCIATIONS.

The object which should lead grocers to organize in local associations are numerous and obvious. Yet associations are not numerous, and few of those that do exist are enthusiastic. The reason for both these facts is the same: There is not abroad among the trade a sufficient faith in the possibilities of association. There is perhaps a recognition general enough of objects to be attained by organization, but there is too little of the working element, which is the sign and the functional expression of strong conviction. When associations are formed it is usually the few who develop them. The great majority of the members are seldom above the lukewarm temperature, and take the most desultory interests in the proceedings. The abstract thing "the association" is looked to as capable, independently of the activity of its members, of bringing important things to pass. It fails, and the members become further indifferent, stay home, and finally drop off the list. The members make the association. They must attend it, they must take part in its proceedings, they must make its principles concrete by the application of them to their business. Then their business experience will react and make them more and more an acquisition to their association. There has to be plenty of ungrudging individual work. The gospel of work is as true for men associated together as it is for men in their private capacity.

Associations are formed from various motives, but it is remarkable that there is no motive which invigorates an association less than does trade. Trade associations are the fewest in number and the most sluggish in action. Fraternal, national, industrial, and religious associations multiply and accomplish considerable objects. Yet the interest nearest a man's private concern, the bettering of his trade, appears not to be a success as the basis of an association.

Among the objects moving men of the same trade to organize, may be mentioned, first, the breaking down of reserve. Men may do business near each other for years, and never be brought into neighborly communion. Each might render valuable assistance to the other by imparting information about customers, who may be known to only one dealer to be undesirable. If competitors met in the assembly room of an association at every meeting, competition would lose its bitterness.

A second is the centralizing of information. By each man bringing in his quota, the association soon amasses a fund of important detail, that no man could get access to who remained isolated.

A third object is the clearing up one's views, the enlightenment of a man upon trade matters. This is a very important one, and realizable in no other way so thoroughly as by discussion.

A fourth object is the attainment of ends beneficial to all. If the closing of stores is desirable at a certain hour, if concessions are to be exacted from corporations, councils, manufacturing companies, etc.,—such ends can be gained with least labor and most certainty by organization.

A fifth object is the regulation of local competition.

A sixth is for the general interest of the particular trade throughout the country. Every trade should have an association which is its local mouthpiece, and the assemblage of these local bodies in the country should be represented by a central association, which should bear to them the relation of a federal legislature to a local one. It is only of such sections representing local units, that a national business men's association can be formed.

The list of reasons why men of the same trade should organize might be extended indefinitely. The chief reasons are enumerated, and should be weighty enough to help along the spirit of organization.

THE CORNER GROCERY.

The man who keeps a corner grocery in the residential precincts of a large city usually becomes, by the discipline of his experience, a person of saintly patience and long-suffering mildness. To chasten an unruly spirit out of a strong man, we know of nothing equal to a few years' solitary incarceration behind the counter of a corner grocery. The chained lion may, in the fulness of time, be led forth a tethered lamb. It mellows the nature of the most vicious, it makes the haughtiest tractable. The slow, insidious effects of daily exposure to acres of baleful cheek will finally tame the most wayward. It is cheek which in the end takes all the kinks out of the nature of the most crooked genie of a corner grocery, and likewise takes the robustness out of his constitution.

We talked some time ago with a hard-stricken man who had spent seven years of his life in an up-town grocery, at a point where two streets meet at right angles. This man's nature had been a roaring cyclone in the heyday of his youth. It was now a sighing zephyr. All the dare-devil had been taken out of him. He was not yet old, and we asked him how he had been brought to kiss the rod that had thus early got him so well in line. His answer involved an autobiographical account of the seven years he had been immured in a corner grocery. The details of that recital we consider the present an inopportune moment to impart to our readers, because the public sympathy is now cloyed by a surfeit of Siberian horrors. We will content ourselves with culling a few sample outrages from the story to show by what processes the spirit of this man was finally broken.

In the first place he always kept a full stock of goods on hand, which he was brought to look upon, not as a source of livelihood to himself and family, but as a local accommodation to people who were the customers of down-town grocers. His was the nearest grocery to these people, but it was resorted to for goods only when some miscalculation had been made when supplies were bought down town. Then when his shutters were up, or when he was in bed, or on Sunday, would a messenger come in hot haste from the down-town-buying family, and order a bottle of pickles, some John Bull sauce, olives, or other article that is kept only in the fullest stock. In time the grocer learnt meekly to keep all these accessories of a good table, and to leave his bed without murmur to supply them. He even got broken in to carry these light orders to the houses of the people who came by accident and out of season to be occasional buyers at his store. If, observing that nearly all the buying for local needs was done at some large grocery, he would let his stock run down in any line, he would be sure to be pounced upon for the thing be had not, and would be reviled as one who cumbered the ground because he could not supply it. This obliged him to keep his stock replenished and lose thereby.

When the delivery wagon arrived with the goods from the down-town grocery for people in his square, the aforesaid goods marked c. o. d., it was seldom the driver could make change. Then the corner grocer would be appealed to by a colony of women straightway to provide change. This, likewise, he got used to, and came to regard it as one of the purposes for which he kept a corner grocery.

Often the head of the family a few doors away would go down town and take all the money with him. Then generally a ton of coal would be delivered, and the corner grocer would have to do the financing to get the ready money for that coal. He cheerfully became the money-lender of all his neighbors, though the wealthier of them did little traffic with him to leave him any money.

If a nail had to be driven, in any house within half-a-dozen blocks, the grocer's hammer was the one to drive it. If stoves had to be put up, there was only one step-ladder to handle the pipes from, and that was the grocer's. That step-ladder is now a crazy, decrepit wreck. If he lends it again, some one will fall, and then there will be no living for the grocer. If he refuses to lend, it will be about as bad for him. He is, therefore, going to buy a new one.

The corner grocer owned two sections of hose, one about fifty feet long, the other about twelve. He treasured them as the apple of his eye and kept them concealed. But in an evil hour his next-door neighbor found out that the grocer had the shorter piece, and at once resolved to refresh his front yard and boulevard. The shorter piece was lent, passed from hand to hand several blocks and being borrowed every morning, the desert in front of the contiguous houses soon flourished like a green bay-tree. Before this piece was quite worn out, the next-door neighbor, who seemed to possess some occult means of finding out things, discovered the fifty-foot hose. He made up his mind to till his back yard, and having gathered the tin cans and old boots off that waste and fired the bulk of them over the grocer's wall, he called on that dealer and proposed to borrow the fifty-foot hose. He further suggested, as a bit of matutinal exercise, that the grocer should throw it every morning over the sixteen-foot wall that separated the premises, to be used by the would-be gardener. This exercise would require the strength of Ajax, and would wear out the hose in six weeks. The grocer mused. He remembered the day when a second visit from such a man would have found that hose loaded. There is a point at which even a worm will turn, and the grocer felt that it was now reached. He refused to lend the longer hose. Overcome by the temporary return of his old-time self-assertiveness, he immediately swooned.

HOW TO KEEP CERTAIN FOOD PRODUCTS IN GOOD CONDITION.

Butter is an article requiring the utmost cleanliness and care to keep it from becoming tainted. To keep this from occurring the butter must be kept at a considerable distance from such odorous articles as lard, cheese, fish salted, dried or smoked, coal oil, vinegar, liquors. etc. Your butter boxes must be frequently scalded with hot water and salsoda, and afterwards thoroughly rinsed with hot and then cold water, and left to dry before again using them. When ready for use take two pieces of clean muslin cloth cut the size of the box, pack in your butter and cover it with the other cloth. This will keep fresh roll butter in good sweet condition for three or four weeks. Barrels containing pickle roll and firkin butter should be examined once or twice a week and kept filled with brine made from Liverpool salt and sufficiently strong to float an egg or potato. Whenever pickled roll butter is opened a few rolls should be taken out and placed in a butter box, and if not sold during the day should be replaced in the barrel every night. The butter in the barrel must always be covered with brine, and to prevent floating a suitable ftame or cover is to be placed over the butter with a clean heavy stone upon it. This will keep it from contact with the air, which affects pickled butter more quickly than fresh. Firkin or tub butter when removed from their original packages and placed on the counter, should have the specks and stains of dirt, occasioned by contact with the sides of of the barrels or tubs, removed with a clean knife, and a clean muslin rag previously dipped in brine, and of a proper size, wound around the butter, and another similarly prepared placed over the top ; this should be done at least once a day, and will keep the butter in good and clean condition.

Lard, olive oil, nuts, flour, meals, crackers and similar articles, must be kept from proximity with any of the above mentioned or other odorous substances, to prevent disagreeable consequences.

Flour must be kept in a dark, dry and cool place, having a free access of air and an even temperature. A room lined on the inside with tin or zinc, with the edges carefully soldered, would be the acme of perfection, as it can be kept sweeter and cleaner, than one composed of wood, in the crevices of which particles of flour are apt to collect, and from the impossibility of removing them, they ultimately become musty and breed weevil, which are afterwards communicated to the flour on storage. If a room of this kind is out of the question, the next best thing is a stand made of strong boards in the shape of a table, and raised about two feet from the floor, and having the legs, sides and top covered with sheet tin or zinc, with the edges well soldered, for above mentioned reasons. It will likewise prevent rats and mice from getting at the flour, provided the stand is placed some distance from convenient jumping places. Meals must in no case be stored together with flour, on account of retaining a certain amount of natural moisture, which coming in contact with the flour particles will breed weevil or become musty. A similar stand or a box finished like that referred to above must be used if metals are to be kept any length of time.

Olive oil, flavoring extracts, olives, fruits in glass or canned must be kept in a cool place, where the sun cannot strike them.

Hams, bacon and other smoked and dried meats, after being weighed and marked, should be hung up in a cool dark dry place.

Cheese after being cut should be kept in an air-tight safe lined with tin, this will keep the cheese from becoming mouldy or dry. The whole cheese, kept on storage, should be placed on shelves, separately, and brushed and turned over every few days to prevent the cheese from rotting or the "cheesemites" from getting a start.

Roasted and ground coffees, ground spices in bulk or paper packages, cocoas in bulk or paper packages, teas, crackers and the like, should in every instance be kept in tin canisters or boxes, which can be obtained either ready made or made to order, in every conceivable form and variety of decoration.

Rice, sago, tapioca and similar farinaceous products, are to be stored in either clean barrels or bins; in the latter have them lined with tin.

Table salt, especially in small sacks, can be kept clean and dry, by placing in an empty sugar barrel or box with a suitable cover. By placing quicklime in the same storage room with salt it will absorb the moisture in the air and keep the salt dry.

Chocolate, figs, dates, citron and other peels, and dried fruits, should be kept in a glass showcase.

By using a self-measuring molasses gate, all the loss and the disgusting filth of the old method of drawing syrup are done away with, making the operation a "joy forever."—Grocer and Country Merchant.

FRUIT DUTIES.

A deputation of the fruit growers of Canada waited upon the Hons. Mackenzie Bowell and G. E. Foster last week, to ask that increased duty be placed on imported fruit that was placed two years ago on the free list. The following representations were made by the delegates from the different provinces :

Mr. Pettit spoke on behalf of Ontario, and argued in favor of increased protection. Under the present free trade system Ontario was made a slaughter market for American fruit of poor quality, but sought for because it came in earlier than the Canadian article. Mr. Henry, of British Columbia, told of the severe competition that fruit growers of the Pacific province had to bear from California fruits and expressed his belief that protection would prove of tremendous advantage to that young industry. Mr. Edwards, on behalf of Quebec, said that unless the fruit growers of that province could be protected they must cut down their trees. Mr. Desjardins, M.P., said that the duties on vegetables should be re-imposed. The gardeners of the island of Montreal had suffered great loss since the duties were abolished and the consumer did not benefit, because prices were higher than for the home article. The whole province of Quebec was desirous for protection of this industry and he urged the Government to, if possible, grant the request. In answer to Hon. Mr. Foster, Mr. Pettit said their idea was to have the old duties reimposed, not increased. Mr. A. McD. Allan complained of Americans shipping their apples in barrels branded as Canadian, a proceeding which resulted in much injury to the Canadian grower. He asked the Government to find some way of doing away with this injustice to the Canadian fruit trade. Hon. Mr. Bowell referred to the discussion last year on the same complaint respecting cheese, and expressed his doubts if any law could be found to cover the matter. Mr. Allan said it could be stopped by putting a duty on American fruit. Mr. Dempsey told of the decline of the strawberry trade in the Prince Edward district, and said that, when he heard the duty was removed, he ploughed up his plants. Mr. Mills, M.P., having urged protection in the interests of the apple growers of the Annapolis valley, and Mr. Ferguson, M.P., of Welland, having told of the injury done by American competition in the Niagara peninsula, Hon. Mr. Bowell expressed his pleasure at having met such an influential deputation and said the whole subject was now under the consideration of the Government, who hoped to be able to satisfy some, if not all, of them.

OUR HERRING INDUSTRY.

The report of the commissioners appointed to enquire into the herring fishing industry of Great Britain and Holland was presented to Parliament the other day. The commissioners say no real permanent improvement can take place, nor can the herring industry in Canada be placed upon a satisfactory basis until the fisherman ceases to be his own fish curer, and until the business of curing is taken in hand by a class of merchant fish curers, as in Scotland—men of energy, business experience and capital—with all the necessary appliances to carry on the business on fixed principles and in accordance with such regulations as may be promulgated for the benefit of the trade from time to time. They recommend that there should be a chief fishery officer, inspector or superintendent, having jurisdiction, under the department, over all matters of detail pertaining to the herring fishing industry in all the Maritime Provinces, whose business it shall be, in association with one or more of the most experienced and most intelligent officers in each province, to arrange a general classification of herring and a graded branding standard, as well as an unbrandable grade for the Dominion, having due regard to any special kind of herring peculiar to any one province or locality, the object being to secure as nearly as possible a general Dominion standard on the same lines as the graded standard of Scotland, as nearly as circumstances will permit. That there should be imported and established in each seaboard county, where the importance of the herring fishing may so warrant, a thoroughly trained Scotch herring cooper, of long experience in the herring-curing business, who should act as head inspector for the district. That there should be imported from Scotland, for each fishing county, one crew of expert herring-gutting girls, whose business it should be to go from station to station teaching all concerned, willing to learn, the art of gutting, selecting, classifying, curing and packing herrings and refilling barrels preparatory to inspection, as practised in Scotland. They urge that the present Canadian barrel, being too weak to stand the rough handling to which it is exposed on the railways in transportation, should be greatly improved; that it should contain not less than 200 lbs. of herrings, exclusive of salt; that it should be made of stronger material; that the staves should be of hardwood whenever possible; and that, if spruce is permitted to be used, the stave should be thicker and stronger than the present stave. Fir and pine should be prohibited. In addition to the barrel and half-barrel they recommend that there should be established a grade of small packages in which to put up repacked herrings after the manner of the Dutch and Germans; that these packages or kegs should be integral parts of the large barrels, say one-fourth, one-eighth and one-tenth parts of the full-sized barrels. They also urge improved methods for curing.

LOW GRADES OF SUGAR.

At this time of year there is always a scarcity of low grades of sugar. The reason is that the sugar-year is near its close. It begins in March, when the cane is ready for grinding, and of course is near an end when February is reached. The main bulk of what is made into the lower grades of sugar is refined at the outset of the season, so that the stock of inferior sugar we have had this year was made mostly in the spring and in the early summer. The refining later in the sugar-year is exclusively for the production of bright sugars. When the crop is new a poor sugar is more cheaply obtained from it than when it is old. That partly explains why we have a scarcity of poor sugar now. The explanation is made complete by this other fact, that on low-graded sugars, kept in stock till now, there would be a greater loss than on any other kinds through drainage, etc., and prices would have to be raised accordingly. But if this sugar loses in weight through long holding, it gains in color from the same cause. It usually emerges at this time of year quite bright, and through this conversion we lose a good deal of low-graded sugar before March is reached again.

Every year there is a demand for sugar in this month. The rhubarb crop is what produces this demand. It appears to be the opinion of housewives that any kind of sugar is good enough to sweeten rhubarb. They therefore just now look for the poorest, and they are to be felicitated on the difficulty they find in getting it. Sugar that contains but sixty per cent. of saccharine matter, must have forty per cent. of its composition that is not sugar. In other words ten pounds of the compound have to be bought to get six pounds of sugar. For baking and cooking rhubarb, the housekeeper thinks it more economical to buy twenty pounds at 5c. a pound, than to buy fourteen pounds at a little above 7c. a pound. She is mistaken. In the twenty pounds she is not likely to get more than twelve pounds of sugar. This at the price of the better sugar would be only about 85c. Further, the non-saccharine matter in the low grades is not merely a neutral ingredient that is there as ballast. It is apt to be injurious as well as lowering to the quality of the sugar. Very few adulterants are harmless, unless they are expressly used to improve the character of the pure article. Pure dark sugar is about as good as bright, but then it is not sold at a greatly lower price.

The refiners, there is no doubt, would rather produce pure sugars than adulterated ones. The fact that we have poor sugars is not chargeable to them, but to the mistaken notions of consumers, and the readiness of dealers to keep cheap goods. The taste of consumers may be vitiated but it is kept so by that class of traders who are determined above all things to sell. They must get something which can be called sugar that they can sell at a lower price than their fellow-traders near them can sell sugar for. They create a demand which has to be satisfied at the refinery, and the little pride refiners take in the production of such sugar is shown by their modest anonymity. The barrels containing this very poor sugar bear no brand on their ends. That sugar is undistinguished by any name or package-number to refer to the place whence it was originally shipped. It is significantly named the "No-Brand" sugar.

What the interests of the public, the trade, and the manufacture demand, is that all yellow sugars be graded. This would remove many a difficulty that now hinders square-dealing. Since standards were fixed for white sugars, the improvement in Canadian makes has been remarkable. Our fine granulated now tests 97½ per cent., and it had to come far to reach this. A similar improvement is possible and desirable in our yellow sugars.

SPECULATION IN SUGARS.

The past couple of weeks have witnessed much greater speculation in the Canadian sugar markets than usual. The purchases by retailers in Toronto and throughout the province north and west of this are estimated at over fifteen thousand barrels against less than fifteen hundred in former seasons. It is a fact that one wholesale firm sold over 7,000 barrels in ten days all of which went into retailers' hands. This same firm is credited with having purchased somewhere between 20,000 and 34,000 barrels from a Montreal refinery at close figures. The exact amount of the purchase it is impossible to obtain but it is generally believed that the top figures are extreme. Yet the large sales made would lend color to the report that the amount must be very large. The magnitude of this transaction will be seen when it is considered that the sale amounts to between $450,000 and $500,000. This is probably the largest sale on record in Canada. Of course these figures are merely speculative but the opinion on the street is that the transaction is not far short of $450,000.

The Sunday edition of The Press (New York) is making rapid strides forward, and has already placed itself on a footing with—if it has not distanced—its older contemporaries. The Sunday Press consists of 20 pages, which are replete with well written and handsomely illustrated articles on subjects of timely interest. The Press, although the youngest daily newspaper published in New York, has won the distinction of being the brightest, newsiest and best edited journal in the metropolis. Brains and push always tell.

T. Gilmour, Kingston, wholesale grocer, and Mrs. Gilmour started last week on a European trip.

Messrs. J. T. and F. H. Warrington, Belleville, shipped this week for England twenty cars of cheese. Their total export for the season of 1889 was 150,000 boxes.

Mr. Wm. Hay has a small grocery store at Kincardine, but is no small man among the consumers of that town. He gets his full share of the trade.

The dry goods stock of Mr. R. F. Kingsmill, London, has been purchased by Messrs. Young and Leslie, of Picton, who are removing it as speedily as possible.

Electric light is all the go at Kincardine. John Moffat, grocer, has just had one put in his store. Mr. Moffat is a good business man. He will read GROCER for a year to come.

Mr. William Newcombe, of St. Thomas, has purchased the estate of the late E. W. Newcombe, including store and stock in trade, at Yarmouth Centre, for the sum of $6,000.

Oranges are now preserved in silos, the fruit being wrapped in tissue and buried in sand, care being taken that the wrappers do not touch, and only three layers deep being laid in each trench.

A correspondent of a London grocery journal suggests that English retail grocers offer their clerks a small bonus on teas sold at or beyond a given price, in order to stimulate sales of fine grade teas.

A convention of retail merchants of Manitoba and the North-west will be held in Winnipeg next month. The credit system and other important questions of trade will come up for discussion.

The manufacturers of lard, in their testimony at Washington, admitted that the lard exported is compounded and not genuine lard; but they claimed that it is of pure material, and that they now label it as compounded.

Mr. C. H. Doer, who has been with Mr. A. S. Hallman for some years and who went into business on his own account, sends an order for THE CANADIAN GROCER, saying, "I desire to have your paper as it is very interesting for all merchants."

L. Burch, general merchant, Red Deer Crossing, Alberta, N. W. T., writes: Could you see that my GROCER is posted not later than Friday evening. It is very helpful to me and it is quite a disappointment when it skips a week as has been the case lately, two coming the following week." The delay has been in the post office but the authorities have promised to remedy matters and there will we trust be no further trouble.

It is perhaps a true saying that horses are the ruin of many young men, but a correspondent writing from Brockville says: "The horse won there on Monday evening last on a 50c. raffle ticket will never ruin anyone as a speed horse, but if Mr. W. P. Buchannan of Lockerby Bros., Montreal, has not a long pocket the charges against that horse will find the bottom of it. Besides there are a lot of the boys on the road who have not had anything on it yet."

At the annual meeting of the French Chamber of Commerce, the following officers were elected:

Honorary president—J. X. Perrault.
President—Damas Parizeau.
Vice-president—L. J. Boivin.
Secretary—Stanislas Cote.

Council—J. X. Perrault, L. C. Brosseau, Alderman Savignac, Alderman Gauthier, G. Piche, L. E. Morin, J. M. Dufresne. E. St. Louis, F. Shallow, M. Garand, J. M. Fortier and others.

By the death of William Bayly, Toronto loses one of its most respected and honored business men. He was a member of the firm of Dalton Bros., manufacturers of coffees and spices. For the past sixteen or eighteen years he was a daily visitor in the wholesale warehouses, and made himsef deservedly popular. Wherever he made an acquaintance he made a friend. Although he did not take a prominent place in business circles yet he will be very much missed by all with whom he came in contact.

W. H. Berney, who kept a grocery at the corner of Queen and York streets, Hamilton, died very suddenly the other night of heart disease. He, in company with his daughter, went to the Royal Templar revival meeting in Association hall, and when he reached the top of the stairs told her that he felt very ill. She assisted him to Dr. Hillyer's office on the opposite corner, but he died in ten minutes after reaching there. The deceased came from Millgrove about four years ago. He was 54 years of age. A wife and three daughters survive him.

A deputation of members waited upon Hon. Messrs. Bowell and Foster on Thursday, and presented a petition signed by 63 members of the Commons, all supporters of the Administration, urging that, in the interests of Canadian farmers and the general prosperity of the Dominion, the duty on salt mess pork and bacon, as well as on fresh and canned meats of all kinds, should be increased, the better to enable farmers to compete with importers to our home markets. Mr. Marshall, M.P., who started the movement, has certainly worked up a good deal of interest in this matter.

The long established firm of Hempstreet & Price, Aylmer, dissolved partnership just before the catastrophe mentioned in the following paragraph: At about half past two on Friday afternoon the mammoth bankrupt store of Messrs. Hempstreet & Price in Aylmer, was discovered to be burning on the third floor, and before the fire department had reached the premises the fire had gained considerable headway, but after three streams had played upon the flames a few minutes the fire was put out. The damage to building and stock is fully covered by insurance. Most of the damage to stock was caused by water. The fire was caused by a defective chimney.

Last week a deputation of Hamilton fruit dealers appeared before the city council to urge the adoption of a by-law requiring hawkers of foreign fruits to take out a license. It was stated by Ald. Fitzgerald that the city solicitor had given it as his opinion that the passage of such a by-law would be perfectly legal, and he read an ordinance of the Detroit city council compelling all hawkers and pedlars, either with basket, hand-cart or horse and waggon, to take out a license and pay annual fee of from $25 to $150. After discussing the matter for a time it was agreed to relegate it to a sub-committee, consisting of Aldermen Carruthers, Fitzgerald and Stevenson.

The Delhi Canning Co., Delhi, Ont., were fortunate in carrying off the first prize for canned fruits at the Dominion Convention of Fruit Growers held in Ottawa last week. They made a very fine display of canned and preserved tomatoes, corn, peas, beans, pumpkins, apples, peaches, plums, raspberries and strawberries, etc., in glass and tin. The exhibit of glass goods especially attracted very general attention, as many people appear to think that such fine goods have not hitherto been put up in Canada. A few bottles were opened and sampled by the best judges in Ottawa, and the company were highly complimented on the excellent quality, and have been beset with inquiries as to when the goods were to be obtained. The entire display was sold to Sir James Grant M.D., physician to His Excellency the Governor General.

WESTERN ASSURANCE COMPANY.

The thirty-ninth annual meeting of the shareholders of the above company was held at its office in this city on Friday last, the 21st inst.

The President, Mr. A. M. Smith, occupied the chair, and Mr. J. J. Kenny, the Managing Director, who was appointed to act as secretary, read the following:

REPORT.

The Directors beg to submit to the shareholders their Annual Statement of the Accounts of the Company for the past year, and its Assets and Liabilities on the 31st December last.

It will be seen from the Revenue Account that the total income of the Company was $1,719,090.80, and after providing for losses and expenses of management, a profit balance remains of $54,432.60.

Two half-yearly dividends have been declared at the rate of ten per cent. per annum on the Capital Stock, and after payment of these there is a balance at the credit of Profit and Loss Account of $12,286.41. This amount, added to the Reserve Fund of $825,000, brings the total Surplus Funds of the Company up to $837,286.41. From this, however, must be deducted the amount necessary to provide for the liability on unexpired risks, which is estimated at $530,196.69, leaving a net surplus over and above Capital and all Liabilities of $307,089.72.

When it is borne in mind that the past year has been marked by an exceptional number of serious conflagrations (in several of which this Company was involved to a considerable extent), and that the experience of companies engaged in marine business has been generally unfavorable, your directors feel that there is ample cause for congratulation in the figures presented herewith.

Since the last annual meeting of shareholders the directors have shared the deep regret felt by the community at large at the death of the late Mr. Wm. Gooderham, who had been a highly valued member of the Board for upwards of twenty years, and Vice-President of the Company for the past four years. The vacancies caused by Mr. Gooderman's death were filled by the election of Mr. George A. Cox to the Vice-Presidency and Mr. W. R. Brock as a director.

WESTERN ASSURANCE OFFICES,
Toronto, February 14, 1890.

AUDITORS' REPORT.

To the President and Directors of the Western Assurance Company.

GENTLEMEN,—We certify to having examined the books, securities, vouchers and bank balances of the Western Assurance Company for the year ending 31st December, 1889, and find them correct and in accordance with the annexed balance sheet and statement.

R. R. CATHRON,
JOHN M. MARTIN, F.C.A., } Auditors.

Toronto, Feb. 14, 1890.

The President in moving the adoption of the report said:

The report just read and the accompanying accounts present, I think, so clear a synopsis of the business of the Company for the past year that it is scarcely necessary for me to enlarge upon it to any extent. I may say, however, that it must be gratifying to the shareholders to note the position which the Western maintains among the insurance companies of this continent, evidence of which is presented in its premium income of nearly a million and three-quarter dollars (after deducting reinsurances), which comes to us from agencies scattered throughout all the provinces of the Dominion, the United States and the British West Indies. And while it is true that the profit realized upon the year's business is not so large as might be expected under ordinary circumstances, and is, in fact, smaller than has been shown in our annual balance sheets for some years past, it must be remembered that the year 1889 has been in some respects an exceptional one. It is seldom we experience within the period of a few months four such conflagrations as those towards which we were called to contribute during the last year, two on the Pacific coast (which has hitherto been a very profitable field), and two, occurring within a few days of each other, in the State of Massachusetts, at Lynn and Boston. So that when, with the calls upon our treasury which these involved, coupled with the unfavorable experience in the Marine branch during the closing months of the year, we are able to meet our shareholders with a large enough profit balance to pay their usual dividend of ten per cent. and add something to our surplus, I think you will agree with me that we are presenting ample proof that our affairs are being conducted in such a manner as to command your confidence and reflect credit upon those responsible for the active management and supervision of the Company's business, both at the head office and at the branches and agencies throughout its extensive field of operations.

In regard to the outlook for the future, I need scarcely remind you that our business, being subject largely to elements beyond human control, is of such a nature that we do not feel safe in attempting to form an estimate in advance of the probable result of any year's transactions. We can only continue to persue that course which experience and prudence point out as best in the interests of the Company and rely upon the outcome being in the future, as it has proved in the past, such as to yield shareholders a good return upon the capital invested, while affording policy holders ample security.

I cannot close without a further reference than that made in the report to the loss we have sustained since we last had the pleasure of meeting the shareholders in the death of our late vice-president. His worth and his many virtues are too widely known to require more than passing notice here, but I may say that in the death of Mr. William Gooderham we feel that the Company has lost a faithful officer and director and each member of the Board a highly esteemed friend.

The Vice-President, Mr. George A. Cox, in seconding the adoption of the report, said :

Mr. Chairman, you have very justly alluded to our late respected vice-president, who has for many years and with so much satisfaction to the shareholders discharged the duty that now devolves upon me. When I say that I deeply regret the fact that he is not here to discharge that duty to-day, I am sure I but give expression to the feeling of every shareholder and director, every officer and employe of the company.

The experience of the company for the year under review affords in my judgment more than ordinary cause for congratulation notwithstanding the fact that the profits are lower than for several years past. The year of 1889 will long be remembered amongst both Fire and Marine Underwriters as one of unusual severity. In addition to the disastrous storms on the Atlantic coast as well as on the lakes, we have been heavily interested in no less than four serious conflagrations, and I repeat that it is certainly a matter for congratulation that the large annual premium income, amounting last year to ovet $2,000,000 gross, pouring into the coffers of the Company from nearly every important point on this continent, was sufficient to meet these exceptionally heavy losses on land and sea, as well as the ordinary losses of the Company, and to do that without impairing our capital, without encroaching to the extent of one dollar upon our large reserves, without reducing our usual ten per cent. dividend to our shareholders ; in short, without in any way disturbing the business of the Company in the even tenor of its way. It is particularly satisfactory to feel that our business is now so extended and so well distributed as to give us that average risk and that annual income that will safely carry the Company through such disastrous storms and such serious conflagrations as we have experienced during the past year.

It must also be remembered that in years when we escape these exceptional losses, we go on rolling up our reserve funds, and in looking back over the reports of the last five years, including the one just closed, I am gratified to find that we have in that time paid $232,589.53 to our shareholders in dividends, have transferred no less than $205,000 to our reserve fund and increased the amount standing at credit of profit and loss by $11,198.30; in other words, the Company has earned for you about 20 per cent. per annum on your paid-up capital, about one-half of which has been paid to you in dividends and with the other half a large reserve fund has been built up to protect your capital in years of unusual disaster. Another very satisfactory feature in this year's report is the fact that our business has been done at a cost of less than 30½ per cent., a rate that compares most favorable with that of any other company. Before taking my seat I desire to add that for these highly satisfactory results you are chiefly indebted to your able and energetic Managing Director and his well selected staff, who know their business thoroughly and attend to it promptly.

The Managing Director, in reply to an enquiry, explained that the amount calculated as necessary to provide for unexpired risks was somewhat less last year than at the close of 1888, owing mainly to the discontinuance of annual ocean hull business. The Marine premiums of the past year being chiefly on cargo risks, written for the trip only, were almost entirely earned at the close of year.

The report was adopted, and a vote of thanks was passed to the Directors for their services.

Messrs. Fred. J. Stewart and John K. Niven having been appointed scrutineers, the election of directors to serve during the coming year was proceeded with, and resulted in the unanimous re-election of the old board, namely : Messrs. A. M. Smith, Geo. A. Cox, Hon. S. C. Wood, Robert Beatty, A. T. Fulton, Geo. McMurrich, H. N. Baird, W. R. Brock and J. J. Kenny.

At a meeting of the board held subsequently Mr. A. M. Smith was re-elected President and Mr. Geo. A. Cox, Vice-President for the ensuing year.

GROCERIES.

A satisfactory week's trade has been transacted since last report. As compared with last week there has been less activity, but still the business has been largely in excess of that done in the corresponding week of last year. Payments continue to be prompt and full, and a hopeful brightness prevails throughout the prospect. Sugars retain their firmness, and outside markets are creeping up gradually, so that general buying continues to have an impulse in the feeling that sugar will not be cheap.

CANNED GOODS.

Owing to uncertainty as to the prices after this week, which will be settled at the meeting of the Canners' Association, buying has not been so active. The general expectation is that prices will be firm, but the presence of old canned goods is taken into consideration as a factor which may weaken prices. This view, however, is not shared by many dealers, who hold that the demand is apt to be as vigorous if prices go up as if they go down. That prices are not likely to go down is the belief of the majority. The enquiry has been quite active throughout the week, though trade has not been.

COFFEE.

Rios as dearer. None are now to be had under 22c. According to the latest information prices will be still higher in March. It is held that in a very short time Rios can't be laid down here at less than 21c. The lowness of present stocks tends to bring on the advance before the market is replenished with the dearer coffee. Javas and Mochas are unchanged, but firm. They are expected to go up before long.

DRIED FRUIT.

Prunes are firmer ; Sphinxes quote 6c. for U's and 7½c. for B's. In hogsheads the prices of last week, 4¾ to 5c., still hold, though very firmly. Currants are 5½ to 6c. in barrels, and 5¾ to 6c. in half-barrels. Dates will occupy the position throughout the summer that they have now reached. They remain at last week's prices. Eleme figs are 12 to 15c. Natural figs in boxes are 4¾ to 5c. The stocks of bags are about exhausted. Valencia raisins are 7½c. for fine off-stalk, and 9½c. for layers. Sultanas are 10 to 12c. Malaga raisins are exceedingly scarce, and may be said to be out of stock, with the exception of London layers, quarter flats of black baskets, and loose muscatels.

SUGAR.

There has been a large week's business done. The speculative disposition of trade has been quite largely engaged in sugar buying. The difference between this week and last week is in the fact that in this there has been less collateral buying along with the sugar than in last week. There has been as much if not more sugar bought, however. The prices are firm where they were a week ago. The feature of the trade done has been the inability to meet the demand for low grades. The refineries are sold ahead of their output. There will be no supply for two or three weeks. The low grade of sugar is 5¼c. in Montreal, and 5⅜c. in Toronto.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is no change in the price of syrups. The trade is steady and regular. Prices still run from 52 to 65c. Molasses are very strong. In puncheons the prices have advanced to 37 and 38c. In barrels and half-barrels last week's prices are unaltered. The barrels are 40 to 42c. The half-barrels are 43 to 45c.

TEAS.

For China and Japan teas there has been a fair demand. There have been no developments in prices. In England the low-grade blacks are lower, but it is not expected that this will affect prices here. There is a scarcity of low grades of Japans and Hysons, which may bring up prices. In Indian teas, the local market is quiet. Another heavy week's auctions in London have somewhat strained the market, and although not materially affecting teas for price, has slightly depressed broken Pekoes, and poor liquoring Pekoes. Good Pekoes are in fair demand at slightly easier rates. These teas are now receiving more attention from export quarters, and it is a hopeful feature that the demand by other countries for Indian and Ceylon teas appears gradually to increase.

There has been a fair local enquiry for Ceylons, but they appear to be scarce. In London, there was generally less bidding and prices were rather easier.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The scarcity of first-class butter is an old and constant feature of the market, but appears to be more marked now than it has been heretofore. There are classes of dairy-tub now bought reluctantly at 10c., but there is plenty of it wanted from 15 to 18c., if the article is brought up to a good quality. There is very much of dairy packed offering, but the bulk of it generally changes hands below 15c. Creamery tub is worth all the way from 20 to 24c. Very choice can find purchase at the latter figure. Store-packed has yet the stereotyped quotation of 8 to 13c. None is bought but the very best of this class. There are grades of it, and the quantity is plentiful, that buyers will not touch. Large rolls are worth 10 to 15c., with a disposition of prices to keep above 12½c. The average quality has been levelling down rather than up, for some time. Pound rolls comprise nearly all the very good butter that is now made. They quote as high as 24c., and as low as 20c. These prices are given for genuine dairy-rolls, not for store butter made over. That has a very poor market, and buyers discourage any offers.

The prices of cheese show no sign of strengthening. On the contrary, the tendency points downward. The shipping transactions of makers do not warrant the belief that the prices that they have held for will be reached here. Early autumn make is 10½ to 11c., and old summer cheese is 8½ to 9½c.

SALT.

The salt market for the week is a little more active than it has been the last week or two. There are no changes in the prices The following are the prices reported by the Toronto Salt Works; 2 car coarse sacks, 70c; 1 car, bbls., $1.40; 1 car dairy, 200 lbs., $1.18. Smaller quantities have sold at ¼s dairy, 45c.; barrels, 45c.; sacks, 85c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

APPLES — Prices are better and firm. Most of the rubbishy stock is out of the country, and there is a fair residue apparently of good fruit, in healthy condition. The demand is also becoming more hearty, while the supply is brought on rather sparely. In car-lots they bring $2.50 to $3. Store lots are $3 to $3.25.

BEANS—Are firmer at $1.65 to $1.75. The camp supplies begin to fail at this season, and the renewed demand is consequent.

DRIED APPLES—Have dropped suddenly to 4½ and 5c., the latter being infirm for fine fruit. The stock in the country is now being put on the market, in the expectation of lower prices if held longer, as the opening of navigation is expected to create a spring market which holders want to catch.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Are 8 to 9c. for old, and 9 to 10c. for new. These figures are not strong on account of the large quantity of the old stock.

EGGS—Limed are 10 to 12c., though there is very little basis in business for any quotation, limed eggs being almost totally neglected. Fresh are 13 to 14c., and are plentiful. Small lots of new laid are 16 to 18c., but the latter is rather a fancy price and is paid for a special class of demand.

HAY—The arrivals have been slightly checked by the foul weather and the bad condition of the roads. Farmers' loads have been particularly fewer because of the objection sellers feel to throwing off a few hundred weight on account of the rain absorbed. Prices for loads of loose on street are $10 to $12 for No. 1, and $7 to $9 for No. 2. Pressed on track is $9 to $10 for No. 1, and $7 for No. 2.

HIDES—Business has been dull, but prices have not varied. Good cured buff are still 4¾c., and butchers' green are 4c. for No. 1, 3c. for No. 2, and 2c. for No. 3.

HONEY—Honey has not changed, and has received no special attention. The best clear is 11½ to 13c. and the finest comb is 12 to 14c.

HOPS—Run from 10 to 15c., with the prices of the new starting at 13c.

OATS—Are worth 31 to 32c. on the street, and 29 to 30c. on the track. The supply is liberal.

ONIONS—Are becoming very scarce. The slow but ceaseless transfer from trade to consumption has told on all the stocks held here. There may be plenty in the country, and if there are there is now a good market for them. They are $2 to $2.50 per barrel.

POTATOES—Are selling at 55c. this week in car lots, though there appears to be no extra vigor in the market. In store lots they sell from 60 to 65c.

POULTRY—Is remarkable for its scarceness. There are no longer any ducks. Turkeys run from 11 to 14c. Geese are 8 to 9c., and chickens are 50 to 80c. The market is now a good one for chickens.

SEEDS—A dull market has so far prevailed for native seeds, the condition of the roads retarding business. Red clover is $3.40 to $3.50. Alsike is $5 to $6. Timothy is $1.25 to $1.50.

SKINS—Sheep skins are $1.25 to $1.50, the higher figure going for very large. No. 1 calf 6c., No. 2, 5c.

STRAW—Bound in farmers' wagons is $6 to $7. Tight pressed, on track, is $5.50. There is an abundance on the market.

TALLOW—Rendered is 5 to 5½c. Rough is 1¼ to 2c.

WOOL—Is 22c. in the fleece. Pulled, lowest grade is 24c.; super is 24 to 25c.; extra-super is 29 to 30c.

CRANBERRIES.

Cape Cod fruit is $14 to $15 per barrel, and $5 per crate. Some dealers who held for a spring market are yet able to supply small orders. Wisconsin cranberries are $11 per barrel. Gallon tins are 75c.

FISH.

Prices show no sign of going up. The fullness of stocks tends at the outset at all events to keep them down, and perhaps bring them lower. White-fish are 7c.; salmon trout are 6½c.; salted sea salmon are $12 per barrel; small cod are 5c. per pound; steak cod are 7½c.; haddock are 5½ to 6c.; pike are 4½c.; pickerel are 6½c.; flounders are 5c.; tulepes are 7c.; Labrador herring are $5 to $5.50 per barrel, and $3.25 to $3.75 per half-barrel; Shore herring are $4 per barrel, and $2.25 per half-barrel; boneless cod are 6 to 8c. per pound; boneless fish are 6 cents.

GREEN FRUIT.

Valencia oranges are $4.50 to $4.75 per box; Florida russets are $3.50 to $3.75, and fancy brights are $3.75 to $4; Messinas are $3.25 to $3.50; Tangerine oranges are $4 to $4.50; California navels are $6 to $6.50; Riverside Seedlings are $4 to $4.25; Mediterranean sweets are $4.25 to $4.50. Palermo lemons in 300's are $4.50 to $5, in 360's they are $4.25 to $4.50; Messinas are the same price: Cuccio lemons are $5.25 to $5.50. Bananas are $2 to $2.50 for seconds, and $3 to $3.25 for firsts. Malaga grapes are $10 to $12 per keg. Sweet potatoes are $6. Pineapples are now upon the market at $4 to $4.25 per dozen. Bermuda tomatoes have also come into the Toronto stocks this week at $1.75 per crate.

PROVISIONS.

BACON—Long clear is fairly firm at 7½c. Breakfast is 10 to 11c. Roll is 8½c.

HAMS—Green are 9 to 10c. Smoked are 11c.

LARD—The American in pails is 8½c.; in tubs is 8c. The Canadian in pails is 9c.; in tubs is 8½c.

MESS PORK — Heavy is $13.50; family mess is $14.25.

DRESSED HOGS—Heavy are $5.50; medium are $5.60, and light are $5.65 to $5.75. Butchers pay up to $6 for the latter.

DRY GOODS.

The trade this week has not differed in any material respect from that of the past several weeks. The continued dulness of the weather has been reflected in business, and the transitional period in which the present month falls usually makes it dull. It stands at the closing of the winter trade and the opening of the spring trade. The latter, not having yet begun, there is usually a waiting game pursued. The stock of Tait, Burch & Co. was let loose with the exception of a single lot on Tuesday, and this may have some effect on prices, as the lots sold went at a fairly low rate on the dollar. There has been no complaint on the score of payments, and hopes are entertained that the spring trade may be a good one.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

FEBRUARY 27, 1890.

GROCERIES.

There is no change to note since our last report, business continuing fair, with prospects good. Payments on the whole have been all that could be expected.

SUGARS.

Is very quiet, although advance noted in our last has been well sustained. Refiners do not care to sell even in small lots, as stocks of both raw and refined have been well reduced, which is putting the market in a better condition. Low grade yellows continue active on account of scarcity. Quotations are:—Granulated, 7c. to 7⅛; yellows, 5¼ to 5⅞c.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is nothing new to note in syrups; a fair trade has been done for Lenton purposes. Prices are firm at 3¼ to 4c. Molasses, Barbadoes is firmly held at 45c. in puncheons, 48½c. small packages; car lots 43½c. in puncheons, 47c. in small packages, with brisk demand. Advices from Barbadoes report another advance of 1c. which means 36c. here.

TEAS

A slight improvement is noticed in teas, but only in the lower grades of Japans, which are quoted at 15 to 23c., although prices are steady. Low grades of all varieties are very scarce.

COFFEES.

No change can be noted in coffee since our last. Prices remain unchanged, except in Maracaibo, direct cables from which place report considerable advance and scarcity. Following are quotations: — Mocha, 28 to 30c.; Java, 24 to 29c.; Jamaica, 18 to 22; Rio, 18 to 20c.; Plantation Ceylon, 19 to 24c.; Maracaibo, 20 to 25c.

DRIED FRUITS.

There is nothing new in dried fruit, only a local business being done. Prices remain unchanged. Valencia raisins continue firm at 7 to 7½c.; London layers $3 to $3.25. Currants continue rather slow at 5½ to 6c., for best quality, although low grades have changed hands at 5c. Vostizza, 7c. in cases. Bordeaux prunes, 4 to 4½c. Dates, 5½c. Good Eleme figs are scarce at 11 to 15c. as to quality. Evaporated apples firm at 9c., and dried 6½c.

NUTS.

The trade in and the prices of nuts unchanged. Taragona almonds, 14c.; Ivica at 12c.; Pecans, 12c.; Brazil nuts, 11c.; Grenoble walnuts, 14c., and French, 10c. Filberts firm at 10c. for Sicily and 9½ for Turkey.

RICE.

A fair amount of trade is being done in rice at steady prices. Mount Royal Mills A and B, $3.60 to $3.75 per 100 lbs, Patria 4½ to 5c, and Japan 4 to 4½c.

CANNED GOODS.

There is a fairly good movement in some lines of canned goods. Lots of tomatoes and corn has been offered here at $1 and 98c. respectively, the latter being an unknown brand. Following are Association prices : Corn $1.20 ; marrowfat peas $1.15 ; sweet peas $1.25 ; tomatoes $1.20 ; stringless beans 85c. ; butter beans 90c. ; apples, 3 lb., $1.05, per gal. $2.35 ; pineapples $2.25 to $2.40 ; Strawberries, $2.35 to $2.50 ; peaches, $2.15 to $2.25 ; plums, $1.75 to $2 ; peas $2 to $2.10 ; salmon firm at $1.70, though lower prices are looked for ; lobsters $6.80 to $7 per case , mackerel scarce at $5.50 per case.

FISH.

All stocks of fish have been about cleared out and trade is quiet, more so perhaps on account of the decree issued by the Pope which shortens Lent about two days a week, and which means that only two-thirds of the ordinary trade will be done. Green cod is a trifle easier although the market has been practically cleared out. No. 1, large, $7.50, and No. 1, ordinary, $6 to $6.25. Labrador herrings are also easier at $3.25 to $3.75. Cape Breton herring are cleared out of the market. B. C. salmon are selling at $11 per bbl. Dry cod $4 to $4.25. Sea trout $9. Lake trout $4.25. White fish $5.50.

The receipts of fresh fish has been moderate and nothing has been left over. Haddock and cod have sold freely at 3½c. Newfoundland herring have sold at $1.30 per 100 count, smaller parcels $1.50. Tommy cods $1.20 to $1.25. Smelts 2½ to 3c. Finnin haddies 6½ to 7.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Hudon, Hebert & Cie. informs the trade through his advertisement that he has no travellers on the road, and asks that all orders be sent in to the house.

The United States Government is considering the proposal to increase the duty on hops from 8c. to 20c. per lb. If such a duty were imposed by the American Government it would have no immediate effect upon Canadian hops, as our product seldom finds an outlet in the United States. It might, however, stimulate production in the United States to such an extent as eventually to cause a glut of American importations into Canada.

Mr. W. W. Ogilvie has purchased the block of buildings and land on Foundling street, extending 90 feet from the corner of Port street to Messrs. Bruneau, Currie & Co.'s store, with 74 feet frontage on Port street. The present buildings will be pulled down, and in their place will be erected a magnificent suite of offices, outrivalling anything that has yet been seen in the flour trade of Montreal. The present buildings and land cost $22,000, and when the new block is completed it will be a great improvement to the whole neighborhood. Besides the main and private offices, there will be a sample room, cabinets, cloak room and vaults.

The annual meeting of the La Chambre de Commerce was held in Mr. G. W. Parent's office last Wednesday evening, Ald. Dufresne in the chair. Mr. Cote read the annual report for 1890, after which the election of officers was made for the ensuing year as follows : Mr. Damase Parizeau, President, and Mr. L. J. Boivin, Vice-President.

L. Chaput, Fils & Cie. are now offering the well known Greenbank brands of powdered lye, concentrated soda, chloride of lime, etc. The season is just opening and grocers should lay in a stock.

Turner, Rose & Co. have a special line of canned cherries, Erie pack, they wish to dispose of, and are quoting them at 75c. per doz. They have also a special line of Logie's mackerel herring, which they are offering at 65c.

G. A. Holland & Son, the well known importers and commission merchants, have in conjunction with Mr. Herbert F. Coones, also well known in Montreal, been appointed sole agents in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces for the Ireland National Food Co., of Toronto, manufacturers of table cereals, known as "Our National Foods." The new mills recently erected by this company in Toronto with its specially adapted machinery, are now running to their full capacity but are still unable to meet the increasing wants of their customers. Heretofore the consumer has been obliged to use American goods of high prices and inferior quality, but has been overcome by this company.

W. H. Lever, of Lever Bros., Liverpool, manufacturers of the renowned "Sunlight Soap," is paying a flying visit to Canada, and is the guest of Mr. A. Robinson, of this city, their Canadian manager. Mr. Lever is highly pleased with the reception tendered their soap, both by the wholesale and retail trades, it being now in the hands of almost every grocer in the Dominion.

Mr. George Hadrill, secretary of the Board of Trade, has addressed a letter to Sir John A. Macdonald, as Minister of Railways and Canals, urging the reduction of canal tolls on oats.

A demand of assignment has been made on J. C. Campbell, grocer, St. Catharine street, at the instance of a house here. His books show a good surplus.

TRADE SALES.

Suckling, Cassidy & Co. will hold their opening trade sale for the spring on the 4th 5th and 6th of March.

The general stock of A. D. Meyers & Co., Parry Sound, will be sold on Tuesday, the 4th of March, at the warerooms of Suckling, Cassidy & Co., in this city. It comprises dry goods, boots and shoes, groceries, crockery, fancy goods, hardware, etc., up to near the value of $7,000. One-third of the purchase money is to be paid at once, the rest is to be on secured notes for four months, with interest at 7 per cent.

The wholesale dry goods stock of Tait, Burch & Co. was offered at their warehouse on Bay street, by Messrs. Suckling, Cassidy & Co., on Tuesday. Lot 1, consisting of general stock in warehouse and of warehouse fittings and furniture, amounting to $66,-612.36, was bought by Lindsay, Gilmour & Co., Montreal, at 53c, in the dollar. Lot 2, goods in bond; amounting to $2,825, was bought by Hyslop, Caulfield & Co., Toronto, at 60½c. in the dollar. Lot 3, cases of general dry goods, amounting to $21,480, was bought by John Riach, Hamilton, at 60c. in the dollar.

INFORMATION WANTED.

Sheriff McConkey, of Simcoe county, died on Saturday at the age of 75. In his young manhood he open a general store in Barrie. His business career was successful and several years ago he retired. He was elected a member of the first town council of Barrie, where he rendered good service. He was reeve of the town for nine years. In 1860 he was elected warden of Simcoe county. In 1861 he unsuccessfully contested North Simcoe, in the Reform interest, with the late Angus Morrison. He again opposed Morrison in 1863, when he was elected a member of the old Canadian Parliament. He supported Confederation and at the general election of 1867 he was elected for the first House of Commons of the Dominion of Canada. In 1875 he was defeated in the contest for West Simcoe. For nearly twenty years, up to his appointment in 1875 to the shrievalty of Simcoe, he was a justice of the peace.

Mr. Alex. Taylor, Dromore, in sending in his annual subscription, sends also that of two friends, J. Philip, Dromore, and D. K. McArthur, Hopeville. He says: "I must say that the GROCER has given me excellent satisfaction this past year. The articles have been well written. Every one who has written seemed to know what they were talking about. There was one party took me to task re salting butter. I did not take any notice it, was not worth while. I have been talking to a number of creamery men since, and the whole of them adopt the 1 oz. per lb. system. I see you are sometimes advocating the reduction of discounts for cash given by wholesalers. I think you are wrong. I think the larger the discount for spot cash is the very thing to do away with long credits and loss. Of course it may come harder on the poor man who cannot pay cash. But what is the use of men going into business without capital, and then there are so many who give all they have of capital away on credit.

A soft answer turneth away wrath, and a harsh answer turneth away a customer.

You can lose more than we do by not subscribing for this paper.

The Associated Tea Planters, Ltd.
OF LONDON, CAPITAL, £50,000.
Under the auspices of the Indian Tea Districts Association.

The object of the company is to push the sale of their product, feeling certain that when systematically brought to consumers' notice its merits will be so manifest as to give it the front rank in public favor, as is the case in Great Britain.

Roundly, the annual consumption in that country is 80,000,000 lbs. during last crop year This is the best answer to the twaddle about the excessive quantity of tannin in Indian tea. Consumers in England are no fools : they know a cup of good tea.

Supplies will be held in Canada and the States and the undersigned, or his assistants, will make regular calls on the Trade. Samples will also be promptly forwarded on application.

CERTIFICATES OF STRENGTH AND PURITY.

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC ANALYST,
MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

GENTLEMEN,—I have personally taken samples from a large stock of your Granulated Sugar, "REDPATH" brand, and carefully tested them by the Polariscope, and I find these samples to be as near to absolute purity as can be obtained by any process of Sugar-Refining.

The test by the Polariscope showed in yesterday s yield 99·90 per cent. of Pure Cane Sugar, which may be considered commercially as ABSOLUTELY PURE SUGAR.

JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, P.L.D., D.C.L., F.C.S.,
Public Analyst for the District of Montreal, and Professor of Chemistry.

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Company:

GENTLEMEN,—I have taken and tested a sample of your "EXTRA GRANULATED" Sugar, and find that it yielded 99·88 per cent. of Pure Sugar It is practically as pure and good a Sugar as can be manufactured.

Yours truly,
G. P. GIRDWOOD.

CHEAPER TOBACCO.

Wholesalers are not anxious just now to load themselves with tobacco. Consequently they take it out of bond in very small quantities, usually in immediate response and in exact correspondence with the orders received. It is as well for the retail trade to be equally chary about laying in stock just now. The reason for this caution is the expectation that the American Government will take off the excise duty on their manufactured tobacco, which of course will make American made tobacco cheap. Americans, to ship to this country to compete with our manufacturer, would still have a Customs duty to pay, which would give them but little ultimate advantage, if the goods reached our market legitimately. But, with their native excise duty off, there would be a strong temptation to American makers and dealers to smuggle tobacco into our country. To reduce this temptation, and protect the Ganadian manufacturer from the contraband tobacco, the Ganadian Government is expected to take off or reduce the excise now on our tobacco. It would never do to keep it on in the event of the American change, for the American manufacturer could easily stock our market at about one-half the price at which tobacco can now be sold here.

AN INTERESTING REPORT.

The Inland Revenue Department has recently issued a bulletin of about thirty pages, which is devoted exclusively to the subject of baking powder, and which shows that the majority of the goods in the market are adulterated and unfit for use. Prof. A. McGill, who has had charge of this important work for the Government, says that "imperial baking powder is an excellent powder." A word to the sensible housekeeper should be sufficient.

Smith & Keighley are offering a fine lot of Loch Fyne herring at low prices.

BREADMAKER'S YEAST

ALWAYS AHEAD.

BREAD made with this Yeast took first prizes at 132 Township and County Fairs in Ontario in 1887, at such places as Flesherton, Markham, Whitby, etc. Over 10,000 ladies have sent us letters and postal cards to say that it is superior to any yeast ever used by them. It makes the lightest, whitest, sweetest and most wholesome bread, buns, rolls and buckwheat cakes. Directions in each package with full instructions.

A PROPOSED COLLECTION LAW.

DEAR SIR,—In my last letter I tried to answer why there are so few bankrupts in Quebec and so many in Ontario. Here is a story from real business life. I lived in the outskirts of a large Catholic settlement. On a corner is a central position. On another is one Catholic merchant who is very successful in business, making money and regularly increasing his stock. Two different Protestant merchants have opened out at different times in the same corner, and have in both cases retired ruined men. I know of some dead heads who paid the one merchant and successfully resisted the other's accounts. The present law encourages idleness. Bad payers are known to remark to each other that they intend to remain poor a few years more to allow their debts to become outlawed at the end of the six years. A sermon from a Protestant clergyman, even from Dr. Talmage, would be lost on these men. Very few of them attend church, and they are too hardened to listen to rebuke. The 10 per cent. Act would fetch them to time. A few figures easily show the benefit of a change in the Act. There are very few villages or townships without fifty bad payers owing not less than $100 each, divided among four merchants at $25 each. Our present law fails to collect a dollar of this from married men. Here is $5,000 for each incorporated village or township. The larger counties have sixteen townships and ten villages, say twenty-five in all. This multiplied by 5,000 gives $125,000 as lost to one county. Forty-five counties then total up a loss of $5,625,000. This is lost to Ontario by merchants only. These figures may be a little large, but I have said nothing about our large cities. Such a showing illustrates the seriousness of the present situation. The law I propose would collect about $20 a year, and in five years would have the above figures paid up in full.

A few more points that favor a change.

1. If you have a debtor up on judgment summons one, two or three times, it will cost for lawyer's fees three or four dollars. Once up is all that would be required, then the 10 per cent. clause would take effect. I would favor 10 per cent. on the first fifty dollars owed by debtor, and 10 per cent. more on the second fifty dollars owed by him. This would give the second creditor a payment on his claim also.

2. This would be a most excellent act to apply to government officials and corporation servants. As soon as Mr. Slowpay had been through the judgment suit, the 10 or 20 per cent. would take effect, a resistered letter would be sent from division court clerk to the treasurer or the payer to withhold the 10 or 20 per cent. from salary every pay day, and remit the same to the division court clerk. One or two months of this would make prompt pays out of slow pays. Some master would try to evade the Act by claiming that the man owed him, and he hired him to get even with him, but the new Act should take no notice of any claim but the first judgment summons passed in court, and no claim of any kind should be allowed to bar the 10 per cent. claim, each creditor to take his turn regularly.

Another benefit to follow such an Act would be that after the Act had been in force a few years all the slow pays would have their names recorded in the clerk's office. By a payment of 50 to 75 cents, a copy of all names on the 10 per cent. list could be had by all merchants. This would be worth hundreds of dollars to new beginners in business in strange neighborhoods, and bankruptcies would become fewer and fewer as time passed.

Yours,

COUNTRY MERCHANT.

Our correspondent's latest contribution to this question shows that he has made no random suggestion in his proposal to levy a ten per cent. assessment on the wages of delinquent debtors. His letter above shows that he calculated the outcroppings and counter-developments of such a measure, and has provided for them. This communication consequently deals with details and beneficial outcomes of the proposed change, and the writer's presentation of his views cannot be without effect on the cause of reform. The collection question is a vital one, and one that is now receiving a large share of attention in this country. The Central Grocers' Association in New York State has framed a bill which aims to make the collection of retailers' debts a simpler and surer thing than it is at present. We hope that the opening and following up of the question by our correspondent, will give an impulse to tradesmen that will not be spent until some such measure as that proposed by "Conntry Merchant" will be carried. "Country Merchant's" estimate of the loss to general dealers and grocers throughout the province may not be too large, but if it is not, the bare contemplation of such figures ought to be a strong incentive to business men to take hold of the matter and stick to it till there is some security established in our laws for all of their class. His limitation of the amount and the number of debts on which a monthly deposit should be ordered by the court, may be found hardly liberal enough. Ten per cent. paid twice in the month would come hard on some men. The indirect effect, as the writer truly points out, would in addition to the direct effect of collecting the debt, act as a powerful motive to deter a man from undertaking a debt. The provision to check anticipated evasions is a good one, that is, to recognize no debt but that on which an order from the court commands a payment of ten per cent. If this were not granted in an Act such as is proposed, its workings would often be frustrated by sympathizing employers. But one of the best services such a method of collection would render the business world would be the availability of lists in the hands of the clerk of the court, who would thus be a source of ready reference upon delinquent debtors. Whether such a use could be made of information in the hands of the clerk, however, is a question that we are doubtful about, as it seems not to be in accordance with the usage or policy of British law to lend itself to such a purpose.

CANADIAN PACKERS' ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Canadian Canned Goods Packers' Association commenced at the office of the CANADIAN GROCER on Wednesday afternoon. There were present: Mr. W. Boulter, Bay of Quinte Canning Co., Pictou, president, in the chair; Messrs. B. R. Nelles, Grimsby; S. Fenton, Jr., Erie Preserving Company, St. Catharines; W. P. Innes, Simcoe Canning Company, Simcoe; D. W. Douglas, St. Johns, Que.; J. Anning, A. C. Miller & Co., Picton; R. Bowlby, Bowlby Bros., Waterford: G. Barker, Bloomfield; H. J. Matthews, Lakeport Preserving Company, Lakeport; D. Marshall and J. J. Nairn, Aylmer Canning Company, Aylmer; A. E. Carpenter, Ontario Canning Company, Hamilton; W. A. Ferguson, Delhi Canning Company, Delhi, and Mr. W. C. Breckenridge, manager of the Norton Tin Can Manufacturing Company, Hamilton. The meeting was the most important held by the Association.

Letters of regret at their inability to be present were read from S. S. Potter, Belleville. Dion & Soucy, Valleyfield, Que., and T. Teskey, Phoenix Canning Company, Welland.

The minutes of the previous meeting were adopted. The President presented his annual address as follows:

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

GENTLEMEN:

In again meeting you at our annual meeting, it affords me much pleasure, first, in that we are all spared as members to meet each other, all enjoying good health and a good share of prosperity.

In looking over the past year's work, I feel that much good has been accomplished. When at our last annual meeting in this city, although the Association had been in existance seven years, we all felt that decided action must be taken, and if the industry in which we have invested so much money and which is now looked upon as one of the leading ones of Canada, was to be continued on a paying basis, careful legislation on our part would have to be done. I referred to our busines as an important one for canned goods, and now looked on as one of the necessaries of life, and the hermitically sealing of fruits and vegetables, although we may yet say is in its infancy in Canada, as prior to the National Policy, nearly all of the canned goods used in Canada were packed in the United States. But since we have proved that Canada can produce finer flavored fruits and vegetables than our neighbors to the south of us, and that we as packers, have succeeded in placing them ready for use to our people, and have now practically the market of Canada for our own goods, and also forced them on the markets of United States, and I am also pleased to know that our goods are also being sent to the markets of Europe, and that some of our members have sent some last year to Japan. I hope that good results will come from these enterprises.

Referring to our last Annual Meeting, many of us then felt, as the old saying, "Down in the Mouth," as we found that a large portion of the previous year's packing had not all gone that way, but that a large percentage was being held over, and if we went on as usual, packing, an overdose would be the result. Taking in the situation, we wisely, I think you will all agree, decided to reduce our output, and in so doing have allowed the old goods to work off. As many of you know, the year 1888 was very disastrous to the packers. A large number failed and the goods had to be sold, and below cost. We also were met by the wholesale trade, and given to understand we must carry our own goods. I am pleased to know that the members unitedly decided as they did, and our present position, and of those not in the Association, has been improved. As we have some with us for the first time, let me show to them the advantages gained by united action. The Association was first formed in the city of Hamilton on the 21st of March 1883. We found a duty upon tin-plates, an unsatisfactory duty on canned goods, and since at the instigation of the Knights of Labor a Factory Act was passed, debarring us from employing desirable help in our factories, and an extravagant price charged for our labels and box shooks, our machinery all to be imported form the United States. Now we have the duty on tin plates removed and the privilege of employing help we were debarred from, lower prices for our labels, box shooks and machinery for our factories, now made in Canada; and also a larger can making establishment in the city of Hamilton; and a protective tariff placed on canned goods coming into Canada, and last a canned goods law that compels the packer to place his name and residence on all goods packed by him, and the virtually driving out of the market the worthless trash called "soaked goods"; and to-day our packers are all striving for quality and not quantity. We also have been enabled to drop the expensive way of selling our goods to the retailer, and in so doing our wholesale houses have had confidence and bought freely from us. I am sure that by uniting as we have, has been of decided advantage to us all, and that as we have now weathered the storm and made ourselves felt as an Association, that all will feel the need of us continuing on and striving to perfect our organization. Let me council all the members that if we are to succeed we must lovally endeavor to follow the golden rule and "Do to others as we would they should do unto us." Let no little sharp practices creep in, for just as sure as confidence begins to waver in each other, good buy to any further good.

As a united body let every one feel that it is his duty to steadily maintain the rules of the Association and do what is decided by us as best for all be sacredly kept and then we will be able to realize a fair profit on our work. I am sure no member wishes to work for less than nothing, neither do they wish to put prices so as to bar consumption, nor induce factories to spring up as at present—more are now engaged in the business than the trade warrants. And I would earnestly urge upon you all the necessity of still limiting our pack for the present year to what we think will be required, as there is still a large percentage of previous years' pack to be disposed off. I have made up the packs of 1887, 1888 and 1889, with amount in packers bonds to the first of present year, and by it we must be guided for the future. In June last I visited the different factories in Ontario after the severe frost of 27th May, and I gave my report to the members, which I think was valuable to us all. At our last annual meeting an Executive Committee was appointed, composed of the following: Wm. Ferguson, of Delhi, as Chairman; Wm. P. Innes, of Simcoe, and S. Fenton, of St. Catharines. Gentlemen, that Committee has been of invaluable benefit to us all. To me, as your President, I heartily accord to them my thankfulness for their aid and assistance in making our Association what it is. Whoever may be your President for the present year I sincerely hope he may be aided and counselled as I have been by as good an Executive Committee. Now, gentlemen, let me add in conclusion, knowing as I do the importance of keeping together in the future as in the past, that if mistakes on the part of the members have been made we will carefully consider and not let them occur in the future. I have just returned from the Annual Meeting of the Western Canned Goods Association of United States, held at Indianapolis, and as all of you take the Trade of Baltimore, and the Chicago Grocer, full reports of the meeting are there given. I am sure in reading them you all will feel cause of thankfulness for the present condition of our business in Canada. I came home feeling thankful I was a Canadian and that my business was in Canada, and that our Association was conducted as it was. None of you know of the deplorable condition of the canned goods trade in the United States unless you, as I have done, met the packers from all parts of that country and hear of the depressed state of trade there. No, gentlemen, that sixty millions of people would not be of much benefit to us as a market. When I tell you goods are being slaughtered at from 20 to 30 cents per dozen less than cost and can scarcely find sale at that, how any Canadian can, after going among the packers, as I have, at St. Louis in 1888, Chicago 1889, and Indianapolis 1890, advocate closer connection with them. They never put a dollar in an industry here but simply are agitators, and who never have done much good for their country and less for themselves. Thankful would they be if they could have the market of Canada for their goods, but I trust the present wise provision, made by the present government for the protection of Canadian industries will be continued, and if so we as packers, if we are wise amongst ourselves, can continue on, and in so doing disseminate a large amount of money amongst our thrifty farmers growing produce for us, and give our people purer food than they otherwise would get if it was imported from our neighbors, as one of their greatest evils over there, as you will see by published reports, is that too much trash is packed, covered with a fancy label and imposed on the consumer. Let me urge on every one more caution in the future in putting up better goods each year. I am much pleased to know that we have so efficient a Secretary as we have, and that the CANADIAN GROCER, the organ of the Association, has steadily looked after our interests. I would respectfully call your attention that, notwithstanding we have so stringent a canned goods law, that complaints have been made to me of goods being put up and labelled contrary to law. I trust that provision will be taken by us to stop this evil. We must protect ourselves and allow no infringment of our rights.

Now, gentlemen, your serious consideration will be required as to the present price of goods adopted, whether to reduce or let them remain as at present. Also as to selling futures. I think that we should be careful before we adopt any scale of prices for 1890 goods until our spring meeting, and then we can tell better as to quantity remaining unsold. I am sure all will be guided in their endeavors to do all for the best. Thanking all the members for their cordial and hearty support to me in the past,

I am, yours truly,

W. BOULTER, Pres. C. P. A.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The Secretary-Treasurer in his report said: The present Association was re-organized and placed on a firm basis at the Annual Meeting on March 15th, 1889. New Constitution and By-laws were adopted, and nearly all the leading packers became members. The year has been, on the whole, a most satisfactory one to the trade when we consider what it might have been were it not for the work done by the Association. I need only refer you to the very depressed condition of the industry on the American side as a matter which our President will likely deal fully with in his report. Last year the trade in Canada was in a disorganized condition and the industry was suffering severely from over-production and cutting in prices. This year, through the action of the Association both these evils have been remedied to a great extent. At the beginning of the season it was decided to reduce the corn pack one-half and peas one-third, and most of the packers have reduced tomatoes fully one-half. Nearly all other lines were also reduced so that the output this year in any lines is just about sufficient for the consumption. A better understanding was come to regarding the contracting for produce from the farmers whereby many of the packers purchased only limited quantities and were not compelled to take as much or as little as the farmer wished to deliver to them. Through the action of the Association its members have been able to purchase labels, tin cans and box shooks at lower prices than packers outside the Association. They have also been offered lower rates of storage during the year. Those parties who have been guilty of infractions of the canned goods law have been looked carefully after, and, although no prosecutions have taken place it is not improbable that some people will shortly be called upon to withdraw their goods from the market or comply with the law. The most important work of the Association during the year has been the collection and dissemination of statistics of the pack, sales and goods held. These reports have been issued monthly and when necessary at shorter periods. We now have complete and reliable statistics of the pack of Ontario for the past three years which will be of very great value to the trade in future. The question of prices has taken up the attention of the Association at all the meetings we have held. For the first time since the organization of the Association in 1883, we have been able to agree upon prices and to maintain them. The result is, that packers have been able to get a fair profit for their goods and the market is now on a steady and satisfactory basis. Uniform charges on goods shipped to the North-West, British Columbia and to the Maritime Provinces were agreed upon and were carried out. There is a great deal yet to be done. I think that better freight arrangements could be made with the various railroads, that there could be a still further regulation of the pack, and that a more favorable agreement could be arrived at with the farmers for the purchase of products. I would also suggest that the Association appoint a committee to thoroughly consider the question of what it costs to produce each article of canned goods and then arrive at what would be a fair profit, and make that amount the selling price in ordinary seasons. There has been a good deal of friction this year owing to the fact that some of the members thought that prices were advanced too rapidly by the Association. It is invariably the case with new Associations, no matter how experienced the members may be, there is a tendency to force prices to too high a limit. This has the result of curtailing consumption and making it more difficult to sell the goods, and dealers finding it necessary to realize are inclined to cut prices. If only a fair margin of profit were obtained there would be a ready sale for all the goods and the consequent less inclination to cut prices and less probability of competition with those outside the Association. It might also be well to consider the advisability of packers paying more attention to special lines as is done by some of them now. This would result in less competition and enable packers to produce these lines at less cost.

On motion of Mr. Fenton, seconded by Mr. Nelles, the reports were adopted and a committee composed of Messrs. Ferguson, Boulter and McLean was appointed to prepare reports for the press.

An informal discussion took place on the work of the Association.

Mr. W. C. Breckenridge, of Norton Manufacturing Co., Hamilton, was unanimously elected a member.

EVENING SESSION.

On resuming in the evening, representatives were present from several lithographing companies, who offered special prices and terms to the Association for labels. All the old officers were re-elected for the ensuing year as follows:

President, W. Boulter; Vice-President, B. R. Nelles; Secretary-Treasurer, J. B. McLean; Executive Committee, W. A. Ferguson, W. P. Innes, S. Fenton and D. W. Douglas; Auditors, D. Marshall and H. I. Matthews.

The remainder of the evening was spent in discussing matters relating to the Association. A committee was appointed to deal with infractions of the canned goods law.

TUESDAY MORNING.

The committee on the canned goods law reported what they had done. The auditors' report was presented and adopted. It showed a balance of $67.48 on hand. The Executive Committee recommended the payment of several small accounts.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

On resuming in the afternoon Mr. Nelles moved, seconded by Mr. Fenton, "That this Association request the Government not to reimpose the duty on peaches. Carried.

It was decided after some discussion on motion of Mr. Anning, seconded by Mr. Matthews, that the clause referring to extra charges be rescinded.

EVENING SESSION.

The first part of the evening session was taken up with the examination of samples of lithographed labels and consideration of special terms offered. They were given exclusively for the members of the Association. Officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows:—

President, W. Boulter; Vice-President, B. R. Nelles; Secretary-Treasurer, J. B. McLean; Executive Committee, W. A. Ferguson, W. P. Innes, S. Fenton and D. W. Douglas; Auditors—D. Marshall, H. I. Matthews.

THURSDAY'S SESSION.

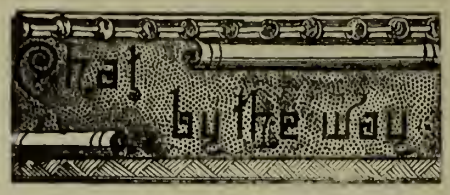
On Thursday morning a special committee reported regarding the infringement of the Canned Goods law and the auditor's report was presented and adopted.

It was decided on motion of Mr. Fenton, seconded by Mr. Marshall, "That no change be made in the present price list of canned goods excepting on baked beans, which shall be reduced to $1.65." It was also agreed that the secretary should continue the monthly report of sales and stocks on hand. A motion made by Mr. Fenton, seconded by Mr. Nelles, "That no member of the Association offer or sell futures until after the next meeting," was unanimously adopted.

The question of affiliation with the National Packers' Association was discussed, but it was pointed out that no benefit would arise as the Canadian and American packer were working under different laws. Mr. Fenton moved and Mr. Matthews seconded the following motion which, was carried:—

"That the thanks of this Association are due and are hereby tendered to the Western Packers' Association for their attention and courtesy to the President of this Association, who has represented us at their meeting for the past three years, and also to the National Association for their kind invitation to join them. We think, however, that for the present it would not be to the interest of this Association to do so."

The meeting then adjourned sine die.



Mr. Douglas, the Quebec representative, was warmly welcomed. It was his first visit to Western Ontario and he was very much pleased with his trip. He is a most valuable member of the Association.

The election of Mr. W. C. Breckenridge, of the Norton Manufacturing Co., to membership in the Association was a graceful act. Mr. Breckenridge has made himself very popular with the trade in Canada. All the packers are now buying their tins from him. There was a strong inclination at first on the part of packers to continue the old plan of making tins by hand, but they could not resist Mr. Breckenridge's persuasive efforts.

GLASGOW GROCERS.

At the last meeting of the Glasgow (Scotland) Grocers' Association the chairman said the merchants "have this enemy of bad debts to face, and many of us, alas! can say that these debts are sometimes overwhelming. Many of Glasgow's noblest sons have perished on this rock of credit, and it is our intention as an association to erect a beacon-light on the top of that rock, so that grocers and provision merchants may take warning. Our intention is to erect a beacon in the form of a 'black list.' (Applause.) There will be a book kept open, to the members, and a private one which will be kept by the secretary. Well, I have an imaginary list—say of three names — three customers who have caused me a great deal of annoyance and thought. I have found they are dishonest. We must keep a list of these people. When we find customers of that sort we must hand in their names to the secretary, and he will enter them into the two books I have mentioned. These books will be kept in the office of the secretary, and brought to these meetings. Now, the public book to which any member will have access will be in the office of our secretary, and all names will be entered there. The secretary will also insert into the book the name of the party who has handed in the name. If you have your doubts about a customer you can consult this book. If a customer wishes to have goods, you can say, 'Well, I'll probably be prepared to-morrow to give you credit for a fortnight,' and the grocer in the interim could have a peep at the book containing the black list. The moment the grocer consults this book he finds, 'Oh, Mrs. So-and-So is already here,' and then he refuses to give her credit when she comes to him. (Applause.) If you are satisfied with the black list you do not require to go any further; if you are not satisfied with it you say, 'How am I to find out? Who entered that name there? It does not say in the book.' What you have got to do is to go to the secretary and ask who entered that name there; he will tell who entered the name. He will say, 'It was a Mr. M—— entered that name.' 'Oh, indeed!' The secretary is not aware how much that woman is owing. The grocer calls at the brother in the trade who has been 'done,' and says, 'Do you know a Mrs. So-and-So?' 'Yes; she has been with me.' 'What's the tune?' 'Five pounds.' 'Two pounds,' etc. Now I hope you understand the proposal." (Applause.)

Bell & Turnbull, 1322 Queen St. West, are offering their business for sale.

Kastner Bros, Sebringville, talk of selling out their general store stock. If this is done many citizens will have to go elsewhere for goods.

Among the leading general merchants of Sebringville is W. H. Otto. He does not let his being a member of the Independent Order Foresters, interfere with his business.

It is learned that Mr. R. A. Lucas, the well-known wholesale grocer of Hamilton, will succeed the late Mr. Plumb in the Senate.

Notice of motion has been given in the Ontario Legislature by Mr. G. B. Smith that he will introduce a bill respecting assignments and preferences by insolvent persons.

Robert Manley has been placed in the asylum for the insane. He was once a prosperous merchant in London, Ont., but for several years past has given way to drink, which is believed to have affected his brain, until he is now a mere wreck of his former self.

At Highgate the general stores of Mr. W. Risk, and Mr. E. Beatty were burnt along with several other buildings last week. Mr. Risk's property was valued at $4,500, and Mr. Beatty's was valued at $3,000 and insured for $2,500. The fire started in Mr. Risk's store.

"Mitchell can almost compete with Orillia in prices of groceries, says a correspondent. "It's a down right shame the way that trade is cut up in this town. If they had an association, things would be different, but until then, things will go hard with the grocers. What little money there is in groceries at Xmas time, the low prices spoiled."

It is said that a proposition has been made to the Committee of Ways and Means in Washington which is now engaged in framing a tariff bill to impose a duty on eggs, and that the duty on other minor farm and dairy products shall be increased. This movemeut is based upon the claim that the farmers of the United States are suffering from depression, that they are, in fact, the victims of over-production.

A traveller writes:—"If you hear any one speak of Peterboro, it is always a good word. The hotels are good, the streets are good, the water is good, the newspapers are 'alive'. Law and justice is the order of the day, and it abounds with good business men like John Cameron, J. D. Mitchell & Son, Kingan & Co., W. G. Bain, J. J. Lynch, W. J. Mason, Alex. Elliott. L. Potvin, Adam Hall, Fortye & Phelan, G. G. Pape, R. N. Kidd."

At the last meeting of the Council of the Toronto Board of Trade, it was moved by Mr. D. R. Wilkie, seconded by Mr. D. W. Alexander, and resolved, "That this council desires to urge upon the Government the importance of taking immediate steps to secure the establishment of a two cent postage rate for the whole empire.

Seven or eight merchants of Petrolea have had goods removed from the front of their places of business during last week. The Advertiser catalogues the theft in this fashion:—Geo. Primmer, twenty-three cans of oysters; C. Matson, thirteen dozen eggs and three dozen oranges; E. McDermand, one pair of boots; M. Mann, one caddy of tobacco; R. Green, two pairs overalls; A. Scarsbrook, twelve cans of oysters; A. F. Rose, one ham of pork.

Another Government bill of interest which underwent its committee stage last week was Mr. Costigan's amendment to the Adulteration Act. Under this measure, Government analysts can analyse articles offered for sale, and where adulteration is found, charge the cost of analysis to the seller. A scale of charges for analysing different articles is appended. Objection was offered to this measure that persons selling goods not knowing them to be adulterated might be put to expense, but the point was not effective. Opposition was also entered to an addition allowing local authorities to supplement the work of the Government by appointing analysts to do the work prescribed in the bill. But this provision also passed.

At a meeting last week of the Wholesale Dry Goods Association the proposal of the Toronto Board of Trade to reduce the time of credit was thoroughly discussed, and the members expressed themselves in favor of restricting credits as much as possible. Doubts were expressed, however, as to whether the united actiom of the wholesale trade of the Dominion could be secured, and the following resolution was unanimously adopted:—

That while in thorough accord with the wholesale dry goods section of the Toronto Board of Trade in its efforts to procure a shortening of the terms of credit, this association is not prepared to settle the details of any proposed arrangement until assured that the general principle will be concurred in by the wholesale dry doods dealers in other trade centres in the country.

At a meeting of the Council of the Toronto Board of Trade last week, the committee appointed to consider the law relating to the equitable distribution of the estates of insolvents reported in favor of certain amendments which should be urged upon the Government.

The first of these proposed bills is entitled An Act to amend the Act respecting Assignments and Preferences by Insolvent Persons, and is as follows:—Section 6 of the Revised Statutes of Ontario, chapter 124, section 6, amended. The Act representing Assignments and Preferences is amended by inserting after the word "sheriff" in the third line of said section the words "or for an assignee under an assignment to which sub-section 2 or sub-section 3 of this Act applies," and by striking out the following words beginning at the fourth line of said section, "the county in which the debtor resided or carried on business at the time of the assignment," and inserting in lieu thereof the words "Province of Ontario."

The second is entitled An Act to amend the Act respecting the law of Landlord and Tenant, and is as follows:—

Sub.-sec. 4 of sec. 28 of the Act (Ontario) respecting the law of Landlord and Tenant is repealed, and the following substituted therefor:—"In case of an assignment for the general benefit of creditors the preferential claim of the landlord for rent, notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in the lease or other instrument under which such landlord claims, shall be restricted for rent for a period not exceeding six months in the whole, and such preferential claim shall in no case be allowed for a longer period after the date of the assignment than three months."

Mr. E. A. Wills, secretary, and Mr. W. H. Beaty, solicitor of the board, went to Ottawa to look after the interests of the Board of Trade bill in the House of Commons.

THE LARD QUESTION.

The import levied on lard and lard compounds which come to this country from the United States, is professedly a protective, not a revenue duty. Nevertheless it does not protect, and yearly its inadequacy to do so becomes more and more palpable. The duty is supposed to be in some degree prohibitive of importation, but to the extent to which it falls short of protection against cheaply produced compounds, some of which have only a small percentage, of lard to that extent is it really prohibitive of native production. The comparative cost at which Canadian lard is produced and American lard compounds can be imported is easily got at. In Toronto, dressed hogs are to-day worth $5.50 per hundred weight, and the lowest cost at which lard can be made from them by our packers is 8¼ c. per pound, in tierces. What is sold as lard from Chicago is offered to-day by agents of American refiners for 4¾ c. per pound, in tierces, f.o.b. point shipment A duty of 2 c. per pound, and a freight charge of 17 c. per hundredweight, make the cost delivered in Toronto, 6·92 cents per pound. Therefore, in our own market to-day American lard compound can be laid down at a cost of 1¼ c. per pound less than the packer can manufacture the home article. The sequence of this fact, itself also a fact attested by the experience of Canadian packers, is, that all the Canadian lard now sold is handled either at no profit or at a direct loss. Even this option is not likely to hold much longer, for the bulk of the selling is already at a direct loss, the tendency of the present virtual discrimination in favor of the Americans operating to make it impossible for the Canadian packer to get the cost of the native article. If our own packers can make no money, nay, if they must lose money, by the production of Canadian lard, they will be compelled to force the farmer to sell hogs at prices that will not pay him. This the farmer cannot long be induced to do, and the result will be the decay of hog-raising in this country.

In 1888 we imported 3,388,588 pounds of American lard and lard compounds. In 1889 the Americans sold us 6,271,922 pounds, an increase of 2,883,334 pounds. Waiving the objection that even the import of 1888 was too large for a country so well adapted for hog raising as is ours, and neglecting any increase of population that may have been added in 1889, the additional 2,883,334 pounds come to be looked at as marking a serious inroad. The progression will not have far to go at its present ratio before it will seriously affect this country as a hog producing community even for the supply of its own wants. To give a clearer idea of the volume of business transacted by American lard refiners succeeded, it needs simply be stated that last year's imports amounted to over 260 carloads of 24,000 lbs. each. The importation of pork from the United States has long held the native aritcle at prices too low to make packing here profitable, and lard was looked upon as one of the chief paying products of our own hogs. Now that it is produced at a loss, there is little left to encourage the feeding of swine at all.

Another factor has worked along with the cheapness of lard to depress the raising of heavy-weight pork. That factor has been alluded to in its effect upon the prices of our other pork products ; we mean the importation of American barrel pork. This is the great speculative article in their market, and from circumstances arising out of the speculative dealing, the quantity manufactured is often much in excess of requirement, and as a result is many times sold at a price at or below cost of production. The American speculator can afford to do this, as the meat has already performed its duty for profit in the speculation, but the Canadian packer and farmer have no redress, as this particular article of produce, bearing only a duty of 1 cent per pound, is shipped in large quantities on our market at a price which renders competition with Canadian hogs impossible. Those conversant with the facts have only to look at the history of the October, 1889, deal in mess pork in Chicago, when as a result of the corner in that month, sufficient barrel pork was manufactured to supply all ordinary demands for twelve months. The close of the year discovered a large stock of old mess on hand, and Canada was made the dumping ground for it at prices which forced all Canadian packers out of the race.

We must have heavy hogs. We have abundant demand for the products from them which chiefly consist in barrel pork and lard, but the raising of them is rendered profitless by the very free market we give the Americans in these articles. Last year we imported 18,394,142 pounds of hog products, the yield of 122,000 hogs, taking 50 pounds as average product of a hog.

According to the statistics compiled by the Cincinnati Price Current, under the head of Canada Packing, as represented in twenty-five cities and towns, for the twelve months ending March 1, 1889, 178,480 hogs are returned, as the number cut in both summer and winter packing. Thus assuming these figures to be approximately correct, we manufacture 175,000 and import a product of 582,000 hogs.

It is true that in the Western States there are great natural facilities for hog-raising. But one check to its outlet lies in the heavy duty that the German government places upon American pork, a duty that is almost absolutely prohibitive. The immense demand that is thus closed to the American hog raiser, has to be sought in other countries, and Canada is geographically, and by the present policy of her government, with reference to this commodity, is economically a very handy market. If we had a chance to develop our hog-raising in this country, we would soon put it in a position that it would be almost, if not wholly, self-protective. But it is not allowed to grow.

THE EGG SITUATION.

'Tis well in the nature of things that the same circumstances result in different opinions. Were this not so it is difficult to imagine how any trading could be done. Were all people "bears" there could be no market, and a like result would follow were all "bulls."

At the present writing, when the market is as low as it has ever been at this season of the year, as may be seen below, brought on by heavy receipts and a poor consumptive demand, the bulls argue higher prices by saying the low prices will stimulate consumption, and when "the people" begin to eat eggs they will continue in the good work notwithstanding any increase that may be made in value. The bears argue that as the receipts have thus far been large, the natural conclusion is that they will become larger as the product enters into consumptton and quick sales become the rule. Thus it is, that although at the moment there is little except opinions to warrant buying or selling —buying and selling continues. That the market might become dull and lifeless is a fact, for the cheese market is in just such a state, there are bulls and bears in that market also, but they are not so strong in their opinions and hesitate to back them with purchases before something more turns up to warrant their putting their money with their ideas

The prevailing lowness in price is caused, of course, by the first law of political economy, a supply greater than the demand. The supply at this season is usually much less and the demand about the same. Though the unusual weather has stimulated the production it has not stimulated in a like degree the consumption of stock. Speculative buying has had much to do with keeping prices as high as they have been, but such support is like a solid column, it is apt to split and warp and become weak through its own heaviness. Any severe fluctuation showed this by bringing out from the store any quantity of stock intended by the holders to be held for the expected higher prices brought on by increased legitimate demand.

The following table shows for the month of January the receipts and ruling prices for Western firsts eggs.

Date—	—Receipts— Barrels 70 doz.	Cases 30 doz.	Average Monthly Price.
January, 1883	14,306	8,468	27½@28
" 1884	11,642	8,517	35 @36
" 1885	16,488	14,495	29 @30
" 1886	18,203	28,005	24½@25
" 1887	9,194	18,038	31 @32
" 1888	15,058	34,329	22¾@23¾
" 1889	21,129	80,473	17¾@18¼
" 1890	17,894	103,350	16½@17

A small amount of computation shows the difference between January, in 1884, and this year's month, was about 19 cents in price and 3,800,000 dozens in receipt. 'Tis not always a heavy receipt that makes prices low, for frequently during the summer months for the past five years, when receipts were steadily increasing, the price increased proportionately. 'Tis the equality between the demand and supply; not the speculative demand, but the legitimate demand, such as withdraws stock from the market to be eaten and finally put out of the way.

It is a fact beyond question that the producing sections this year far surpassed any year's record in their output. The consumption, as before stated, has been up to the average, and perhaps a trifle greater, but the enormous increase was too great to be met immediately, and consequently the low ruling prices.

The effect of the present situation upon receivers and egg dealers has not been disastrous. To be sure, profits have been smaller and a large amount of capital was needed to handle the increased supply, but no heavy losses have been incurred because a quick-selling policy was early inaugurated and stock was continually changing hands; thus, while it divided and subdivided profits, it at the same time widely distributed losses.

There is a very wide divergence of opinion as to the future of the market. At the moment, the receipts are becoming less, and more firmness is ruling among receivers. But the production is daily increasing, and it is only that other markets are receiving our goods that causes the supply to be less. Some there are, who say the increased number of ice-houses and preserving establishments will absorb sufficient stock to keep prices from falling very low; others say the increased production, as signaled by present receipts, will sweep down all restraining influences, and that 9 and 10 cents will not be exceptional prices when the Lenten consumption has made consumers weary of this most healthy of foods. Before closing this report it is but right to place a portion of the blame upon the retailer who has not done his best to attract the attention of consumers. He has, when eggs went suddenly down, mixed his fresh and stale eggs. Any one who has had experience with old eggs can readily imagine how the trade has been injured by this indiscriminate mixing of fresh and musty eggs, in regard to consumers.—American Grocer.

A SMART SALESMAN.

I got onto something the other day that makes me think it's hard to know when a fellow is square now days. We had a chap working for us we tried to treat kind of decent, but it seems he was on the make so much that it would have been better to have watched him a great deal closer than we did. There is an old saying that "Murder will out," and it's mostly always the case that a tricky chap will be found out sooner or later. The way we found this fellow out was queer. Along last fall we bought a nice heating stove for a sample, but concluded not to handle them, so we didn't try to sell it. As Christmas was coming on we gave all the chaps working for us a little Christmas present, and as we knew this chap wanted a new stove in his house, we asked him how he would like to have that one. It was just what he wanted for his house, he said, and he was mighty glad to get it, as the one he had was played out, so we made him a present of it. And it done us good to hear him brag every week or so how nice that stove was, until we began to think we made a mistake in not trying to sell some of them. Last Sunday Eliza Jane and me was invited to dinner to some folks that lived out on the edge of town, and one of the first things I see in that house was a stove just like the one we gave our man. So I thought some other dealer had been smarter than we was, and had sold them that stove. When I come to ask where they bought it, I was more surprised to be told that they had bought it at our store. I never let on but what it was all right until I got to the store next morning, when I opened up on that slick chap, and found out the whole business. He'd sold that stove right out of our store after it was given to him, and got the money for it, and instead of having it taken to his own house he had it delivered at the other place. And by doing that he'd not only sold the stove we gave him for a present, but cheated us out of the sale of another stove, and perhaps we never would have found it out if we hadn't went visiting that day. It didn't take long to follow up some more of that fellow's tricks, and so we gave him our blessing and let him go.—The Travelling Tinker in Stoves and Hardware.

GROCERIES.

The trade for the past week was good, although not quite up to that of its predecessor, of which the record was unusually high. The business done in the first week of March last year compares unfavorably with that of this. Unlike the trade of the last two weeks of February, that of this week was general, and was not so largely concentrated on sugar, although there was liberal buying in that commodity. The presence of a large number of general merchants in the city for the millinery openings and the trade sales of Wednesday gave quite a stimulus to trade. The payment aspect of the week was quite satisfactory, and the advent of the Fourth of March brought no heavy losses.

CANNED GOODS.

The demand has been but moderate. Few have moved since the last report. The season of largest consumption is just beginning, that lying between the time when apples are plentiful and the ripening of berries, etc. Prices are unchanged, and the chance that they will remain so is strengthened by the fact that the old goods are now mostly in the hands of the retailers.

COFFEES.

The advanced price of Rio is retarding business with the retail trade. The latter are waiting with the expectation that prices will come down, but there is no probability that Rio will be cheaper. It is very firm now at 22c. Stocks here are still low. The green coffee trade is not large. Javas are stronger, quoting at 26 to 27c. for large lots. Mochas are very firm, but unchanged.

DRIED FRUIT.

There was a fair demand for dried fruits throughout the week, and a considerable quantity oi prunes moved off. The prices of these remain very firm at the point reported last week. Sphinxes are 7½c. for B's and 6 to 6¼c. for U's. In hogsheads, 4¾c. is the best price reached. Currants are 5⅜ to 5½c. in barrels, and 5½ to 5¾c. in half barrels. Dates are 5¾ to 6c. in small orders and 5½c. in large lots. Eleme figs are 10c., natural are very scarce at 4¾ to 5c. per box. Valencia raisins are going up. Off-stalk are 7 to 7½c., and layers are 9 to 9½c. Sultanas are scarce and dear, the prices 10 to 12c. holding very strongly. The stock of Malaga raisins is also short, and the prices are very firm.

SUGAR.

The situation of sugar seems to be assured. The market has stood more hammering than it has received for years, and has not given way. Its present tendencies to go up and stay appear to be well-nigh irresistible. The position taken by the refiners is strong. It is not expected that an increase of raw material will weaken the market, as that is not likely to be cheap. There has been a fairly large trade done during the week, one house having sold 900 barrels on Tuesday. Granulated went up 1-16c. in New York on Monday afternoon, and it is not unlikely to make a similar move here. The lowest price at which yellows are to be had is 5⅜ to 5½c. The call for low grades continues, but there are none now in the refineries.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

In syrups the prices running last week are good for this. They are 52 to 65c. Molasses are scarce and strong, as the market is firm in the United States. They are now 2c. more than they were during the last two or three weeks. There seems to be difficulty now in getting molasses into the country which adds to the scarcity of them. The difficulty is caused by the uncertainty in the minds of custom's officials as to whether certain consignments are up to the standards they must be at to bring the prices upon them. Sometimes lots are seized on the test of a single puncheon, while perhaps all the remainder of the lot are faultless.

TEAS.

Buying has been inactive, but the chief attention of what business was done was given to greens. In England Congous advanced from ½d. to 1d. on low and medium grades. The firmness in the English market is not an infallible sign that prices here tend upwards, but it is significant and worth noting by the Canadian retailer. The trade here, however, has been featureless in all lines. The local enquiry for Indian has been fair, and many country orders have been filled, medium Pekoes and Pekoe Souchongs being chiefly in demand. In London the quantity brought to auction has been moderate, but prices cannot be quoted higher. Some more "last of the season" Darjeelings have been sold, and as they possessed fine autumn flavor there was good competition to secure them. Local business in Ceylon has been quiet. In London prices showed some irregularity but a decline of ¼d. to ½d. per lb. was in many cases established.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The prices are moving up in the scale for new dairy-tub. The highest point they have yet reached is 20c., but for every pound that is bought at this there are ten bought at 14c., and a very large quantity at the intermediate figures. There is a demand and a good standing price, but it is only a small proportion of the butter sold that comes up to the grade called for. Store-packed, if very lately from the makers, brings 14c., down to 8c. for very poor. One commission merchant unloaded all his store-packed the other day at from 9 to 10c., and his further dealings any more in that class of butter will be accordingly very cautious. Creamery-packed is worth 20 to 23c., and fairly firm. Although large rolls represent but one class of make, they now include nearly every grade of good and bad that is on the market. They are very unequal, and are sold at from 10 to 18c. Select ones br ng 15 to 18c. Pound rolls are scarce. Good farmers' lots bring 20 to 25c. on the street, and in commission lots 18 to 20c. The demand now favors butter in this shape.

Early summer cheese is 8½ to 9½c., and that made between early summer and late autumn is 10½ to 11c.

SALT.

The salt market for the week is the same as that of last. There is not much of a demand for salt at present. The following are the prices reported by the Toronto Salt Works, car, coarse sacks, 70c.; 2 cars, bls., $1.37; car, dairy sacks, $1.18. Smaller quantities have sold at bls. $1.45; sacks, 85¼c.; dairy, 45c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

APPLES—Good ones are scarce, and the demand for them is strong. Car-lots are $2.75 to $3. These prices are very firm, and an early advance is expected. Store-lots are $3.25 to $3.50. The arrivals in farmers' wagons are generally below the quality of the fruit put up for shipping. This inferiority and the fact that they are not packed keeps them down to $2 and $2.75 per barrel.

BEANS—Are $1.50 to $1.75. The season has not yet perceptibly modified prices.

DRIED APPLES—The highest price now paid is 4½c. Stocks are increasing and there is little immediate likelihood that prices will mend.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Sell at 8 to 9c. for old, and 9 to 10c. for new. There is nothing new in the situation of this commodity.

EGGS—The stock of limed is now low, having been mostly taken up during the last week. They are worth 11 to 13c. Fresh eggs are 14½ to 15c. in case lots. The supply to this market will no doubt be increased by the drop in the States, whither many of our eggs have recently been attracted by good prices. New-laid eggs in farmers' baskets are worth 18c.

HAY—There is an abundant supply. No. 1 on the street is 11 to $13, and No. 2 is 7 to $9. Pressed hay on track is 9 to $10 for No. 1, and 6 to $7 for No. 2.

HIDES—The dullness of the market has not been relieved by any business done this week. Cured barely move off at 4¾c. This price does not promise to hold much longer. Butchers' green hides are unchanged. No. 1 is worth 4c., No. 2 is 3c., and No. 3 is 2c.

HONEY—Trade is not active. The buying has fallen off by slow degrees until it is now considerably below what it was in the late fall. Prices are yet 11½ to 13c. for good clear, and 12 to 14c. for comb.

HOPS—New ones are 12 to 15c., and yearlings are 10 to 12c. The stock on the market seems large, and prices are not apt to go up.

OATS—In farmers' loads they are worth 30 to 31½c. In car-lots they bring 29 to 30c. The supply is large.

ONIONS—Are scarce and dear. There is now a demand that can take in a strong supply if the onions are in the country. Prices are $3.25 to $3.50 per barrel.

POTATOES—The supply has never been behindhand since the market was well opened. There is no want this week, and prices are where they were a week ago, viz.: 55c. in car-lots, and 60 to 65c. in store-lots. Buyers are indifferent to offers at 55c. for car-loads.

POULTRY—The scarcity of all classes is bringing prices up among high figures. Turkeys are worth 14c. Geese are 9 to 10c. Chickens are 50 to 75c. There is a ready demand for all that the market takes in.

SEEDS—Values here are not controlled by any relation between our supply and demand, but are controlled by the Western markets, whence we import the bulk of our seed stocks. Our own supply is too light to make prices, and has not yet begun to come upon the market. Red clover is $3.30 to $3.50. Alsike is $5 to $6. Timothy is $1.25 to $1.50.

SKINS—Sheepskins are $1.25 to $1.50, and are in only fair supply. Calf are 6c. for No. 1, and 5c. for No. 2.

STRAW—Sheaves in farmers' wagons are $6 to $8, and tight-pressed on track is $5 to $5.50. The week's arrivals have been large, especially upon the street market.

PROVISIONS.

BACON—Long clear is 7 to 7⅜c. Roll is 8½c. Breakfast is 10 to 11c.

HAMS—Green ones are 10c. Smoked are 11c.

LARD—Canadian tubs are 8½c., and pails are 9c. American tubs are 8c., and pails are 8½c.

MESS PORK—Heavy mess is $13.50, and family mess is $14.

DRESSED HOGS—Run all the way from $5.25 to $6, the latter price going for select weights.

TALLOW—Rendered is 5 to 5½c. Rough is 1¼c. to 2c.

WOOL—In the fleece is 22c., but scarcely any fleeces are brought in. Pulled wool in the three grades of lowest, super, extra-super, is 24c., 25c. and 30c. respectively with a cent below each quotation for what is short of the best.

CRANBERRIES.

Cape Cod fruit which has not been frozen is worth $15 per barrel, and $5 per crate. All stocks are run low. Wisconsin berries are $11 per barrel, and gallon tins are 75c.

FISH.

There has been a dull Lenten trade so far. The indulgences by which the rigor of the former fasting rules have been relaxed for this season, have had an important influence on the fish dealers' business. That business has been cut down by the lowered demand to a smaller volume than has been done for years. The largeness of the stocks and the shrunken demand make prices low and rather weak. White fish are 7c.; salmon are $12 per barrel; small cod are 5c. per pound; steak cod are 7½c.; haddock are 5½ to 6c.; pike are 4½c.; pickerel are 6½c.; flounders are 5c.; tulepes are 7c.; Labrador herring are $5 to $5.50 per barrel, and $3.25 to $3.75 per half-barrel; Shore herring are $4 per barrel, and $2.25 per half-barrel; boneless cod are 6 to 8c. per pound; boneless fish are 6 cents.

GREEN FRUIT.

Valencia oranges have advanced a quarter. They are this week $4.75 to $5. Russets comprise the main part of the Florida stock that is on the market. They are $3.50 to $3.75. The fancy brights are $3.75 to $4, but they are getting scarce. Messinas are $3 to $3.25. California navels are $6 to $6.50. Mediterranean sweets are $4.25 to $4.50. Riverside seedlings are $4 to $4.25. Tangerine oranges are up to $5 and $5.50. Lemons are back to their normal prices since the disappearance of the influenza. Messinas and Palermos are $4 to $5 in 300's, and $3.50 to $4.50 in 360's. Cuccios are 5 to $5.50. Bananas are $2 to $2.50 for seconds, and $3 to $3.50 for firsts. Sweet potatoes are $6. Pine apples are $4 to $4.25 per dozen. Bermuda tomatoes are $1.75 per crate, and grape fruit is $4.50 per box. Malaga grapes are $14.

DRY GOODS.

There were a large number of general merchants in the city at the beginning of this week, brought hither by the millinery openings. This gave an impetus to trade which was greatly needed after the lengthy spell of dulness, and the light character of the winter's trade. The orders taken this week were not large in any case, and their number made up in some degree for their smallness. Selections for spring and summer stocks were in several cases made, but with extreme caution. The state of trade, though an improvement on that of the past several weeks is still greatly below what it was at the same time last year. The fourth of March not being so important a day to the dry goods as is 4th of Feb., there has been no expectation of any special stress of difficulty in getting that day over.

GROCERIES.

The trade of the past week has been such that no complaints are being made, in fact the outlook is decidedly encouraging. Settling day, March 4th, affects the grocery trade only indirectly. The banks report that the paper drawn for the first of the month and waiting the 4th was better taken up than expected. City notes are reported to have been well taken up all round. In his annual address of the year's business the manager of the Banque du Peuple says of the grocery trade: The volume of transactions in this line show a decline, but the profits under a less severe competition have had a tendency to increase. Although heavy losses were sustained, the returns have been fair. As a whole, with the exception of the country trade, which is in a deplorable condition, they are satisfied with what they have done, although their earlier anticipations have not been realized.

SUGARS.

Yellows have again advanced with a firm and steady market, and higher prices are looked for as stocks of both raw and refined have been well reduced. New York market remains unchanged. Low grade yellows are exceedingly active. Quotations are: Granulated, 7c. to 7⅛; yellows, 5 7-16 to 5⅞c.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Syrups are very quiet since Lenten set in. No material change has taken place in molasses, Barbadoes continuing firm at unchanged prices. Prices are, syrups 3¼ to 4c., molasses 45c., puncheons.

TEAS

On this market teas are exceedingly flat, what sales are made are small although a lot of 600 half-chests of low grade Congos were purchased by a jobber, English account, at a fair figure. New York advices report an advance in green teas of 2c., and market firm.

COFFEE.

Coffee is quiet at unchanged prices. Reports state that the crop of Java will be but half of that of last year. Following are quotations: Mocha 28 to 30c.; Java 24 to 29c.; Jamaica 18 to 22c.; Rio 18 to 20c.; Plantation Ceylon 19 to 24c.; Maracaibo 20 to 25c.

DRIED FRUITS.

A local business only is being done in dried fruit at unchanged prices. Valencia raisins continue firm at 7 to 7¼c., although a lot of 400 boxes were sold here as low as 6¾c. London layers $3 to $3.25. Currants continue rather slow at 5½ to 6c., for best quality, although low grades have changed hands at 5c. Vostizza, 7c. in cases. Bordeaux prunes, 4 to 4½c. Dates 5½c. Good Eleme figs 10 to 12c., as to quality. Evaporated apples firm at 9c., and dried 6½c.

NUTS.

Remain unchanged. Taragona almonds, 14c.; Ivica at 12c.; Pecans 12 to 12½c., with short crop and slow market; Brazil nuts 11c.; Grenoble walnuts 14c., and French 10c.; Filberts firm at 10c. for Sicily and 9½c. for Turkey; green peanuts 8½ to 9c.

RICE.

A fair amount of trade is being done in rice at steady prices. Mount Royal Mills A and B, $3.60 to $3.75 per 100 lbs., Patria 4½ to 5c., and Japan 4 to 4½c.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been a fairly good demand for canned goods the past week, principally in corn and tomatoes. As low as $1.10 was paid for the former, and as low as $1 for the latter. This of course was for 1888-9 pack. It was expected that the packers at their meeting in Toronto last week would advance corn, but they have not done so and prices remain as follows: Corn $1.20; marrowfat peas $1.15; sweet peas $1.25; tomatoes $1.20; stringless beans 85c.; butter beans 90c.; apples, 3 lb., $1.05, per gal. $2.35; pineapples $2.25 to $2.40; strawberries $2.35 to $2.50; peaches $2.15 to $2.25; plums $1.75 to $2; peas $2 to $2.10; salmon firm at $1.70; lobsters are becoming scarce and have advanced to $7 to $7.25; sardines firm, the recent advance being well maintained; mackerel continues at advanced prices, viz., $5.70 to $5.80.

FISH.

Is exceedingly flat on account of the very mild weather and the recent decree of the Pope, but fortunately stocks exceptionally light, in jobbers hands. Green cod is easier, the demand having dropped off, No. 1 large $7 to $7.25, No. 1 ordinary $5.75 to $6. Labrador herrings are also easier at $3 to $3.50 as to lot and quality. B. C. salmon $11 per barrel. Dry cod $4 to $4.25. Sea trout $9. Lake trout $4 to $4.25. White fish $5 to $5.25. The trade in fresh fish has also been quiet with stock cleared. Haddock 3½c. St. John herring, which is taking the place of Newfoundland is quoted at $1 to $1.10 per 100. Tommy cods slow at $1 to $1.10. Lake trout and white fish are about out of the market. Smelts 2½ to 3c. Finnan haddies 6½c. to 7c.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

GRAIN.—The market remains dull and without change. We quote as as follows:—Wheat, No 1 hard Manitoba, $1.05; No. 2, $1.03; Peas, per 66 lbs. 66 to 68c.; Oats 31 to 32c.; Corn, in bond, 35c.; Barley, 40c.

FLOUR.—There is no change to report. A fair jobbing trade for the city continues. We quote: Patent Winter, $4.75 to $5.00; Patent Spring, $4.75 to $5.00; Straight Roller, $4.50 to $4.75; Extra, $4.15 to $4.30; Superfine, $3.00 to $3.75; City Strong Bakers' $5.80 to $5.90; Strong Bakers' $4.25 to $4.60; Superfine (bags) $1.50 to $1.75; Extra (bags) $1.75 to $2.00.

EGGS.

Eggs are steady and quiet at 17c. to 18c. for fresh laid, other kinds 10 to 16c.

PROVISIONS.

The following are the quotations to-day: Canada Short Cut, $14.50 to $15; Western Short Cut, $13 to $13.50; Western Mess, $12 to $13.25; Hams (city cured), 11½c. to 12½c. Lard, 8¼c. to 8¾c.; bacon, 12c. to 13c.; dressed hogs, $5.70 to $6.

GREEN FRUIT.

The following are the quotations for to-day: Valencia oranges, $4.50; Messinas, $3 per box of 300; Floridas, $4 to $4.50 per box; apples, $4 to $4.50 and up to $7 per barrel; Malaga grapes, $8 to $8.50; cranberries, $10 to $12; lemons, $4.50 to $5.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

CHEESE—The shipment from Atlantic ports for the week was 17,000 boxes, of which 5,500 were from Montreal; 11,500 were on through account. Some quite large transactions pretty well clearing up this market have been made recently at 10¼c. and there about. We quote: Finest, 9⅝c. to 10c.; good to fine, 9¼c. to 9½c.; medium, 8½c. to 9c.

BUTTER—Dull as usual, with no enquiry for other than fine butter. We quote: Finest creamery, 23c. to 24c.; finest Townships, 19c. to 21c.; fair to fine, 13c. to 16c.; Morrisburg, 13c. to 17c.; Western, 11c. to 16c.; rolls, 14c. to 17c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

T. James Claxton and Fred. J. Claxton have filed a notice of dissolution of partnership under the name of T. James Claxton & Co., wholesale dry goods merchants.

Caverhill, Hughes & Co., wholesale grocers, finding their present place of business far too small to meet their increasing wants, are about to remove to the Nun's Block, St. Peter street, a few doors below St. Ann's market.

L. Chaput, Fils & Cie., are advertising a special line of Gruyere and Gorgonzola cheese.

Alex. Hyde & Co., 1 and 3 Debresoles Street, is the name of a new firm doing business in general grocers' supplies. They are sole agents in Quebec for Taylor, Scott & Co., of Toronto, manufacturers of brooms, brushes and woodenware.

Mr. Leonard H. Dobbin, manufacturers' agent, sold a car load of tomatoes, 1888 pack, to a wholesale house here last week at $1.02½ per dozen.

There is perhaps no business in Canada that has developed faster than that of the old and well-known firm of Christie, Brown & Co., Toronto and Montreal, biscuit manufacturers, established nearly forty years ago in a very small factory where they made biscuits of such a quality that they soon made their way into the hands of every first-class grocer in Canada. A new factory was then built to which was added new and improved machinery, still they could not keep pace with the demand, and about three years ago another addition was added to the building with increased machinery which enabled them to fill orders at the time. But to-day they are as far behind with their orders as they were three years ago. This constantly increasing trade is due to the fact that quality was the first consideration of the manufacturers, and the public appear to appreciate it by using their goods. Their sodas are exceptionally fine, and are worthy of trial, and their fancy biscuits are of endless variety. Make their acquaintance, and remember it pays to push trade in goods that afford splendid profits.

TRADE SALES.

The issue of the trade sales at Suckling & Cassidy's warehouse on Tuesday was as follows:

Danford, Roche & Co's Newmarket stock of general merchandise amounting to $21,649, was bought by Mrs. Roche at 53c. on the dollar. Their Barrie general stock amounting to $19,559 was also bought by Mrs. Roche at 43½c. on the dollar.

The general stock of Hubbell & English, Marmora, amounting to $2,817.81, was bought by Mr. J. S. Sharpe, at 57½c. on th dollar.

The general stock of Geo. Caswell, Coldwater, was withdrawn by order of the trustee.

The general stock of A. D. Meyers & Co., Parry Sound, amounting to $6,937.38, was bought by Mr. Beattie of the same town at 51½c. on the dollar.

The clothing and men's furnishing stock, amounting to $2,398.71, belonging to Duncan Cameron, Peterboro, was bought at 51½c. by A. Mercer & Co.

The bankrupt stock of W. E. Mayhew & Co., was sold at Hamilton last week for 65c. on the dollar.

The stocks of Robert Sterritt, of Forest, and H. Penny of London, were sold at London last week by auction. Mr. Sterritt's stock, amounting to over $11,500, realized 66c. on the dollar. Mr. Penny's was bought in at 40c.

CANADIAN RAISINS.

The Hamilton Herald reports that the production of raisins is being undertaken as an industry in that city. The following is the item as it appears in that paper.

"The production of raisins in Canada is indeed a new industry. The Herald was shown to-day a fine sample of raisins from grapes grown in open air in the city of Hamilton, which were taken from the vine on the first of October, 1889, and laid aside in a cool room, where they remained without special attention. It is a matter of surprise to find an article of commerce of so great value originating in Ontario, and in this city. It will not be forgotten that the vintage of 1889 was almost totally destroyed by the extreme frost of the 28th of May last, followed by atmospheric influences favorable to mildew, completing the destruction of plant life. Despite this, however, could this fruit have received the same process of raisin curing as undergone in Spain or California, it would likely bear a favorable comparison. Notwithstanding the above drawbacks, the raisins shown us are no mean specimens.

"The vine originated in this city, under the skilled manipulation of an old Canadian hybridist. It has made its way to California and other distant points in the United States under the name of 'Mills."

TRAVELLER'S NOTES.

"One thing may be said of Kincardine," said R. Rinkler, grocer, to our reporter the other day, "and that is, that each man runs his own business. That is, a grocer has his store and goods and a dry goods or hardware man his, and this is found to be the best plan."

Does it pay you to buy five hundred dollars worth of seeds and sell them on six, ten or twelve months credit? We think not. There may be money in seeds but nothing in credit. You have to stock them we know but you do'nt have to sell on time, and if the crops turn out a failure that time may mean two years or not at all. The money lost on seeds by some merchants would astonish others who are selling for cash.

A travelling correspondent, who has read some of our articles on jealousy in the grocery trade, says that perhaps a description of one of these outbreaks would be interesting to some readers of the GROCER who have had no experience with one of these "blizzards" and if it is not a true description let some one more conversant with it reply. A offers 13 pounds granulated for $1 on a card outside, and before the door is fairly closed B, over the way, drops to it and goes one better, 14 pounds. A makes his 15 pounds and by this time C, down the street, thinks he has a pretty good hand and chips in 16 pounds. Next D makes a spurt to 18 pounds. Now A drops out his hand, can't stand the racket, but B being strong stays and the freight trains do not run fast enough to bring in the sugar when all at once, for want of customers, the battle ends and the dead and wounded are buried, cared for (perhaps at forty cents on the dollar) and peace reigns once more and the living find even their regular customers are all supplied for some weeks to come. They find they have bitten off their nose to spite their face and make things as unpleasant as possible for their fellow grocerymen. Now comes the sequel: the farmer is back for more cheap sugar. A, we must assume, is dead, B is giving only 12 pounds. He goes to C, with the same result, and even D can't afford to give any more. The farmer is tired and thinks D pretty clever and probably only came down because the others did, gives him a full order and thus D gets even and gains a new customer, for no explanation from A B C would suffice to convince them that they were not badly treated when they could not duplicate the cheap sugar again after so short a time as one or two weeks. Now if I have not drawn a true picture probably it is because I have not had more dead reported, but wait, some of the wounded may die. A visitor to grocerymen in a town where one of these blizzards has struck will fail to find any one to acknowledge he was the first one to cut. The only remedy I can suggest is for each one to have a season of kicking himself and then go to his neighbor and vow to never do so any more. Ask him to go in for an association where false reports can be ventilated, mutual understandings and agreements cau be had and brotherly love fastened to the benefit of all good business men.

Some grocers would do well to lecture their drivers on cruelty to horses. I have seen several instances within the last few days where horses that have to do a heavy day's work are most shamefully raced on the side streets. Horse racing may be all right for trained horses but a grocer's delivery horse, when hitched in a heavy wagon with a good load of goods on, will not last long if this practice is kept up. TRAVELLER.

RECEIVING RETURNED GOODS

Life is not all a bed of roses with even the most prosperous storekeeper, says the San Francisco Grocer, adding that dealing with the peculiarities of a variety of people and minds found among the patrons of a grocer or general merchant does not always tend to peace and quiet. Perhaps the most trying and vexatious problem the grocer has to solve is that of giving satisfaction to a customer in the case of returned goods. Now, no well-regulated establishment permits articles to leave the store unless it is pretty well assured that such articles are as represented. That consideration, however, is not always uppermost in the mind of the customer when he or she, she generally, makes complaint. If the flour does not make good bread, of course it is the flour which is bad; the yeast is always fresh, and the oven never out of order and the cook never careless in numberless other ways. It requires no little diplomacy on the grocer's part in such matters to maintain harmony and good feeling. There is unquestionably more imposition practiced or tried on the grocer from this cause of alleged bad goods than from any other source, and he must rule with a firm hand and with his rights in view, if he does not wish to become loaded up with broken packages of commodities thus foisted on him. The exercise of discretion in the matter of taking back articles once sold should be liberal.

The Inland Revenue Department has recently issued bulletin of about thirty pages which is devoted exclusively to the subject of baking powder and which shows that the majority of the goods in the market are adulterated and unfit for use. Prof. A. McGill, who has had charge of this important work for the Government, says that "imperial baking power is an excellent baking powder." A word to the sensible housekeeper should be suffcieut.

It is easy to show that a 3-inch advertisement by the year will cost much less per thousand for its circulation than any method of distributing circulars. If a tradesman could get his circulars free, he could not get them before the public for twice the price that his advertisement costs him. Circulars have their use, and this is no argument against their value, but a simple comparison showing the extraordinary advantage which the newspaper affords the advertiser.—Rome Sentinel.

Unlike daily papers and general periodicals, this paper places advertisements before the eyes of just that portion of the industries most calculated to avail themselves of the announcements therein, and, therefore is of more value to the Trade than any paper published in this or other worlds. Manufacturers and wholesalers please take note of this, and then act accordingly. It is the only paper in Canada that reaches this trade direct.

SPECIAL TO OUR READERS.

As the design of THE CANADIAN GROCER is to benefit mutually all interested in the business, we would request all parties ordering goods or making purchases of any description from houses advertising with us to mention in their letter that such advertisement was noticed in THE CANADIAN GROCER.

OUR MONTREAL OFFICE.

Our Montreal Office is located at 115 St. Francois Xavier St. Our representative, Mr. Hugh C. McLean, will be pleased to have subscribers and advertisers call upon him there. He will also pay special attention to gathering business items and attending generally to the interests of this paper.

CORRECTIONS.

The article in last week's issue upon "The Lard Question," got into the hands of our readers before it was finally revised by the proof-reader. There are, therefore, some corrections to be made. The second word in that article is "impost," not "import." The comma after the word "percentage" in the first paragraph, should have been placed two words forward, that is, after the word "lard." In the second paragraph, the word "succeeded" should have been deleted. Near the end of the fourth paragraph read "150 pounds" for "50 pounds." At the end of the fifth paragraph "582,000 hogs" should have been "122,000 hogs."

WET STOCK IN WHOLESALE GROCERIES.

In this city, the number of wholesale grocery firms which carry liquor-stocks, has been growing smaller by degrees for several years back. In the old days liquors were almost as much a complement of a wholesale stock as were sugars. Nearly every wholesale grocer kept them. Now, the rule and the exception have shifted into the old positions of each other, and the few are on the side of the dealers who do not sell liquor. Twenty-five years ago, A. M. Smith & Co., were the only wholesalers who dealt solely in dry groceries. Of the firms constituted since their time and yet existing, the following began and have continued without liquor-stocks:—Messrs. Smith & Keighley, Warren Bros. & Boomer, Sloan & Crowther, Eby, Blain & Co., H. P. Eckardt & Co., and James Lumbers. Of existing firms that started with liquor-stocks the following firms have since given them up:—Messrs. J. Kinnear & Co., and Davidson & Hay. There are now but three wholesale firms in Toronto which carry both wet and dry groceries:—Messrs. Perkins, Ince & Co., Frank Smith & Co., and J. W. Lang & Co.

The reasons for this retreat from the trade in liquor, must have had weight in proportion to so general an effect. One reason is that the cares of a strictly dry-grocery wholesale trade have been growing until they are now considered large enough to occupy the wholesalers' undivided attention. There is a greater extent of trade to be looked after, and as the machinery of business becomes more complex, as system is developed, the liquor department gradually comes to be dropped and relegated by the usage of trade to purely wholesale dealers in spirits. Also, liquor is a class of stock in which there is a special risk, and is important enough to engage all the attention of the trader. Some wholesalers were led to drop or avoid the business by other than economical considerations. The keeping of the stock was found to be demoralizing in some respects, as customers and hands were both liable to ill effects from testing mixed samples. The chief reason, however, appears to lie in the facility with which whiskies, and malted liquors could be got by retailers from the breweries and distilleries. By taking ten barrels the retailer could get the same discount from the brewer as the wholesaler could. Two or more retailers by massing their orders could then get as good terms as the wholesaler, and therefore the trade got more and more out of the habit of buying their liquor at wholesale groceries. Some wholesalers finally came to ship all their orders directly from the manufactories. Also, the carrying of the Scott Act throughout so large a part of Ontario was hard on the wine and fine liquor trade, and made the keeping of such stock less profitable to the grocer. Then, too, the drinking habit appears to be on the decline in the country. The old class of respectable home drinkers is dying out, and the bulk of the drinking nowadays is done at the bar.

The local firms which now handle liquoss deal more especially in the finer and more expensive brands. Little or no native liquors are carried in stock.

THE TOBACCO EXCISE.

We intimated to our readers a fortnight ago that the wholesale trade were expecting a removal or a reduction of the present inland revenue duty on tobacco. The basis of that expectation, as we then pointed out, is the reasonable certainty that the United States government will make the manufacture of tobacco in their country absolutely free. There is a strong opposition to this proposal from the large United States manufacturers, who aim to keep their smaller brethren out of the market, and who find the present excise a protection to established brands. It is unlikely, however, that the hostility of the manufacturers' ring will even delay, much less withstand, the abolition of the duty.

The reason why the removal of the United States excise is expected to be attended by at least a reduction in ours, was mentioned in our former article. That reason, namely, the discouragement of smuggling, has influenced other changes made in late years in our tobacco excise. Shortly after the establishment of the present national policy the inland revenue duty on tobacco in this country was lowered from 20c. to 12c. per pound, for the reason that a similar reduction had been made in the United States. The excise remained twelve cents a pound until about 1886, when it was again raised to twenty cents. That change was made solely from revenue considerations, as the country had just been at the expense of suppressing the Saskatchewan rebellion, and luxuries had to be taxed to pay off that expense.

Before that addition was made to the inland revenue tax on tobacco, the report that it would be made stimulated tobacco buying as much as the prospect of a reduction now discourages it. The duty has continued to be twenty cents up to the present. In the meantime the American Government had still further lightened their excise, going from twelve to eight cents, at the latter of which taxes it has remained for three years. During the last three years, therefore, there has been enough temptation to encourage smuggling, in the difference between twenty and eight cents. The American maker can produce tobacco cheaper by twelve cents a pound as an excise difference. If he have any other advantages in the cost of production, there must be a fine margin for the smuggler in the difference.

Of course, if there were only legitimate trade between the United States and ourselves to be guarded against, we have already ample protection in a Customs duty of twelve and one half per cent. ad valorem, and twenty cents a pound specific duty.

The revenue demand for twenty cents a pound on tobacco is now past, and there is little doubt that the excise will be made simply a buoyant duty. As a superfluity, no doubt tobacco should bear a rather heavy tax, but that tax should be adjusted in every case with alterations made by the Americans, as a precaution against smuggling. The cheapening of tobacco, will no doubt increase trade, as consumption will grow inverse proportion to the price.

MR. H. A. COLLINS' SETTLEMENT.

At the meeting of Mr. Collins' creditors a week ago last Monday evening a settlement was effected, whereby he will be enabled to resume business. Mr. Collins, himself, made no offer, in fact did not appear at the meeting until he was expressly sent for, and then would make no overtures for the redemption of his assets. He stated that he was not in a position to make an offer that he could expect to be accepted. There was nothing for it, therefore, but for the creditors either to take the initiative in proposing terms, or to wind up the estate. They took the former course. A committee of three conferred with Mr. Collins apart, and induced him to accede to a proposal which their colleagues had assented to. By that proposal Mr. Collins agreed to pay $400 for the old stock and $300 for the shop fixtures ; for the good stock he engaged to give 40c. in the dollar, and 50c. in the dollar for the good debts. These terms are equivalent to about 14c. in the dollar of his liabilities, taking as the basis of them the statement the assignee was able to extricate from the books. The aggregate of the claims, however, is expected to be further swollen by amounts, not included in the statement, that have appeared to the credit of his wife. If these additional claims are sworn to, the proportion to the dollar that is to be paid will fall short of 14c.

Neither in the failure nor in the representations of the insolvent is there any sign o dishonest intent. The claims of his wife, so far from being fictitious, are believed by the assignee to be considerably underestimated Rents, and income from other sources that were indisputably hers, went into the business at various stages, and a record of them was derivable from the books.

While the facts exonerate Mr. Collins from any suspicion of fraud, there is yet abundant comment to be ravelled from them, which is not to his credit as a business man. One of the facts which throws a good deal of light upon the secret of the failure, has been hinted at in the remark above, that his wife's claim is more than it appeared from a careful examination of the books to be. It was almost impossible to be led, by the most searching scrutiny of the books, to any conclusion that could be regarded as final. An accountant could not examine them and feel satisfied when he was through, that he would not have to amend many deductions he had made from them. The books in fact were in a horrible state. As premises from which to proceed to survey a man's business position they could not well be worse. They were full of quagmires. In the wretched state of his book-keeping, then, is to be found one of the causes of Mr. Collins' failure. His books afforded him no readily-accessible information about his position, and consequently gave him no warning. If they had, the present failure might not have been, or might have been less disastrous.

Another fact which stands boldly out on the face of the statement of his assets, is that Mr. Collins was a poor collector. His book debts amounted altogether to about seventeen thousand dollars. This is rather staggering to staid economical business ideas about the way a retailer should do business in this age in a large city. But when it is further considered that of these debts only seven thousand dollars odd are classed as good, our astonishment grows. That a city retailer should have on his books above ten thousand dollars of debts that cannot be called good, is surely a reproach to his business methods. Carelessness and good-heartedness appear to lie at the bottom of this state of things, and it has been often stated lately that Mr. Collins was a difficult man to get an account from. People sometimes had to insist on his rendering a statement of their indebtedness to him. This will never do. If a man is a slack collector, or if he is an indiscriminating creditor, it will soon be plainly demonstrated to himself that he is an incapable business man.

It has also been stated that Mr. Collins was not in the habit of taking stock. That is not unlikely. Such neglect, indeed, might reasonably be looked for as the natural accompaniment of the slipshod book-keeping the investigation has disclosed. A man's affairs will drift always in the same direction, and that is towards loss, if he does not often make an examination of them through a stock inventory.

The analysis of Mr. Collins' failure, then, brings us directly to faults in his book-keeping, in his collecting, and in his stock-taking. These faults are kindred ones, and that of which they are the offspring is either inability to appreciate, or lack of will to practise, Method.

A SUBURBAN TALE.

On Saturday afternoon we visited in the outskirts of the city a grocery we had never been in before. We found the proprietor seated, in the midst of rural plenty, upon the head of a salt-barrel. His response to our polite salutation was tardy, and rather lacking in heartiness. The rural plenty adverted to, consisted chiefly of products wrung by horny-handed toil from the niggard earth—such as beans, potatoes, onions, etc.—and of the plunder of orchards and the spoil of hens' nests. With our usual felicity in the ready choice of a topic, we boldly launched into the appropriate subject of Suburban Trade, hoping to bear this taciturn man upon the tide of our enthusiasm. There are many openings in this large subject, into which a person of wide mental vision is apt to be led, and we felt when we got through that our discourse had traversed every by-way in it. One aspect of the question on which we dwelt with special earnestness was the unique advantage of the suburban dealer's situation. He stood with one foot, as it were, in the city and the other in the country. He saw the best of each class of community. Further, occupying, as he did, one of the outposts of the city's trade, he had his pick of the choicest country products, as he was able to intercept the caravans of trade which daily sought the metropolis. Our reference to this was in compliment to the stock of farm products which lay in barbaric profusion about the grocery floor. We also touched upon the superior opportunity the suburban grocer had to study the artless Arcadian honesty of the yeoman, whose toil kept the world in teeming plenty.

We had got ourself into a glow upon the subject, and found tears in our eyes when we concluded. This latter overflow of soul was not entirely due to our feelings getting the mastery of us. We have a generous heart, but the lachrymal affection alluded to, was probably owing in part to another cause which we will here refer to. To give an aroma to the conversation in which he seemed to take scarcely the part even of a hearer, the grocer had passed the while in carving a large onion which lay in his ample palm. From time to time he would convey sections of the bulb on the point of his keen blade to his mouth. The subtle essence would no doubt navigate the ambient intervening air and get into our eyes. It was to this fact we attributed some share of the pathos we exhibited. In connection with this matter we might also say, that we were slightly disconcerted by the rapt intentness and great deliberation with which the man sliced the onion, seemingly at pains to bring each segment between exactly parallel lines. Our arder and buoyancy evoked no answering palpitation in our hearer's manner. He grinned once when we referred to the absence of guile in the agricultural character.

Our remarks were followed by a lengthy pause, during which we cooled down, and watched the grocer reach what may be termed the antarctic circle of the onion to his mouth, wipe his knife on his trousers, slowly crush the onion between his molars, and finally get off the barrel. He left us for a few minutes, and then returned with an iron spike weighing about four pounds, and about eight inches in length. He placed it in our hands. We scrutinized it a few seconds, and then a flood of early recollections burst in upon our pondering, and the fact was laid bare before us that this was a harrow-tooth. In the dental outfit of which this had formed a part there was now only a crevice. This harrow-tooth held, in the magnetic halo which encircled it, an interesting history, which the grocer related in a very cold-blooded manner. Here it is :—

On a cold morning in the month of February, 1884, a man supposed to be a York county granger, had called at the grocery on his way to the city and sold his only turkey. The bird was evidently of the sterner sex and of the game breed, that race so celebrated for bone, muscle, and fighting prowess. It seemed to be past the meridian of life, yet it weighed well, and as the grocer had bought it at a cent per pound below the current price, he was satisfied. Turkeys were scarce, yet time rolled on and this one stayed. The grocer at last marked the price down two cents, and pinned upon the carcass the date of birth, candidly acknowledging that the bird was an adult. The weather grew soft, the turkey became "high,' and the grocer, seeing no prospect of a customer, concluded to bring it to his own table. The carving of it turned out to be a job that the best surgical skill might not accomplish under an hour. The grocer toiled, the family waited in hungry suspense. One joint was met that the carver could not sunder, although the turkey had been boiled, out of respect to its age. At last the blade of the carving-knife snapped. The grocer investigated, and, reader, he found the harrow-tooth firmly embedded in the trunk.

The story was told. The grocer picked up another onion, we sidled to the door and gently let ourselves out We walked home in the gloaming, pensively trying to recover our shattered faith in the simplicity of the Canadian agriculturist.

MEETING OF THE TORONTO RETAILERS' ASSOCIATION.

The monthly meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association was held in their rooms in Shaftsbury Hall on Monday evening. The President, Mr. R. Mills was in the chair. The following other members were present: Messrs. Gibson, Thackray, Berwick, Barron, Saunders, McCulloch, Butcher, Calhoun, Lindsay, Dowsell, Roberts, Clarke F. Britton, Wm. Britton, Ratcliffe.

The minutes of last meeting were read and adopted. The roll-call found all the officers but the Treasurer present.

NEW MEMBERS.

Upon the motion of the Secretary, seconded by Mr. Clarke, the following grocers proposed at the last meeting were duly elected: Messrs. Patterson, St. Patrick st., McCleary, College st., Sinclair & Co., Baldwin st., and Graham, Spadina Avenue. The following new members were proposed by Mr. Thackray: Messrs. Blood, Church st., Rutter, College st., and Stewart, Gerrard st.; and these by Mr. Dowsell: Messrs. Munro, Wellesley st., and Noble, Wilton Avenue. Upon the motion of Mr. Thackray, seconded by Mr. McCulloch, the rules were suspended in the case of the first three, and a similar resolution was carried in the case of the last two upon the motion of Mr. Dowsell and Mr. Barron. The five proposed members were then elected. The secretary also nominated Mr. Armitage, of Shuter st., who will be a candidate for election at the next meeting.

THE MARKET BY-LAW

Mr. Gibson reported for the committee charged with the recommendation of an amendment to, and the more stringent enforcement of the market by-law. Mr. Gibson said that Mr. Awde had written to Ottawa for information concerning the legal procedure to be followed concerning certain products that will not hold weight. The reply from Ottawa stated that the question would be considered. Mr. Gibson felt sure of the sincerity of the Inspector in the interests of fair trade, as only last week the latter had seized a load of light weight potatoes, and had prosecuted the owner.

Mr. Thackray mentioned that he had a copy of the Weights and Measures Act to which reference was open to any of the members. In this measure the weight of a bushel is defined and also the size of a bag, but that the weight of the contents of a bag was not stated.

Mr. Clarke said that the Inspector had informed him that many peddlers would buy one license, and on the strength of that put two or three, or even more, wagons on the city streets. He thought the fee should be $100.

Mr. Butcher inquired, if as potatoes are lighter in winter than they are in autumn, it is legally necessary to have the contents of a bag weigh 90 pounds at all seasons. It appeared to be the sense of the meeting that it was.

Mr. Gibson said that the Inspector looked upon the law as requiring 90 pounds to the bag at all times. This view had been supported by more than one decision of the Police Magistrate, and the Inspector intended to proceed upon it. Mr. Gibson said everything should be sold by weight as in the Old Country, and in this opinion the informal expression of the meeting was with him.

Mr. Barron remarked that anyone who brought grain to the market would have to sell it by weight measure and not space measure.

Mr. F. Britton gave two instances of the 90 pound weight of bags being maintained by law. A year ago two grocers, one a member of this Association, offered potatoes to the public at less than car prices. A third grocer, realizing that he could get potatoes from one of these cheaper than elsewhere, went to one of them and bought ten bags. He found each bag from 10 to 15 pounds short of 90 pounds' weight. Upon this ground he was able to force the seller to take them back. Also when Mr. McNab was police magistrate, a man named Lewis was brought before him and had his potatoes confiscated because they were in bags not containing 90 lbs.

The President said that what the Association wanted was the posting of the weights, etc., at the market gate. The same committee will remain in communication with Mr. Awde.

CIVIL SERVICE DEBTORS.

The Secretary reported for the committee which had this matter in charge. The Secretary of the Bakers' Association had replied to the committee's overture for joint action by saying that the bakers would not meet until about the same time as the Grocers' Association would,and that he could not say whether the Bakers' Association would cooperate, but thought they would. The Tailors' Association had not yet sent a reply. The matter was left in the hands of the same committee to await the answers of trade associations communicated with.

THE HALL COMMITTEE.

Mr. President reported that the only place the committee had been able to find had been in Richmond St. Hall. There there were three available rooms. One was the room now held by the Young Liberal Conservative Association, which was expected soon to be vacant. This was on second floor, and could be had for $3.50 per month. Another was on the third floor and could be had for $2.25 a month. The third room is on the first floor where the Bakers' Association meets, which was $1.50 per month.

After some discussion, during which the present meeting place was criticised as noisy, on account of the street cars, and the turmoil in other rooms of the building; and the quieter situation, and the fact that all the rooms were carpeted in Richmond Hall, it was moved by Mr. Clarke, and seconded by Mr. Calhoun, that the Association take the third story room in Richmond Hall. This motion was carried on a vote of six to five. This not being considered nearly enough unanimous, the Chairman's declaration that the motion was carried was withheld, with the consent of the mover and seconder. It was then concluded that the members should examine Richmond Hall at the close of the meeting.

THE DELINQUENT LIST.

Mr. Thackray said that the three months during which he had been commissioned to keep a delinquent list were now up, and he appeared before them to recommend that the Association should empower him to continue for another three months, as he felt the scheme, itself, now made a plea for its continuance. He had listed 327 names, and had got an aggregate of above $6,000 of bad debts. The list had been, he knew, the means of many delinquents paying their debts, as grocers had notified debtors that their names would be sent. The Secretary further sought authority to extend the system, so as to embrace letters to be written and put at the service of members for dunning. As to the reporting feature of the scheme he believed that to be specially good, as he had been asked many times for reports of particular persons, their reasons for being delinquents, the extent to which they were, etc., etc. Many members had asked that letters be written to persons, stating that their names had been reported and would be listed if payment were not promptly made. He asked power of the Association to make this use of the scheme. As to new members, he added that more had been brought into the Association since the list started than were throughout all last year. He would, also, suggest that all lists be consolidated every three months, so that the annual may be simply four sheets.

Mr. Clarke moved, and Mr. Calhoun seconded, that the Treasurer be drawn upon for $50 to continue the delinquent list, and that the details proposed by the Secretary be settled by the Executive Committee. The motion was carried.

Mr. Thackray presented an account for $3.50 for stationery which was passed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Two communications were received from towns in British Columbia, asking for information of the constitution and workings of the Association. Another communication from Washington, Indiana, was sent by the Merchants' Protective Association, asking for particulars of the dead beat list, and stating that the difficulty they found in making one was that the people had legal redress if they were listed. The Secretary had answered these communications, giving the desired information, and had advised the Washington correspondent that if such details were taken into the Toronto scheme as appeared in the constitution of the Protective Association, that this Association would be likely to have to stand action for blackmail under our laws.

The Morse Soap Company had replied to the Association's information that their soap was being sold irregularly, that they were obliged for the notice and would immediately put a stop to the practice. The Secretary was instructed to acknowledge receipt of their letter and express the satisfaction of the Association with its contents.

A letter was read from the Acting President of the Hospital for sick children, acknowledging receipt of the Association's donation of $20.

A communication was read from the representative of the Mercantile Protective Method, which he is seeking to establish in Toronto. The representative, himself, was introduced to the meeting, but as the hour was late, he was asked to defer, till another meeting, the explanation of his scheme.

PEDDLERS' LICENSE.

Mr. F. Britton would have the Association test the right of peddlers to use more than one wagon, or more than one basket on the same license ; also, to sell from fictitious measures.

Mr. Saunders knew a peddler who had four baskets circulating on the one license.

Mr. Calhoun held that the license fee should bo doubled.

Mr. Gibson said he was sure the Council was favorable to the grocers' claims. Every peddler should wear a badge, numbered, and if found upon more than one wearer the law should be enforced. Also, no two or three persons should be allowed to work on the same wagon. The citizens are sick of the nuisance of peddlers calling upon them, and the Council could be induced, he thought, to see that there was nothing lax about the granting of licenses.

Mr. Berwick had chased a peddler from his door the other day, and then the fellow returned as soon as Mr. B. had gone down town.

Mr. Calhoun said he knew one peddler who would call and take orders for things he did not carry, but would engage to deliver them. This man keeps a store.

Mr. Gibson said the Association should first find out what it wanted and then detail committees of two members to wait on each alderman on the Markets and Health Committee.

Moved by Mr. Clarke, seconded by Mr. Calhoun, that the whole matter be left in hands of Executive Committee.—Carried.

It was also moved by Mr. Barron, and seconded by Mr. Berwick, that the Secretary communicate with some other Canadian and American cities, to learn their customs on the peddling question.—Carried.

The meeting was then adjounded, and the members repaired to Richmond Hall. After examining the three rooms, the members indicated by a show of hands that they were favorable to the room in the third story being engaged for next meeting at $2.25 per month.

W. Hodder, a Winnipeg grocer, has gone, leaving a number of creditors behind.

A dressed hog weighing 480 lbs. is one of the attractions of an Ingersoll butcher shop.

Mr. J. H. Baker, merchant, Oro Station, is about to return to Hawkstone, where he fomerly did business.

Mr. W. P. Hitchcock, merchant of Wingham, underwent a successful surgical operation performed by Dr. Wishart at the City Hospital, London, Ont.

Miss Madge Marshall, daughter of William Marshall, of the Hamilton vinegar works, was married on the 6th inst. to Chas. D. Wolfkill, of the Hamilton Bridge and Tool Company.

William Lapp, cheesemaker, Mariposa factory, died on Saturday, after an ilness of three weeks. Congestion of the lungs brought on by an attack of la grippe was the cause of death.

The employes of Mr. Jas. Lumbers' wholesale grocery, Toronto, presented Mr. Wm. Hastings, one of their number, with a handsome gold headed cane on the occasion of his retiring from active business life.

The Strathroy Board of Trade is agitating for the establishment of a canning factory in that town. It wants the Council to buy the Van Staden property and present it as a bonus to some enterprising cannery.

The other night the premises of John McFarlane, grocer, Fenelon Falls, were entered by burglars, and $156 in cash stolen, tax money left with him by residents of the township to be called for by the collector.

Mr. John Pennock, formerly head clerk in Messrs. Hamilton & Huether's general store, Walkerton, has accepted a good position offered him by Mr. John Hamilton in Gravenhurst.

James Lilley, grocer, Ross st, St Thomas, fell while descending from his hay loft on Friday evening and srruck on his head and shoulders on the stable floor, where he was found unconscious. Dr. Luton found him suffering from a concussion of the brain, which he regards, however, as not absolutely dangerous.

Mr. J. E. Snider, of Toronto, waited on Mr. M. Bowell and Mr. G. E. Foster the other day. He proposes to start a canned soup factory, and in order to render this practicable asks that the present duty of two cents a pound on raw tomatoes be increased, and that of twenty per cent. on imported canned soup be also increased.

Durham Creamery Company have decided to rent or sell their building and plant.

There is a grand opportunity for any man to get a good business in that line on reasonable terms, or if the farmers of the section study their own interest they can easily get the running of the concern in their own hands and make a good thing of it. Let them all pull together and make butter a specialty.

One afternoon last week a convention of the prominent egg buyers of Eastern Ontario and representatives of leading American houses was held at Brockville, when a number of questions affecting the trade were discussed.

For some time past Mr. Robt. T. Lidahan, a St. James street grocer, Montreal, has been suspecting one of his clerks, Alphonse Delorme, aged 28, of taking his patron's money. He gave the case to Detectives Bullen and Barret, and on Saturday the officers sent several persons to the store in question with marked money. The young man fell into the trap and in a very short time he was on his way to the police station.

The answer, published in our last issue, of the Montreal Board of Trade to the proposal of the dry goods section of the Toronto Board of Trade further to shorten the limit of credit, was discussed at a latter meeting of the Toronto dry goods section. A committee of that body consisting of Mr. S. Caldecott, Mr. J. Knox, Hamilton, J. S. McMaster, and Andrew Darling was appointed to look into details and canvass the trade. At the next meeting the question of composition and insurance of bankrupt stock will be taken up.

In a circular to the trade, Messrs. J. T. Young & Co. give some useful points on the preparation of butter for shipping. We here copy the hints and commend them to the consideration and practice of our readers:

"Sort your butter in, say three grades, Nos. 1, 2, and 3, then take some cheese cloth bleached, and nicely washed out. Do up each roll separately; do not spare the cloth, still, use no more than is required to cover the butter. Then do it up in baskets or small boxes, not having any one box weighing more than one hundred pounds—less than that is better. Use cotton not paper for the inside of the box. Mark the grade on the outside of the box or handle of the basket and ship per freight or express to us. By attending to these directions it will, we think, be money in your pocket."

At the Winnepig retail merchants' convention it was decided to make every effort to abolish the credit system and transact business purely on cash principles. Strong resolutions were also passed against the insurance companies now doing business in Manitoba, it being contended that they were making fortunes unjustly out of the merchants by charging exorbitant rates. It was decided to ask eastern companies not having representatives in Winnipeg to enter competition, and the merchants would pledge themselves to give competing companies all their risks. If no competitors can be found it is proposed to establish a co-operative company. A committee was appointed to wait on the legislature asking for legislation to regulate insurance companies, and also to abolish the obnoxious exemption Act, which, several speakers alleged, made dead beats of debtors. The convention adjourned to reassemble next September.

The Barnum Wire and Iron Works Co., Walkerville, have now in the press a General Catalogue, which will be ready for distribution among the trade by the tenth of April. The work is to be on a magnificent scale, containing an immense amount of matter that is available now to the trade only by postal enquiry, or by reference to many sources. It is expected to be the largest catalogue volume yet issued, and will embrace lines of architectural goods, of iron work, and hardware articles. A copy will be sent to every hardware dealer. If any dealer has been missed in the distribution, all he has to do is to notify the firm of the fact and he will be furnished with a copy. The Barnum Wire and Iron Works Co., are now prepared to fill orders for screen doors and spring hinges, as they are proprietors of the latest patents for improved makes. They invite correspondence.

"GOING ON THE ROAD."

At this time of the year many young men are preparing to make their maiden commercial trip, and the ambitious young man, especially he who chooses a commercial life, sooner or later desires to go "on the road."

It would be well for our young friends to bear in mind on this their first trip that to be a successful traveller requires special qualities; to sell a sufficient number of goods to make a trip pay means hard work with innumerable perplexities. Good salesmen invariably command high salaries, which means years of experience; not an occasional trip at convenient intervals, but with the important requisites, sticking to business and perseverence.

The first venture is always a memorable one. If a young man, on his return, after an absence of six weeks, was sent by his employer over the same territory, without giving him time to vent his feeling and relate successes and failures, he would immediately give up and think his lot almost unbearable.

The first impression, for a time is pleasant, but somewhat troublesome to the novice, meeting as he does new faces, treated, to be sure, as a gentleman, but with a coldness always evident in new acquaintances. Again, though this young man has qualities which may insure his ultimate success, the fact that he is meeting those to whom in the future he is to sell goods, and must, therefore, make a good impression, keeps his mental faculties working vigorously, expanding all his powers, at the same time laying a foundation for his second trip.

Traveling men may be classified, the high-salaried, men of experience, these, of course, are experts in their lines, receiving orders regulated largely by the demand.

The second class, known as the "boys," are the lively element. "Good fellows," never lacking friends, of course, at them much of the approbium is cast; naturally they need watching, and pushing them occasionally aids in holding trade, and aggressive competition keeping them wide-awake.

The so-called striplings belong to the next class, known as the young men. Many a sermon has been well-directed to these aspiring youths, who need about as much energy to avoid temptation as they do to dispose of goods. Because a few who somewhat vilify their lives travelling, it has caused such expressions as "Beware of traveling men." Those are not, however, the successful salesmen, nor, as a rule, do they represent first-class houses.

Look out for the commercial traveler who does not adhere to all commandments essential to an upright life. The ambitious young man, then, who keeps in mind a few simple requirements to be known as a gentleman, will never "lose his grip," and in a short time will be among those who are to figure largely as the successful American merchants.—American Merchant.

THE BADGEROW-FALCONER VINEGAR CO.

So much care being required in the manufacture of vinegar, it is of the greatest importance to the consuming public, that they shall know by whom such an article is made and that the manufacturers are thoroughly reputable and reliable. With the assistance of efficient workmen, thoroughly practised in the latest developements of science and chemistry, as applied to the production of choice and high-class vinegar, the Badgerow-Falconer Bonded Vinegar Manufacturing Company are able to put upon the market fine and high-class grades of vinegars, guaranteed wholesome in every respect and free from all foreign acids. They are able to manufacture some of the finest vinegar ever offered to the public. It is admitted that The Badgerow-Falconer Co.'s vinegars are very largely used for pickling purposes, as they put up some special grades for that trade. Having been made from the best quality of spirits only, no acids used, with the most scrupulous care and cleanliness, manufactured in bond, and put up under the personal supervision of an Excise officer, resident on their works, it cheerfully invites comparison with other brands. They are dealers and manufacturers of the following grades of vinegars: Bordeaux, Tarragona, Triple, Patra Pickling Honey, Fruit, Malt, Cider, Raspberry, and their celebrated Crystal Brands of White Wine, Toilet and Methylated Spirits, also sell the John O'Groat Bottled Malt, for which there is a constantly increasing demand.

Mr. A. H. Badgerow, the senior partner of the firm, is a gentleman of good sound business integrity and push, and is well known. Mr. Falconer, who travels the road himself, is very well known to the business public, having travelled for a number of years. Together, they are a team pretty hard to beat. The firm are now actively engaged enlarging their works.

The Inland Revenue Department has recently issued bulletin of about thirty pages which is devoted exclusively to the subject of baking powder and which shows that the majority of the goods in the market are adulterated and unfit for use. Prof. A. McGill, who has had charge of this important work for the Government, says that "imperial baking power is an excellent baking powder." A word to the sensible housekeeper should be suffcieut.

GROCERIES.

The volume of trade done during the week has been neither below nor above the usual average for this season. The interest in sugar has not been exhibited so strongly as a week ago, and the impetus it gave to other lines has been replaced by only a fair business in those for their own sake. Payments have as a rule been promptly met, and taken as a whole the week deserves a very good report.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been an increased demand. Prices are very firm, and as a good business for the next two months is seasonable, it is expected that prices will hold or perhaps gain. There are no old goods now to derange prices. A somewhat noticeable feature in the trade in canned food products latterly is a switching off from "cheap" stuff to the better class of goods by retailers at various points. This change is said to be particularly prominent in purchases of salmon, and remarkable also in the case of tomatoes and corn. In point of fact, reputable goods seem to be taken at fair prices, while the hardest kind of bargaining is resorted to where stock of doubtful merit may be involved. Contracts now making for new goods for forward delivery are confined exclusively to those put up by packers of highest reputation, who can be depended upon to supply an article that buyer's label may go upon with safety, and the indications are that the line will be drawn closer this year than ever before at salmon, vegetables, fruits, etc., packed under brands that have lost prestige through carelessness, or something worse, during the past season. This is certainly the case as far as the leading local jobbers are concerned, and indications are not wanting of a similar disposition prevailing in other localities.

COFFEES.

The scarcity of Rios in the country, and the difficulties yet in the way of trade with Brazil, make prices strong. Rio is now 22 to 23c. If the Brazilian government levies an export duty of 4c. per lb., as has been expected, prices will, of course, go up farther. In New York the opinion seems to be that shipments will not be forwarded freely at present. The Java market is also strong, and prices are fixed at 26 to 27c. Mochas are also very firm, ranging from 32 to 35c. The situation of all coffees is very strong.

DRIED FRUIT.

Prunes have made no movement, and quote at the prices reported last week, viz., 4¾c. in hogsheads, 6 to 6¼c. for U Sphinxes, and 7½c. for B's. Currants are strong at 5½ to 5¾c. in barrels, and 5¾ to 6c. in half-barrels. Their tendeney is upward. The same is true of all raisins. Off-stalk Valencias are 7¼ to 7½c., and layers are 9 to 9½c. Sultanas are 11 to 12c. There are no Malagas, or so very few that they may be neglected in quotations. Dates, Eleme and natural figs have not changed. The prices are not apt to rise with the growing scarcity, because as the stock becomes old it is apt to deteriorate in such goods.

SUGAR.

Prices are stiffening. The lowest for yellows in this city is now 5½, and some houses have put prices up to 5¾. Granulated is 7¼c. In all outside markets there has been an advance. The cane crop is said to be short, and as this is the kind we mainly refine here, we are apt to feel that shortage in firmer prices. The ruling feature of the market continues to be the lack of low-grade raws. The buying of the week has been short of what it was immediately after the advance. This may be owing to mistrust in the strength of present prices, or it may be a consequence of a scarcity of money.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

This week's trade shows no variation from that of last week. The prices are the same, and the amount of buying done is about equal for each week. Syrups still run from 52 to 65c. Molasses are 35c. in tierces and puncheons, 43 to 45c. in barrels and half-barrels. What tended to cheapen prices sometime was the laxity of Customs officers in allowing some under-standard goods to get through. This has been followed by a more vigilant care on their part, and now only the very best can get across the customs line. This keeps prices high.

TEAS.

Since the interest in sugar has waned, travellers are giving attention largely to tea

as a specialty, and consequently a very good business has been lately done in China and Japan stocks. The prices of these are fairly firm. Low greens are very scarce. The local demand for Indian teas continues light. In London the supply was again heavy. The market remains without alteration except perhaps medium broken Pekoes and Pekoes, which are rather easier. Ceylons, not much business has been done in these, but enquiry is on the increase. In London sales were rather lighter, but there has been no improvement in the demand, although finest and choice grades show unusually good value. Latest advices state that the drought is becoming very serious in some parts, and has interfered considerably with the tea flushing, and it is probable, therefore, that the out-turn for some time will be smaller than anticipated.

CRANBERRIES.

The stock on the market is now exceedingly light. The frozen fruit is of course not in demand, and was at all events, all run off in February. Barrels of Cape Cod are $15, and crates are $6. About all that are to be had are in crates.

FISH.

The market is very dull, and in that respect is more notable than in any former Lenten season. The latest arrivals are sea-herring, which are $1.60 per hundred by count, and rather weak. White fish are 7c.; salmon are $12 per barrel ; small cod are 5c. per pound ; steak cod are 7½c.; haddock are 5½ to 6c.; pike are 4½c.; pickerel are 6½c.; flounders are 5c.; tulepes are 7c.; Labrador herring are $5 to $5.50 per barrel,and $3.25 to $3.75 per half-barrel ; Shore herring are $4 per barrel, and $2.25 per half-barrel ; boneless cod are 6 to 8c. per pound ; boneless fish are 6c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Valencia oranges run from $4.50 to $5. Florida russets are $3.50 to $3.75, and fancy brights are $3.75 to $4. Messinas are $3 to $3.25. California navels are $5 to $5.50, and Washington navels are $6 to $6.25. Mediterranean sweets are $4.25. Tangerine oranges are up to $5 and $5.50. Lemons are back to their normal prices since the dissappearance of the influenza. Messinas and Palermos are $4 to $4.50 in 200's, and $3.50 to $4.50 in 360's. Cuccios are $5 to $5.50 and are very scarce. Bananas are $2 to $2.50 for seconds, and $3 to $3.50 for firsts. Sweet potatoes are $6 to $7. Pine apples are $4 to $4.25 per dozen. Bermuda tomatoes are $1.75 per crate, and grape fruit is $4.50 per box. Malaga grapes are done.

DRY GOODS.

There has been marked improvement in the business done since the millinery openings. Retailers have done more buying this week than they have in any other week of the year. Spring stocks have been reinforced very generally, but the buying has been cautious. A want of money is felt, and that is now the only check on business. We are unable to say on our way to press what has been the result of the conference of grey cotton makers held on Wednesday. Raw cotton went up on Monday from 11⅞ to 12c. There is a very good outlook for a fair spring trade in general dry goods.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

Dairy tub has settled back from the point it got last week. The top figure now is 18c. and prices run below this down to 14c. This weakening in prices is due to the large amount put on the market, and of the increase in the supply of large dairy rolls. These latter are at better prices, bringing 16 to 18c. on the street, and 13 to 15c. in commission lots. Their character is improving, and the quantity still keeps up to the demand. Pound rolls are in chief favor with consumers. They are felt to be rather scarce, Prime on the street being 20 to 25c. and in large lots 18 to 20c. Creamery tub brings 20 to 22c. Butter of the store pack is 8 to 13c. In the latter class business is still dull, as there is no demand. It continues to be a feature of the market that as to quantity the demand is satisfied, but for quality there is strong call. Poor butter stands little chance of purchase on this market.

Cheese has undergone no fluctuation, at all events the stock of it that is in wholesalers' hands. The price of early summer make is 8½ to 9½c. and early autumn cheese is 10½ to 11c. The strength of the English market favors the expectation that the manufacturers control the situation, that is, if wholesale stocks do not hold out.

SALT.

The salt market, for the week, is not so active. The prices are the same as those of last week. The following are the prices reported by the Toronto salt works for the week :— 1 car, barrel salt, $1.37 ; 1 car, sack salt 70c.; 1 car, dairy, $1.20. Smaller quantities have sold at ¼s 45c.; sacks, 85c.; barrels, $1.45.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

APPLES—Are evidently very scarce. The supply at other points throughout the country is mostly taken up. In car lots they bring 2.75 to $3, for ordinary, and very choice are worth $3 to 3.75. Store lots run from 3.50 up to 4.50.

BEANS—Hand-picked in small quantities find fair sale at $1.50 to 1.75. Large lots are $1.40 to 1.50. The demand is not specially active, but is better than it has been for some time.

DRIED APPLES—There is a full market and prices are not improving. Buyers pay 4½c., and sell for 5c. The fact that fresh apples are about done should raise prices, but there seems to be a very general disposition to sell now to catch the spring demand.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Run from 8 to 9½c., the last cent covering the range in which prices of the new crop play. An improved demand is noticeable.

EGGS—The market has been relieved of nearly all the limed eggs it carried. These went at 9 to 12c., the latter price being favored by a temporary check in the supply of fresh. Fresh are down to 14c., which is rather firm, and 16 to 18 are paid on the street for farmers' baskets of strictly new laid.

HAY—The supply continues to be regular and very plentiful, in fact, rather ahead of than behind the demand. Farmers' loads bring on the street 11 to $12 for No. 1, and 7 to $9 for No. 2. Pressed hay is 9 to $9.50 for No. 1, and $6.50 to $7 for No. 2.

HIDES—The dull weather and bad roads have made business flat. Cured are still 4¾c., and butchers' buffs are 4c. for No. 1, 3c. for No. 2, and 2c. for No. 3.

HONEY—The market is dull, but prices do not vary. Good clear is yet 11½ to 13c., and comb is 12 to 14c.

HOPS—Yearlings are 10 to 12c., and new are 12 to 15c. There is no special call to develop prices.

OATS—Loads on the street go from 30½ to 31c., and car-lots are 29 to 30c. The market is kept well-stocked.

ONIONS — The improved market has brought in supplies, and prices are easier, running now from $2 to $3. The demand, however, has not yet been overtaken, and these prices are strong.

POTATOES—Car-lots continue to stand at 55c. There seems no eagerness either to buy or sell. In store-lots prices are 60 to 65c.

POULTRY—There is scarcely enough business done to be made the basis of a quotation, as the supply is so low that the prices paid are scarcely normal. Turkeys are 12½c. in commission houses, and 13 to 14c. on street. Geese are 8½ to 9c. Chickens are 60 to 70c. in large lots, and 70 to 90c. on street.

SEEDS—Red clover is $3.25 to $3.40. Alsike now bears rather a conjectural or nominal quotation of $4.50 to $5.50, the export season being over, and prices not being determined by business. Timothy is $1.25 to $1.60. These are the prices wholesalers here pay.

SKINS—Sheep yet command $1.25 to $1.50, only A 1 bringing the upper price. Calf are 6c. for No. 1, and 5c. for No. 2.

STRAW—Sheaves are down to $6 and $7 and light pressed is $5 to $6 on the track. There is a liberal supply.

TALLOW—Rough is 1¼ to 2c. Rendered is 5 to 5½c.

WOOL—Fleeces are 22c., but none have been bought for some time. Pulled wool of the lowest class is 24c. ; super is 25 to 26c., and extra super is 30c.

PROVISIONS.

BACON—Long clear is 7¼ to 7½c, according to qnality. Roll is 8½c. Breakfast is 10 to 11c.

HAMS—Green are 10c. ; smoked are 11c.

LARD—Canadian lard is 8½c in tubs, and 9c. in pails. American is 8c in tubs, and 8½c in pails.

MESS PORK—Heavy is $13.50. Family mess is $14.

DRESSED HOGS—The arrivals have fallen off somewhat. Heavy weights bring $5.25 to $5.50. Select light weights run to $5.90.

MONTREAL

MONTREAL MARKETS.

MARCH 13, 1890.

GROCERIES.

There is no new feature in groceries since last report, trade continuing fair and outlook encouraging. The trade in fancy groceries the past season has been small compared with previous years. Payments are only fair.

SUGARS.

Granulated sugar remains unchanged, though an advance of ⅛c. is looked for to-morrow. One manufacturer here is holding at ⅛c. higher than quoted. Yellow sugar market is decidedly firm at the advanced prices and very scarce. Market for raw continues firm. Beet has advanced in New York with strong market. Quotations are : granulated 7 to 7¼c., yellows 5½ to 6c.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is an active demand for syrups at the adyanced prices. 3¾ to 4¾c. Barbado molasses continue firm at 45c. for puncheons and 48½c. for bbls. A lot of new Barbadoes is expected to arrive by New York in a few days. The quotation will probably be 41c. Porto Rico, in bbls. 40c.

TEAS

There can be nothing new said of teas except the advance in dust, the lowest price quoted being 6c. The advance in greens noted in our last has been maintained.

COFFEE.

Coffee continues to move off quietly, with advances in Maracaibo and Ceylon. Quotations are : Mocha 28 to 30c.; Java 24 to 29c.; Jamaica 18 to 22c.; Rio 18 to 20c.; Plantation Ceylon 20 to 27c.; Maracaibo 23 to 29c.

DRIED FRUITS.

There has been a little more activity in dried fruit the past week particulary in currants and Valencias raisins, the latter having advanced to 7¼ to 7¾c. for good fruit, layers 8½ to 9c. London layers $3 to $3.25. Sutanas firm at 10 to 13c. with advancing market. Currants exceedingly firm at 5½ to 6c. and very scarce, a still further advance is looked for. Vostizza, 7c. in cases. Bordeau prunes 4 to 4½. Dates 5¼c. Good Eleme figs 10 to 14c. Evaporated apples 12c. per lb., last year's 10c., dried 6½.

NUTS.

Nuts continue to move off quietly. Taragona almonds, 14c. ; Ivica 12c. ; Pecans 12 to 12½c. with short crop and slow market; Brazil nuts 11c. ; Grenoble walnuts 15 to 15½c. and French 10c. ; Filberts firm at 10c. for Sicily and 9½c. for Turkey; green peanuts 8½ to 9c.

RICE.

Following are quotations : Mount Royal Mills, A and B. $3.60 to $3.75 per 100 lbs. ; Patras 4½ to 5c. and Japan 4 to 4½c.

CANNED GOODS.

During the past week canned goods have moved off fairly well. There has been a big demand for corn and tomatoes, stocks of the latter being in about one buyer's hands. Prices remain as follows : Corn $1.20; marrowfat peas $1.15; sweat peas $1.25; tomatoes $1.20; stringless beans 85c. ; butter beans 90c. ; apples, 3 lb., $1.05, per gal. $2.35; pineapples $2.25 to $2.40; strawberries $2.35 to $2.50; peaches $2.15 to $2.25; plums $1.75 to $2; peas $2 to $2.10; salmon continues firm at $1.70; lobsters are about out of the market, and are quoted at $7 to $7.25; sardines firm at the recent advance; mackerel $5.70 to $5.80.

FISH.

In fish it is hardly worth while quoting prices, as the stocks are all in retailers' hands.

GREEN FRUIT.

Following are to-day's quotations: Valencia oranges, $4.25 per case; Messinas, $2.25 per box; Messina blood, $4.50 per box; Floridas, from $3.85 to $4 per box; California, $5.50 box. Lemons—Messina, 360's $2.75 to $3.25 per box; ditto, 300's, $3.25 to $3.75 per box. Bananas, $3.50 per bunch. Pineapples, $5 per doz. Sweet potatoes, $6 per brl. Cranberries, bushel crates, $6. Florida tomatoes, $1.10 per box. Strawberries, 40c. per quart. Spanish onions, $1.50 crate. Apples, from $2.75 to 4.50 per bbl., as to quality.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

This fish is packed in pound cartoons, prepared in such a manner as to retain exact flavor of the fish, and guaranteed to keep nice a year. Our grocers who handle fine goods, say this is the nicest fish, and the only safe way of handling prepared cod. Try sample case of 40 pound cartoons—you with be satisfied.

$1.05; No. 2 ditto, $1.03; Peas, per 66 lbs., 66 to 68c.; Oats, 31 to 32c.; Corn, in bond, 35c. Barley, 40c.

FLOUR—The market remains dull and without change. No sales were reported on 'Change to-day. We quote: Patent Winter, $4.75 to 5.00; Patent Spring, $4.75 to 5.00; Straight Roller, $4.50 to 4.75; Extra, $4.15 to 4.30; Superfine, $3.00 to 3.75; City Strong Bakers', $5.80 to 5.90; Strong Bakers' $4.25 to 4.60; Superfine, bags, $1.50 to 1.75; Extra, bags, $1.75 to 2.00.

EGGS.

Business is decidely dull, and the volume of business in eggs and everything else is very small. We quote at 17c. to 18c. for fresh laid.

PROVISIONS.

The following are the quotations: Canada short cut $14.50 to $15; Western short cut $13 to $13.50; Western mess $12 to $13.25; hams, city cured, 11½ to 12½c.; lard, 8¼ to 8¾c.; bacon 12 to 13c.; dressed hogs $5.70 to $6; pressed hogs, light, in jobbing lots, $6.10 to $6.25.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

CHEESE—The few holders here are firm, and they appear to have a right to be, for the cheese they hold are fine, and there are not too many of them. They want a quarter more for quotations for really fine stock. We quote: finest 9⅝ to 10½c., good to fine 9¼ to 9½c., medium 8½ to 9c.

BUTTER—Dull and featureless as ever. Finest creamery, 23 to 24c; finest Townships, 19 to 21c.; fair to fine, 13 to 16c.; Morrisburg, 13 to 17c.; Western, 11 to 16c.; rolls, 14 to 17c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

MONTREAL RETAIL GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

The regular monthly meeting of the Montreal Retail Grocers' Association was held in their hall last Thursday evening, at which there was a good attendance, President Fraser in the chair.

Secretary Fournier read minutes of the last meeting, which were confirmed.

The Treasurer's statement was presented, a very satisfactory one indeed, which showed a balance in hand of $1,094.64.

Mr. A. Lapierre, proposed by Mr. Soucy, was elected a member of the Association.

It was moved by Mr. O'Shaughnessy, seconded by Mr. Fournier—That article 17 of By-laws be amended by adding after the words "the nomination of office-bearers will take place at the regular monthly meeting in September" and at the end of Article the following: "No member shall be eligible for election or entitled to vote, unless his past and present dues are paid in full." The motion was carried.

The Secretary then read a communication from the Treasurer, asking that his resignation be accepted. It was left to the Chairman to see Mr. Vallieres and try to have him reconsider the matter.

Mr. Fraser reported on behalf of the committee appointed to secure a new place of meeting that they had not found a suitable place as yet, but as the committee were to meet next week it would be settled then as also the appointing of a paid Secretary.

Under the head of "new business" various topics of interest to the trade were discussed, among which was the action of the city council in renting booths at the several city markets, for the sale of groceries, at the meagre rental of $2 per week. It was felt that some action should be taken in the matter but was left over for the next meeting.

The President in a few well-chosen remarks introduced THE GROCER to the Association, and explained that as it was the only exclusive grocers' journal in Canada it should have the hearty support of not only the members of the Association but of the trade at large. As for himself he read each number with interest, finding therein information of great value to him, particularly in the reports of what the Toronto and other associations were doing. As THE GROCER was now a Montreal as well as a Toronto paper, and as full reports would be published of the doings of their Association each month, he again asked those present to lend their aid in furthering the interests of THE GROCER.

The meeting then adjourned.

Mr. F. W. Hudson, Manufacturers' agent, Toronto, was in Montreal last week and favored THE GROCER with a call.

Turner, Rose & Co., have just received a fresh stock of the well known Calffornia fruits put up by the Petaluma Packing Co.

Mr. J. H. Wethey, St. Catharines, manufacturer of the well-known condensed mince-meat was in Montreal last week, and reports sales good.

Mr. S. B. Hopkins, representing Walter Baker & Co., Dorchester, Mass., the well known cocoa and chocolate manufacturers, is now on his regular Canadian tour, and spent a few days in Montreal this week.

Messrs. Howard Ransom, Geo. E. Forbes, Wm. G. Forbes, and Howard Henry Ransom have filed a notice of partnership as importers and wholesale grocers in this city under the name of Ransom, Forbes & Co.

A representative of the Franco-American Food Company is here from New York, and was serving out French soups, to visitors, at Fraser & Viger's. He will continue this ingenious advertisement of his company's wares for a few days.

Unlike daily papers and general periodicals, this paper places advertisements before the eyes of just that portion of the industries most calculated to avail themselves of the announcements therein, and, therefore is of more value to the Trade than any paper published in this or other worlds.

Fire broke out last Thursday morning in the Canada Sugar Refinery on St. Patrick street. The blaze was first noticed in one of the boiler-rooms, and the local brigade tried to check it with three streams. When the city brigade arrived all the boiler-houses, an area of about 200 feet square, were ablaze. Eight streams were laid on, but the engines coming out on the second alarm were not called upon. The principal anxiety was to keep the flames back from the refinery proper. But the fire wall between the engine-rooms and the main building was proof. The smoke was intense and nearly suffocating, as the sugar bags which hung up above the boiler-rooms caught fire. The great extent of the fire caused considerable shifting and some delays, but the brigade worked well and kept the fire from breaking through the roofs and spreading in spite of the division wall. The fire lurked a long time in the woodwork under the corrugated iron covering of the roofs, but with the good pressure from the hydrants and considerable flooding, after an hour's work, the blaze was got under control. The damage is estimated variously, but it will hardly exceed $5,000.

TRADE SALES.

Suckling, Cassidy & Co. advertise a trade sale of general dry goods, clothing, boots and shoes, etc., etc., for 18th and 19th insts.

The sale of the men's furnishings stock of Boyd & Son, of London, took place on Friday. The London stock was sold to J. Hamilton at 56½ cents and the Petrolea stock to B. W. Greer at 53 cents.

Messrs. Suckling, Cassidy & Co. will sell at their warerooms in this city on Tuesday the 18th inst., the following stock of D. N. Hogg & Co., Stratford. General dry goods, carpets, curtains, knitted woollens, mantles, millinery, silks, plushes, ribbons, dress goods, lace, gloves, shop furniture, etc., the whole amounting to $15,028.27. The terms require one-fourth cash, ten per cent. to be deposited at the time of sale, the remainder to be paid in two and four months, with interest at 7 per cent. on satisfactory paper.

On the same day, at the same place, the same auctioneers will offer the stock of J. D. Tait, St. Catharines, amounting to $50,-181.82. The business was run under the name of "The Syndicate." The contents of the stock are men's furnishings, small ware, silks, satins, laces, ladies' furnishings, gloves, hosiery, underwear, mantles, staple dry goods, dress goods, carpets, shop furniture. One fourth is to be paid down, the rest in three, six, and nine months, at 7 per cent. on secured paper. A deposit of 10 per cent. must be made at time of sale

The general stock of dry goods, groceries, crockery, glassware, etc., amounting to $1,150, the property of the late J. C. Scott, Beeton, will be sold by his executors in that town on Tuesday the 18th inst. The terms are 10 per cent. at time of sale, and the remainder in ten days or at time of delivery of stock.

CORN AND PORK.

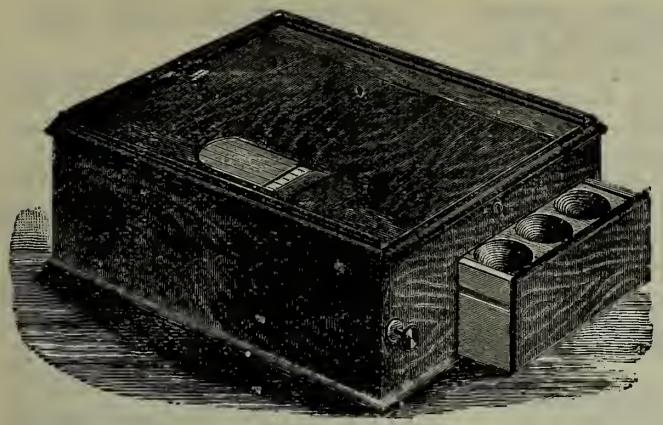
In a letter to the Lindsay Warder, Mr. Thomas Fee writes as follows upon the above subject :

As there is so much talk in Parliament of importing free corn and the great profits in raising pork, I will give you a table by which farmers can find out whether it is profitable to feed corn or not. According to the many experiments, official and otherwise, that have been made, one bushel of corn will produce 8 2-5th lb of pork or one pound of pork the product of 6 2-3rd lb. of corn. If corn was worth 50 cts. per bushel and pork 5 cts. per pound it would be more profitable to sell the corn, but if corn was only worth 40 cts. and pork 6 cts. per lb. it would be more profitable to reduce the corn to pork. Here is a rule to find out which way is most profitable to dispose of your corn. Divide the price, say 20 cts. of a bushel of corn by 8-40, the number of pounds of pork produced by a bushel of corn and the quotient will be the answer 2 cents 38-100. Now suppose you want to buy corn to make pork, it selling at 6½c. per lb. and wanted to know how much you could afford to pay per bushel, multiply 6½c. by 8-40, the number of pounds of pork produced by one bushel and 54 cts. 6-100 per bushel. By this rule you can find out whether it would pay to buy corn to make pork when you know the price of corn and pork.

NOTES.

Simmons & Co., of Colborne, have shipped during the past six weeks thirteen cars of apples to England.

Mr. E. S. Kilgour, who has been travelling for John Davis & Co., Detroit, is now on the road for the Cowan Chocolate and Cocoa Co.



Mr. David N. Hogg, of Stratford, dry goods, who recently assigned, has decided to leave for the Western States, and his stock, invoiced at $15,028.27, is advertised to be sold.

A few weeks ago, Mr. J. Parkinson, Exeter, a prominent business man of that place, took a pleasure trip up north in the neighborhood of North Bay. In talking over the pleasant time he spent while there, he has much to say about the good times of the country. He believes every man in that section is coining money. He even went as far as to say that with two valises full of goods he could pay expenses, as everything is cash.

Mr. Robt. Morrison, who keeps a general store, and I, had it out. He says :—"The butter market is no good for the country merchant, and any person that says trade is good, or fair, is saying what is not true. I have been in business thirty-three years, and never before was trade so dull. Travelling tinkers sell our country customers what little they are buying this year, and we are existing on what we made years ago, and are keeping store now to oblige a few of our old stand-byes. Even through the Russian plague, years ago, we did a better business than we do to-day."

OUR LOBSTERS AND MACKEREL.

With regard to lobster fishing, Lieut. Gordon, R. N., commander of the fisheries protective fleet, makes the following recommendations:

1. That the packing season in the gulf of St. Lawrence close on the 5th July. 2. That every fisherman's buoy, be marked with a registered number, register to be kept with the nearest custom house of fishery officer : all unnumbered buoys to be confiscated. 3. That the culture of lobsters be undertaken as soon as possible, the packers to save all the ova. 4. That the system of nurseries, or closed areas, be adopted for the waters of the gulf of St. Lawrence. If these measures are adopted he believes that in a short time our lobster fishery will show marked improvement and become again one of our most valuable shore fisheries.

He reports that the United States mackerel fleet during the season of 1889 consisted of 62 vessels, their catch amounting to 6,775 barrels from our water, as compared with 10,418 barrels in 1888. In Canada the fishing has remained about the same as last year, and the prospects are encouraging to this extent, that large quantities of small fish have been seen during the latter part of the season, which, if not destroyed in purse seines before reaching merchantable age, will go a long way towards restoring our fishery to its normal condition of late years. The habits of the fish seem to have changed completely. They no longer herd in large schools and play about on the surface as they feed, but small quantities of fish are found almost everywhere. The apparent change in the habits of the fish, Mr. Gordon believes, is largely due to their diminished numbers, which would naturally make them more timid. The change, however, is not without its advantage, as it tells largely in favor of Canadian methods of fishing, the success of the hook-and-line fishing and the boat fishing inshore being quite marked during the past season. The United States government, recognizing the importance of this fishery, has legislated very effectively to prohibit the use of the purse seine in their southern waters during the season when the mackerel are about to spawn, the law being that no mackerel caught in a purse seine between the first day of January and the first day of June in each year shall be permitted to be landed in the United States, thus using the machinery of the customs department to enforce a law for the protection of deep sea fish on the high seas.

A COLLECTION LAW.

PORT HOPE, March 10, 1890.

TO EDITOR CANADIAN GROCER:

DEAR SIR,—I have just finished reading the article in your issue March 7th on "A Proposed Collection Law," and must say that "Country Merchant" deserves the thanks of all retail merchants for his admirable and, I think, practical suggestions.

Now, in order to carry out some such law as is laid down in his letters, one or two schemes came to my mind. Firstly, Let a merchant in every town or village send a copy of "Country Merchant's" letter to his representative in the Legislature, with a remark or two respecting the advisability of having the law amended to fit, with suggestions thrown out by "C. M.," and, secondly, by petition. It would not be a very great task to have every merchant in Ontario sign a petition to have the views of "C. M." become law. I will guarantee to get every, or nearly every, merchant's signature in the town, and am willing to bear my portion of any expense that might be incurred.

Now, this thing is worth paying a lot of attention, and now is the time to strike when, through your valuable paper the idea is becoming circulated and known.

Trusting to hear of something coming out of this agitation,

I am, yours, etc.,

HOPE.

THE CANNED GOODS LAW.

Her Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and House of Commons of Canada, enacts as follows:—

In this Act the expression "package" means every can, tin or package in which articles or goods are put up for sale, and which are closed by being hermetically sealed. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 1.

Except in the case of goods packed previously to July 20, 1885, every package of canned goods sold or offered for sale in Canada, for consumption therein, shall have attached thereto or imprinted thereon a label or stamp, setting forth in legible characters the name and address of the person, firm or company by whom the same was packed, or of the dealer who sells the same or offers it for sale.

Every such package containing goods prepared from products which have been dried previously to being so prepared, shall, in addition, be labelled or stamped with the word "soaked," which word shall be plainly printed diagonally across the face of the label in large, legible type at least half an inch in height and three-eighths of an inch in width.

Every person who sells or offers for sale any such goods in violation of any provision of this section shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, for a first offence incur a penalty of two dollars for each such package, and for a subsequent offence a penalty not exceeding twenty dollars and not less than four dollars for each such package in respect of which any such provision has been violated. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 2.

Every person who places on any package any label, brand or mark which falsely represents the quantity or weight of the contents of such package, shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, incur a penalty of two dollars for each package on which the quantity or weight is so falsely represented; provided always, that a variation under the rate of three per cent. shall not be deemed a violation of the provisions of this section. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 3.

Every person who places on any package any label, brand or mark which falsely represents the date when the article or goods contained therein were packed, shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, incur a penalty of two dollars for each package on which such date is falsely represented. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 4.

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC ANALYST,

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

GENTLEMEN,—I have personally taken samples from a large stock of your Granulated Sugar, "REDPATH" brand, and carefully tested them by the Polariscope, and I find these samples to be as near to absolute purity as can be obtained by any process of Sugar-Refining.

The test by the Polariscope showed in yesterday s yield 99·90 per cent. of Pure Cane Sugar, which may be considered commercially as ABSOLUTELY PURE SUGAR.

JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, P.L.D., D.C.L., F.C.S.,

Public Analyst for the District of Montreal, and Professor of Chemistry.

CHEMICAL LABORATORY, MEDICAL FACULTY, MCGILL UNIVERSITY.

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Company:

GENTLEMEN,—I have taken and tested a sample of your "EXTRA GRANULATED" Sugar, and find that it yielded 99·88 per cent. of Pure Sugar It is practically as pure and good a Sugar as can be manufactured.

Yours truly,

G. P. GIRDWOOD.

OUR BUYER,

Who has just returned from the Potteries of England and Germany, has contracted for a LIMITED NUMBER of Granite and Printed Ware assortments, which the Trade would do well to inspect. These goods must be ordered at once, in order to derive the advantages from old prices as Crockery has already entered upon a rapid increase.

EMBARRASSMENTS.

Burt Bros., dry goods merchants, Listowel, are seeking to effect a compromise at 70 cents on the dollar, 5 cents cash and 65 cents secured in three, six and nine months. The liabilities are about $10,000, owing principally to Toronto houses. The firm claims assets of $13,000.

Mr. J. T. Barrett, general dry goods dealer, Tilsonburg, findsit necessary to make an assignment with liabilities of $22,000, although a few months ago he had an apparent surplus of $4,400. The assets are within a couple of thousand dollars of the liabilities, and the estate is likely to prove a a remunerative one.

W. F. H. Thompson, dry goods merchant, Penetang, has met his creditors. His offer to compromise at 50c. on the dollar still stands, and in the meantime he assigned to Paul Campbell, of John Macdonald & Co. Thompson's statement shows assets $14,200, liabilities $14,800.

The insolvent stock and estate of Luke Switzer, boot and shoe merchant, Sunderland, which was assigned some time ago, has been conveyed to Assignee Longley, of Toronto, to be wound up, all attempts at settlement having failed.

You can lose more than we do by not subscribing for this paper.

Unlike daily papers and general periodicals, this paper places advertisements before the eyes of just that portion of the industries most calculated to avail themselves of the announcements therein, and, therefore is of more value to the Trade than any paper published in this or other worlds. Manufacturers and wholesalers please take note of this, and then act accordingly. It is the only paper in Canada that reaches this trade direct.

The object of business is to make profitable sales.

INCREASED AMERICAN DUTIES.

The new United States Tariff Bill, which the Committee of Ways and Means is at work upon, is expected to be before Congress in about two weeks. Emanating, as that measure does, from a Republican source, and indebted, as the Republicans are, for strong agricultural support in the last election, the bill is expected to provide ample protection for the American farmer. Consequently, an increased duty will no doubt be recommended on foreign farm products, and this will affect Canadians more than any other outsiders who aim to find a market in the United States.

Among the products handled by general merchants throughout the country there are none in which trade will be more seriously affected by this measure, if it passes, than it will be in eggs. Eggs now go in free, but already it is known the committee has concluded to recommend a tax upon them of five cents a dozen. Thus, about one-third of the average price of eggs will either practically close the United States market or bring them very dear to United States consumers. The former is about certain to be the effect, as the Americans, themselves, produce eggs, and as it is known that in this class of produce a fairly high price checks consumption, we may then look for cheap eggs, as there will be plenty of them for all the demands of our consumption. Egg-buying should therefore be engaged in with both eyes open to this fact.

Hides, now also admitted free, will probably bear a duty of ten per cent. ad valorem. Apples, peas, beans, potatoes, and hops are other articles that may be looked for to bear an advanced duty after the close of the present session. This of course is contingent upon the adoption by both American legislative bodies of the bill submitted by the committee.

The duty on hops, which is said to be contemplated, is 30c. instead of 8c., as it is at present. The New York growers urge this, although the brewers of the country want the duty to remain as it is. The brewers, however, are very well protected in the product of their manufacture, and the balance will most likely now favor the hop-growers. There is a strong demand to raise the duty on beans from 10c. to 40c. per bushel. The duty suggested on apples is 25 cents a bushel, and an equal duty is proposed on potatoes. It appears indeed as if the deliberations of this foreign committee were of more serious moment to us than to the Americans.

SUPPORT FREE FRUIT.

The basis of a reciprocity of trade in fruits between this country and the United States is a rational one. That class of products has in itself all that constitutes reciprocity, and is unlikely to leave on either hand a balance to be redressed by trade in some other line. There is a "give and take" in the fruit dealings between the two countries that equates the advantage very fairly, even if there were no reciprocity in any other products. If we buy strawberries in February from American growers, it is because we cannot buy them then from our own growers, and the price we pay for them up to the middle of May is apt to keep the consumption within a luxury-affording class. When our own berries come in they have a flavor that at once opens up a large market, not only against the American berries here, but against those in their own country. We cannot, of course, get winter prices for them, but we can get a larger market than if there were no reciprocity. In strawberries there is a reciprocal demand. Our grocers get less money out of it than do the Americans, but they get as much out of it as if they were closed up in their own market. The time the fruit can be on the market is but short, and within that time the anxiety of the producer is apt to affect the market more than the demand of the consumers. That is, at the best, prices are likely to drop within our own country some part of the season, and the absence of reciprocity cannot keep them always up.

In apples the case is the same. Reciprocity has extended the market and increased the profit of Canadians who raise winter-apples, a product that we lead the world in. Reciprocity also has benefited trade, as it places summer apples within the reach of consumers, by liberating the American source of supply. Here the reciprocity is perfect, the demand and the supply being mutually dependent.

The production of strawberries is as profitable as it would be if it were protected, and that of apples is more so. Even the producer of summer apples finds a demand equal to the partial and imperfect issue of his attempt to satisfy the market. Let fruit, therefore, remain free to come and go.

LINSEED OIL.

Mr. D. A. Mackenzie, of the Toronto Varnish Works, has gone to Ottawa to lay before the Minister of Finance a petition from Toronto manufacturers, asking that the duty on linseed oil be reduced from 30 to 20 per cent. The subscribers are numerous, and represent the bulk of those engaged in the production of articles, notably paints, in which linseed oil is a component. Mr. Mackenzie will be joined at the Capital by delegates of the same interests in Montreal, bearing a petition with a similar prayer.

What the petitioners ask is the concession to the manufactures they represent of the protection they enjoyed some years ago.

At that time they had to pay only 20 per cent., and found that duty no more than adequate to the fostering of Canadian production. The duty on other oils is yet but 20 per cent., and there are none of them with more claim to be classed as raw material than has linseed oil. The object of the deputation that will meet the Minister is to have it recognized and listed as raw material. It is more as raw material than as finished product that we know it in this country, and it should be admitted on the basis of raw material, that is, bearing a duty of 20 per cent. In the hands of painters, manufacturers of paints, varnishes, mixed colors, window shades, oil-cloths, it is simply a medium in an industrial process, and not itself the end of an industrial process.

When we contrast paint and linseed oil it is plain which of the two is the more entitled to be classed as a finished product. Paints are finished products of which linseed oil is part of the raw material, yet our tariff exhibits the anomaly of the paints being rated 5 per cent. lower than linseed oil, which is their most expensive constituent. The American manufacturers, getting their linseed oil 30 per cent. below the price it costs us, can put their paints upon our market by paying a duty of 25 per cent.

We import between ten and fifteen thousand barrels of linseed oil every year, and we should import more if we had less foreign paint to compete with, as what would keep that out would stimulate paint-making here. We hope the Government will see its way clear to incorporate the request of the paint-makers among the recommendations of its budget.

ADULTERATED WHITE LEAD.

The extent to which white lead is adulterated or counterfeited in the United States, has been a subject of recent investigation by the Whitelead Association in that country. One hundred samples, manufactured outside of the Association and marked "pure" were analyzed. Most of it turned out to be compound, and in some of the specimens there was not a trace of whitelead detected. We know something about adulterated whitelead in this country. HARDWARE has referred to the article more than once, and painters have protested against it repeatedly in the public press.

The Whitelead Association of Canada is an organization of manufacturers formed for the purpose of maintaining the standard of white lead. All that is stamped with the association label is guaranteed absolutely pure, but there is nothing to prevent outside manufacturers from placing an inferior article upon the market and labelling it pure. All the manufacturers of Canada are not in this Association. There are five or six makers in the country who have not connected themselves with it. We have therefore two classes of manufacturers, those pledged to produce a pure article, and those at liberty to produce what they please. The result of this latter privilege is that we have no lack of spurious whitelead. We have pure whitelead, but we have also plenty that is so misnamed, with greater or lesser proportions of barytes in its make up. The stress of competition has produced this fraud, bearing the stamp "pure." The makers of it, determined to get a hold on trade, have manufactured for low prices, and as these were reduced, the proportion of carbonate of lead receded farther from the necessary ninety per cent. The members of the Association, making a genuine article, could not afford to cut with competitors whose mutual opposition was further debasing whitelead, and further depreciating prices.

The Association has consequently sought to get the manufacture of pure whitelead put on a sound basis. A deputation from that body waited upon the Minister of Inland Revenue and represented the facts above referred to. To make penal the marking of imitations as "pure," the deputation felt that it would be necessary to establish standards, and, therefore, recommended that the manufacture of whitelead should be made subject to the Adulteration of Foods Act. The answer of the Minister was not final, and action will be deferred for a few days, when Mr. Miall, the Chief Commissioner of Inland Revenue, will meet the Association in this city. It is hardly expected, however, even if his report is favorable, that anything will be done this session.

It is in the interests of the trade the Association should succeed. Price-cutting would be stopped, and trade would not be injured by the bad reputation the selling of inferior goods entails. The adulterated article does not serve the purpose of the genuine. It does not go as far, nor stay on so well. It is little more, is often no more, than the basis of a whitewash. In amalgamation with oil, white lead has adhesive properties that cannot be formed by any union of oil and barytes. The Association, to further the cause of purity will shortly issue the results of an analysis about to be made, of all the whiteleads manufactured in the country.

A DEVICE FOR EXHIBITING PAINTS, ETC.

A travelling correspondent of HARDWARE describes a stand made to hold sample bottles of dry paints and oils, which he ran across in his travels. The stand has five shelves on it, and is about eighteen inches wide. Each shelf was built as if it were a step in a flight of stairs. Through each shelf holes were bored the same size as the bottle used for the sample. Each bottle passing through a hole of one shelf rested on the shelf below, giving the goods a splendid appearance.

OVERDUE ACCOUNTS.

Mr. James E. Davis gave an address upon the above snbject before the Pharmaceutical Society of Detroit. The essay shows the marks of careful thought and preparation. The selections made below are especially commended to retailers. He says :—When an account is not paid when due, interest should be charged on all excess time taken. This is right, perfectly legitimate and good business logic. Still, many retailers, for one reason or another, do not pay their bills when due, and even in some instances after taking thirty, sixty or ninety days extra time, make great complaints if interest is added. Now, there are of course many retailers who, when their bill is about due, if they cannot meet it, will write, stating they are hard up, ask for a slight extension, and request the jobber to add interest, but these are the exception, and not the rule. However, as that may be, the wholesale merchant is not a banker, and retailers should get more in the habit of borrowing from their interior banks, and discounting their bills with the jobbers. The retail dealers would then soon ascertain the fact that banks do not loan money without interest, and this should teach them that the charge of the jobber is perfectly correct and just, and that it should not be objected to, but paid without question. There is another point in relation to the above that retailers should not overlook, and that is that many jobbers are compelled, from the lack of capital, to borrow money from their city banks, in order to carry their customers and meet their own bills, and interest must be paid on every dollar they borrow. If retail dealers would borrow from their local banks, and discount their bills, jobbers could run their business on from 25 to 30 per cent. less capital. Discount all your bills for one year and see how much money you will save. It will be enough to pay for a good clerk.

If all retail dealers would adopt the plan of sending out monthly statements, the same as jobbers, it would facilitate their making collections. Most retailers send out statements twice per year, and frequently an account gets very large during that time, consequently it is much harder for the consumer to pay, and to go still further, it is just so much harder for the jobber, who suffers from lack of collections on the part of the retail dealer. I note with pleasure that some retailers have already started in the good work of sending out monthly statements, and reports have reached me that it works splendidly, that it makes collections better, and that it is growing in favor with the consumer, who was at first inclined to take exception to it. If every retailer in the United States would turn over a new leaf on the 1st of January, 1890, and send out monthly statements, such a revolution would take place in collections that both retailers and wholesalers would be astonished. The small dealer would make more money by discounting his bills, and the jobber would save interest by running his business on less capital. Do not wait for your neighbor and competitor to start in this good work, but commence yourself, and others are sure to follow.

SILVERED MIRROR GLASS.

A deputation of Canadian glass importers waited upon the Minister of Customs, a week ago, to urge an increase of the duty on mirror-glass that is brought into the country ready silvered. Lately, there has been a considerable amount of it brought into the country at prices that tend to discourage silvering by our glass men. Representatives of German glass-works have travelled through the country canvassing trade, not from the regular importers, but from the furniture-makers. To the latter they sell at prices lower than our wholesale importers can afford, upon the condition, however, that the furniture makers shall give unusually large orders. The German silvered goods need this advantage, therefore, to be able to compete with glass silvered here. It would be unable to get a market here through the irregular import channel it now comes, if the furniture makers limited their orders to the small proportions they usually do in their dealings with our importers. What makes the silvering come cheaper on goods finished in Europe is the cheapness of the labor. In Bavaria, for example, girls do the silvering for exceedingly low wages.

The furniture dealers would prefer to buy silvered mirror glass from the firms that import the glass and silver it in our own country, if they could get it as cheap. They find it a great inconvenience to buy their glass all at once for a whole season, and this they must do to get the benefit of lower prices from the Germans. They wish to be able to lay in stock when they please, but this convenience they will forego if there is any advantage in buying large quantities from an outside source.

The large Canadian importers, therefore, have asked that the duty on this class of goods be increased, and the reply of the Minister was rather encouraging.

The leading woodenware manufacturers of Canada met at Ottawa on Thursday to form an association for the purpose of keeping up prices. The chief firms represented were the E. B. Eddy Manufacturing Co., of Ottawa, Geo. Thompson, Orillia, and H. H. Kane, of Newmarket. The firms were agreed that it would be in the interest of the industry to form such an association, and the ordinary procedure in reference to organization will be carried out. The three gentleman named waited upon the Minister of Justice to ask that woodenware made by prison labor in the penitentiary at Dorchester, N. B., be not allowed to enter into competition with the product of honest labor. Sir John Thompson said he would consider the request.

LIVE AND LET LIVE.

To the Editor of The Grocer.

Dear Sir,—I am pleased with Mr. R. Rinker's remark on the conditions of trade in Kincardine, as given in The Canadian Grocer, of March 7th. He says—"That every man runs his own business," which implies that he runs nobody else's. I regret very much that this is not the state of affairs in Wiarton, especially in the grocery business. Every man runs his own business and also that of his neighbor, or, to use a common expression—every man for himself regardless of his neighbor. Let me give your readers a sample of the way trade is done here, and if you, Mr. Editor, can suggest a remedy, I would like to hear it.

We have three hardware men doing business. One is satisfied to do business within the range of his own line of goods, and as a result has a large well established trade, and is most successful. The other two are not satisfied with their own line of business, but branch off into that of their neighbors. They buy and sell groceries, and in some cases sell them at cost price, thus undermining the business of the grocery men. These two are very often complaining of hard times, one in particular has developed into a chronic grumbler. This is not all. We have three druggists, two of whom are not satisfied with their own business, which yields large profits, but they must dabble into that of their neighbours. They also buy and sell groceries, cut prices, and one is a grumbler. One of our butchers buys and sells groceries, and every dry goods man in the village deals in groceries. Our lumber merchants deal in groceries. Some who are owners of store buildings let them to grocery men, receiving high rents for the same, and have started the grocery business in opposition to them. This is a sad state of affairs, not to say anything about the man who is peddling coal oil from house to house in the village. We have some fifteen or sixteen grocery stores without those men of other business dabbling into it, and cutting prices until the grocer finds his business so mutilated and cut up that there is scarcely a living in it. To sum the whole matter up, Mr. Editor, our trade in Wiarton, instead of being in a healthy condition, is utterly rotten, and I see no possible way whereby the evil can be remedied. A business men's association or a board of trade is utterly useless. It has been tried several times only to result in a miserable failure. One thing I notice, and that is the few men who stick by their own business are the most successful and hence the most prominent men in the village. The unfortunate grocer is not altogether successful as can be seen by the number of failures and discount sales of late. Their trade is cut up by those merchants who do what they like and not what they can.

Looker on.

It seems like a confession that a man cannot make a success of the business he is professedly engaged in, when he has to import into that business elements of stock that are considered foreign to it. Nor does such an attempt to embrace custom that is drawn to stores dealing in a different class of goods usually turn out well. It adds complexity to a problem that was too hard in its simplicity for that particular man to solve who undertook it. If a man cannot make money out of the specialty he deals in, it is because he has not the resources, physical, mental or financial, to succeed, or because the conditions of trade are too demoralized for any man to succeed. To mend his position by further demoralizing the conditions, is to act upon the principle that an additional wrong makes a right. It is also an acknowledgedgment of weakness, and makes trade the worse rather than the better of one's being in it. If there were more hard business students in practical trade, there would be fewer men misled by such fallacious methods of regenerating their business as the adoption into it of a line that seems to afford some other man a livelihood. Where there is failure most people are too prone to blame the circumstances rather than themselves. If they would reverse this rule, they would get into the habit of setting an eye upon themselves of correcting little faults, of developing qualities they were low in, and of making it their chief aim to succeed in the department of trade they had launched in. They would not endeavor to mend their unfitness by loading their manifest incapability with other departments. A man is wrong to undertake a mortgage who finds that he has to increase it to pay the interest upon it. He will soon lose his farm. In the same way a man is wrong to commit his time and imperfect abilities to any line of business, when he finds that he has to tax that time and those abilities with other cares to be able to discharge the original ones. His course is usually a rapidly tapering one. Extremes meet. In rural places we have general stores, in large cities we have "imiversals." The reason is obvious and satisfactory why stocks are mixed in country stores; it is obvious, if not satisfactory, why they are mixed in city stores; but there are circumstances in both cases which are absent from the town or large village trader's position. He is not obliged to carry heterogeneous stocks as the country merchant is, and he has seldom the facilities to run an emporium a hundred feet high and three times as many feet square, all alive with employes.

We have a less pessimistic view of the situation in Wiarton than "Looker On" has. We believe in the potency of a Business Men's Asssociation established on bases outlined more than once in this journal. When such an organization has been established in every business place, each will have a functional relation to the central body, which will steady and nourish it into strength adequate for its local purpose.

HIGH PRICES FOR PRODUCE.

Norwood, March 5th, 1890.

Editor Canadian Grocer.

Dear Sir,—Enclosed please find two dollars, my subscription for this year. I am much pleased with the Grocer, especially since you have opened your Montreal office, and are able to supply reliable intelligence from that point. The attention of its readers is called to many important business matters, which if not presented n this way would receive little attention. Also many good business principles are laid down which tend to create a desire in the minds of some to throw aside the old hap-hazard style of doing business and to conduct more on fixed principles. There are many trade evils to be remedied, such as the credit system, paying prices for produce — as butter, eggs, etc.—much more than can be realized out of them in cash. I trust you will continue to impress on the minds of business men not only that "unity is strength," but that they must unite if anything is to be done in this direction.

Yours truly,
JOHN MCCORMICK.

We thank Mr. McCormick for his good words, which we value even more for their sincerity than for their kindness. In his reference to trade evils, Mr. McCormick touches one that should be periodically forced upon the attention of the country merchants, and that is the practice of paying too much for butter, eggs, etc. This is one of the indirect ways of selling goods at less than their value. It is a very shallow fiction that the retailer palms off on himself when he clings stubbornly to the marked price of his goods, yet goes up a cent or two on the current price of produce. By that foolish practice he gets himself loaded with a perishable commodity and incurs the large extra loss of deterioration. The most sane way of price-cutting is the direct way. Let a man insist on cash and cut for it ; his loss will be wholly incurred at the time of the transaction. But if he cuts for produce, he has to lose at the time and has to be prepared to stand an increment of loss from deterioration or a declined market. This conclusion is on sound lines, and it is milder than that which is drawn from the experience of the most judicious merchant, namely, that in the best circumstances produce buying is a losing part of the trade. Much more, therefore, must it be a losing element when prices are paid which the market does not warrant. Why should any dealer be eager for trade that makes him poorer? He will do less mischief by allowing himself to get poor by the sheer inertia of doing no business. In doing nothing, he will at all events not be injuring the trade of competitors who are proceeding on an honest basis of prices.

A man has no choice whether he will be honest or not who keeps up the practice of paying more for butter, eggs, etc., than they are currently worth. He has either to defraud his customers in the quantity or quality of the goods, or he has to defraud his creditors. There is a constitution, mostly unwritten, however, in business as in all established things, and no one should adopt into his methods anything that is at variance with, or destroy the stability of that constitution.

Goods conveniently located save time, money and temper in showing.

HECK'S COLUMN.

Is it politic or profitable for you to pay your clerk one, two, or three per cent. on all cash sales? As I understand it from many business men of to-day, they pay their clerks this little extra, as they call it, to induce them to work in the interest of their employer. Just so; that is why you do this, and it is very, very thoughtful of you, but look a little more carefully into this plan and see if, by paying a bonus at the end of each year to your employees, you would not encourage more work from them.

Say, for instance, that you employ five clerks in your store, and all have been in your employ for at least one year, and are well acquainted with your customers, or even if they are not, I will show you how you are being deceived. One customer pays cash, another is a trade man, and a third a monthly or yearly account man. Now you are the clerk that is employed to wait on customers and are allowed a percentage on all cash sales ; which customer would you be inclined to wait on in a pleasing manner? I say nature would want the man that pays cash; therefore, you wish to get this man, and, if another clerk gets him before you, and you are left to serve the man who has an account on the firm's books, little, if any, interest will be shown him. Your fellow workman is making a percentage on every dollar's worth of goods he sells, and this takes the ardor out of your salesmanship. I have talked with merchants on this subject, and when they carefully consider how it is paying them, and how much dissatisfaction there is among their clerks, they are all inclined to favor the bonus at the end of the year for service done in building up their business by their clerks.

It is interesting to watch how differently things are done in some stores, and I would like to show one way that leads to success. To hold a customer you have to please, and to please some is a difficult piece of work; but if you handle the best lines of goods that are on the market, you say your customer should be pleased, providing you sell at a reasonable figure. Not so. Were I to tie up a pound of tea in paper that has been wrapped around pork or some other odorous article, would you, as my customer, like to use that tea? I think not. Therefore we should be most particular how our goods are sent out. Paper manufacturers now make paper adapted for every kind of goods, and the sooner merchants study these facts and buy to use in sending out neat parcels the paper made to suit such articles, the sooner will your customers remark how neatly things come done up from your store. I am in favor of the grocery clerks using what, in newspaper work is known as the assistant editor, I mean a pair of scissors. Some say that that looks too much like a dry goods store, but you cannot tie a parcel and break off the ends of the string shorter than two or three inches from the knot, while, with a pair of scissors you can cut close. After trying this plan, you will wonder how you got on without a pair. The scissors can be carried in your apron strings or in a small pocket made in the apron. A few days saves a ball of string and your parcels are sent out in much neater form. I might here speak of the waste in paper, being left on the counter and torn off in sizes to suit the articles to be parcelled. Had you these different sizes cut and strung so as to be handy for use, many dollars would be saved in a year by paper account alone.

HECK.

Brushes.

There are decided signs of a rise in the price of hair, tooth, nail and other brushes in the Canadian market very shortly. At present we understand the wholesalers are selling off the stock they have carried over from last season, and which they can afford to dispose of at their old prices, but when that is sold it is more than probable that dealers will find that they cannot duplicate at old figures. The cause principally is a rise of 40% in the price of bristles, which is a very large increase for goods sold on such close margin as brushes. It is said that this rise in bristles is principally the result of the formation of a meat canning trust of gigantic size, who have bought up all over Europe the product of this seasons hog farming, and whose method of treating the animal—as is well known to any one familar with the Chicago stock yards—is extravagant as compared with that of the prudent farmer, who saves his bristles as carefully as he does his pork.

Another reason why brushes are to be dearer this year is, that in Paris the great centre of brush manufacturing, where the prices are set for the world, the Grippe epidemic has been so widespread that almost every industry has been closed. The largest brush maker in France, Loonen, who employs 1,400 hands, had over 700 sick at one time, and was compelled by the authorities to close down so as not to spread the plague. This same trouble affected all the makers, and lasted so long that the orders for brushes that should have been filled in December and January are not yet made up. There is always comfort in the fact that orders were taken by the makers at old prices before the epidemic, but if the invoices are accompanied by a new schedule of prices, it is more than likely that the goods arriving will be sold on the basis of the new schedule. Another month or six weeks will tell at any rate.

The faculty to make friends and conciliate enemies, being all things to all men, is inherent in the first-class salesman.

He who is steadily a source of profit to his employers in the selling of merchandise must be accounted a first class salesman.

Chat by the way.

Campbell & Dennis have started a fifty barrel oatmeal mill at Wyoming, turning out standard, granulated and rolled meals.

The oil workers patronize Geo. Primmer largely at Petrolia, because he sells only first class goods.

Messrs. Galt Bros., wholesale grocers, Winnipeg, are establishing a branch of their business in Vancouver, B. C.

Twelve dollars was taken by burglars from the till of Mr. Gordon's store, Chatham, on Friday night.

Kingston merchants are arranging to form a protective association to save themselves from swindlers.

Mr. A. B. Appleby, of Peterborough, does a huge trade in hides. During the past year his business has amounted to a quarter of a million dollars.

The clerks in the Winnipeg stores are again moving in the direction of having the stores closed at seven o'clock during the summer months.

Mr. J. Rogers, of Vancouver, is in Ottawa on business with the Customs Department. He proposes to establish a sugar refinery at Vancouver with a capital of half a million.

St. Thomas grocers have petitioned the License Commissioners not to conflict with the trade by refusing to issue a license to any party who is directly or indirectly interested in the grocery business.

Wm. Rapley, a sixteen year old lad well connected, stole a lot of sausages from in front of Glasco's grocery, corner Burwell and York streets, London, and was caught. He is now in the cells.

Mr. Geo. Mullins, Sombra, has purchased the business of Mr. L. McKenzie. It is reported that in connection he will carry on a grocery business in A. Smith & Son's old stand.

A grocer at Lynchburg, Va., who had been in business for thirteen years without making a cent, could't figure out how it was until his head clerk was taken sick, thought he was going to die, and owned up to having embezzled about $17,000.

Damage was done on Monday morning to the extent of $500 to Mr. Bradshaw's grocery and stock in Brantford. This is covered by insurance. There were also burned eighty-one dollars in bills and life insurance policies amounting to $7,000.

Mr. A. W. Humphries, of Parkhill, reports a very good sale of extracted honey through the advertisement in CANADIAN GROCER, but says he has yet a small quantity of No. One honey that he offers for 10c. per lb. Write him for a sample if you want honey.

On Saturday morning a fire swept away a block of buildings in Regina. Its effects would have extended further, had not the crowd pulled down Sprague's grocery, to make a gap in the course of the devouring element.

Mr. John Hamilton, who for many years has been one of the most prosperous and successful merchants of Walkerton, on Monday left to open up business in Petrolia. He has just purchased a $10,000 London stock and a $7,000 stock at Gravenhurst, which will both be taken to Petrolia.

Thomas Kelso, wholesale grocer, of the firm of Pitcealthy & Kelso, Belleville, died on Monday. Deceased, who was an Irishman, was about 60 years of age, and had been in Canada from boyhood. He took an active part in public matters. His wife and a family of several children survive him.

The owners of several small stores in the east end of London, Ont., are objecting to paying the full $10 water rate, on the ground that it is exorbitant. It is claimed that corner groceries in the city are only charged for the store as though it was one room, the difference in the rates thus being $9.25 per annum.

Mr. F. J. Hamilton, of Port Credit, in conversation with THE GROCER, says that place, which is only half an hour's drive from Toronto, is going ahead rapidly. The work on the new starch and glucose factory is pushed forward, and there is also a large force of men on the new Terra Cotta Co.'s works.

Mr. G. Warmington, of Port Cranby, has procured a dry goods and grocery vendor's license for Hope Township, and will run a wagon through that district during the summer. His stock will consist of everything to be found in a first-class general store. He has purchased a beautiful pair of mules and has given the contract of building a suitable waggon.

Mr. William Gibson, of Port Hope, is about to enter into mercantile pursuits again in the grocery line, and will trade under the firm name of William Gibson & Son. The new firm will occupy the premises on Walton street opposite John street, last occupied by Messrs W. H. Baker & Co. The store is a capacious building and will accommodate a very large stock.

The shoe manufacturers and the leather dealers of Montreal are at issue upon an amendment to the Inspection Act introduced this session. The leather dealers protested by deputation against the clause in that amendment, which requires leather that has not been inspected to bear a stamp certifying that it has not been. The manufacturers of boots, etc., on the other hand, petition that this clause stand.

Among the fine stores in Western Ontario is that of Mr. George Hasenflug, Waterloo. It is 22 feet wide by 90 feet deep. In addition to this he has a large warehouse. Mr. Hasenflug does a strictly cash business buying and selling for cash. He handles general groceries and fish and fruit, and does a large jobbing trade in the latter. Though he has only been established there for four years he has, by his push and energy, worked up a splendid business.

A well-known city grocer writes :—Your article of a couple of weeks ago re receiving returned goods (copied from the San Francisco Grocer) is about right. I remember some time back selling a package of self-raising buckwheat flour to a customer, who after using a portion of it sent the remainder back, declaring that it was musty. The goods were fresh, but what was I to do? I simply went to the kitchen and made some cakes out of the same flour, and covering them over to keep them warm sent them again with the package. The cakes were pronounced excellent. Where, then, was the trouble? I discovered my customer had been using frowsy butter to cook them with. This lady worked on the principle that any butter is good enough to cook with. Was it not lucky that I was a cook as well as a grocer?

TRADE SALES.

The stock of Geo. Caswell, Coldwater, was withdrawn.

On Tuesday afternoon Suckling, Cassdiy & Co., disposed of the following stocks:

Godson & Co's dry goods stock, Trenton, valued at $5,005.00, to A. L. Purdy, Brighton, for 50c. in the dollar.

David N. Hogg's dry goods stock, Stratford, valued at $15,028.27 to Geo. B. Ryan, of Guelph for 49c. in the dollar.

James Steele's clothing and men's furnishings stock, Toronto, valued at $3,127.50 to D. R. Owen, Guelph, for 50c. in the dollar.

Minaker & Bro's dry goods stock, Cobourg, valued at $17,787.72, to Samuel Clarke, of the same town, at 54c. in the dollar.

Messrs. Suckling & Cassidy's trade sale on Tuesday and Wednesday was well attended, and transferred a large quantity of stock to the retail stores.

J. D. Tait's dry goods stock, St. Catharines, valued at $50,181.82, to Mr. Price, a relative of the insolvent, resident in St. Catharines, for 73c. in the dollar.

On the 13th inst. the same auctioneers sold the hardware stock of Messrs. Frost & Picken of this city, amounting to $1,257.86, to M. C. Drew, of Toronto, at 57c. in the dollar.

The general stock of Tough & Henry, Grand Valley, amounting to $6,757.55, will be sold at Suckling, Cassidy & Co.'s., warerooms on Tuesday the 25th inst. The terms are one-third cash, and the remainder in two and four months on approved security at 7 per cent.

The bankrupt stock and fixtures of Isabella Crothers, grocer and confectioner, Belleville, were sold in that town on Monday. The groceries and confectionery were bought by Arthur McGinnis at 52 cents on the dollar, and the fixtures by H. F. Forward at 30 cents on the dollar.

The dry goods, millinery, etc., in the stock of James Muir & Co., Paris, amounting to $14,016.48, will be sold by Suckling, Cassidy & Co. at their warerooms on Tuesday the 25th inst. The terms are one-fourth cash, and the rest in two, four and six months, with interest at 7 per cent. on secured paper.

The stock in trade of John Flanagan, the defaulting Biddulph treasurer, of Clandeboye, valued at $2,356.41, was sold by auction on Friday by Messrs. W. Y. Brunton & Son, the purchaser being Mr. R. C. Struthers, of London, and the figure paid 52½c. on the dollar. The real estate realized about $800 over and above mortgages.

Mr. Butterworth of the United States House of Representatives, in speaking the other day before the Agricultural Committee of that chamber upon the question of taxing lard compounds, said that he asked only that the manufacturers of compound lard conduct their business honestly. All this talk about the compound lard being better than the original article was "pure rot." When people asked for lard they wanted pure lard. If he sent his baby to his grocer for a squirrel and the grocer gave the baby a rat—no matter how luscious the rodent—he would lick that grocer if he could. He asked for a squirrel, as the people asked for lard, and he did not want a rat. Statistics showed that last year the farmer had been robbed by means of this compound lard industry of $15,000,000. He wanted each industry to sail under its own flag and this was the object of his bill.

Rivalry, open, fair, good natured and enterprising, is the life of business.

GROCERIES.

The volume of business done has been slightly short of that done last week. This was to be anticipated. The heavy buying done two and three weeks ago reinforced stocks beyond the need of any further immediate large purchases. Business has been good, buf it has had to do with smaller and more detailed orders. The buying of sugar was especially not to be reckoned upon as a steady thing to the extent it reached after the advance, as stocks throughout the country were mostly filled up between this time and that. The most notable features in the situation are the increasing prices of dried fruits, and the strong attitude of the Canadian sugar refiners. Payments are more and more deserving of the epithet "satisfactory." Throwing aside comparisons with the two or three weeks immediately preceding it, this may be called a very fair one.

CANNED GOODS.

From the beginning of the third sentence to the conclusion of our last week's report under this head, we should have used quotation marks, as the words related to the New York market, and were taken from the New York Commercial Bulletin. The connection we had intended to introduce those words in was to show the strong position of outside markets.

The demand for staples, as corn, peas, tomatoes, has been good. Fruits are in fair demand, particularly apples, on account, no doubt, of the scarcity of barrel apples. Salmon at this time of year does not receive its maximum attention. That comes somewhat later. The trade has mostly been in the best class of goods. The reports of sales alleged to be made by members of the association at prices considerably lower than those adopted by that body, have begun at the moment of writing to have an unsettling effect upon trade. The trade during the week has been very fair, as most of it had been done before such reports had got abroad.

COFFEES.

Rios are moving into a stronger position, and the prices reported last week 22 to 23c., are exceedingly firm. Stocks in the country are light, and now reports come from Brazil that the stocks yet held there are also much below the usual reserve at this time of year. Primary prices have therefore advanced, and if an export duty is levied, prices here will be a long advance on what they are at present. Javas and Mochas are both also firm, the former at 26 and 27c., the latter at 32 to 35c. The demand is very good for all kinds.

DRIED FRUITS.

All lines have advanced. The reason for this steady upward movement is to be found in the light buying of our wholesalers in the import season. This again was due to the fact that the excess of their former year's buying had not kept well. To replenish stocks now would also make prices high by the difference between summer and winter freights. Even in the New York market stocks are low. Prunes are 4¾ for hogsheads, 5c. to 5¼c. for barrels, and 5¾ to 6c. for kegs of Bosnia. A's are 8½ to 8¾c., B's are 8 to 8¼c., C's are 7¾ to 8c., D's are 6¾ to 7c., U's are 7½ to 7¾c. Currants are 5⅝ to 5⅞ for barrels, 6 to 6¼ for half-barrels, and 6¼ to 6½ for cases. Valencia raisins are 7 to 7¾c. for off-stalk, and 9¼ to 9¾c. for layers. Sultanas are 10 to 12c. Malagas in black baskets are $1.35, in London layers are $3 to $3.15, and in loose muscatels are $2.35 to $2.60. Dates are 5¾ to 6¼c. Eleme figs are scarce, and in 14oz. boxes are 9c., in 2lb. boxes are 25c., and in 10lb. boxes are $1.25. Natural are 4¾ to 5c. in boxes, and 5 to 5¼c. in bags.

SUGARS.

The fall of 1-16c. in New York is interpreted as a sign rather of strength than of weakness, and is looked upon as a device to intimidate holders of raw sugar, which the New York refiners want, and which the producers feel warranted in keeping high. This attempt to give a fictitious weakness to the market for refined sugar has so far been without effect on the raw sugar prices. In our own market the refiners are firm, and prices have so far exhibited no weakness. The buying has been at something of an ebb this week which is mainly owing to the fact that so much was bought in the previous fortnight. There are no low grades to be got. The taking off of the duty by the Americans will tend to keep prices easier but will increase consumption, and five per cent. of an increase upon present consumption will absorb all possible surplus. Yellows are 5½ for lowest. Granulated are 5⅛c. for 15 barrels or over, and 7¼c. for a smaller quantity.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

The refineries have no D or M. The lowest grade now to be had is B syrup. There is a good demand for low grades. The range of prices is the same, from 52 to 65c. Molasses are both scarce and dear. This is the case also in New York. There is always a good demand in spring. Tierces and puncheons are 37c., barrels are 43c., and half-barrels are 45c.

TEAS.

There is difficulty in getting good low grades of Japan. There is an increasing call for them as well. Congous from 8d to 1s. are the best value seen on the market for years. There is consequently a fairly strong trade done in them. Greens have a fair demand, and prices are unchanged. Local business in Indian teas has been very dull. In London, teas without special point, from 8d to 1s, have further declined in value during the week, but up to 7½d per lb., the demand has been fairly steady. There was rather more enquiry for fine teas from 1s. 6d. to 2s, but this supply is exceedingly small, and confined chiefly to Darjeeling marks. Business on the spot, in Ceylons, quiet. In London the supply of low grades was large, and the market became weaker for these kinds. The tendency is rather towards a lower scale of price for all but the best qualities of each grade.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

There was a better supply than the average of the three weeks previous to this one. The butter also may be said to be of a higher grade than that of the period mentioned. Both facts may be owing to the harder weather that has fallen in this week. The prices are modified slightly in accordance with the features of the supply noted, not that the prices have fallen perceptibly, but that they are more stable, not ranging over so wide a margin between lowest and highest. Store tubs are 8 to 13c. yet, and not improving in quality. Dairy-packed is 16 to 18c. Creamery tubs are 20 to 22c. Large rolls are 16 to 18c. Pound rolls are 20 to 25c. on the street, and 19 to 22c. in large tubs.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

APPLES—The scarcity of stock is now the ruling feature. This, coupled along with a demand of fair proportions, makes prices strong. In car lots they are $3 a barrel, and out of store they run from $3.50 to $4. What fruit now offers is good.

BEANS—Are worth $1.45 to $1.50 in large quantities, and $1.60 to $1.65 in small store lots.

DRIED APPLES—The demand is not yet strong, and the supply has shrunk considerably since the fall in prices, but it is yet equal to all the consumption that has yet signified any interest. Prices are 4½ to 5c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Are 8c. to 9½c., and for very fine 10c. There is not a strong demand, but one that fairly keeps up the market.

EGGS—Any limed eggs now in the hands of buyers find sale at 10c. to 11c. The supply of fresh is very good, and prices run from 13c. to 14c New laid eggs in farmers' baskets are 15c. on the street.

HAY—On the street farmers' loads of No. 1 bring $12 to $14, and No. 2, $7 to $9. Pressed on track, No. 1 is $9 to $9.50, and $6.50 to $7 for No. 2. The market is kept well stocked.

HIDES—A car of cured changed hands on Tuesday at 4¾c., and this price still holds. For green the prices are unchanged; No. 1 are 4c., No. 2 are 3c., and No. 3 are 2c.

HONEY—Dulness is more pronounced. Consumption has greatly slackened, but the stock in the hands of dealers is not too great to weaken prices. They are as heretofore, 11½ to 13c. for clear, and 12 to 14c. for comb.

HOPS—Choice new are 13 to 15c. Yearlings and inferior new are 10 to 12c.

OATS—There is no lack. Prices on the street are 31½ to 32c., and 30 to 31c. in car lots.

ONIONS—The market is very poorly stocked, and prices are high and firm, running up to $3, and falling but a few cents below for any fair grade.

POTATOES—Are now offering freely and receiving but languid interest from buyers. In car lots they are 55c. In small store sales they are 65c.

POULTRY—Turkeys are 14 to 15c. on the street, and 11 to 12½c. in large quantities. No geese have been brought in and the number of turkeys sold has been small. Chickens are 65 to 75c., but there are few brought upon the market.

SEEDS—Red clover has not moved from its position between $3.25 and $3.40. Alsike is also unchanged, the price being in course of adjustment from the competition with other seeds for home use. The fact that the export season leaves the determination of prices to this circumstance; $4.50 to $5.50 therefore remains a nominal quotation. Timothy is $1.25 to $1.50. These quotations are of prices paid by wholesalers.

SKINS—Sheep are $1.25 to $1.50, and there are few offering. Calf are 6c. for No. 1, and 5c. for No. 2.

STRAW—Farmers' sheaves are $6.50 to $7.50 on street. On track, tight pressed is $5 to $6.

TALLOW—Rough is 1¼ to 2c., and rendered is 5 to 5½c.

WOOL—Good fleece is 22c. Pulled is 24c. for lowest, 25 to 26 for super, and 30c. for extra-super. The pulled is now about all that comes upon the market.

CRANBERRIES.

Stocks are all sold out of barrels and crates, and only a light quantity remains on the market in gallon tins at 75c.

FISH.

The market is not more active than our report represented it last week. The prices are the same. Sea herring are $1.60 per hundred by count. White fish are 7c.; salmon are $12 per barrel; small cod are 5c. per pound; steak cod are 7½c.; haddock are 5½ to 6c.; pike are 4½c.; pickerel are 6½c.; flounders are 5c.; tulepes are 7c.; Labrador herring are $5 to $5.50 per barrel, and $3.25 to $3.75 per half-barrel; Shore herring are $4 per barrel, and $2.25 per half-barrel; boneless cod are 6 to 8c. per pound; boneless fish are 6c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Valencia oranges are $4.75 to $5. Florida russets are $3.75 to $4.25, and fancy brights, about done, are $3.50 to $4.50. Messinas are $2.75 to $3.25. Tangerines are now out of stock. California navels are $5 to $5.50, and Washington navels are $5.50 to $6. Mediterranean sweets and Riverside Seedlings are $4 to $4.25. Lemons in fancy 300's, including Messinas and Palermos are $4 to $4.50. In 360's the same two kinds are $3.50 to $4. Cuccios are now out. Bannanas are $3 to $3.50 for firsts, and $2 to $2.50 for seconds. Sweet potatoes are $6 to $7. Pineapples are $4 to $4.25 per doz. Bermuda tomatoes are $1.75 per crate, and grape fruit is $4.50 per box.

PROVISIONS.

BACON—Long clear is 7¼ to 7⅝c. Breakfast is 11 to 11½c. Roll is 8½ to 9c.

DRESSED HOGS—The delivery has this week been small. Heavy hogs are $5.50. Light run from $5.90 to $6.

HAMS—Are 10c. green, and 11c. smoked.

LARD—Canadian is 8½c. in tubs, and 9c. in pails. American is half a cent less in each package.

MESS PORK—Heavy is $13.50. Light family is $14.

SALT.

The salt market for the week is a good deal more active than it has been the last few weeks. There is a very good demand at present. The following are the prices reported by the Toronto Salt Works for the week: 1 car bbls., $1.37; 2 cars, sacks, 68c.; 1 car dairy, $1.18. Smaller quantities have sold at ¼ sacks, 45c.; bbls, $1.45; sacks, 85c.

DRY GOODS.

Business has been very good, though but barely up to what it was last week. Reports from the country show that money is still scarce, and that retailers are buying very cautiously. Travellers find sales not easily made, and there is evidently an impulse wanting to set trade in brisk motion. The action of the Dominion Cotton Association at their Montreal meeting, in advancing the price of fine yarn cottons 2c. shows that body to be possessed of an optimistic opinion of the outlook.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

MARCH 20, 1890.

GROCERIES.

The volume of business the past week has been up to the average, and while payments are slow the outlook is good.

SUGAR.

The state of the sugar market is unchanged, prices of granulated remaining as previously quoted. Yellows are exceedingly scarce and the advance spoken of in our last did not take place owing to the easier state of the New York market. Raw material in New York is much higher though no uneasiness is felt respecting the immediate future. Quotations are: granulated 7 to 7¼c.; yellows 5½ to 6c.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is a continued active demand for syrups at 3¼ to 4¾c. Owing to the Wholesalers' agreement being now off prices of Barbadoes molasses are open, prices ranging from 42½ to 46½c. for puncheons though one firm is offering as low as 41c.

TEAS.

The movement in teas continue high only a jobbing trade being done. There was some big sales made in New York of Japan dust at 8c. Japans still are enquired for teas, 16 to 17 and 14c., good Yokohoma style. We report sales of 100 of the former and 192 latter, bought for western account.

COFFEE.

Coffee continues to move off quietly, with advances in Maracaibo and Ceylon. Quotations are :—Mocha 28 to 30c.; Java 24 to 29c.; Jamaica 18 to 22c. Rio 18 to 20c.; Plantation Ceylon 20 to 27c.; Maracaibo 23 to 29c.

DRIED FRUIT.

Considerable attention has been paid to currants and raisins the past week. Considerable has been done in Valencia raisins the past few days, and we report sales of from 3 to 4,000 boxes at 7c.; market now for pure off stock held at 8c, other brands 7 to 7¼c.; Valencia layers 9c.; London layers $3 to $3.25; Sultanas firm at 10 to 13c. with advancing market. In currants advices from Patros report a rapidly increasing market, with strong market here. Vostizzia, 7c. in casks. French prunes in cases 5½ to 5¾. Kegs Bordeaux, quantity limited, we quote at 5 to 5¼. Bags of Turkey prunes, packages are not very desirable, and they are slow sale—we quote 4¼c.; Hhd. do. 4¼ to 4½c. Dates 5¼c. Good Eleme figs 10 to 14c. Evaporated apples in good demand. Several of the large western packers have sold out their entire pack. We look for considerably higher figures towards the opening of navigation. Dried apples 6½c.

NUTS.

Nuts continue to move off quietly. Taragona almonds, 14c.; Ivica 12c.; Pecans 12 to 12½c. with short crop and slow market; Brazil nuts 11c.; Grenoble walnuts 15 to 15½c. and French 10c.; Filberts firm at 10c. for Sicily and 9½c. for Turkey; green peanuts 8½ to 9c.

RICE.

Following are quotations : Mount Royal Mills, A and B. $3.60 to $3.75 per 100 lbs.; Patras 4½ to 5c. and Japan 4 to4½c.

CANNED GOODS.

Market quiet. Some inquiry for tomatoes and peas, but local packers are mostly sold out. Canners' combination strictly adhere to association prices. Tomatoes $1.25, some inferior brands can however be bought in this market at $1.10, but there does not seem to be any movement. Prices remain as follows: Corn $1.20; marrowfat peas, $1.15; sweet peas, $1.25; tomatoes $1.20; stringless beans 85c.; butter beans 90c.; apples, 3 lb., $1.05, per gal. $2.35; pineapples $2.25 to $2.40; strawberries $2.35 to $2.50; peaches $2.15 to $2.25; plums $1.75 to $2; peas $2 to $2.10. Salmon easier at $1.60 to $1.70. Sardines continue firm. Mackerel $5.70 to $5.80.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

GRAIN—The market remains quiet and without alteration in prices which are more or less nominal. We quote :—Wheat, No. 1 hard Manitoba, $1.07½; No. 2, do. $1.05½; Peas, per 66 lbs. 66 to 68c.; Oats, 31 to 32c.; Corn, in bond 35c.; Barley, 40c.

FLOUR—Business is dull, no sales having been reported on 'Change. We quote :—Patent Winter, $4.75 to 5.00; Patent Spring, $4.75 to 5.00; Straight Roller, $4.50 to 4.75; Extra, $4.15 to 4.30; Superfine, $3.00 to 3.75; City Strong Bakers', $5.80 to 5.90; Strong Bakers' $4.25 to 4.60; Superfine, bags, $1.50 to 1.75; Extra, bags, $1.75 to 2.00.

EGGS.

We quote at 16c. to 17c. for fine fresh laid and 15c. to 16c. for American.

PROVISIONS

Quiet and steady. We quote to-day: Canada short cut $14.50 to $15 ; Western short cut $13 to $13.50 ; Western mess $12 to $13.25; hams, city cured, 11½ to 12½c.; lard, 8¼ to 8¾c.; bacon 12 to 13c.; dressed hogs $5.70 to $6 ; dressed hogs, light, in jobbing lots, $6.10 to $6.25.

GREEN FRUIT.

Following are the quotations for to-day: Valencia oranges, $4.50 per case; Messinas, $3.75 per box of 300; Floridas, $3.75 to $4 per box; apples, $4 to $4.50 and up to $7 per barrel; Malaga grapes, $8 to $8.50 ; lemons, $3.50 to $4; cocoanuts, $5 per 100; yellow bananas, $2.50 to $4.50.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

CHEESE—The shipments from Montreal were about six thousand boxes last week and the shipments from the close of navigation to the present were 113,101 from Montreal and 101,793 on through account, bringing up the whole winter's shipment so far to 214,894 boxes as against 189,018 for the corresponding period of last year. Finest 9⅝ to 10½c.; Good to fine 9¼ to 9½c.; Medium 8½ to 9c.

BUTTER—The market continues dull and sick. Jobbers and retail dealers are buying from farmers, wholesale dealers can hardly be induced to do so, at as low as ten cents, and the pressure of the dairy has cut off the demand even for choice creamery. We quote : Finest creamery, 22c. to 23c.; Townships. 12 to 20c.; Morrisburg, 12 to 18c.; Western, 11 to 16c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

HOW THE NEW YORK STATE WHOLESALE GROCERS SELL SUGAR.

The item of freights on sugar has long been a bone of contention between the wholesale and retail grocer in Canada, and the following plan, as adopted by the Wholesale Grocers' Association of New York State would, if put in operation by the Dominion Wholesale Guild, be of immense value to both wholesaler and retailer. They have a printed list of all places in New York State. To the Association card prices must be added, the figures standing opposite the towns where sale is made, the customer to have credit on his bill for the actual amount of freight paid by him from the jobbing point where he buys his goods. Thus the buyer will get his sugar at the same price, no matter when he buys it. For instance, if a grocer in Auburn buys in Syracuse when the Association price is 8½ cents he will pay $8.50 plus 20 ($8.70 per 100 pounds) less the amount of freight (gross weight) from Syracuse credited on his bill; and if he buys in New York he will pay the same price, and have freight from New York credited on his bill, and as the buyer pays the freight when he receives his sugar it will cost him the same, and the same principle governs with all jobbing points.

Messrs. John A. Paterson and John Cornelius Redmond filed a notice in the Superior Court last week that they alone are carrying on their business as wholesale milliners and importers on St. Helen street.

A special meeting of the Grey Cotton Manufacturers' Association was held Monday afternoon, Mr. A. F. Gault presiding. It was reported that all of the mills which had not been represented at the last meeting had been communicated with, and an agreement arrived at as to the suggested advance of one and a half cent a pound in the price of the finer cottons.

L. J. Pelletier & Co., wholesale dry goods merchants, have assigned at the demand of the American and Colonial Export Company. Liabilities $6,000 ; assets about the same. The principal creditors are the Merchants' Bank, $1,071 (note) ; Moorehouse, Dodds & Co., Ont., $1,962 ; Alfred Lecompte, agent, Montreal, $1,600. Mr. Caldwell has been appointed provisional guardian. A meeting of creditors will be held on the 26th inst.

A meeting of the creditors of Edward P. Earle, the missing grocer, was held in the court house last Saturday morning, and Mr. Thomas Gauthier was appointed curator. A curious fact has just come to light. Two of Mr. Earle's creditors were on the same train with him when he left for the United States, and spoke to him on the way, never thinking he was going away not to return.

The Varnish, Oilcloth, and Paint Manufacturers have decided to petition the Government in favor of a reduction of the duty on Linseed Oil to the same level as other Oils. They contend that as a raw material used in the manufacture of their products, it is too heavily burdened. A deputation, consisting of Messrs. Jamison, Manson, and Baillie, representing the several branches, went west last night, to Ottawa, on the subject.

the principal question discussed was the proposal to enforce a uniform system of short credits. During the discussion it was stated that several of the mills have suffered through the present system of long credits and all present expressed themselves in favor of curtailing trade credits. A proposal to come to an agreement on the basis of sixty days' credit with a cash discount of two per cent. appeared to meet with general favor, but the meeting decided that it would be inexpedient to make the change at once, and the matter was left over until the next quarterly meeting for a decision. One of the delegates after the meeting announced that there was little doubt that an agreement on this basis would be come to at next meeting. Although the mills have been working full time, it was stated, contrary to expectations, that there is not a heavy stock of manufactured cotton on hand. It was decided to close down all of the mills for Easter week, and the opinion was expressed that after that brief suspension of manufacturing operations, the surplus stock would be worked off. A complaint was made on behalf of some of the mills which manufacture the finer grades of cotton that the prices for these goods were so low that there was little or no margin of profit left, and it was decided to advance these prices from one to two cents a pound. It was stated by the representatives of the mills who asked for the change that the output of the cotton, which will be affected in price, is very small compared with the whole cotton product of the country.

EMBARRASSMENTS.

Joseph Meehat, merchant, Dalhousie Mills, who lately compromised at 50c. on the dollar, has assigned.

Oliver Quenneville, general merchant, South Casselman, is offering to compromise.

John Fox, general merchant, Orillia, has secured a settlement from his creditors at 60c. on the dollar in three, six and nine months.

The creditors of Minaker & Bro., Cobourg, have ordered the debtors' estate to be wound up. The liabilities are $18,000, and assets $21,000.

J. McIntyre, Lucknow, whose failure was reported the other day, owes $19,000, and has $11,000 assets. He will make no attempt to compromise.

John Hetherington, grocer, Trenton, offered yesterday to compromise at 33½c. on the dollar. The creditors have given him a week to increase his offer. He owes $2,900, with assets of $2,400.

James Muir, Paris, dry goods, who assigned thh other day to Mr. Hector, of W. R. Brock & Co., is out with an offer to compromise at 75c. on the dollar at three, five, nine and twelve months. The liabilities and assets are equal at $14,000. The offer has been recommended for acceptance.

The insolvent stock of gents' furnishings, formerly belonging to Gordon W. Tracie, 1300 Queen street west, has been placed in McLean, Shaw & Co.'s hands to be wound up. The liabilities are $3,000.

J. McIntyre, of Lucknow, owes $19,000, with assets at $11,000. Twelve years ago he was worth $15,000 or $20,000, and erected a handsome block in Lucknow at a cost of $12,000. Not only was the pile of bricks free of encumbrance, but he had a handsome surplus in the bank. His reverses of late years have, however, been numerous, and his estate will not pay thirty cents on the dollar.

A meeting of the creditors of G. J. Barrett, general dry goods, Tilsonburg, who recently assigned with liabilities of $25,000 and assets of $23,000, was held at Toronto on Friday afternoon, when an offer of 40c. on the dollar was refused, and it was decided to sell the stock. The following inspectors were appointed :—Messrs. Caldecott and Woods (Toronto), and Little and Gibbons (London.)

The Inland Revenue Department has recently issued bulletin of about thirty pages which is devoted exclusively to the subject of baking powder and which shows that the majority of the goods in the market are adulterated and unfit for use. Prof. A. McGill, who has had charge of this important work for the Government, says that "imperial baking power is an excellent baking powder." A word to the sensible housekeeper should be suffcieut.

THE CANNED GOODS LAW.

Her Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and House of Commons of Canada, enacts as follows :—

In this Act the expression "package" means every can, tin or package in which articles or goods are put up for sale, and which are closed by being hermetically sealed. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 1.

Except in the case of goods packed previously to July 20, 1885, every package of canned goods sold or offered for sale in Canada, for consumption therein, shall have attached thereto or imprinted thereon a label or stamp, setting forth in legible characters the name and address of the person, firm or company by whom the same was packed, or of the dealer who sells the same or offers it for sale.

Every such package containing goods prepared from products which have been dried previously to being so prepared, shall, in addition, be labelled or stamped with the word "soaked," which word shall be plainly printed diagonally across the face of the label in large, legible type at least half an inch in height and three-eighths of an inch in width.

Every person who sells or offers for sale any such goods in violation of any provision of this section shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, for a first offence incur a penalty of two dollars for each such package, and for a subsequent offence a penalty not exceeding twenty dollars and not less than four dollars for each such package in respect of which any such provision has been violated. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 2.

Every person who places on any package any label, brand or mark which falsely represents the quantity or weight of the contents of such package, shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, incur a penalty of two dollars for each package on which the quantity or weight is so falsely represented; provided always, that a variation under the rate of three per cent. shall not be deemed a violation of the provisions of this section. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 3.

Every person who places on any package any label, brand or mark which falsely represents the date when the article or goods contained therein were packed, shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, incur a penalty of two dollars for each package on which such date is falsely represented. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 4.

The object of business is to make profitable sales.

OBITUARY.

Mr. Isaac Wenger died last week at his home in Ayton, having lived longer than it is allotted to most men to live. His life began in the first year of this century, and the last thirty years of it have been spent in the village that life ended in. Thence he had come from Germany. His energy was the spring of the chief industrial activity in Ayton, and in that village he will be long remembered for his useful services and his honorable life. Mr. Wenger is known to our readers as the writer of some very able and practicable ideas on the butter question. The GROCER remembers him as one of its earliesl subscribers and staunchest friends.

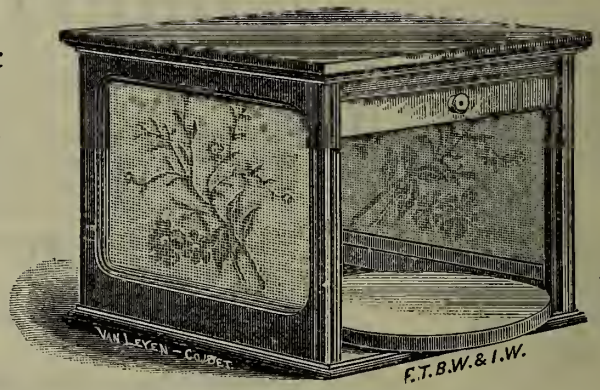
At the regular quarterly meeting of the Dominion Grey Cotton Association, which was held in Montreal on Wednesday evening, Mr. A. F. Gault presided, and there were present Messrs. R. F. Parker, Nova Scotia Mill; J. M. Parks, Wm. Parks & Sons, Wm. Curry, Windsor Cotton Co.; Williams, Gibson Mill; John Harris, Moncton Cotton Co.; Alex. Ewan, Merriton Mill; Cockshutt, Brantford Mill; Morris, James Jackson, Hochelaga Cotton Co.; Wm. Hobbs, Coaticook. The President submitted a satisfactory report, stating that the stocks on hand were much less than had been anticipated. A small advance of two cents a pound was made on the finer goods, which are more expensive to make. The question of altering the terms, so as to bring them down to sixty days, with a two per cent. cash discount, was discussed, but action was deferred until the next meeting.

A large and influential me tin t merchants, bankers, and others was held in Quebec on Saturday, presided over by Mr. Chateuvert, Vice-President of the Board of Trade, to consider a bill now before the Legislature, respecting the abandonment of insolvent estates, and providing that liquidators must declare a dividend within thirty days after the delay allowed for the filing of claims. It was unanimously decided that the bill was not wanted, that the business community had neither inspired it nor had been consulted as to its opportuneness. It was further agreed that a deputation of all the trade should call on the hon. Prime Minister and his colleagues on Monday to explain the views of the trade. Messrs. Levasseur and Bedard subsequently after an interview with Hon Mr. Mercier arranged for a meeting. Correspondence has been exchanged with Montreal, and a strong delegation is expected to join the Quebec merchants.

It appears that the Kingston mill refused to send a delegate to the meeting of the Dominion Cotton Association at Montreal. It was the opinion of the company that the mill here should drop out of the combine. After the meeting of the association in Montreal, a strong delegation waited on the directors of the Kingston Cotton Mill Company. The result was that the company decided to remain in the combine. The importance of this decision can be seen when it is stated that there is a struggle going on between wholesale merchants and the mills. The former want to break the combine and are hanging back, with the result that at present the mills have on hand 6,000 bales, about one-fifth of the entire annual consumption of the Dominion. The merchants have hung so well together that not a single bid has been made for the six thousand bales alluded to. Many of them are run out of stock, but they get orders filled by others. The struggle will be a protracted one unless the banks interfere.

One sheet of paper recently made was 8 feet wide and 7 ¾ miles long.

Master the whole business and the way to fortune has been mapped out.



Every line of goods embodies a history and a science worth years of study to understand.

WILL YOU INVESTIGATE

The greatest check extant on your Cash and Credit sales? A sure way to make a salesman careless is to keep no track of his mistakes. Failures to charge credit sales and mistakes in making change are the leaks that wreck many firms. Avoid this by securing at once

A NATIONAL CASH REGISTER.

It gives you an absolute check on all your cash and credit sales; registering INSTANTLY, ACCURATELY and INDELIBLY, the smallest transaction.

Over Sixteen Thousand in Use.
Seven Thousand Responsible Merchants

Adopted our system last year. Why delay? Delays are dangerous. Start business this year with a perfect system. Keep check on the cents and the dollars will check themselves. Write us for list of users and testimonials, and drop any one of them a line and see what they say.

The undersigned has been appointed Agent in the United States and the Dominion of Canada by

The Associated Tea Planters, Ltd.
OF LONDON, CAPITAL, £50,000.
Under the auspices of the Indian Tea Districts Association.

The object of the company is to push the sale of their product, feeling certain that when systematically brought to consumers' notice its merits will be so manifest as to give it the front rank in public favor, as is the case in Great Britain.

Roundly, the annual consumption in that country is 80,000,000 lbs. during last crop year This is the best answer to the twaddle about the excessive quantity of tannin in Indian tea. Consumers in England are no fools : they know a cup of good tea.

Supplies will be held in Canada and the States and the undersigned, or his assistants, will make regular calls on the Trade. Samples will also be promptly forwarded on application.

Offer for sale all grades of REFINED SUGARS and SYRUPS of the well-known brand of

Redpath

CERTIFICATES OF STRENGTH AND PURITY.

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC ANALYST,
MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

GENTLEMEN,—I have personally taken samples from a large stock of your Granulated Sugar, "REDPATH" brand, and carefully tested them by the Polariscope, and I find these samples to be as near to absolute purity as can be obtained by any process of Sugar-Refining.

The test by the Polariscope showed in yesterday s yield 99·90 per cent. of Pure Cane Sugar, which may be considered commercially as ABSOLUTELY PURE SUGAR.

JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, P.L.D., D.C.L., F.C.S.,
Public Analyst for the District of Montreal, and Professor of Chemistry.

CHEMICAL LABORATORY, MEDICAL FACULTY, McGILL UNIVERSITY.
MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Company:

GENTLEMEN,—I have taken and tested a sample of your "EXTRA GRANULATED" Sugar, and find that it yielded 99·88 per cent. of Pure Sugar It is practically as pure and good a Sugar as can be manufactured.

Yours truly,
G. P. GIRDWOOD.

LOOK OUT FOR HIM!

In our issue of February 14th, we drew attention to what seemed very like a fraud on the part of a professed paper bag agent, who took orders for paper bags and then collected sums of money to pay for the printing on the same. We are now about certain that our suspicions are correct. The Secretary of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association is in receipt of enquiries from storekeepers who have been bitten, and who have made enquiries through the post to Kingston, said letters being returned through the dead letter office.

A CHEAP PLACE TO LIVE IN.

Orillia must be a cheap place to live in. The merchants there have no combine to keep up the prices but advertise them so that the public may know. From the Orillia Packet we see that you can get there 19 lbs. of bright sugar, or 13 lbs. of granulated sugar, or 20 lbs. of prunes, or 60 bars of laundry soap for one dollar. 6 lbs. of rice, or 10 lbs. of cornmeal, or 10 lbs. of oatmeal, or two cans of salmon or 3 lbs. of corn starch, for 25 cents. 1 lb. of smoking or chewing tobacco for 30 cents. How will these prices compare with what you have to pay in Thamesville? We notice in the Grocer an article deploring the depraved state of trade in that town, and saying that it is caused by bankrupt stocks. Let the cause be what it may, it is good for the consumer and draws trade for miles.

In the last sentence of the foregoing paragraph the Thamesville Herald states what at first sight appears to be an admissible generalization. The statement, however, won't hold if "the consumer" is taken in a general sense. If all consumers had the same opportunities, arising from the same cause, to buy cheap goods, it would be for less than a fly's lifetime, and would be followed by an oscillation as swift to high prices. Such a general opportunity would imply a universal collapse of business, which could be recovered from only by a drastic application of sound economic principles. This would involve not only a full price for every article of subsequent consumption during the stage of adjustment, but also such an increment to full prices as would be necessary for the liquidation of every dollar of insolvency that the former low prices had arisen in or had aggravated. It is, indeed, as low prices become more general through bankruptcies, that the advent of high prices is the closer. Therefore, it is not good for the consumer in the general sense, that there should be cheap goods through widespread failure.

While the recoil to high prices is obvious from a contemplation of an era of low prices founded in national insolvency, it is less generally regarded that there must be an averaging of prices in correspondence to every individual insolvency that takes place. That is, insolvencies make prices higher. If in Orillia there are one hundred thousand dollars worth of goods that were brought to that town from insolvent estates for fifty five thousand dollars, the wholesalers among whom the forty-five thousand dollars of loss fall, will be very sure to charge it to their customers who, in turn, will levy it on the consumers. The loss is to be ultimately made up by the consumers, although not perhaps by the particular consumers who reaped the advantage. These latter may be in a position to buy goods for an indefinite length of time below the normal value of them, owing to the fact that the local merchants may lay in solely bankrupt stocks. But some consumers have to make up the loss, and it looks as if the Thamesville people had their share of it to bear, otherwise the Herald would be unable to appreciate the lowness of Orillia prices. It looks, also, as if that paper wished its village might long have to continue to contribute its quota of outsiders' unpaid debts, otherwise the Herald would not felicitate Orillia upon being a cheap town to live in, and allege that such a state of things is good for the consumer. "The consumer" must be used in a very limited sense for this statement to be true, and can apply only to an odd town or so, upon the further condition that the supply of bankrupt stock to such towns shall be constant. But as long as Thamesville dealers are doing straight business the consumers of that village are helping to support those of the cheap buying towns in supposition.

But even if a town had the advantage of buying a sufficiency of bankrupt stock, and this advantage were a lasting one, is such a system of trade a stable basis for the prosperous growth of that town? Where living is always cheap, pay is always low. What regulates pay is the cost of living as the competition of labor plays within the full margin above that. Therefore, even the local consumer enjoys no ultimate benefit from the peculiarity of his position, even upon the supposition that such a position is perpetual. If pay is low the cost of production must also be, and that circumstance will rule the terms upon which the products of such a town enter outside markets against other towns. Further, the product of cheap labor very seldom deserves the highest price. The upshot of it is that nobody makes money. Such a town, too, has its record of failures. Does that part of its history, or does its price cutting fame operate strongly to lure capital to it? Do low wages bring labor to it? Such a town can have few healthy additions while its commercial system is vitiated. It may have great natural advantages but it abuses them so long as it trades mostly in bankrupt stocks, and in that trade pursues a course that goes one better to extend the bankrupt series. Its trade is not cumulative, its record does not invite the immigration either of capital or labor, and consequently there is no progress. It is a standstill town, keeping itself in a perspiration without gaining ground.

WHOLESALERS SELLING TO CONSUMERS.

OSO STATION, February 25th, 1890.

To the Editor CANADIAN GROCER:

SIR,—Are the so-called wholesale grocers of Kingston worthy of the name of wholesalers, or are they anything more than jobbers? Are they doing justice to the country store-keepers by selling sugar sixteen pounds for one dollar, the same as they charge the storekeeper, six cents per pound by the barrel; and six pounds of tea for one dollar, the same as they charge the retail storekeeper, sixteen cents per pound by the chest? There are better houses than any in Kingston, whose representatives would be only too glad to call on and do business with these store-keepers, if they received a little encouragement, but the habit of buying in Kingston has become so established that it seems a Herculean task to change their market, although the sooner they do so the better it will be for themselves. Again, the K. & P. Ry. does a great injustice to the store-keepers on that line by running cheap trains weekly, in order that the little ready cash which the resident may have can be taken to town, whilst the country store-keeper is left with perhaps forty, fifty dollars, or more, on his books, and the city jobbers complain of bad debts and many a country store-keeper is ruined. Nor is this all. These jobbers send the prices they are giving for such articles as they know parties produce, thus taking away the trade from the country store, and in many cases paying freight for the private individual which they refuse to do for the store-keeper, and this of itself is sometimes a considerable item.

Yours,

RETAILER.

The competition of strictly wholesale dealers against their retail patrons is an evil that we thought trade in this country had outlived. It is an evil based on a very superficial idea of business, and one so misfitting to this age that we cannot see how it could be kept up. There are too many wholesale centres nowadays for any local distributers to hope that they can do this injury to their customers with impunity. If there are exceptions to this we think speedy correction can be administered best through a boycott.

Upon this question we consulted a representative of the GROCER, who has just returned from a trip that took in Kingston. He informs us that there are wholesalers in that city who confine themselves solely to the supplying of retailers' stocks, and that there are others who have a wholesale and a retail department, but that the departments are separate. If it were the trade done by the latter class of grocers that our correspondent protested against, we could not go with him in the condemnation of it, supposing, of course, the distinctness of the two parts to be preserved. There is no sailing under false colors in such a case, and any man is both legally and morally free to own two stores, one retail the other wholesale, so long as one business is not run into the other. He has then to take his chance for consumers' trade with the retailers, and he has to reckon with himself if other retailers disapprove and withdraw their custom from his wholesale business. It is only for himself to decide whether the interests of the two departments conflict.

But "Retailer" is specific in his statements, and gives examples of wholesale terms conceded to consumers. Such a practice no genuine wholesaler would be guilty of, and retailers should give to no dealer who stoops to this thing any grounds for calling himself a wholesaler. They should show him that retribution is inevitable, by withdrawing from him every dollar's worth of their trade. That is the way to use so unprincipled a dealer. There are wholesalers in that city honorably entitled to and competent to provide all local and outlying retail demand. They should get it rather than men who will not keep faith with their customers.

As for the special railway excursions on market days, we might as well try to stop one of them as try to arrest the tendency of the time to centralize trade. It certainly does not seem a very moral tendency, but it is nevertheless irresistible. A railway that has received a bonus from every township through which it runs, repays the traders in those townships very poorly by taking away their custom, but by the concentration of trade at a convenient point it makes goods cheaper to the general public. Thus, it cannot be denied, railways in this sense are not the friends of the country trader.

THE ABUSE OF COMPROMISES

EDITOR CANADIAN GROCER:

SIR,—Do you not think that the time has come when merchants paying one hundred cents on the dollar should have some protection against business men who are slaughtering goods and defrauding by compromising? If this kind of business is continued by wholesale men accepting such offers I consider the sooner honest men fall into the ranks the better for them. Otherwise they will become bankrupt, simply because they cannot compete with those who are let off at a certain rate on the dollar What is the cause of so many failures? It is not hard times, it is the fault of the wholesalers to a certain extent. They have their Dun Wiman and Bradstreet for their protection, but it is of little or no use to them. They sell just the same to men that have no rating or credit, therefore the consequence is failure. The sooner steps are taken to banish this compromising the better for trade. Merchants who are in the habit of buying heavily will economize and endeavor to pay one hundred cents on the dollar. If such fraudulent schemes are to be encouraged by our masters of business, how are we backwoods merchants going to be honest and live? If such work does continue my advice to all merchants is, buy heavy, get long terms, slaughter goods at the expense of creditors and then offer so much on the dollar.

Yours,

MERCHANT.

Minden, 13th March, 1890.

This is a question upon which the sense of the honest traders of the country is not unanimously nor often enough expressed. There is no doubt they think unanimously but they do not speak. There is no reason why fraud should turn trade upside down. If it does it shows that there is more energy in the fraudulent element than there is in the body of honesty upon which trade rests. This is not saying that there are more dishonest traders than honest ones, but that the honest ones are rather apathetic, while the others keep both eyes open and manage to have an almost preponderating influence upon the business of the country. The influence is that of the more active rather than that of the more numerous members of trade. Their activity is concentrated upon one object, and that is to get all the privileges and to avoid all the responsibilities that are connected with business. Honest men may possess ten times the energy, but they turn too little of it into the service of self-defence. They strive to hold their own against such competition as dishonesty inaugurates, and thus become its victims.

What is wanted is a more pronounced and general utterance from dealers of honest methods. This would hasten a movement that is already making headway among wholesalers. The Wholesale Grocers' Guild will not assent to a compromise unless there are extenuating circumstances that are very clearly set forth. A late agreement between Toronto and Montreal dry-goods men regulates many things which directly favor the compromising evil. The influence of boards of trade throughout the country is working strongly for the correction of many trade evils that are tributary to this one, and the formation of a business men's association in every trading centre will be the final organized effort of honest traders to redeem the good name of trade in this country. We think that there is progress being made, but if the will of the upright retailers throughout the country were unmistakably declared, wholesalers would soon put their foot down on easy compromises.

OUR SALMON YIELD.

According to the statistics of Mr. Thomas Mowat, Fisheries' Inspector for British Columbia, the yield of the fisheries of that province for the year 1889 was above three and a quarter million dollars. In each of the years 1887 and 1888, the yield was under two million. This Mr Mowat, in his report, attributes to the re-stocking of the rivers with fry from the hatcheries. Sockeye salmon were never seen in the Cowichan and Nanaimo rivers before last year, and their present appearance in these streams is traceable to the colonies from the hatcheries. The Inspector urges that a steamer be provided to be employed in developing and protecting the deep sea fisheries of British Columbia along the entire coast. The great need for such a steamer had long been apparent. In the report was also included the result of the enquiries that had been made in regard to the artificial obstruction of streams where the salmon go to spawn. The subject had received attention, and when remedied the fish would be given a wider range of natural spawning ground.

One sheet of paper recently made was 8 feet wide and 7 ¾ miles long.

RETAILERS OF MANITOBA AND N.W.T.

Owing to pressure on our space we have been unable to give our readers before this a report of the Retailers' Convention which opened in Winnipeg on Monday, the 3rd inst. In this issue we publish an account of the proceedings of that assembly, reduced from the report of the Manitoba Free Press.

The wholesale and retail trade of Manitoba and the North-west were represented by over one hundred delegates present on Monday. The only business done on that day was the appointment of committees to draft an outline of organization, to plan an order of business, and to devise ways and means.

On Tuesday forenoon the election of officers resulted as follows :—President, J. B. Baird, Pilot Mound ; Vice-President, Mr. Anderson, Portage la Prairie ; Secretary, W. T. Reid, Neepawa ; Treasurer, Wm. Hunter, Winnipeg ; Council, A. E. Hill, Carberry ; W. J. Heminway, Carman ; Mr. Fraser, Brandon ; Mr. Sherlock, Glenfell ; Mr. Young, Virden ; Mr. Lewis, Birtle ; Mr. Sanders, Deloraine; Mr. Bryson, Winnipeg; and Mr. Rollins, Crystal City.

BOARD OF TRADE DEPUTATION.

On Tuesday afternoon the following deputation from the Winnipeg Board of Trade was received : Messrs. Whitla, Ashdown, Galt, Grant, Stobart, Parsons, Bell, McKenzie and others. Mr. Whitla, President of the Board, made a brief address, welcoming the retailers, and referring to the importance of the convention. He thought Mr. Jas. Steen, who had been instrumental in calling it, was entitled to the thanks of the business community. Mr. Ashdown followed, expressing the opinion that the convention would result in much good. Mr. Geo. F. Galt expressed the hope that the convention would be made an annual occurrence. Mr. F. W. Stobart, Ald. Kenneth McKenzie and other members of the deputation also addressed the convention. Mr. Grant spoke at length on the butter question, and answered a number of questions in regard to it. A vote of thanks was tendered to the deputation for their visit and to the Board of Trade for furnishing the hall in which to hold the convention.

THE CREDIT SYSTEM.

After the deputation withdrew the convention engaged in a discussion of the credit system. It was moved by R. Rollins, seconded by B. R. Hamilton, "That in the opinion of this convention the credit system as it now exists is detrimental to the best interests of the retail trade. That credits are given for too long a time. That this convention recommends the general adoption of the coupon system."

Mr. Heminway moved, seconded by Mr. Livingstone, "That in the opinion of this meeting all books should be closed from the first day of November to the first day of May."

Mr. B. R. Hamilton moved as an amendment, seconded by R. Rollins, "That this convention recommends the suspension, as far as possible, of all credit during the winter months, say from 1st December until 1st of April."

Mr. Heminway thought that whatever action was taken should be strictly adhered to by the whole convention. Mr. Hill, of Carberry, thought it would be folly to make a cast iron rule regarding credits. It was all very well to talk and pass resolutions but it was not so easy to close up their books. He moved as an amendment that this convention recommend a general discount for cash. Mr. Francis, of Headingly, thought that to pass a resolution abolishing all credits and the closing up of books would be to make the convention look ridiculous. It was utterly impossible to carry out such a resolution, particularly as the convention did not represent more than ten per cent. of the merchants of the province. He stated frankly that even if Mr. Heminway's resolution was passed he for one would not abide by it. Mr. Ross, of Neepawa, moved the following amendment to the amendment :—"That it is the opinion of this convention that there should be an entire suspension of credit from the 1st of November until the 1st of April, but where this is not considered practicable credit should not extend to a period over thirty days." Mr. Heminway made a vigorous speech in support of his motion saying that the credit system was ruining the country. Finally he asked leave to withdraw his motion, and expressed his willingness to accept Mr. Ross' amendment. The convention refused to grant this leave, however, and so the motion was allowed to stand. A vote was then taken, and Mr. Hamilton's amendment adopted. Mr. Hill, of Carberry, suggested recommending a discount for cash. This suggestion caused quite a long discussion. Mr. Heminway thought the discount and credit system could never be satisfactorily arranged till the obnoxious Exemption Act was repealed. He suggested that the convention send a deputation to the Government and ask them to erase the Exemption Act from the statute book.

THE BUTTER QUESTION.

At the Tuesday evening session Mr. Heminway moved, seconded by Mr. Young, of Virden, "That in th opinion of this meeting the butter trade of this province is handled in a most unsatisfactory and unprofitable manner; therefore be it resolved that this meeting appoint a butter inspector in each and every town in the province and that no butter be bought or sold only on his inspection. And further that the inspector's fees be, say five cents a package, payable by parties having butter inspected; also that parties manufacturing butter, buy their packages, and not, as formerly, use those given by merchants to fill and return. Also that no butter be taken on accounts by merchants."

The mover and seconder made brief speeches in favor of their resolutions. They were followed by Mr. Francis, of Headingly, who spoke at length on the question. Mr Livingstone, of Glenboro, entered a protest against the appointment of inspectors. He thought the idea was impracticable. Mr. Gould, of McGregor, objected to the clause of the resolution regarding the acceptance of butter on account. Merchants accepted butter, he declared, because they desired to keep down their credit accounts. He did not think the clause regarding the appointment of inspectors in each town was advisable. Mr. Ross, of Rapid City, said he would support the motion if he thought it were practicable, but he did not think it was, therefore he moved as an amendment, "That this convention strongly advises the establishment of creameries throughout the country as the best solution of the butter question; that until creameries can be established a higher price should not be paid for butter than it will realize in the wholesale market and that the system of supplying tubs free to the customer be discontinued and that butter be not taken on due or overdue accounts."

Mr. Morton, of Boissevain, spoke in favor of inspection of butter, and made a strong protest against the present system of handling butter in this country. Mr. Anderson, of Portage la Prairie, suggested the appointment of a government inspector in the province.

Mr. Jas. Steen pointed out that the province had no power to appoint such an inspector. That power rested solely with the Inland Revenue department at Ottawa. It was a matter that had been frequently discussed by the Board of Trade. Mr. Heminway thought the merchants could appoint an inspector of butter if they so chose. He thought it was of the utmost importance that inspectors should be appointed.

Mr. Grant, Winnipeg, at the request of the convention, delivered an address on the butter question, giving the merchants many valuable suggestions as to the trade. He particularly wished to impress upon the merchants the advisability of selling butter quickly after its manufacture.

The chairman thought it would be greatly to the advantage of the butter trade throughout the country to have uniform quotations issued each week. After some further discussion a vote was taken on the subject and Mr. Ross' amendment carried.

BANKRUPT STOCKS.

After the report of the committee on ways and means, recommending a tax of fifty cents on each member to defray expenses, had been adopted, the question of bankrupt stocks was brought up and briefly discussed. It was pointed out that solvent dealers endeavoring to do a legitimate business were greatly injured by bankrupt stocks being thrown on the market and slaughtered; and it was thought that such stocks should be, as far as possible, absorbed by the wholesale men in order to protect solvent firms. Disapproval of the supply account system was also strongly expressed.

The discussion was resumed on Wednesday morning by the motion of Mr. Meikle, seconded by Mr. Jordan, that in view of the great loss and discouragement to solvent merchants by the sale and sacrifice of bankrupt stock in their vicinity this convention would strongly urge upon the wholesale merchants to devise some plan to prevent as far as posssible the loss occasioned thereby to their good customers, and in some cases ultimately loss to themselves, by causing other failures. Carried.

It was moved by Mr. Rollins, seconded by D. A. Hopper, that in the opinion of this convention it is detrimental to the interest of the retailers that wholesale houses establish supply accounts in competition to legitimate dealers. Carried.

PEDDLERS, PRICES, PRODUCE.

Then followed a general discussion on matters affecting the retail trade—the trouble caused by the competition of Jew peddlers, the advisability of merchants in towns relying somewhat on one another in keeping up a uniform rate of fair prices; the advisability of cutting prices on goods which are deteriorating in value. There was a general consensus of opinion that onstaple goods prices should be regulated, perhaps by local associations; outside of that every man, it was thought, should be a law unto himself. In this connection it was moved by H. C. Ross, that this convention recommend the forming of local associations or boards of trade by the merchants in the different towns in this province and the North-west Territories for the regulation of the price of produce for securing uniformity in the price of staple articles, and to discourage the practice of cutting prices of general goods. The resolution was carried.

INSURANCE.

On Wednesday afternoon Mr. Heminway moved, seconded by W. J. Sutton,—"That in the opinion of this convention the insurance rates of this province, particularly the rates charged merchants, are excessive and exorbitant, therefore be it resolved that we, representing the retail mercantile interests, form ourselves into a body and notify the insurance companies through the city Board of Trade that unless the rates be reduced to correspond closely with those of other provinces we will use our utmost endeavor to induce other companies to come in, as well as form local companies to do business, and it is also resolved to ask the wholesale merchants to co-operate with the convention in a united effort to secure a reduction, owing to the fact that under present circumstances in many cases merchants are unable to carry sufficient insurance to protect themselves and their creditors, and that a committee be appointed to co-operate with the Board of Trade in the matter."

Mr. R. T. Riley objected to the whole system of insurance in this country, finding particular fault with the Board of Underwriters as now constituted, as it was to the interes s of the underwriters, who were the insurance agents. He also took exception to the forms of policies and advocated the formation of a local company. If such a company were formed it must have no connection with the Board of Underwriters. He thought that at least the convention should enter a vigorous protest against the way of conducting insurance here and bring the Board of Underwriters in Manitoba to their senses.

Mr. Ashdown made a brief speech pointing out the importance of the subject and making valuable suggestions. Mr. Whitla made a vigorous speech declaring that the time had come for decisive action. He advised an agitation against the insurance companies and no surrender in the matter. The business men of Manitoba would be themselves to blame if they did not get their rights in this matter. Ex-Mayor Ryan also favored a vigorous course of action against the companies for lower rates. Mr. Labonde advocated the wholesale and retail merchants forming a co-operative insurance company. He went at length into the details of this proposition, pointing out the experiences of other cities in co-operative insurance. The chairman thought that if the merchants of the country stood shoulder to shoulder they would be able to force insurance companies to come to reasonable terms. Mr. Ashdown desired to mention the importance of obtaining copies of applications for insurance in duplicate, and also of carefully reading over the policies when obtained. After some further general discussion the resolution was unanimously adopted. A committee was appointed to co-operate with the board of trade in the matter of obtaining a reduction in the rates. Mr. Riley suggested that before the members of the committee left the city they should wait on the government and see if some legislation could not be obtained which would further the important object. This suggestion was adopted, a motion of Mr. Rollins instructing the committee to interview the government being adopted.

MUNICIPAL ASSESSMENT.

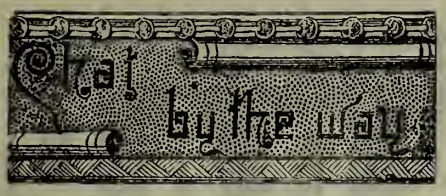
Mr. Whitla spoke strongly against the system of assessment in this country contending that great injustice was being done to the business community by it.

THE EXEMPTION ACT.

As to the Exemption Act, Mr. Ashdown was afraid they would never succeed in getting the government to abolish it, but he thought perhaps they might succeed in getting it modified. Mr. Jas. Steen made a vigorous attack on the Legislature which had passed the Exemption Act, saying that many of its members were unprincipled dead beats, most of them desiring to become sheriff—proof. At the time it was passed, he said, bailiffs were after several members of the House. Mr. Hamilton did not think the Exemption Act was as iniquitous as some seemed to think. He thought the farmers in this country who might be unfortunate should have some protection. He thought the convention should not undertake too much lest they accomplish nothing. The retailers, he was afraid, would be antagonizing the farmers.

Mr. Morton moved, seconded by Mr. Herbert, that this convention desires to bring before the notice of our legislators the anomaly in local taxation whereby the merchants' stock is taxed to its full value while the personal property of farmers and the capital of financial concerns and other accumulated funds, are exempt from taxation entirely and this convention hereby appoints a committee to work in harmony with the Winnipeg Board of Trade in getting this anomalous state of affairs brought to an end." This motion was carried.

It was also resolved that the convention desires to express its decided disapproval of the exemptions from execution or seizure guaranteed to debtors in the Act known as an Act for the administration of justice, especially in so far as they take away the means of recovery by process of law of debts for goods actually necessary for household supplies, and the convention pledges its support to the Winnipeg Board of Trade in any efforts made by its members to have these exemptions abolished in connection with debts incurred for family necessities."



The committee appointed to wait on the Legislature is composed of Messrs. Baird (Pilot Mound), Reed (Neepawa), Ross (Rapid City), Hamilton (Neepawa), and Hemenway (Carman).

NEXT MEETING.

After some discussion it was decided to hold the next convention during the month of September of this year, the exact date to be fixed by the president.

Resolutions of thanks were passed to the officers of the convention, to the railway companies and others, after which the convention was dismissed.

Among the welcome visitors at THE GROCER office this week was Mr. A. E. Howse of Nicola, British Columbia. He is a general merchant and also owns an extensive saw and grist mill at that place. He is an Ontario boy, hailing from Grimsby, who went west some years ago and has made a success of his business in the far west. He is now in Ontario buying a roller flour mill, and he has also been laying in a general stock. Among his purchases were a car of very fine creamery butter. He is also shipping a car of oats as feed is scarce on the Pacific Coast, the grasshoppers having paid them a visit last summer. Mr. Howse takes great interest in the questions discussed by the trade in Ontario and our readers will remember an interesting letter from him in THE GROCER last year. He is very much pleased with THE GROCER and tells a good story at the expense of a neighbor. The latter received a Montreal paper and a circular last year when sugars were booming in which he was advised to buy sugar in very strong terms. He ordered 100 barrels and advised Mr. Howse to do the same. Mr. Howse, however, said he had followed THE GROCER'S sugar reports and they said the market was showing signs of weakness and he would not buy. His friend had scarcely got his sugar in his place before the market commenced to decline as everyone knows.

A factory for canned goods is about to be started in Ottawa.

T. W. Rutledge, of Markdale, is gaining many customers by his pleasing manner, and choice goods in the grocery line.

John Hockett, a well known Kingston hide merchant, died on Friday. He was a resident of Kingston for over thirty years.

A movement has been started among the Picton grocers, which is expected to end in the early formation of an association.

The general stock of Mr. Wightman, Oshawa, was damaged on Thursday by fire to the extent of $600.

John White has leased Miss Park's store, Wyoming, and will shortly open a grocery business.

Calgary merchants have formed a protection association, with a membership of twenty seven.

American capitalists are making arrangements to establish a mammoth beet sugar factory in Manitoba this year.

James Williamson, a pedlar of silverware, was fined $25 by Mayor Lutz, of Galt, for peddling without a license.

E. N. Douglas, of New York, is examining the facilities of Halifax for weighing and handling sugar for winter transhipment to Montreal.

J. J. Hopkins is continuing on the business of himself and partner at Chatsworth. In his general store he keeps things in good order, and is well liked among the trade.

Mr. John Simons, dry goods merchant of Lindsay, has removed to Bradford. Before leaving he was presented with a gold watch and chain by his friends.

Last Thursday the stores of Messrs. C. E. Smith & Co., and Wigle Bros., both general merchants, were burnt along with other buildings in Essex Centre.

Geo. S. Rooney, London manager for W. E. Sandford & Co., Hamilton, left the other morning for Montreal, where the firm has started a large new branch.

The Mail's Hamilton news has this paragraph: Hannah street was sprinkled with parcels of groceries on Saturday, the result of a runaway in which Mr. Ballantyne's horse played the leading role.

The Hamilton fire, markets and police committee recommended to the Council that fruit peddlers shall be compelled to take out annual licenses, as follows: For hawking with a basket, $5; hand-waggon, $10; horse and waggon, $20.

Mr. C. T. Doyle, of Montreal, interviewed the Ministers of Customs and Finance the other day to urge the removal of the duties on imported English and Scotch cloths used in the manufacture of ladies' and gentlemen's waterproof clothing. He said the cloth was not manufactured in Canada, and would not trench on any vested rights.

Mr. Thackray, the secretary of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association, has received several replies to his question about the fees paid by peddlers in different cities here and in the United States. The replies so far go to show that Toronto is far behind other leading cities in the tax it levies on the itinerant vendors.

At a special meeting of the Grey Cotton Manufacturers' Association, Mr. A. F. Gault presiding, it was reported that all the mills which had not been represented at the last meeting had been communicated with, and an agreement arrived at as to the suggested advance of 14c. a pound on the price of the finer cottons.

Mr. W. J. Couron, grocer, West Toronto Junction, reports an unsuccessful attempt to burglarize his premises on Saturday at about 3 o'clock a. m. The breaking of the glass in the door alarmed the sleeping inmates, and the proprietor entered the store just in time to save the contents of his till, which contained about $150.

The manufacture of cocoas and chocolates, carried on so long under the style of J. W. Cowan & Co., will be continued by the Cowan Cocoa and Chocolate Co. into which the former named firm has merged. Mr. John A. Wood, of Guelph, very well known to the trade, is president under the new order.

Under the General Inspection Act the undermentioned gentlemen have been appointed a board of examiners for leather and rawhides for the inspection districts of Norfolk and Oxford, Brant and Haldimand counties: Messrs. John Grant and John Douglas, of Woodstock; John Ott, Brantford; G. W. Luscombe, of Simcoe, and N. H. Wickett, of York, Haldimand county.

Messrs. Boulter, Kissock, Levine, May, Bourdon, Edgar, of Montreal, and Messrs. Gillespie and Allan, of Toronto, interviewed Messrs. Bowell and Foster last week to protest against any change in the rates of duty now imposed upon wool, fur, felt and straw hats, contending that the duty is now sufficiently high to protect the industry in Canada. The Ministers gave the usual reply.

At the annual meeting of the Peterborough Board of Trade lately these officers were elected:—President, W. H. Meldrum; Vice-President, Adam Hall; Secretary, J. H. Burnham. Council—Messrs. R. Innes, James Stevenson, D. W. Dumble, T. A. Hay, J. W. Fairweather, R. Fair, H. Phelan, F. H. Dobbin, Thos. Brooks, H. S. Macdonald, W. E. Sherwood, C. N. Brown, and Geo. Hilhard.

Mr. T. Small, who owns the premises No. 315 McNab st., Hamilton, has taken his son into partnership, under the firm name of T. Small & Son, and put in a complete stock of fine groceries as well as a connecting meat supply. Mr. Small, jr., left a situation in a hardware store, where he had been for three years, to take up this business, and says he is well pleased with the change so far. The stand is a good one and, with the energy and business ability that will be put in, must bring success to this firm.

Says the Chicago Journal of Commerce: The latest reported discovery in connection with the cotton seed comes from Germany, where, it is said, a process has been discovered for extracting sugar from cotton seed meal. The sugar is of a very superior grade, but cannot be sold in competition with the ordinary article. It is said to be inclined to ferment or sour, and hence better for use in preserving fruits. It is said to be fifteen times sweeter than cane sugar, and twenty times more so than sugar made from beets.

Through Mr. Jno. Wilkins, of Toronto, his brother, Mr. W. F. Wilkins, of Adamsville, Que., reports that the prospects so far are not good for an average production of maple syrup and sugar. Mr. W. has the same report confirmed by several of the large makers of Shefford, Brome and Missisquoi counties, who look for better prices than last season, which was a very good one as far as a large production of these toothsome articles might be called good.

An Order-in-Council has been passed fixing the salmon fishery regulations as applicable to the province of British Columbia during the coming season. The mesh of nets used for capturing salmon is fixed at 5¾ inches, and this size is not to be reduced. The weekly close season is to extend from 6 p. m. on Saturdays until 6 a. m. Mondays. The total number of licenses for salmon fishing in the Fraser river is limited to 500;

The Maritime Province members will propose to the Government, as an offset to the suggested increased duty on flour, that the duty on molasses be entirely removed, except on those grades used for refining and distilling purposes. The members claim that this would be but carrying to its legitimate conclusion the policy of the Conservative Government to give the workingmen of Canada a free breakfast table. If the concession be granted, they say it would be a great boon to the Maritime Provinces, and lead undoubtedly to an extension of the trade with the West Indies.

The easel show card of Messrs. F. F. Dalley & Co., proprietors of the Hamilton Chemical Works, is one of the best attempts we have seen to catch and impress that nebulous attention which has a place in every man's conscience. A young man exquisitely dressed, of radiant beauty, with a monnocle stuckin his left eye, lounges on the back of a chair. He has not the languid, impassive manner and stony stare typical of the London counterfeit, but he is a flesh and blood young man whose personality interests us enough to look below to know something about him. We there learn that he uses Spanish Blacking.

The amendments embodied in the new banking bill are briefly as follows: 1. The bank notes of all Canadian banks to pass at par within the Dominion, the banks to make arrangements amongst themselves to carry this out. 2. The notes of insolvent banks to be redeemed by means of a fund to be called the bank circulation redemption fund, and be made up by taking a certain percentage of the average circulation of the banks, this percentage being 2½ per cent. for the first two years, from July 1, 1891, making 5 per cent. altogether, which, on 30 millions of circulation, will leave a million and a half always in the hands of the Government, the Government to pay interest at 3 per cent. per annum on these moneys; notes of insolvent banks to bear interest at 6 per cent. until notice is given for the liquidation of the notes. 3. Limitation of the number of banks by providing that before any new institution can commence business $250,000 must have been paid into the Receiver-General. 4. Introduction of a compulsory audit system under the supervision of the shareholders.

HECK'S COLUMN.

Five years, as corner grocery keeper, have made Geo. Lamothe, of Strathroy, a good account with the wholesale trade.

W. D. Stuart, grocer of Ayr, has a good word to say of and to every person. A man like that should succeed.

"The hens are laying fast," say Howden & Cameron, of Watford. "We seem to get more eggs every week. A produce man could get eggs, here, any day he might call.'

The Government honors Mr. D. Graham, grocer, of Strathroy, by building the new post office on the corner opposite his store. When it is complete Mr. Graham's customers will be numerous.

Subscribers in Walkerton will remember E. E. Dundass, who sold out his place of business to Adams & Royce. His friends will be pleased to hear of his success in his native town, Ingersoll. There he is again in the grocery business.

The grocery trade has been very quiet near Petrolea, this winter. Numbers of men earn their living by their work in the woods, and without snow little has been brought out.

The merchants gave credit, and now have to stop, fearing they will be out every cents' worth of goods on their books.

When you strike a town on Saturday where farmers are trading, it is hard to see any of the merchants. So I found it at Forest on my last trip up that way. Produce was coming in very plentifully with McFarland & Thomas. I had a few minutes with Mr. McFarland, time enough to have him try THE GROCER. In that he will get what time would not allow to be talked over.

W. P. Clay, who runs a neat grocery in the Imperial block, South Water street, Galt, is about ready to resume cheese-making at his factory, just outside the town. This year he proposes making a special kind for the grocery trade, there being a vast difference between cheese for shipping and cheese for home use. He feels confident that he can supply many local grocers with first-class cheese.

W. J. Cherney has built a new office in his store, at the corner of Front & Cromwell streets, Sarnia, and is about to have the railroad cash system put in. Mr. Cherney has been five years in this stand, and keeps things in good shape. He also takes an active part in the Grocers' Association of that place, as do the Messrs. Wenino, together with their worthy secretary-treasurer, Mr. Sanders, who is the right man in the right place.

Yonge-street grocers will remember W. A. Fraser, who at one time kept store on the corner of Yonge and Alexander streets, but is now in Sarnia, where he has one of the neatest stores in that place. The fixings are all new and are of a light color, together with a clean stock of new goods. It cannot be supposed but that he is doing a fine trade. Fraser has a good head and understands his business, and THE GROCER wishes him much success.

All sorts of schemes, got up by collecting agencies have been tried in the western towns. Two have come under notice lately, and we are now endeavoring to trace the firms and will let our subscribers know where their money has gone. The best plan we can suggest, for preventing and perhaps collecting bad debts is, through Associations. If you have none form one at once and begin work.

"Going to take an American paper in future" said a grocer to me, to-day. I asked his reason, and he said—"all sugar was grown in the States, and of course he had to keep posted as to how the crops were before he could buy on spec." "That's, all right, Mister, but THE CANADIAN GROCER keeps you posted on such information," said I, and on showing him the last one of Feb. number, he was surprised on seeing so much about sugar. If you take a trade paper read it, and when you take a trade paper take the one that can give the most information in your trade.

A stranger came to Markdale some two weeks ago, and was staying with Benson Bros., grocers, of the Belfast House, in that place. He met with a fearful accident on Monday morning week. It appears he was in a stupor and took a position over the hot air register in the liquor department of the store. There was but little fire in the furnace below on Sunday evening, but on Monday morning a roaring fire was put on, and shortly after Mr. W. J. Benson was horrified on entering the store to find the poor fellow roasted to death. His name was Alli Gator, who a short time ago came from Florida.

Still among the leading grocers of Meaford is E. Y. Godfrey. He had had quite a busy time of it this winter with fish.

A great friend ot the GROCER is T. A. Vickers, of Owen Sound. When our reporter called on him the other day he was giving a country merchant a going over for not taking a good trade paper, and in his remarks was pushing our paper better than the reporter could have done himself.

GROCERIES.

The movement of trade for the past week has been normal. Local buying was fairly active. Payments have been up to the general expectations. The prices of dried fruit, and of Rio coffee have maintained their strength. Sugar, on the other hand, is showing undoubted signs of weakness.

CANNED GOODS.

The demand which is due at this season has not yet let itself be heard from with any special energy. There is a call but it cannot be classed as more than fairly good. The staple articles favored mostly in last week's buying continue to receive the largest share of attention yet. The class of goods now entering retail stocks is, however, mostly choice. That prices are on a sound basis is evidenced by the exporting business done by canners. The Erie Preserving Co., St. Catherines, recently received a cable order for 300 cases gallon apples for Great Britain.

COFFEE.

The price of Rio continues strong at 22 to 23c. The market seems to have the elements of strength in it. Local stocks are light, and the reported shortage in native supplies, if reliable, will keep prices up. The continued effort of New York speculators has long been, however, to bull the market, and the supply in the United States may be misrepresented. It is a fact that stocks here are low, and present prices are consequently high. Javas continue firm at 26 to 27c., and mochas at 32 to 35c.

DRIED FRUITS.

Prices continue high. Bosnia prunes are 4¾ to 5c. in hogsheads, 5⅛ to 5¼c. in barrels, 5¾ to 6c. in kegs. French prunes are 5 to 5¼c. in kegs. Sphinxes are 8½ to 8¾c. for A's, 8 to 8¼c. for B's, 7¾ to 8c. for C's, 6¼ to 7c. for D's, 6½ to 6¾c. for U's. The Atlas brand is 7½c. for B, and 7c. for C. Currants are 5⅝ to 5⅞c. in barrels, 6 to 6¼c. in half barrels, 6¼ to 6½c. in cases. Valencia raisins, off stalk, are growing firmer. They are nearly half a cent dearer in New York than they are here. Here they are worth 7½ to 7¾c. In layers they are 9¼ to 9¾c. Sultanas are 10 to 12c. Black baskets are $1.35, London layers at $3 to $3.15, loose muscatels at $2.35 to $2.60, are about all the Malagas on the market. Dates are 5¾ to 6c. Eleme figs are 10 to 11c. per lb. Four crescents are 14c. five crescents are 15c. and seven crescents are 16. Natural are 4¾ to 5c. in boxes.

SUGARS.

The persistent weakness of the New York market and its latest give of one sixteenth, are not circumstances that buoy up the opinion that prices here are at their lowest. Private advices picture a rather demoralized condition of the outside market. The prices reported last week are those of this in the Toronto market, where the refiners have contracted ahead. Granulated, here, at 7⅛c. for orders of fifteen barrels or more, and 7¼c. for smaller orders, is now 9-16c. above what it is in New York, and usually is only ¼c. The probable large crop of beet in Europe is the element of weakness in the situation, for it is believed that it will greatly neutralize the effect of a shortage in cane. On the other hand, as we have before pointed out, there has been a large increase in the consumption.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

The scarcity of D or M grades of syrup continues to be a feature of the market, as the demand for low grades is increasing. Prices continue from 52 to 65c. There have been a considerable number of sales of B, the lowest grade now generally in stock. Molasses is yet dear, and is not more plentiful than it was last week. Tierces and puncheons are 36 to 38c.; barrels are 38 to 40c., and half-barrels are 40 to 42c.

TEAS.

Desirable grades of Japans from 16 to 19c., are very scarce and in abundant demand. Low value Congous are yet plentiful and good. In greens there is no change either in price or call. There has been more activity in the local market for Indian teas. In London, business has been dull. The demand for good liquoring teas continues strong, but undesirable parcels meet with less competition. The local enquiry for Ceylons continues much the same. The London market reports a severe drop, and the average price was below the preceding week. The only teas which have maintained their value are those which possess special point in liquor. Deliveries of both India and Ceylon teas during February, exceeded those of the corresponding month last year. The deliveries of China tea again show a falling off.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

A feature of the butter market is a freer arrival of supplies from the east. The demand for good is not, however, by any means sated. A notable characteristic of this winter's trade has been the uniform quality of well-known good makers. Firms who take all that certain reputable makers produce usually find in a winter that the product even of such picked makers greatly varies, owing to the feeding of roots and the ups and downs in temperature. This winter the output of good private dairies has been very even in its quality. Store tubs are 8 to 13c., only the best taken. Dairy-packed is 14 to 18c., and is about up to the average rate of supply. Creamery tubs are very scarce, but sell still at 20 to 22c. The demand for creamery butter is falling off at about the same time as the supply is. Large rolls are 15 to 16c., and are not so plentiful as they were a week ago. Pound rolls run from 18 to 24c., the last three cents covering the range of prices paid on street.

Cheese is unchanged, the early summer make selling at 8½ to 9½c., and early autumn at 10½ to 11c. The supplying of local stocks has not yet thrown the wholesalers on the market for late autumn makes.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

APPLES—In car lots are worth $2.75 to $3. Out of store they bring $3.50 to $4. The stock in the country is low, but the bulk of it is choice. These facts make holders firm, while the tendency of high prices to stop consumption makes buyers less eager to offer.

BEANS—There is enough on the market for business, which is rather slow and fitful. The prices for large quantities are $1.30 to $1.40, and for small ones $1.50 to $1.60.

DRIED APPLES—New ones are 4¾ to 5c. Old bring 4½c. and there seems to be plenty of them.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Bring 8c. to 9½c., and for choicest 10 to 10½c. The demand maintains these prices.

EGGS—The stock of limed has disappeared. The supply of fresh is abundant. The prices are 12½ to 13c. Farmers' baskets of strictly new laid bring 14 to 15c. on the street.

HAY—There is no slackening of the free supply that has been the feature for several weeks. No. 1 choice timothy brings 9 to 9.50 pressed on track, and No. 2 is worth $6.50 to $7. In farmers' wagons No 1 is $12 to $13, and No. 2 is $7 to $9.

HIDES—Another car of cured was shipped at the beginning of the week for 4¾. Green, No. 1 are 4c., No. 2 are 3c., No. 3 are 2c. There is a quiet market, and prices barely hold.

HONEY—The trade is now more dependent upon an occasional demand. The prices, however, rest upon only a reasonably-sized stock, and so are fairly firm. They are 11½ to 13c. for clear, and 12 to 14c. for comb.

HOPS—Very choice of the new crop are 14 to 16c, and yearlings are 12 to 13c. Business is fairly active and stocks are large.

OATS—Carloads are 30c. Farmers' loads bring 31 to 32c. on street.

ONIONS—Are scarce yet, and bring $3 to $3.50. The demand seems also to be stronger than when the market was well stocked.

POTATOES—Carloads offer at 55c., but there is no great readiness to buy at this price. In store lots prices are 60 to 65c. There has been more business done at outside points.

SEEDS—The market is now over; it no longer concerns country merchants to know what wholesalers pay. Country merchants are now themselves buyers, and the prices they themselves have to pay are more interesting. These we now give: Red clover is worth $3.60 to $3.75. Alsike is $5.70 to $6.30. Timothy is $1.60 to $1.70.

SKINS—Sheep are $1.30 to $1.60 according to size and quantity of wool, but the latter price is paid for only the very finest. Calf are 6c. for No. 1, and 5c. for No. 2.

STRAW—Pressed is $5.30 on track, and farmers' deliveries of sheaves are $6.50 to $7.

TALLOW—Rough is 1¼ to 2c., and rendered is 5 to 5½c.

WOOL.—Extra super pulled is 30c.; super is 25 to 26c., and lowest is 24c. Fleece wool is scarcely to be had, and brings 22c.

FISH.

A circumstance that has operated along with the less stringent fasting rules of the Roman Catholic Church to make the fish business duller than usual this Lent, has been the cheapness of eggs. Eggs have been available to consumers at fair prices from Ash Wednesday to the present. The newest stock upon the market is spring salmon. These fine fish, just taken from the water, are selling at 28 to 30c., the fish weighing 15 to 18 lbs each. All last week' prices hold. Sea herring are $1.60 per hundred by count. White fish are 7c.; salmon are $12 per barrel; small cod are 5c. per pound; steak cod are 7½c.; haddock are 5½ to 6c.; pike are 4½c.; pickerel are 6½c.; flounders are 5c.; tulepes are 7c.; Labrador herring are $5 to $5.50 per barrel,and $3.25 to $3.75 per half-barrel; Shore herring are $4 per barrel, and $2.25 per half-barrel; boneless cod are 6 to 8c. per pound; boneless fish are 6c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Oranges have gone up. Valencias are $5 to $5.50. Florida russets are $4.25 to $4.50, and fancy brights are $4.50 to $5, almost off the market. Messinas are $3 to $3.50. California navels are $5 to $5.50. Washington navels are $5 50 to $6. Meditterranean sweets and Riverside seedlings are $4 to $4.25. Messina and Palermo lemons in fancy 300's, are $4 to $4.25, and in 360's are $3.50 to $3.75. Bananas are $1.50 to $2.50. Sweet potatoes are $7. Pineapples are $4 to $4.25 per dozen. Bermuda tomatoes are $1.75 per crate. Grape fruit is $4.50 per box.

PROVISIONS.

BACON—Long clear is 7½. Breakfast is 11 to 11½c. Roll is 8½ to 9c.

DRESSED HOGS—Heavy are $5.50, and light are $5.75 to $5.80. The supply is diminishing week by week.

HAMS—Sweet pickled are 9¼ to 9½c.; and smoked are 10¾ to 11c.

LARD—Canadian tubs are 8½c. and pails are 9c. The American is half a cent less in each package.

MESS PORK—Heavy is $13.50. Light family is $14.25.

SALT.

The demand for salt for the week is better than it has been for some time. There is a good stock on hand at present. The following are the prices reported by the Toronto Salt Works for the week—three cars, bbls. at $1.37; two cars, sacks at 68c.; two cars, dairy at $1.18; land salt $7 per ton; smaller quantities have sold at ¼ sacks 45c.; bbls. $1.45; sacks 85c.

DRY GOODS.

An improved trade has been done in all spring goods. The present week has been very appreciably ahead of most of its predecessors since January. The week of the millinery openings alone compares favorably with it. The advance on cotton is assured, as the adhesion of the Kingston mill to the Association obviates the only immediate danger of a breaks The high bidding on the dry goods stock sold here on Tuesday indicates rather a better feeling in the trade. The advance in cotton will not be felt by retailers until present wholesale stocks are exhausted.

MONTREAL

MONTREAL MARKETS.

MARCH 27, 1890.

GROCERIES.

Trade has been exceedingly quiet here the past week, owing, no doubt, to the proposed changes in the tariff on tobacco and sugars now being considered both by the authorities at Ottawa and Washington. The importers are buying only in small quantities till these changes are made known. On the other hand, retailers are also anxiously waiting developments on the tariff question. The spring and summer railway rates date simultaneously from April 1st this year, and retailers are waiting for these rates to come into force before buying. The very bad condition of the roads in the country has also had a very depressing effect. Payments are exceedingly slow.

SUGAR.

The aspect of the sugar market has undergone no material change since our last report, though a decline of ⅛c. in whites would not be unexpected. Yellows are a shade easier. Raw material is also easier. Quotations are: Granulated, 7 to 7¼c.; yellows, 5½ to 6c.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is a fair demand for syrups and molasses, the former at 3¼ to 4¾c. and the latter from 42½ to 46½ though prices are open.

COFFEES.

Market remains as previously quoted: Mocha 28 to 30c.; Java 24 to 29c.; Jamaica 18 to 22c.; Rio 18 to 20c.; Plantation Ceylon 20 to 27c.; Maracaibo 23 to 29c.

TEAS

There has been no material change in teas since last report.

DRIED FRUITS.

The dried fruit trade has undergone no change since last report. Valencia raisins continue active with a slight advance being now quoted at 7¼ to 8¼c. Several packages of Eleme raisins have reached this market, and being somewhat lower will to a certain extent take the place of Valencias as they have better keeping qualities during the warm weather. Valencia layers 9c.; London layers, $3 to $3.25; Sultanas 10 to 13c.; French prunes in cases 5½ to 5¾c.; Turkey prunes in bags, 4¼c.; Dates 5¼c.; Good Eleme figs 10 to 14c.; Dried apples 6½c.

NUTS.

Nuts continue to move off quietly. Taragona almonds, 14c.; Ivica 12c.; Pecans 12 to 12½c. with short crop and slow market; Brazil nuts 11c.; Grenoble walnuts 15 to 15½c. and French, 10c.; Filberts firm at 10c. for Sicily and 9½c. for Turkey; green peanuts 8½ to 9c.

RICE.

Following are quotations: Mount Royal Mills, A and B. $3.60 to $3.75 per 100 lbs.; Patras 4½ to 5c. and Japan 4 to 4½c.

CANNED GOODS.

There is nothing new in canned goods, things moving off in a quiet way. Prices remain as follows: Corn $1.20; marrowfat peas, $1.15; sweet peas, $1.25; tomatoes $1.20; stringless beans 85c.; butter beans 90c.; apples, 3 lb., $1.05, per gal. $2.35; pineapples $2.25 to $2.40; strawberries $2.35; peaches $2.15; plums $1.75; pears $2. These are of course the prices to the wholesale trade. Salmon easier at $1.60 to $1.70. Sardines continue firm. Mackerel $5.70 to $5.80.

GREEN FRUIT.

Business on the whole is very dull but prospects seem much brighter as Easter advances. Valencia oranges, very scarce, $5.00 case; Florida oranges, russets, $3.75, fancy brights, $4.00 to $4.25 per box; Messina and Palermo oranges, 200 in box, $3.00; Lemons, fancy 360's, $2.75 to $3.25 per box; Bananas $3.00 to $3.50 per bunch; sweet potatoes $6.00 per brl.; pineapples $4.75 per doz.; Bermuda tomatoes $1.00 to $1.25 per crate; Bermuda new onions $4.00 to $4.50 per crate; new Bermuda potatoes $12.00 to $14.00 per brl.; lettuce $1.10 per doz.

EGGS.

The "street" was mainly engaged in talking over the new American duty of five cents a dozen upon eggs and its effect upon trade. Private advices to the effect that the duty would be sure to pass had been received,and indeed,there was a rumor that it had already been imposed. That it will wipe out a trade worth $2,000,000 a year, and that as a result the Canadian egg trade would be permanently congested. Eggs here are worth 16 to 17c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

Cheese is very quiet. The shipments for the last week were 6,500 boxes. We quote—Finest 9⅝ to 10½c. Good to fine 9¼ to 9½c. Medium 8½ to 9c.

BUTTER.—We quote to-day:—Finest creamery 23 to 25c.; Townships, 12 to 20c; Morrisburg, 12 to 18c.; Western, 11c to 16c.

PROVISIONS

We quote the following to-day:—Canada short cut $14 to $14.50; Western short cut $13 to $13.50; Western mess $12 to $13.25; hams, city cured, 11½ to 12½c.; lard, 8¼ to 8¾c.; bacon 12 to 13c.; dressed hogs $6 to $6.25.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

GRAIN—The market remains dull and without change. No business was reported on 'Change. Wheat, No. 1 hard Manitoba, 90c. to$1.07½; No. 2, do. $1.05½; Peas, per 66 lbs. 66 to 68c.; Oats, 31 to 32c.; Corn, in bond 35c.; Barley, 40c.

FLOUR—No sales were reported to-day. Quotations unchanged. We quote:—Patent Winter, $5.10 to 5.20; Patent Spring, $5.10 to 5.20; Straight Roller, $4.25 to 4.40; Extra, $4.00 to 4.10; Superfine, $3.06 to 3.75; City Strong Bakers', $0.00 to 4.90; Strong Bakers' $4.80 to 4.90; Superfine, bags, $1.50 to $2.00; Extra, bags, $2.00 to 2.10; Oatmeal, standard per bag $1.80 to 1.90; Oatmeal, granulated, $1.95 to 2.00; Oatmeal, rolled, $1.85 to 1.95.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The annual meeting of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co. was held here yesterday.

Mr. William Nivin, the well known cheese shipper, has left for Great Britain, to make preparations for the coming season's trade.

Mr. F. James Gibson, of Bryant, Gibson & Co., pickle manufacturers, Toronto, was in the city this week on his usual rounds.

Mr. J. B. H. Rickaby, late manager for Messrs. Dufresne & Mongenais, wholesale and retail grocers will open up for himself in the retail line in a few weeks.

Messrs. Morin & Co. and the Gaspe Fishing Company have removed their offices to the Imperial Building, Place d'Armes, Montreal.

Mr. James A. Gillespie, of the wholesale grocery and importing firm of Gillespie & Co., left for England last week on business connected with his firm, and will probably be away about six or seven weeks.

Mr. W. M. Brison, of Messrs. Williams, Brown & Co., San Francisco, Cal., was in the city this week, making arrangements with Messrs. W. T. Costigan & Co. for the new season's pack of British Columbia canned salmon.

The ice dealers in this city are fairly supplied with ice, but have not so large a stock laid in as usual. It is proposed to raise the price one dollar for the season for those taking twenty pounds daily. The ice dealers, however, will only agree to stand to this bargain up to the 1st of June, when they will be at liberty to make a new contract. A New York firm lately advertised for one hundred thousand tons, and an agent from that city will be here this week to try and induce some of the dealers to part with their stock. If he is successful in this, ice may be expected to be at famine price during the summer.

At the Chambre de Commerce weekly meeting last week a resolution was passed approving of the decision of the Wholesale Grocers' Association not to grant a discharge to any debtor who is unable to show an insurance on his stock of at least 60 per cent. of its value. The council was of opinion that the same stand should be taken by other mercantile associations. A resolution was passed in favor of the Government granting a charter to a company of reliable men who would untertake to build a new traffic bridge across the St. Lawrence, connecting the south shore in the vicinity of Longueuill with the city.

The latest report in connection with the proposed Board of Trade building is that the committee on a site is discussing the question of advising the purchase of the Temple Building on St. James street. The trustees of the property have invited the committee to inspect the building and they will do so shortly. In the event of this building being purchased some very extensive and expensive changes in the interior arrangements would be necessary, and for this reason there does not appear to be very much enthusiasm over this proposal by members of the Board of Trade.

A meeting of wholesale hat manufacturers and wholesale milliners and dealers in hats and furs was held under the auspices of the Wholesale Dry Goods Association in the Board of Trade rooms, and a resolution passed protesting against any increase in the rate of duty on men and women's hats. It was decided to send a deputation to Ottawa to oppose the contentions of the deputation sent to interview the Government by another wing of the trade. The stand taken at the meeting was that the present duty of twenty-five per cent. on foreign hats, with the admission of raw materials free of duty, amounted to a protection of forty-two per cent., and that that was ample.

The question, whether a mere deficit in the cash of a bank cashier or any other employee who has charge of his employer's moneys is proof enough of embezzlement and can rightly form the basis of an indictment for that crime, without proof of a specific item, was argued at length in the Court of Appeals last week by Mr. H. T. Duffy, Crown Prosecutor for the District of Sweetsburgh, and Hon. G. B. Baker, in a small embezzlement case which occurred in that district. The question seems to be one that has never been definitely settled either in England or here, and, as the decision on this point is so very important for the commercial world dozens of authorities were brought to bear on either side.

An interesting case to shippers was argued in the Court of Appeals Monday afternoon. J. Charbonneau & Co., of this city, shipped 315 barrels of apples to W. N. White, Liverpool, England, in the autumn, through the C.P.R. Co. and the National Line Steamship Co. The C.P.R. Co. carried them to New York and gave notice to the steamship line, but before lhe latter took them from the warehouse they were frosted, and were sold at a very low figure. The Superior Court upon action granted J. Charbonneau & Co. $900 damages, and the C.P.R. Co. now appeals from that judgment on the ground that the goods were marked "Owner's risk of frost," and because it had been distinctly stipulated by printed conditions on the bill of shipment that the C. P. R. Co. would not be responsible after notifying the steamship line of the arrival at New York of the consignment. Judgment reserved.

An important judgment for merchants was delivered by Mr. Justice Davidson in the Superior Court last week in the case of James B. M. Kehlor, of St. Louis, Mo., against John Magor & Co., of this city. The latter in March, 1889, ordered one thousand barrels of flour at $5 the barrel from the plaintiff to be shipped on April 15 following. By mistake the flour was shipped on March 22, and Messrs. Magor and Co. telegraphed back that they would not accept it as not being shipped on the day stipulated. Kehlor offered to keep the shipment in the warehouse here until April 15 and pay all expenses. Still, Magor & Co. refused to accept the shipment. The market at the time fell suddenly, and Kehlor had to sell the lot for $4.25 a barrel. The present suit was then instituted by him for the difference, and the court granted the plaintiff $782.67 on the ground that the date of the shipment was not of essence, and all it could possibly effect would be to fix about the date when the defendants were willing to accept of the shipment.

The requirements for a complete transfer goods by sale were discussed in the Court of Appeals Monday afternoon in the case of Thos. Ross against M. Hannan, the latter appealing from a judgment for $2955.49 against him. Mr. Ross offered Mr. Hannan 1676 boxes of cheese for sale. The latter threw out 33 and accepted 1643 boxes, of which he was to accept delivery on April 16, 1886. On April 17 the cheese was wetted by the flood. The Court below held that the goods at the time of the flood were at Mr. Hannan's risk, as he was to have accepted delivery on the previous day. Mr. C. J. Doherty, Q. C. for the latter in his appeal, contended that the effect of the sale was not to pass the property in the cheese to the appellant nor put the goods at his risk until weighing and testing, and that the agent had notice of the approach of the flood and had ample time to put the cheese out of his cellar in a place of safety. On the other hand, Mr. Ross pretends that the testing of the weights had merely to do with the calculation of the price, and had nothing to do with the transfer proper. Mr. Hannan had accepted the ownership of the goods and even if a few more boxes had been rejected as unfit, or if the weight had varied a few hundred pounds, it would not affect the transfer. Decision reserved.

The Inland Revenue Department has recently issued a bulletin of about thirty pages which is devoted exclusively to the subject of baking powder and which shows that the majority of the goods in the market are adulterated and unfit for use. Prof. A. McGill, who has had charge of this important work for the Government, says that "imperial baking power is an excellent baking powder." A word to the sensible housekeeper should be suffcieut.

Mr. Geo. Simms, of Nipissing, was in town last week replenishing his stock, and, at the same time, making sure of his GROCER coming this year by renewing his subscription. We are always pleased to have our subscribers call on us when in town.

EMBARRASSMENTS.

The estate of James Wallace, baker and confectioner, Belleville, shows assets of $31,082.07 and liabilities of $26,806.28, leaving a surplus of $4,275.28. An offer of 30c. cash was made, and will probably be accepted.

Sim Fox, insolvent tailor, Woodstock, met his creditors last week. The stock was bought in at 45c. on the dollar. Fox owned $4,000, with $3,200 assets.

Bridget A. Kelly, general merchant, Chatham, is in financial difficulties, and Mr. H. E. Townsend, Toronto, is effecting a settlement with her creditors. The liabilities are $2,000.

John Linden, real estate and insurance agent, Toronto, shows $10,000 liabilities and $8,000 assets, part of the latter amount being involved in a couple of law suits. R. S. Weir and Charles McArthur have been appointed inspectors.

O. Dauphinais & Co., dry goods, Montreal, have failed and called a meeting of their creditors.

Sill. Jones & Co., general merchants, Jarvis, have called a meeting of creditors, who are Toronto and Hamilton houses. The liabilities will be $10,000 to $12,000.

J. Shapira & Co., who opened out a clothing and jewelry business at Valleyfield, Ont., last fall, are now absent, and there are few assets on the premises. Their liabilities are $6,000.

J. D. Baptie, planing mill owner, Peterboro', has obtained an extension.

John Speers, proprietor of a small woolen mill at Almonte, is offering to compromise.

T. Thompson, general merchant, Orangeville, is asking an extension of time on liabilities of about $10,000. Toronto houses are largely interested.

The inspectors of the estate of McCraney & Wilson, the insolvent lumber dealers, have decided to refuse the offer of 30 cents on the dollar made by the firm, and have ordered the assignees, Townsend & Stephens, to wind up the estate.

The adjourned meeting of the creditors of Gribbin & Co., general merchants, Beaverton, was held in E. R. C. Clarkson's office and a statement was presented showing assets $12,000 and liabilities $22,000. The stock and book debts were sold for a lump sum, which will give the creditors about 35 cents on the dollar of their claims.

Adam Isbister & Co.. Petrolea, and M. Isbister & Co., Port Arthur, grocers and liquor dealers, are in business difficulties at present. They claim to be able to pay at least eighty cents in the dollar.

TORONTO GROCERS AFTER THE PEDLARS.

The Secretary of the Retail Grocers' Association informs us that he will call a meeting of the Executive Committee for Tuesday evening next, to consider the matter of pedlars' licenses. So far he has received replies from several points, with more to hear from, and in every case the pedlar is charged a much higher fee than in Toronto. Baltimore heads the list, as follows : Pedlars on foot, $101.50 per year, with horse and waggon, $151 per year. Detroit comes next, with pedlars on foot, $50 per year, with horse and waggon, $100 per year, two horses and waggon, $150 per year. No crying their wares on the street or making any loud noise, such as ringing of bell or blowing of horns, etc., is allowed. Pittsburgh pedlars on foot, $10 per year, with one horse and wagon $30, two horses and wagon $50.

In Kingston, Ont., even the grocer is better protected than in Toronto. A pedlar on foot in Kingston is charged $20, and with a horse and wagon $40. Truly it is time the long suffering merchants of this city should receive relief from a class of people who cannot be considered anything much better than pirates, and who have so little at stake.

The undersigned has been appointed Agent in the United States and the Dominion of Canada by

The Associated Tea Planters, Ltd.

OF LONDON, CAPITAL, £50,000.

Under the auspices of the Indian Tea Districts Association.

The object of the company is to push the sale of their product, feeling certain that when systematically brought to consumers' notice its merits will be so manifest as to give it the front rank in public favor, as is the case in Great Britain.

Roundly, the annual consumption in that country is 80,000,000 lbs. during last crop year This is the best answer to the twaddle about the excessive quantity of tannin in Indian tea. Consumers in England are no fools: they know a cup of good tea.

Supplies will be held in Canada and the States and the undersigned, or his assistants, will make regular calls on the Trade. Samples will also be promptly forwarded on application.

Offer for sale all grades of REFINED SUGARS and SYRUPS of the well-known brand of

Redpath

CERTIFICATES OF STRENGTH AND PURITY.

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC ANALYST,

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

GENTLEMEN,—I have personally taken samples from a large stock of your Granulated Sugar, "REDPATH" brand, and carefully tested them by the Polariscope, and I find these samples to be as near to absolute purity as can be obtained by any process of Sugar-Refining.

The test by the Polariscope showed in yesterday s yield 99·90 per cent. of Pure Cane Sugar, which may be considered commercially as ABSOLUTELY PURE SUGAR.

JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, P.L.D., D.C.L., F.C.S.,

Public Analyst for the District of Montreal, and Professor of Chemistry.

CHEMICAL LABORATORY, MEDICAL FACULTY, MCGILL UNIVERSITY.

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Company:

GENTLEMEN,—I have taken and tested a sample of your "EXTRA GRANULATED" Sugar, and find that it yielded 99·88 per cent. of Pure Sugar It is practically as pure and good a Sugar as can be manufactured.

Yours truly,

G P. GIRDWOOD

TRADE SALES.

Messrs. Suckling sold on Tuesday the dry goods stock of James Muir & Co., Paris, valued at $14,016.48, to Mr. Boswell, of Fergus, at 76c. in the dollar.

The general stock of Tough & Hendry, Grand Valley, to Mr. J. Hendry, who bid in the stock at 68c. in the dollar.

Messrs. Suckling, Cassidy & Co.'s salvage sale on Tuesday and Wednesday was largely attended. It included stock belonging to McCoy Bros., Hamilton, amounting to upwards of $6,000, part of which was damaged.

The insolvent stock of S. Retaliack, Belleville, dealer in gents' furnishings, purchased by Mayor Clarke, of Cobourg, at auction in Toronto, for 40c. on the dollar, has gone back to Belleville, bought by S. Lennox, for 60c. on the dollar.

The twenty thousand dollar dry goods stock of T. J. Barrett, of Tilsonburg, who assigned, has been sold by Mr. Armstrong, representing Gibbons, McNab & Co., of London, Ont., to Northway & Anderson, at 66c. on the dollar.

M. McWhinney & Co., of Waterford, have purchased the dry goods stock of D. Mackenzie, Sarnia, at 56c. on the dollar. It was listed at $19,700.

NEW DELINQUENT SLIPS.

The Pennsylvania Grocer says :—"Hereafter the Allegheny Association will issue delinquent lists monthly, instead of quarterly. Slips have been ordered printed on which the names of all delinquents will appear. These will be sent regularly to the members of the Association, and will be used where people move from one locality to another and leave behind them unpaid grocery bills. Just at this time of year this latter point is one of importance to grocers. There will be plenty of new customers after April 1st, and the grocer who has a little reliable information in regard to them beforehand is the one who is not going to get stuck to any large extent. At no time in the year is a well kept delinquent list calculated to do so much good as it is just now during the general moving time." The monthly method is the one followed with success and satisfaction in Toronto.

CASH DISCOUNT vs. CLERKS' BONUS.

MR. EDITOR,—Heck's column in last week's issue gave a very good hint in regard to clerks' percentage or yearly bonus, but while it may be in the power of a clerk to influence cash receipts on sales I think there is a greater influence that can be brought to bear to effect more cash sales. For instance, you take any good business house. It has a certain amount of cash and credit sales larger on some days than others. Now, Mrs. A. and Mrs. B. and others are all in the store at the same time. Mrs. B. gives a long order, and it is charged in her book, and foots up $10. Mrs. C. wants and has put up the same articles, which amount to the same total. She opens her pocket book and pays $10 for her goods. Now, if the clerk had orders to subtract 20, 30, or even 40c. from her bill, that lady would always pay cash and tell others, that would only be too glad to pay cash and get the percentage that cash brought. But if Mrs. C. has to pay just the same amount as Mrs. B., there certainly is no advantage in paying cash, and I would like to hear of some retail or wholesale merchants that do not lose on an average each year two and perhaps four per cent. on their credit sales. They certainly lose some percentage. Now, why should the cash customer have to stand this? There is no reason, and every person, no matter how small the purchase, should have the same proportion of discount for ready money as the merchant sustains in loss on credit customers. When merchants commence to recognize the cash customer in this way it will do more to encourage cash purchases than any one thing that can be done.

Yours,
TRAVELLER.

The method recommended by "Traveller" has often before been thought of and referred to, but so clear a demonstration of its efficacy has not often been made outside of practice. "Traveller" lays hold of another suggestion to increase sales, and by means of it as a contrasted idea brings out the merits of the more familiar but neglected method, of promoting business by extending custom. We are apt to forget that a price which is satisfactory to the dealer as an equivalent for the value of the goods and the interest on that value for an indefinite time is more than the present worth of the goods. In other words what is overlooked is this: A purchase that aggregates, say $10, is worth $10 either now or in future time, say eight months. If its value is $10 now, then it should be more than that in eigh. months. If its value is $10 in eight months then it should be less than that now. The difference in either case is eight months' interest on the present worth of the purchase. Now it is a very well-known fact that interest is not charged to the credit buyer until at least he has overrun the paying limit, which is usually all the way from any time to the next fall. It is also known that at the same prices which the credit buyer pays at the end of some time not greater than a year after buying, the cash man pays for his goods at once, receiving no discount. That is, he pays the future worth of the goods, the value of them in six, seven, eight, etc., months, thus making up the interest for the credit buyer, to whom no interest is charged. Or if we suppose the price levied on everybody takes in interest, then it is collected from cash buyers, of whom no interest is due the merchant.

It is right, therefore, that the buyer should get more for ready money than for credit representing ready money. It is open for the trader to have a radical price, from which he shall deduct for cash, or to which he shall add for time. Viewed from the honesty standpoint one way is as good as the other. Viewed from the standpoint of business policy the discount for money down is far the better way of adjusting the matter, ahead of the interest plan. The more immediate and personal the effect, the better is its service. Also the more agreeable the effect the better it is for the trader. Interest charged at the end of a given time causes discontent and does not draw a man's trade. Discount reduced at the time of purchase, in the presence of the purchaser, makes the customer feel pleased and induces him or her to come back. The thing done gracefully is productive of the best returns. To announce that you do this thing leads to the expectation of it, and takes from it its chief strength of a personal attention, therefore, it is better done in practice than done upon specific profession

GREEN FRUIT PACKAGES.

In answer to a Brantford correspondent we publish the standard contents of the principal green fruit packages. Valencia oranges are usually sold in boxes of 420, that is 35 dozen. There are large boxes of them containing 60 dozen, but they are not often brought to our market. All Florida, California and Washington Territory oranges are sold in boxes of which there are four different sizes, viz., the smallest holding 128, the next 150, the third 176, and the largest 200. These in fact are the capacities of all boxes shipped on this continent, and the dealer can get any of the four sizes in any class of oranges that are of American growth. Jamaica oranges are sold in standard barrels, of which the only requirement is that they shall be full. Lemons, both Palermo and Messina, are sold in boxes supposed to be of the same dimensions. The larger the lemons, therefore, the fewer will the standard box contain. It is a rule that when packed with fine lemons the box holds 300, and when filled with smaller lemons it holds 360. The box of 300's or fancy lemons is always a dearer package than that of the 360's. Bananas are sold in bunches, now classed as firsts and seconds, which system of division is applied to both yellows and reds. Sweet potatoes are sold by the barrel, pine apples by the dozen. Grape fruit is sold in packages of 80 to 96. Malaga grapes are sold in barrels.

THE COLLECTION LAW.

To the Editor Canadian Grocer.

Dear Sir,—In my last letter I tried to show the benefits to retailers of a change in the collection laws of Ontario. The benefits to wholesale houses would be far more, as is clearly shown in The Grocer of March 14th, by your statement of H. A. Collins' settlement with his creditors. The loss to Mr. H. A. Collins has been considerable, but the wholesale houses have lost very heavily. Your statement shows Mr. Collins to have $10,000 of bad debts. Allowing $2,000 for parties leaving the country, and $8,000 for slow payers still residing in Canada, I feel satisfied that under a new Act with a 10 per cent clause every dollar of the $8,000 could be collected in five years. These figures of Mr. H. A. Collins' case show that I underestimated the amount each merchant would gain by a change in the judgment summons law when I said $500 each. I feel quite sure that two-thirds of the bankruptcies would disappear by a change in the Act. Money lenders would buy up lots of those claims at nearly their face value, and thereby furnish the means to pull through the crisis such men as Mr. Collins. When you meet some of those dead-beats they hang their heads as if they had robbed a till. After a few years of the proposed Act they would hold their heads up as honest men do. Instead of the next generation being trained to beat and live like parasites upon the social system they would be trained to be honest men. Pope has said "an honest man is the noblest work of God." He should certainly hold the second place in that work. Let our legislators come to the rescue of the present and the coming generation and enact a compulsory saving bank measure that will lift the improvident, the drunkard, and the deadbeat out of the old rut.

The blessings to the workingman that would follow a change would be incalculable.

Yours,

Country Merchant.

In illustration of the benefits to retailers of an improved law for the recovery of debts, our correspondent refers to the loss through bad debts to Mr. H. A. Collins. The case of that dealer, however, is instructive not so much to law-makers as to business men. Mr. Collins' huge list of bad debts was not the fault of a defective law nearly so much as, first, of an indiscriminating allowance of credit to his customers, and second, of almost utter indifference to the business duty of notifying debtors. Plenty of those accounts were good if they had been looked after, but not a few people whose names were on the books had never been offered a statement. Such neglect as this no collection law can provide against. No matter how much protection law affords it can never guarantee all candidates for credit to be secure or to be industrious. They may be living on the means or industry of somebody else. Nor can the law arm a dealer with what nature has withheld from him or habit has deprived him of; that is to say, law cannot make him distinguish the irresponsible or worthless would-be debtors from the producing class. Debts are bad, therefore, either because the dealer is to blame or because the law is. The dealer's fault may be either the conceding of credit that is unsupported by industry, means or other basis of legal responsibility, or it may be dilatory collecting. Both these faults are fruitful sources of loss, and a fair proportion of the aggregate bad debts in the country's trade must be assigned to them. This is not said to diminish in any way the widespread sense of the inadequacy of our collecting laws to collect. It is said for the benefit of such traders—of whom our correspondent is not one—as are disposed to lay blame anywhere that takes it from their own door. Let credit be given on a sound basis, let the redemption of it be insisted upon, and then the attempts of men like "Country Merchant" to get the law set right will receive readier legislative attention. So long as the Attorney-General can point to business methods that are plainly very fertile of bad debts, the efforts of sincere clear-headed men will not avail to have removed that cause which incontrovertibly lies in the law.

"Country Merchant" has pointed out with his usual clearness good effects that would flow to wholesalers and retailers from the adoption of the ten per cent. assessment system. His scheme should be examined by men in business, and their opinions of it forwarded for presentation through these columns to the trade of the country. The matter is a most important one, and the present proposal for the amelioration of it has the advantages of apparent efficiency and undoubted simplicity. Reform can be helped along only by the co-operation of those for whose interest reform is sought.

DRUM TAPS.

Drum Taps is the latest of Mr. Wm. H. Maher's books, and like its predecessors from the same pen—"On the Road to Riches," "A man of Samples," etc.,—is woven out of the writer's experiences as a travelling salesman. The subject matter is the record of a three weeks' trial trip, which in this particular year will be apt to read like the story of a triumphal progress. The unbroken series of successes and the liberal aggregate of them at the close of the trip, are likely to have an encouraging effect upon youthful travellers who read Drum Taps. If they have, the book will have served a most useful purpose. There is nothing in it of that levity of manner which is so senselessly thought to be fitting to any recital that has to do with a travelling salesman's experiences. The book treats the genus rather as a class of able men, who have problems to solve and ends to reach that callow or shallow men are unfit to be tasked with. There is a digest of practical wisdom which the writer has gleaned from his contact with the sort of life he writes of, that is learnt by most travellers but often not early enough. The lightning salesmen who cut prices and demoralize trade; the salesmen whose arts of persuasion are recruited at the saloon; the men whose specialty is their knowledge of loose characters; the flirtation fellows; are stamped with the disapproval of common sense and are pronounced swift failures. The book is readable and we believe it will be serviceable.

THE LATE MR. WENGER.

The information from which we wrote the few facts that appeared in our last issue relative to the life of the late Mr. Isaac Wenger, we have discovered to be faulty and confused with the life of another old gentleman lately deceased in Ayton. A more circumstantial and absolutely correct sketch of his useful life we now think it fitting to give:

Isaac Wenger was born in Lancaster Co., Penn., U.S., in 1812, and died at Ayton, March 6, 1890, thus being 78 years 16 days old. His ancestors for many generations before him lived in Pennsylvania. At the early age of 13 years, when his widowed mother and a large family of children moved to Waterloo Co., Ont., he was thrown upon his own exertions to gain his living among strangers. Bravely heeding the counsels of his pious mother, he avoided the allurements and temptations in his youth which would lead him astray, and with much self denial and frugality he finally acquired a small property. Nearly forty years ago he started in business in a small way in Elmira, Waterloo Co., Ont., where he resided for twenty-three years, until nearly sixteen years ago he came to Ayton. Elmira largely owes its reputation as being one of the best business villages in Ontario to his foresight and energy. Though he was not one of the richest, yet he left his family in comfortable circumstances, which is more than a credit to him. With health broken down by hard work and exposure, at the early age of 18, without any one to assist him with money or backing, and with the benefit of only three months' schooling, he determined that some day he would have a small property which he could call his own. The prosperity of Ayton, too, is largely owing to his business energy and foresight. In connection with his retail store he owned and operated the Ayton roller flour mills, which grinds from 600 to 700 bushels of wheat a day. About ten years ago he concluded that it would be to the interests of farmers in vicinity as well as of his retail business, that a creamery should be established. With him to decide was to act, and the creamery was established.

The object of business is to make profitable sales.

A SLEIGHING PARTY.

In a recent issue we inserted an article npon the uses of associations among the retail grocers of the various towns and cities of the country. We stated as one of the effects of associations, the breaking down of the reserve which frequently exists among men engaged in the same line of business. This effect was amply illustrated the other night when members of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association were engaged in making "Rome howl," by means of a pair of bobs drawn by a noble steed belonging to Bob Barron. They had attended a committee meetng, it is said, and took this means of reaching their homes in the various parts of the city. Here was President Mills silent and thoughtful. Behind him sat ex-President Berwick. Next came the Vice, Bro. Gibson, his colossal form entirely covering up the Secretary, who was hugging his minute book like grim death. Next came a noble baron whose fat sides were fairly shaking with merriment, while in front and rear were two embryo grocers. City streets, however, are not suitable for this kind of fun and the consequences were that several times, in the course of their journey, they were strewed along the roadway in the snow. But, amid shouts of laughter they were up and off again until each was safely landed at his own door. Talk about breaking down reserve. We question if any reserve was left among that party to break down. A few years ago these grocers would hardly look at one another, but they have met in Association and find there is much to attract them and keep them together. The GROCER feels hurt that he was not of that party.

SALT THAT WILL SIFT.

In the transition from a moist to a dry state of the atmosphere table salt invariably becomes fixed in a cast of the vessel that holds it. Shaking will not disturb it. Often a blow, strong enough to break the stout glass receptacle, will not overcome the stubborn cohesion. Several devices have been resorted to to obviate the annoyance that this property of salt causes at every table. One plan has been to run a spiral wire down the caster to loosen up the salt. This has not been satisfactory, and little open salt cellars have been fallen back upon, but the lumpy nature of their contents is not what the good housekeeper likes. The final solution of the difficulty has at last been reached, however, by the Toronto Salt Co. They have just completed a course of experiments whereby they have learnt to prepare salt that will not cake. They have tried it in all temperatures and atmospheric pressures that it will be subjected to in actual use, and it preserves the free action of its particles throughout. It would be good material for the shifting element in a sand glass, and it would not be necessary for the glass to be air-tight. The name of this new salt is the "Acme." It is put up in card packages, neatly labelled and containing 3 pounds, a dozen packages going to a case. It is of interest to the trade to know of this important discovery.

The soap manufacturers are said to be in arms on the duty of 20 per cent. which has been placed on silicate of soda in liquid form, which enters largely into the composition of soap, and which was formerly on the free list. It is asserted that it is not a Canadian product, and that this impost will make it difficult for Canadian manufacturers to meet foreign rivals in the outside markets. One Toronto firm exports largely to South America and Australia.

THE TARIFF CHANGES.

That there are "many men of many minds" was fully exemplified on 'Change last week. It was a very animated gathering that assembled, and the revision of the tariff was a very interesting topic to the group of flour, grain and provision men who were discussing it. On the whole, although an apparent want of unanimity was shown, it is very likely, if the inner thoughts of all were known, and considering the fault-finding peculiarities of human nature, and taking one branch with another, that the changes are equitable to the mercantile community as a whole.

In reply to many inquiries we give below some of the series and names of types. The names refer entirely to the size and not the design of the letter.

Pearl—5 Point
Agate—5½ Point
Nonpareil—6 Point
Minion—7 Point
Brevier—8 Point
Bourgeois—9 Point
Long Primer—10 Point
Small Pica—11 Point
Pica—12 Point
English—14 Point
Great Primer—18 Point
D. S. Pica—22 Pt

A point is the standard basis of type measurement. Seventy-two points make one inch. By referring to the tables of types above, it will be easy to estimate the number of lines of any given size of type to the inch. For instance, Pica type is twelve points high, and measures six lines per inch; Nonpareil type is six points high, and measures twelve lines per inch.

Mr. Adam Isbister of Petrolea, whose firm at that place and Port Arthur was in business difficulty, died on Saturday last, of blood-poisoning, resulting from a carbuncle in the neck, which first developed a fortnight ago. His brothers, James, of Ottawa, and Malcolm, of Port Arthur, were at his bedside.

After failing as a general storekeeper at West Lorne, Elgin County, W. J. Ward moved his stock to Niagara Falls and commenced in his wife's name. The general stock was replaced by boots and shoes, which, however, has turned out to be no better medium for future building, and she has assigned.

VIOLATIONS OF THE CANNED GOODS LAW.

For a good while past, the Canners' and Packers' Association have been aware that their rights were being infringed upon by parties who have been selling canned goods of an inferior quality, the tins not possessing the proper labels required by law. It is quite probable that a good many dealers, both legitimate and otherwise, are ignorant of the fact that an Act of Parliament compels all packing companies to have the name of the firm and place of business printed on the label of each can. When the article is corn the word "soaked" is also held to be marked diagonally across the tin, so as to assure the purchaser that the article in question is up to the requirements exacted by law. It seems that several firms throughout the Dominion have been flooding the markets with certain canned goods at 86 cents per dozen, while the same kind of goods properly put up are quoted at $1.20 per dozen. Detective Howie, being employed by the Association, has made several purchases, embracing these suspected goods, and has created no little surprise in Montreal, by putting the matter into the hands of Messrs. Greenshields, Guerin & Greenshields. One of the Montreal dealers in question came to Mr. Greenshields' office, where he was informed that it would be necessary to withdraw all these goods from the market as soon as possible, and guarantee to the Association that the firm will not engage in the business again. Their Montreal representative has promised to comply with the request of the Association, and will likewise pay all expenses incurred up to the present time. The firm also sent the following communication to the secretary of the Canners' and Packers' Association:—

MONTREAL, March 17.

To W. H. Ferguson, Esq., Secretary-Treasurer of the Packing Association.

DEAR SIR,—We beg to state that all the canned goods which we have sold and shipped not bearing the names of the packers who prepared the same and the label required by law, chapter 105, Revised Statutes of Canada, have been recalled by our firm, and we have taken steps to have them withdrawn from sale with the least possible delay. Any of the packages which were handled by us which were not in conformity with the law requiring them to be stamped with the names of the packers, were so handled by us without any knowledge on our part of any infraction of any existing law, and you can rest assured that in the future we shall take good care that no packages of any provisions shall pass through our hands without bearing the requirements of the statute.

Yours truly,
D. MASSON & CO.

As it had been made pretty plain that this firm had not been wilful transgressors, the authorities have not considered it well to act too severely in the matter; consequently a representative of the firm in question came before Judge Dugas and pleaded guilty on a single can, and a nominal fine was imposed.

A FRIEND OF ASSOCIATION.

LONDON, Ont., March 29th, 1890.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER.

DEAR SIR,—What the retail grocers of London are very much in need of to-day, is an association of some kind for mutual protection. They have been at the mercy of the dead beat fraternity too long. I believe that thousands of dollars are lost every year through these pests of society, who are to be found in every community doing their dirty work and leaving the merchant with no redress. Notwithstanding all this, it seems impossible to get up an organization such as they have in Toronto and other places, doing, I believe, a good work. The trouble appears to be that no one will take hold of this matter. Knowing the influence that the GROCER exerts over its many readers, I thought I would give you these few facts, asking your aid in shaking up the dry bones, and putting life where it really belongs and where it will accomplish a great amount of good. With faith for the future, I am,

Yours, etc.,
MERCHANT.

As far as we can see the writer would be one to make a start towards listing dead beats. The Toronto Association are making a success of such a list, which they publish monthly to members only The merchants hand the lists to the secretary when he calls, and after said lists have been gathered they are placed in alphabetical order and mailed to each member. No grocer's name appears, so that no feeling of business jealousy creeps upon the work. Now, "Merchant," go in and win. Information as to details can easily be had from us, or the secretary of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association.

IMPROVISED COMBINATION HEATERS.

Mr. John Robinson, grocer, Grand Valley, is evidently a man of resources. In his store he has one of Chown & Cunningham's large box stoves, made expressly for stores, schools, hotels, etc. The capabilities of this stove to radiate heat Mr. Robinson undertook to develop and systematize, with the object of diffusing superfluous heat through other rooms of his building. At the bottom of the back end of stove he introduced two one-inch iron pipes, the pipes being separated by almost the whole width the of stove, so as to bring them against the side walls. These pipes ran the whole length of the stove and then were bent into repeated folds of the same length, until they reached the top. Then they were brought out at a central opening, joined and conducted upstairs. Also, upstairs was placed a little reservoir of water which kept the pipes full, and which was readily boiled in the longitudinal coils in the stove. The heat, conducted through the water of the whole length of pipe, was sufficient to keep the upper story as warm as was desired. But Mr. Robinson's economy of caloric did not stop here. He fixed two drums lengthwise and sidewise of the stove, and had them made with air ventilating tubes. These he connected with a cold air channel from the outside. Thus he made a combination heater of the box stove, using the hot air system above stairs and the cold air system below.

The firm that made the stove has been thinking seriously of elaborating Mr. Robinson's application of combination to the box stove. Since the stove is very heavy and capable of standing nearly any strain of fuel consumption, it has been thought of as a good idea to take out the side panels and replace them with water compartments, to which pipes need be attached merely from the outside, thus reducing the cost. If the fire had to be allowed to go out, a faucet could be placed below after a winter's night, turned open when the fire started and as the ice melted the water could be set free and remove the danger of bursting.

In our notice last week of Messrs. F. F. Dalley & Co's. easel card the word "consciousness" was misprinted "conscience." In referring to the matter we take opportunity to add to the notice, that one of these handsome pictures will be given with every three dozen cases of Spanish Blacking that the firm sells.

Hon. C. H. Tupper proposes to amend his fisheries bill by inserting provisions making it a misdemeanor to kill seals, porpoises, whales or fish of any kind by means of rockets, explosive materials or explosive instruments, or to allow chemical substances, drugs, poisonous matter, dead or decayed fish, as well as sawdust or mill rubbish, to enter streams frequented by fish.

A deputation of Montreal liquor importers, consisting of Messrs. C. P. Herbert, J. Masson, Chas. Chaput, J. B. Townsend, W. R. Windham, Ald. Farrell, E. Mathieu and others, accompanied by Mr. Curran and Mr. Brown, M.P.'s, interviewed the Ministers of Customs and Finance on Monday, in reference to the tariff. The deputation pointed out that the ordinary case of spirits contained 12 bottles of spirits in bulk, a quantity not exceeding 2 gallons, whereas they were to be charged duty on three gallons. They also urged that as the importers had to pay duty on proof, and higher on over proof spirits, they should correspondingly pay reduced duty on under proof. They also urged that the duty on ginger wine was too high. The Ministers were evidently impressed with the representations of the delegation, and promised to give them due consideration.

The foundation stone of Messrs. G. E. Tuckett & Son's new tobacco factory in Hamilton on Oxford street was laid on Saturday afternoon. The new building is going to be a very large one.

The Grangers according to the statement of their manager, have lost $1,500 per year in the Kincardine salt works, purchased by them a few years ago. For five years the property is to be assessed at $4,000.

The wife of Mr. A. Lamont, a leading Chatham pork packer, died after a very short illness. The rupture of a blood vessel in the brain induced paralysis and caused speedy death in her 52nd year.

Mr. T. J. Ward, of J. P. Mott & Co., Halifax, who has taken Mr. Allison's place on the road, has just completed his western trip which was a most successful one. Mr. Allison will in future look after business at headquarters.

At a recent meeting of the Toronto City Council, it was decided to instruct the city solicitor to prepare a by-law to put a stop to bell ringing, drum beating, dodger distributing on the streets as methods of advertising, as such practices are annoyances to the public.

A local Business Men's Association has been formed at Minnedosa, as one of the fruits of the recent convention at Winnipeg. The officers are G. A. Hogarth, President; H. S. Taylor, Secretary; J. S. Greig, J. K. Patton, R. McLenaghen, and P. J. McDermott, Executive Committee.

The movement about tobacco raising in Essex County, which originated with P. Beneteau, the owner of the Globe tobacco works, Windsor, is likely to cause considerable discussion, and the attention of the Government has been called to the matter. Essex may soon be growing hundreds of acres of the weed.

A new firm has opened out in the pork business in the south-west corner of the Covent Garden Market, London, where Messrs. Hutchinson & Tripp, having purchased the business of Mr. G. Park, are prepared to supply the citizens of London with the choicest descriptions of pork, hams, lard, etc.

A deputation of importers of liquor in cases interviewed the Minister of Customs on the question of the estimated quantities in cases liable to duty, the new law placing the quantity at three gallons, while the importers contend that it should be only two. They also want an allowance for brandy imported under proof.

Mr. L. E. Kinton, one of the earliest business men of Huntsville, died a few days ago Through perseverance he worked up a prosperous business. For the last eight or ten years he kept the Huntsville post office. He was the first reeve of Huntsville when it became an incorporated village, and would, without doubt, be holding that office until his death had not his failing health compelled him to resign.

By the resignation of Capt. G. Maurice Furnival, of J. W. Lang & Co's., the 12th York loses one of their best officers. Capt. Furnival was deservedly popular with both officers and men, and every effort was made to retain his services in the regiment, but, sorry as he is to leave it, he finds the time demanded of him in his extensive business necessitates his doing so. Capt. Furnival retires retaining his rank.

The Grocers' and Bakers' Association, of Guelph, held their annual meeting one evening last week. A large number of members were present. The reports of the secretary and treasurer were presented, and both these officers were complimented upon the excellence of their reports. The aims of the association were fully discussed, after which the following officers were elected for the current year: President J. E. McElderry; vice-president, Robert Mitchell; secretary, Henry Loch; treasurer, Robert Barber.

The funeral of the late William McMurtry, who carried on business in Bowmanville longer than any other man now living, took place last week, and was attended by people from all parts of the county. The pall-bearers were his four sons—Samuel A. McMurtry, for many years manager of the Ontario Bank, Lindsay, now of Montreal; W. J. McMurtry, of Toronto; John and Herbert McMurtry, merchants, Bowmanville—and two sons-in-law, Messrs. J. F. Eby, of Eby, Blain & Co., and W. G. Perry, of Toronto. Deceased established a general store in Bowmanville in 1840, and carried it on till three years ago, when his son John assumed control of it.

An Orillia despatch says:—Some time ago Messrs. P. W. Bell & Co., of Collingwood, bought the stock-in-trade of Messrs. F. Kean, Son & Co., of this place, leased the premises, and proceeded to make a sacrifice sale by retail of the stock. The business had not been running very long when fire rather mysteriously broke out in the cellar, but it was extinguished without much damage being done. A couple of months ago a fire again broke out—during the absence of Mr. P. W. Bell in Toronto—and the stock and building were pretty badly damaged. The damaged stock was bought by Mr. Charles Nelson (who had been Mr. Bell's chief man of business), and was removed to another building, and selling off proceeded at a bigger sacrifice than ever, until all was sold, when Mr. Nelson left town for Toronto, going into business in that city. On Monday last Mr. P. W. Bell was arrested at the instance of his Toronto creditors, on the charge of having sold his damaged stock to Nelson with intent to defraud his creditors, and this afternoon his preliminary examination is going on here. Further sensation in connection with this case is caused by the arrest in Toronto yesterday of Charles Nelson on a charge of arson, and he is now in the lock-up here to come up for examination to-morrow. Mr. Samuel Abbott, barber, of Orillia, who was associated with Nelson in the purchase of the damaged stock, is also in the lock-up pending examination as an accomplice.

HECK'S COLUMN.

"Duty on hen fruit five cents," said a grocer to me this week. "How do they expect we are going to exist. The United States not only want our fish but are now independent of our shells. I've made up my mind to buy in live chickens this summer, if the duty is put on, and take them over the river and there let 'em lay, where I can reap my profit without duty."

I would not have said anything about the little affair that happened on the train the other day, a few of us, being done up for twenty-five cents, had I not met the "doer-up" this week. Some ten or twelve of us were in the smoker on the train running from Toronto to Owen Sound. When we got to Cardwell Junction, the train stopped and an old man got on board and took his place in the seat opposite me. It took him some time to find the half-dozen tickets that he had in his pocket when the conductor came around. He was bound for Harriston, and had tickets to Harriston, over G, T. R. In place of going to Hamilton and taking the G. T. R. on to Harriston, he having came from some town back of Muskoka Lakes, he had changed at the Junction, on the C.P.R. The conductor explained such to him, and asked the fare, fifty-five cents, to Orangeville, over the C.P.R. The old fellow showed a dollar, got his change, the conductor passed on and the old man began to cry. It was his last dollar in the world; he had again to pay from Orangeville to Harriston, and with but 45c. left, how was he to do it? It touched our pocket to see this. The hat was passed around and more than double the fare collected for the old man. He thanked us from the bottom of his boots upward, and we all felt that we had done one good turn in our lives. At Orangeville he changed cars, and I lost his shadow until to-day. He was staying at a small hotel in the same village that I happened off at. He had been there two days selling county rights of a patent fence. When he saw me he started for the door, but I was there ahead of him, and soon had my twenty-five cents back. The landlord said he had loads of money, and after paying his reckoning out of a large roll of bills he disappeared down a side line, and I haven't met him since. If he stops at your town let me know.

FAILURE OF ISBESTER BRO'S.

Five years ago Adam Isbester & Co., the well known Petrolia grocery, hardware, and liquor merchants, established branches at Port Arthur and Sault Ste. Marie. The Petrolia business has since that time been conducted by Adam Isbester, and the Northwest houses have been in charge of Malcolm, the junior member of the firm. It was generally supposed that a third brother, James, the well-known Ottawa contractor, who is now building the Cape Breton Railway for the Government, was also a member of the firm, but he was, it is now alleged, only interested to the extent of $20,000 which he loaned to the firm. The failure of Isbester & Co., is now announced, with liabilities of over $100,000. Those of the Port Arthur Branch alone are $78,000. As an offset there is $5,000 worth of stock, and about $20,000 book debts. The liabilities of the Petrolia firm are $36,000, but the assets are claimed to be $48,000, the assignment of this branch having been precipitated by the Port Arthur failure. A meeting of creditors will be held in Toronto this week, when an offer of 70 to 80c. on the dollar is expected to be made. Nearly all the Toronto wholesale grocery and hardware houses are creditors, although none will lose heavily, it is said. Mr. James Isbester is understood to have a large claim for extras against the Dominion Government in connection with the Cape Breton Railway and the bridge across the Grand Narrows, which, if disallowed, would make his contract an unprofitable one. As for his brothers, Mr. James Isbester claims that all the interest he ever had in their business was to advance them considerable sums of money.—Sarnia Observer.

The Inland Revenue Department has recently issued a bulletin of about thirty pages which is devoted exclusively to the subject of baking powder and which shows that the majority of the goods in the market are adulterated and unfit for use. Prof. A. McGill, who has had charge of this important work for the Government, says that "imperial baking power is an excellent baking powder." A word to the sensible housekeeper should be suffcieut.

THE CANNED GOODS LAW.

Her Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and House of Commons of Canada, enacts as follows:—

In this Act the expression "package" means every can, tin or package in which articles or goods are put up for sale, and which are closed by being hermetically sealed. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 1.

Except in the case of goods packed previously to July 20, 1885, every package of canned goods sold or offered for sale in Canada, for consumption therein, shall have attached thereto or imprinted thereon a label or stamp, setting forth in legible characters the name and address of the person, firm or company by whom the same was packed, or of the dealer who sells the same or offers it for sale.

Every such package containing goods prepared from products which have been dried previously to being so prepared, shall, in addition, be labelled or stamped with the word "soaked," which word shall be plainly printed diagonally across the face of the label in large, legible type at least half an inch in height and three-eighths of an inch in width.

Every person who sells or offers for sale any such goods in violation of any provision of this section shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, for a first offence incur a penalty of two dollars for each such package, and for a subsequent offence a penalty not exceeding twenty dollars and not less than four dollars for each such package in respect of which any such provision has been violated. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 2.

Every person who places on any package any label, brand or mark which falsely represents the quantity or weight of the contents of such package, shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, incur a penalty of two dollars for each package on which the quantity or weight is so falsely represented; provided always, that a variation under the rate of three per cent. shall not be deemed a violation of the provisions of this section. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 3.

Every person who places on any package any label, brand or mark which falsely represents the date when the article or goods contained therein were packed, shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, incur a penalty of two dollars for each package on which such date is falsely represented. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 4.

GROCERIES.

This week has been, like every other closing one of March, duller than any other part of that month. The aggregate business done for the whole month has not been up to that done in March, 1889. The sugar excitement of a year ago created an artificial demand that concentrated the trade of several months in one. The average state of payments has been maintained. The volume of local business has been slightly lowered. The only line in which there has been any notable change in the buying of has been tobacco. Dealers, in expectation of a decrease in the excise, had, for several weeks previous to the coming down of the budget, bought in small quantities, as one or two cases where they formerly bought fifteen. The tariff remaining the same, and the question being finally determined, buying has recommenced under the old conditions and with the former magnitude of orders Stormy weather and bad roads were unfavorable to trade.

CANNED GOODS.

The transaction in which a car of tomatoes changed hands at $1, does not indicate fairly the tendency of the market, and is most unlikely to be followed by further signs of decline in prices, the thing necessary to any break is an overplus of stock, and that there is not. Moreover, packers are firm for the maintenance of present prices, and the single symptom of weakness has alarmed none of them. Trade has not been specially active. The movement was steady throughout the week, but the volume was small. The preference of the buying has run towards tomatoes, though not to any marked degree above two or three other lines. In salmon and lobster there has been very little selling. The cheapness of dried apples and the appearance upon the market of evaporated fruits no doubt affect the market for canned goods. What perhaps influences the situation also to a considerable extent is the expectation of a general lowering of prices, an expectation founded in an overestimate of the irregular transaction noted above.

COFFEES.

The brunt of the demand falls upon Rio, and the scarcity of that class of coffee is growing. Prices have not varied, but have become hard-set at 22 to 23c. Foreign reports do not open up an early prospect of lower figures, and the firmness of New York holders, whatever underlies it, is unquestionable. The scarcity of Rio tends to improve trade in Java and Mocha coffees, but the market not being heavily stocked in these, prices will not give way before an increased demand. The demand is not likely to take very largely to the dearer lines, however. Mocha and Java have received only a fair week's attention. Prices have not changed.

DRIED FRUITS.

The general stiffness has not relaxed. Off-stalk Valencia raisins in fact have advanced a weak quarter quoting from 7½ to 8c., though the bulk of the buying has been from 7½ to 7¾c. There has been a steady upward movement in Valencias since the beginning of the month, the difference between the quotations at the first of March and that at the last amounting to about 1 cent. There has been a fair business in all lines, and firm prices consequent upon scarcity is a general feature. Bosnia prunes are 4¾ to 5c. in hogsheads, 5⅛ to 5¼c. in barrels, 5¾ to 6c. in kegs. French prunes are 5 to 5¼c. in kegs. Sphinxes are 8½ to 8¾c. for A's, 8 to 8¼c. for B's, 7¾ to 8c. for C's, 6¼ to 7c. for D's, 6½ to 6¾c. for U's. The Atlas brand is 7½c. for B, and 7c. for C. Currants are 5⅝ to 5⅞c. in barrels, 6 to 6¼c. in half barrels, 6¼ to 6½c. in cases. Valencia layers are 9¼ to 9¾c. Sultanas are 10 to 12c. Black baskets are $1.35, London layers at $3 to $3.15, loose muscatels at $2.35 to $2.60, are about all the Malagas on the market. Dates are 5¾ to 6c. Eleme figs are 10 to 11c. per lb. Four crescents are 14c. five crescents are 15c. and seven crescents are 16. Natural are 4¾ to 5c. in boxes.

SUGAR.

Sugars are down in New York ⅛c., and our refiners have lowered prices in sympathy. This is the first response the market here has made to the outside influences that have been operative the past two weeks. Low grades continue scarce. M. Licht raised estimate of beet crop 50,000 tons. This last increase gives a beet crop of 3,600,000 tons, against 2,785,844 tons last year, and the moderate cane crops are not small enough to off-set an increase of 814,156 tons, with a probability of sowings being made for as large a crop as the last. Sugar is pretty nearly down to the lowest point ever touched in the United States, being actually below Europe, and the bottom should not be far away, particularly as the consumption of the world is largely increased by the low prices. Total stock in all the principal countries is 1,430,444 tons against 1,062,234 tons same time last year.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

The adjustment of the duty on molasses means only 2½c. per gallon, and this little affects the market here. Its importance is to the trade of Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, where consumption is heavy. Trade has not shown any sign of interest here in the reduction and it is unlikely there will be any increase in the Ontario demand. The market is now fairly supplied with low grades of syrups. In medium and better grades there is a fair demand which was a few weeks ago drawn towards inferior grades. There is no change in prices.

TEAS

Each week's trade varies very little from its forerunner. There is nothing fitful about the tea trade, unless when some signal event in the market or tariff takes place. At this season, between crops, the course of trade is very steady. Good cheap Japans are still wanted. A good trade in Congous is done. Greens are unchanged. The local market for Assams has been good, cheap Pekoes being chiefly in demand. In London, with smaller auctions and an improved demand prices are slightly higher this week, particularly for any parcels with quality. The low grades of Pekoes and broken Pekoes are fully a ½d. dearer, and tippy kinds are in more request. Ceylon teas are quiet. The home market is firmer, and the decline that has been apparent for several weeks past has been checked.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The state of the market has varied in none of its conditions very appreciably since our report a week ago. Butter is still very plentiful, and the proportion of inferior and second rate is not less than ever. Prime dairy-tub is scarce. Eastern dairy brings 18 to 19c., average local is 16 to 18c., and under-medium is 14 to 16c. Store-pack is 8 to 13c., as of old, and very little of it is good. Creamery-tubs are no longer to be had. Large rolls are scarce; they bring 15 to 16c., and in the case of very good ones. 17c. is paid. Pound rolls are worth 18 to 21c. in large quantities, and 21 to 25c. in farmers' baskets. The demand for good butter is as strong as ever, and in this respect the supply is behind the demand, though in respect to quantity it has long been ahead of it for home consumption.

Cheese is selling steadily at the long standing prices of 8½ to 9½c. for early summer make, and 10½ to 11c. for early autumn.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

APPLES—There are no car-lots now. The supply is short, and holders are tenacious for a prospective greater advance. Broken lots bring $3.50 to $4, and store-lots are $4 to $4.50. Along with the shortage in the supply there has been a shrinkage in the demand, consequent upon the firmness of the advances that have been made since the market opened. There is a good market even at present prices, if the apples were forthcoming.

BEANS—Small sales go at $1.60 to $1.65, and large ones at $1.40 to $1.50. The demand, quickened somewhat at the break-up of the winter, is now much as it was before, light and steady.

CORN—Is 44c. a bushel.

DRIED APPLES—There has been more buying, but the market being well-stocked, prices have not advanced. New are 4¾ to 5c., and old 4½c., with an occasional weak 4¾c. for fine.

EVAPORATED APPLES—The product of the '89 crop is 10 to 10½c. for choice, and the old ones are 8 to 9½c. The demand is fair.

EGGS—The market keeps well-stocked, but there is a firmness in the prices current. Buyers are paying 12½ to 13c. Farmers' baskets bring no more than first-class case-lots. One reason is the large receipts through farmers' marketing, and another is the unquestionable freshness of all cases.

HAY—On the track, pressed, brings $9 to 9.50 for No. 1, and $6.50 to $7 for No. 2. Farmers' loads of No. 1 are $7 to $9. The supply fell off on account of the bad weather and roads, but the market was so full that this gave no help to prices.

HIDES—There has been rather a dull week's business. The price of cured remains at 4¾c. No. 1 Green are also unchanged, No. 1 quoting at 2c.

HONEY—Prices are not likely to fall at a season so far from the time of production, and while fruit is generally high. Syrup is also scarce, and molasses up to the present has been dear. Still the trade in honey has been quiet, and has been increasing in that character for several weeks. Clear is 11½ to 13c., and comb is 12 to 14c.

HOPS—Good new are 14 to 16c. yearlings are 12 to 13c. There is a dull market, and no prospect of scarcity, the surplus of old stock and the fullness of the new combining to make prices rule low throughout the year.

OATS—In car lots are 30c. In wagon loads they are 32c. Arrivals continue to be large and numerous.

ONIONS—Appear to be out of the market almost. If there is any surplus to speak of from last fall's crop it is not brought out by high prices. Prices are $3 to $3.50, but good onions will bring more. There is a fairly strong demand just now.

POTATOES — Evoke no interest among buyers. Last week's price, 55c. for car-lots, still stands as a quotation, but it represents what is asked, not what is paid. There is any quantity to be had, and prices are decidedly easier. Buyers are not paying more than 53c., and while some purchases are made at 55c., they are few, and represent the best stock. In store-lots prices are 60 to 65c.

SEEDS—Since the marketing of the Canadian crop, prices have been slightly unsettled, but they may now be expected to be stable for some time. The addition under the revised tariff of a 15 per cent. duty on all seeds has run prices up this week. Red Clover is $4 to $4.20. Alsike is $5.50 to $6.75. Timothy is $1.75 to $2.

SKINS—There has been no change in the relations of supply and demand, so that prices remain as they were. Sheep are still $1.30 to $1.60. Large well-wooled butchers' bring the upper figure. In calf prices are 6c. for No. 1, and 5c. for No. 2.

STRAW—Tight-pressed oat is worth $5.30 on track, and sheaves are $6.50 to $7 in farmers' loads. The supply of the latter has not been so liberal since the bad roads.

TALLOW—Is 1¼ to 2c. for rough, and 5 to 5½c. for rendered.

WOOL—Is unchanged. Of pulled the prices are for extra-super 30c., for super 25 to 26c., and for lowest 24c. Fleeces are 22c.

FISH.

The approach of the last days of Lent tends to make business dull. It has not been notably brisk in any part of the season. The continued decline in the price of eggs also withdraws attention from fish more and more. Particularly is business in dried fish dull. The leaning of the demand has been all along towards frozen fish with which the market was well supplied from the outset. Finan haddie is down to 6c. The supply of fresh spring salmon has been good, but in other respects the market has not changed, the spring salmon still selling at 28 to 30c. Sea herring are $1.60 per hundred by count. White fish are 7c.; salmon are $12 per barrel; small cod are 5c. per pound; steak cod are 7½c.; haddock are 5½ to 6c.; pike are 4½c.; pickerel are 6½c.; flounders are 5c.; tulepes are 7c.; Labrador herring are $5 to $5.50 per barrel, and $3.25 to $3.75 per half-barrel; Shore herring are $4 per barrel, and $2.25 per half-barrel; boneless cod are 6 to 8c. per pound; boneless fish are 6c.

GREEN FRUIT.

The stock of oranges that came on this market in autumn and early winter are now nearly sold out. Floridas of both kinds are about done, and the best of the fancy brights certainly are. What is left of any kind of brights goes at the same figure as the russets, viz., $4.50. The Messinas which take the place held in stock by the Valencias and Floridas are rather stiffer in price, running at $3 to $3.50 in 200 boxes. The Pacific coast oranges are $5.50 for California navels, $5 for Washington navels, and $4.25 for both Riverside Seedlings and Mediterranean Sweets. Fancy lemons (300's) are $4 to $4.50 and for (360's) $3.50 to $4, for both Messina and Palermo. Bananas are $1.75 to $2.25 for reds, and $2 to $2.50 for yellows. Sweet potatoes are very scarce, and worth $6.50 to $7 a barrel. Pineapples are $4 to $4.50 per dozen, but are hard to get. They are landed in bad shape at New York, being either too green or too ripe. Grape fruit is $4.50 per box and $7.50 per barrel. The week's trade in green fruit has been exceptionally dull. The demand has taken largely to dried Callfornian fruits, as apricots, etc., etc.

PROVISIONS.

The tariff changes have affected prices in all hog products, and have begun a stiffening of the prices paid for dressed hogs, the latter in sympathy with prices of products.

BACON—Long clear is 8 to 8½c. Breakfast is 11 to 11½c., and roll is 9 to 9½c. The duty has been advanced on all smoked meats to 3c. It was formerly 1c.

DRESSED HOGS—The arrivals have been fairly liberal for the season and the weather.

Prices run from $5.50, to $5.60 for heavy, and $5.75 to $6 for light.

HAMS—Smoked are 11½ to 12c. On all smoked meats the former duty of 1c. has been increased to 3c. Sweet pickled hams are 10½c.

LARD—Canadian tubs are 9c., and pails 9½c. The duty has been raised to 3c. from a former 2c. Prices of American will, therefore, advance, as in Chicago it is now 6⅛c., which raised by 3c. is 9⅛c. here.

MESS PORK—Heavy is $14.50, and family is $15. The duty on mess has moved from a former 1c. to 1½c. per lb.

SALT.

The salt market for the week is the same as last week with one or two changes in prices. The following are the prices reported by the Toronto Salt Works for the week: 1 car bbls. at $1.38; 2 cars coarse sacks at 68c.; 1 car dairy at $1.18; land salt $7 per ton; smaller quantities have sold at, ¼ sacks 45c.; bbls. $1.45; sacks 85c.

DRY GOODS.

Trade has not made any change in the low ratio of progress that has been the average throughout the portion of the year that is past. Buying is still slow and orders are not large. The past week may have been as good as the one before it, or it may have been better, but it is still disappointing by comparison with what is usually estimated as the business for this season. The wholesale trade have no feeling that a break in grey cottons will take place. Some orders are now placed at the mills for next autumn's trade, but that trade is not pushed by travellers among the retailers just yet. The wholesalers are as conservative as are their customers. The extra duty on woollens has not yet begun to affect trade, as that is not now specially interested. The storm had an effect on business that no doubt was appreciable.

Montreal Markets—Continued.

The summer rates which went into effect Tuesday added materially to the increase in trade, though the summer rates for the East do not commence till the 15th inst. It is not expected that any volumn of trade will be transacted till after Easter payments may be considered fair. The changes in the United States tariff did not cause so much interest among the business men of Montreal as might have been expected, as the changes have been for some time anticipated. It is generally conceded that the imposition of a duty of five cents a dozen on eggs will seriously interfere with the Canadian export trade, while the butter and cheese trade will also suffer directly from the increase in duty of from four to five cents a pound. Lumber exporters do not expect to have their trade seriously interfered with, as the increases of duty are on lines of lumber of which but little is exported to the United States.

SUGARS.

The sugar market remains unchanged. Former prices have been maintained owing to the scarcity on this market of the raw material. In New York raw seems to be easier at the recent drop, and granulated there is quoted at 6⅛c. There is no material change in yellows except that they are easier. Quotations are : Granulated 7 to 7¼c.; Yellows 5⅜ to 6c.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

The demand for syrups continues fair at unchanged prices. Molasses is considerably easier owing to the lower duty, which is only on molasses imported direct from point of production, and to the heavy stock now on this market. Prices are : Barbadoes, in puncheons, 37 to 40c.; in small packages, 43½c.

COFFEES.

The market here is very bare of goods, the late advance in prices having checked purchasing at the time it took place, and consequently stocks have been running down without any goods coming forward to replenish them. We quote : Mocha, 30 to 32c.; Java, 28 to 30c.; Jamaica, 22 to 24c.; Plantation Ceylon, 27 to 29c.; Maracaibo, 24 to 25c.; Rio, 22 to 24c.; Guatemala, 24½ to 26½c.; Santos, 22 to 24c. The visible supply is a long way short of last year.

RICE.

Following are quotations : Mount Royal Mills, A and B. $3.60 to $3.75 per 100 lbs. ; Patras 4½ to 5c. and Japan 4 to 4½c.

NUTS.

There has been a little more demand for nuts the past week, principally for the Eastern trade, prices remaining as follows :—Tarragona almonds, 14c.; Ivica 12c.; Pecans 12 to 12½c. with short crop and slow market; Brazil nuts 11c.; Grenoble walnuts 15 to 15½c. and French 10c.; Filberts firm at 10c. for Sicily and 9½c. for Turkey; green peanuts 8½ to 9c.

DRIED FRUITS.

The dried fruit market has been very firm in all lines. Valencia raisins have again advanced and are now quoted at 7½ to 8¼c. Valencia layers 9c. London layers easier at $2.75 to $3. Sultanas 10 to 13c. French prunes in cases 5½ to 5¾c. Spanish according to package 4½ to 5c. Dates 5¼c. Eleme figs 10 to 14c. Dried apples 6½c.

CANNED GOODS.

Canned goods continue to move off freely at unchanged prices, though there is an expected advance in peaches and peas. The following are the packers' prices :—Corn $1.20 ; marrowfat peas, $1.15 ; sweet peas, $1.25 ; tomatoes $1.20 ; stringless beans 85c. ; butter beans 90c. ; apples, 3 lb., $1.05, per gal. $2.35 ; pineapples $2.25 to $2.40 ; strawberries $2.35 ; peaches $2.15 ; plums $1.75 ; pears $2. Salmon easier at $1.50 to $1.70. The new seasons pack will arrive here about the first of August, and will be quoted at about $1.37. Mackerel very slow at $5.70 to $5.80.

Goods conveniently located save time, money and temper in showing.

A feather duster disperses but does not remove the dust from the store.

WHAT MONTREAL MERCHANTS THINK OF THE TARIFF.

Mr. J. P. Cleghorn, President of the Board of Trade, expressed himself as very much surprised at such a general amendment of the budget. He thought that there would be tariff changes in a few isolated cases, but was not prepared for such a revision. At the time he had not carefully studied the budget speech, but he had remarked that although a number of the articles in which the firm of which he is a member (J. G. Mackenzie & Company) are enumerated, in no case was there actually a change in the duties. Mr. Cleghorn added that he regretted that the tariff had received such a general overhauling, because changes of any kind in the tariff are a great annoyance to trade, such a general change as that in the present instance requiring business men to work away for a year to get themselves posted on the altered position of affairs.

Probably the change of the tariff in which the most general interest is taken is the addition of twenty-five cents a barrel to flour. The wholesale grocers are as a rule well pleased with the budget speech. Mr. Hebert, of Messrs. Hudon, Hebert & Co., expresses himself as thoroughly satisfied with the tariff on molasses. Formerly he and other importers had great trouble with the Customs officers, who never seemed able to decide what duty to charge, but in accordance with the wishes of the deputation from the Board of Trade and the Wholesale Grocers' Association, which recently waited on the Minister of Customs, this has been remedied, and a specific duty is now imposed. Two clauses of the tariff as published this morning, read: "Mess pork, as defined by the General Inspection Act, 1½ cent per pound," and "meats, fresh or salted, not elsewhere specified, 3 cents per pound." As high class American pork is understood to come under the second of these definitions the duty will consequently be 3 cents per pound, an increase of 200 per cent. This, in the opinion of the trade, will prohibit the importation of American pork, and will thus greatly encourage the raising of hogs among Canadian farmers.

THE DUTY ON SPIRITS.

There has been considerable excitement here over the proposed changes in the tariff on spirituous liquors, which reads: That four reputed quart bottles shall constitute a gallon. Now, if this is maintained all such cases will be counted as three gallons and duty levied accordingly, whereas outside capacity of all the above stated cases is two gallons. Again, if this duty is carried out it will prohibit the importation of case goods, and will induce importers to import all such goods in wood, and bottling will be done here, giving a chance for all kinds of trash being offered to the consumers.

A deputation of the leading merchants of Montreal went to Ottawa last Monday night and laid the following petition before the Minister of Finance and Customs:—

TO THE HON. GEORGE FOSTER.

SIR,—We, the undersigned, being a committee duly nominated to represent the importing wine and spirit interest of the city of Montreal, would respectfully bring to your notice the fact that the proposed changes in the customs tariff, relating to duties on spirits, are unsatisfactory.

A case of imported whiskey, rum, brandy, etc., of one dozen bottles reputed quarts, contains not more than two gallons. By the proposed tariff, a case is made to pay duty upon three gallons, an excess of, at least, one gallon over the actual contents.

It is the universal custom to import spirits in bottle at various strengths under proof, and we would respectfully submit that the levying of duty on bottled spirits, without allowing for such under-proof, is not equitable, as when imported over-proof we have to pay extra, because it will lead to the bottling of liquor by the purchaser here. Thus the safeguard of the shippers branded cork, and registered label will be lost and the consumer will, in very many instances, pay a high price for inferior and very often injurious liquor.

We, therefore, pray that proof strength be taken as a standard, and that over-proof be charged extra, and under proof be allowed for in proportion. As to the contents of cases, we ask that the duty be levied on actual measurement.

We also pray, that ginger wine, now proposed to be classed as a cordial, be classed as a wine as heretofore.

We would request that immediate action be taken in this matter.

(Signed), Wm. Farrell, L. Chaput Fils & Cie., L. A. Wilson & Co., Mathieu Freres, Meagher Bros. & Co., Gillespie & Co., J. Hope & Co., D. Masson & Co., Huron, Hebert & Co., H. Chapman & Co.

Messrs. Hudon, Hebert & Cie., have secured the entire control, for Montreal, for the British America Salmon.

Wm. Kennedy, grocer, of Montreal, has assigned with $1000 liabilities, at the instance of Mr. George Childs.

Mr. F. J. Ward, of the old and well-known firm of John P. Mott & Co., chocolate manufacturers, Halifax, passed through Montreal, last week, on his way home from a very successful western trip. In conversation, he said they intended to push their goods the coming season for all they are worth.

At the annual meeting of the shareholders of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining company, limited, which took place last Wednesday afternoon at the company's office, Corn Exchange building, the retiring board of directors, consisting of Messsrs. Jas. Crathern, J. M. Douglas, Robert Hampson, W. R. Elmenhorst. A. Baumgarten, and Theo. Labatt, were re-elected by acclmation.

The Montreal Retail Grocers' Association have secured new quarters for their future meetings, having leased from the management of the Mechanics' Institute, the large and commodious committee rooms in the Mechanics' Hall, and their regular monthly meeting will be held there to-night. It is expected there will be a large attendance, as the business is of special importance.

TENDERS.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Indian Supplies," will be received at this office up to noon of MONDAY, 21st April, 1890, for the delivery of Indian Supplies, during the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1891, consisting of Flour, Beef, Bacon, Groceries, Ammunition, Twine, Agricultural Implements, Tools, etc., duty paid, at various points in Manitoba and the North-West Territories.

Forms of tender, containing full particulars relative to the Supplies required, dates of delivery, etc., may be had by applying to the undersigned, or to the Indian Commissioner at Regina, or to the Indian Office, Winnipeg.

Parties may tender for each description of goods (or for any portion of each description of goods) separately or for all the goods called for in the Schedules, and the Department reserves to itself the right to reject the whole or any part of a tender.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted Cheque in favor of the Superintendent General of Indian Affairs, on a Canadian Bank, for at least five per cent. of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into a contract based on such tender when called upon to do so, or if he fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted, the cheque will be returned.

Each tender must, in addition to the signature of the tenderer, be signed by two sureties acceptable to the Department for the proper performance of the contract based on his tender.

This advertisement is not to be inserted by any newspaper without the authority of the Queen's Printer, and no claim for payment by any newspaper not having had such authority will be admitted.

THE DUTY ON PORK.

Representatives of the Canadian Pork Packers' Association had a very satisfactory interview with the Minister of Customs and Finance on Monday afternoon in reference to the duty on mess pork. The deputation, which consisted of Messrs. J. W. Flavelle and Jas. Park, of Toronto; F. W. Fearman and Thos. Lawry, of Hamilton, was accompanied by Messrs. Cockburn, Small, Denison, Brown, McKay, Sproule, Carpenter, Coughlin, Pope, Marshall and Montague, M.P.'s. The deputation pointed out that the new tariff placed the duty on mess pork in barrels at a cent and a half and all other meats at three cents per pound, but that the collector at Toronto had ruled that all pork coming in in barrels, shorts, cuts, etc., so long as it was barrelled, was mess pork, and that thereby the benefit likely to accrue to the packing industry by the new duty would be minimized. The Ministers said that the definition of mess pork as given in the general Inspection Act, was the one to which the collectors must adhere. That definition reads as follows :

Mess pork shall consist of the rib pieces only of good hogs, weighing not less than 200 lbs. each, and packages containing such pork shall be branded on one of the heads "Mess pork."

The Ministers held that clearly, under this definition, back pork and other cuts must pay duty at three cents a pound, and a circular will be sent to collectors of customs apprising them that this is the correct reading of the tariff. If, as is alleged, American short cut pork is sent in as mess pork, by knocking in the head of a barrel or two in each consignment collectors will be able to satisfy themselves whether an attempt is being made to evade the duty. The tariff is practically 1½c. a pound on mess and 3c. on all other forms of pork.

TRADE SALES.

Rickert Bros'. stook was purchased, in Hamilton, on the 27th ult., by W. L. Graham at 68½c. on the dollar.

The stock of D. J. Lyons, an insolvent dealer in ready-made clothing, Belleville, was sold at auction, on the 26th ult., by the sheriff. It was purchased by Arthur McGinnis at 58c. on the dollar.

Messrs. Cooper & Co., of Clinton, have bought the insolvent stock of Chris. Dickson, in that town.

The stock of T. S. Barrett, general dry goods, Tilsonburg, who recently assigned, has been sold to Northway & Anderson, at 66c on the dollar. The creditors of whom, Caldicott & Co., of Toronto, are the principal ones, will realize about 50c. on the dollar. The stock was inventoried at $19,700.

The Associated Tea Planters, Ltd.

OF LONDON, CAPITAL, £50,000.

Under the auspices of the Indian Tea Districts Association.

The object of the company is to push the sale of their product, feeling certain that when systematically brought to consumers' notice its merits will be so manifest as to give it the front rank in public favor, as is the case in Great Britain.

Roundly, the annual consumption in that country is 80,000,000 lbs. during last crop year This is the best answer to the twaddle about the excessive quantity of tannin in Indian tea. Consumers in England are no fools: they know a cup of good tea.

Supplies will be held in Canada and the States and the undersigned, or his assistants, will make regular calls on the Trade. Samples will also be promptly forwarded on application.

CERTIFICATES OF STRENGTH AND PURITY.

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC ANALYST,

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

GENTLEMEN,—I have personally taken samples from a large stock of your Granulated Sugar, "REDPATH" brand, and carefully tested them by the Polariscope, and I find these samples to be as near to absolute purity as can be obtained by any process of Sugar-Refining.

The test by the Polariscope showed in yesterday s yield 99·90 per cent. of Pure Cane Sugar, which may be considered commercially as ABSOLUTELY PURE SUGAR.

The creditors of the Richelieu Hotel, Montreal, which failure was announced the other day, held a meeting yesterday. The statement of affairs shows liabilities $47,156, and a deficit of $25,000. The estate will be wound up.

Messrs. John A. Wood, J. W. Cowan and J. Todhunter, of Toronto, accompanied by several members of Parliament, saw Messrs. Bowell and Foster on Monday in reference to the duty on cocoa. The deputation urged that the amended duty reduced their protection very considerably, whereas what was really desired was a slight increase. Hon. Mr. Bowell expressed his regret that the deputation had had the trouble of coming to Ottawa. An error had been made in the department in copying out this particular item in the tariff, the real intention being to make the duty a little higher and to change it from a mixed duty to a specific duty in order to avoid undervaluation, and this change would be made before the tariff bills were finally adopted.

A repntation for truthfulness is indispensable to perunencnt and satisfying success.

THE TOBACCO EXCISE AGAIN.

In a notice of motion given a few nights ago in the House of Commons, the Hon. John Costigan announces the latest remedy which his Department is prepared to offer for the relief of the excise-ridden tobacco trade. Mr. Costigan's proposed treatment is strictly homeopathic. What the trade is suffering from is a restriction of its freedom to deal in the best product of tobacco manufacture. The Minister frames a bill which preserves that restriction by increasing the option to deal in a lower quality of tobacco. All his amendment contemplates is further warrant for that officious interference with trade which was carried to an exasperating degree in this city last summer. The cardinal provision of Mr. Costigan's bill would give manufacturers the privilege to put up their tobacco in two-pound packages. This, the Minister holds, would open the tobacco trade to dealers in the poorest circumstances. Since the regulations require the trade to lay in only unbroken packages, the size of the packages should be so graded that the smallest trader may afford to buy tobacco legitimately. This looks as if the Department were solicitous for the interests of the humblest dealer who aims at a tobacco trade. But it is not the outcome of knowledge, and it should be, for the Department is not inexperienced in the effect of such a method of meeting the difficulty. About two years ago a less degree of the same mode of relief was conceded to the trade, and is yet a refuge to the dealer who cannot buy in large packages. But does the small dealer avail himself of it? He has had it in his right for two years to buy five-pound packages, but he does not buy them. It has been since that right was secured to him by the same paternal Department, that the greatest number of seizures have been made for trade in broken packages. And why does the small dealer persist in the dangerous trade in broken packages? Is it from waywardness, or the love of risk? It is because his trade is ruled by the demand for good tobacco, and because that demand discriminates against the tobacco put up in five-pound packages. Chewing tobacco, particularly, of which moisture is an essential, retains its vitality only in large masses, formed by enormous pressure, and cased in strong air and watertight packages. Even under these conditions surface-plugs soon part with their liquidity. Put up in five-pound packages, the tobacco rapidly loses all that is springy and toothsome to the chewer. The small packages are scarcely ever handled by general merchants or grocers. Trade in them is confined to the tobacconists, one of whom told us the other day that he sells a ton of the large package contents for a hundred weight of the small. After the small package has lain in store a few weeks, the casing material might almost as well be chewed as the tobacco in it, as the wood soon becomes rich with tobacco essence. If five-pound packages cannot but be leaky of the volatile part of their contents, then must two-pound packages be much more leaky.

The tobacco depreciates as the weight of the package is reduced. The Minister's amendment, therefore, virtually would still restrict the trade of the small dealer. That dealer cannot now get the tobacco his customers want, and the proposed change will only put it in his power to supply what his customers are still more averse to. Those who want tobacco will go where the best of it can be got at the lowest price. The small packages must come dearer as a consequence of the greater number of packages, the increased number of excise stamps, etc., and they contain a poorer class of tobacco. The change would simply make it more obligatory on the small dealer to keep inferior tobacco, and would thus drive the tobacco trade from him.

The joint committee of Toronto wholesale and retail grocers which met both the Commissioner and the Minister of Inland Revenue last winter, did not base the statement of its case upon the fact that packages were not made small enough, and did not urge or even suggest relief through the authorizing of smaller packages. Nor does the conservatism of manufacturers who continue to make in large packages rest upon the fact that to make in smaller packages is more expensive. The impression that this fact is the basis of the preference for large packages is left by the Minister, if his notice of motion is correctly reported in the Empire's despatch. It was felt by the joint grocers' committee of this city that the minds of both Mr. Costigan and Mr. Miall were disabused of any such idea; that they were aware the present leaning to large packages was determined by the demand. The Minister proposes a method of dealing with the case that has not been suggested, and to give countenance to that method suggests a reason that has never been urged from the source of demand.

To induce the manufacturers to do what the necessities of trade do not call upon them to do, the Minister expects that Parliament will vote compensation to such manufacturers as shall make tobacco in two-pound packages. There is no trade demand, there is merely the demand of an excise system which the Minister finds has not adaptability enough in itself to fit it to the normal needs of trade. The excise system, however, must not be changed. The Minister prefers to arrogate to himself the power of saying what kind of tobacco manufacturers shall make, a prerogative that naturally belongs to the consuming public. The demand too often is responsible for a low quality of commercial product. It is very seldom we see it in the position the Minister now puts it, striving to uphold the quality against fiscal methods which would debase it.

If manufacturers caught in a modification of the demand any hint that smaller packages were wanted, would they in this progressive age go on in violation of it making tobacco in large packages? If small packages were imperatively called for they would forthwith be supplied. There is no commodity on which an increase in price would be more easily and naturally realizible. Whenever small packages have to be made, manufacturers will make them and get what they are worth. The Minister's proposal, therefore, to bonus makers to induce them to put up only in small packages is absurd. Tobacco is not an indispensable, and if the conditions of its manufacture make it dear, the want of it is no privation. That is the way, at all events, the Minister himself seems to reason in sticking to so heavy an excise, in the face, too, of a greatly reduced excise in the United States. He appears to think tobacco, if anything, can stand a heavy revenue increment, and if it can, why cannot it stand the cost of its own manufacture? Is it not a rather singular spectacle to behold a Minister putting with one hand a tax of twenty cents a pound upon every tobacco consumer, and with the other levying a tax upon the general public to help the smoker or chewer to pay for his tobacco? This is truly a bit of enlightened financing.

The proposal to indemnify manufacturers for a change they do not want, and who, if they did would make it pay for itself, has rather a sinister look. These manufacturers have been givenprotection that they consider ample, at all events no addition to the protection on plug tobacco was thought necessary in the late tariff revision, and none was asked. The Minister's propo al, therefore, while it affords no redress to the small dealers, is apt to be looked upon with suspicion because of the money vote to the manufac. turers it involves. The choice is before the Department of conciliating the trade or of sticking to its regulations. The latter Mr. Costigan chooses, and it would appear that to make up for the alienation of small traders, he considers it prudent to attach the manufacturers. It seems plain, however, that despite the encouragement given the trade last winter by both Mr. Miall and Mr. Costigan, there is to be no surcease, if the Department can help it, of the persecution that followed the tobacco trade last summer. Mr. Costigan has kept no part of his promise to the wholesale and retail trade of this city. That promise bound him to submit to the trade any alterations he contemplated. His alterations have been brought to the floor of the House to have them confirmed as law before the trade learns through the public press that any alterations have been departmentally decided upon.

THE CONFISCATED TOBACCO CLAIMS.

As a result of the utterances of the Minister of Inland Revenue last winter before a joint committee of the Wholesale Grocers' Guild and the Retail Grocers' Association, the latter body made application through Mr. John Small, M.P., for the refund of the fines imposed and the restoration of the tobacco seized in this city. This application logically followed the admission of the Minister at the conference referred to, that an injustice had been done in the seizures. The Association, convinced by the words of the head of the Department that he had a sense of wrong done to individuals here, applied to have that wrong redressed. Above two months after their secretary wrote the reply came, in the form of a memorandum from the Commissioner to the Minister relative to the cases specifically referred to in the application. In this memorandum the ground is taken that was held by the Department prior to the meeting with the Minister and the Commissioner. The admission of injustice made by the former, and referred to by the secretary of the Association in his application, is ignored. The correspondence is given below:

DEAR SIR,—I have been instructed by this Association to lay before you the following cases which have come under my personal notice, and to which we desire you would call the attention of the Minister of Inland Revenue.

We hold to the principle that these people have not been engaged in any illegal act, and that the regulations have been unnecessarily severe.

We are also desirous that the Minister should take into his earnest consideration the advisability of refunding to these people the fines, where such have been collected, and that they should be reimbursed for the tobacco which was taken from them.

The Minister, at a meeting convened for the purpose of hearing our complaints in this matter, was good enough to say that an injustice had been done, aud therefore we would respectfully ask his consideration in the matter as related above.

These cases do not by any means include all whose tobacco was seized, but are a few which have come under special notice. The full returns of seizures are doubtless in the records of the Department.

J. H. Hargrave, 190 King street east, had 49 lbs. of tobacco seized, and was fined $10. The fine was paid, but the tobacco was not redeemed.

H. Kennedy, 225 King street east, had 2½ lbs. tobacco seized, was taken before the Police Magistrate and fined $50 and costs. Fine and costs were paid.

Mrs. Bernstein, King street east, had 67 lbs. of tobacco seized, and was fined $10. The fine was paid but the tobacco was not redeemed. This person had only lost her husband some ten days before, and was entirely ignorant of any regulations.

K. McKay, King street east and Sherbourne, had 8½ lbs of tobacco seized, and was fined $10. The fine was paid, but the tobacco was not redeemed.

Mr. Burke, 285 King street east, had 2½ lbs. of tobacco seized. He was taken before the Police Magistrate, and the case now stands adjourned. His whole stock is not worth $25.

Mr. Farragher. King street east, had 21 lbs. of tobacco seized, and was fined $10. He paid the fine, but the tobacco was not redeemed.

William Elder, Dundas street, had 8 lbs. of tobacco seized, was taken before the Police Magistrate, and fined $50 and costs. He paid both fine and costs. The tobacco was redeemed by paying duty.

Memo. relative to seizures referred to in letter of Secretary of Toronto Retail Grocers' Association, dated Jan. 30, 1890:—

Mrs. Bernstein—The 67 lbs. of tobacco was seized for not being in a stamped package as required by law. The lowest penalty under the law is $50, but a mitigated penalty of $10 was imposed, and the release of the tobacco was ordered upon being put up in a legal package, properly stamped and the duty of 20c. per pound paid thereon. The tobacco could not be put upon the market with the knowledge of the Department in the illegal condition in which it was when seized, hence the necessity for its stamping.

H. Kennedy—The tobacco was seized for the same reason as that above stated. The same settlement of the case was offered, but Kennedy would not pay the mitigated penalty imposed, and proceedings were instituted against him for the collection of the full legal penalties. He was convicted and paid $50 and costs.

W. A. Elder—The cause of seizure was the same as in the two previous cases. Elder, according to the statement of the seizing officers, "snatched the tobacco from them, and stated that if it was of any considerable value he would draw his revolver, and that the goods would never leave the premises despite the whole of the Toronto police force, over his live body, etc." In this case prosecution was ordered at once. Elder was fined ten dollars and costs. Mr. Elder applied for a refund of the fine and costs, but the circumstances did not warrant such a course being taken.

J. H. Hargrave—Cause of seizure the same as in previous cases. A mitigated penalty of $10 was imposed and paid.

K. McKay—Same as case of J. H. Hargrave.

Mr. Farragher—The same.

John Burke—The cause of seizure in this case was the same as the others. Mr. Burke was offered a settlement of his case for a mitigated penalty of $10. He would not pay and was prosecuted. Subsequently the Department of Justice was informed that if he would pay the mitigated penalty of $10 no further action would be necessary.

In all the above cases the Department has endeavored to deal with the offenders as leniently as circumstances would permit. This Department has printed and circulated amongst the trade a pamphlet setting forth the requirements of the law and regulations affecting the tobacco trade. The caution notice attached to each package also contains information for the guidance of the dealers.

The observance of the law and regulations by dealers is absolutely necessary in the interests of the revenue as well as of the honest manufacturer and dealer. With a difference in the rate of duty in the United States and Canada of 12c. per pound (U. S. 8c., Canada 20c). The Department has felt that a close observance of the law by the retail trade must be insisted on.

The Department has provided stamps of all denominations required or asked for by the trade in order that manufacturers could put up their goods in packages of such sizes and weights as would be necessary to meet the requirements of the small as well as the large dealers.

Min. Inland Revenue.

OUTLOOK FOR CANNED SALMON.

Mr. William Brison, of Williams, Brown & Co., San Francisco, who control the bulk of the canned salmon consumed in Canada, is here on his second visit to this part of the Dominion, and, as usual, visited THE CANADIAN GROCER. He has had a very successful trip. Regarding the condition of trade on the coast, he says :—

"The market for good and choice qualities of salmon is being well sustained, but cheaper and inferior grades are decidedly off. The bulk of the stock on the Pacific coast consist of white and pink Alaska salmon, a quality unfit for export, nor will it meet with favor from the better class of trade, and must therefore find a market principally with the negro trade in the South, where it is being shipped at prices that enable the poorest class of people in that district to use it as a staple article of food, and not as a luxury as heretofore. In British Columbia there are probably not more than three or four carloads of first quality, and as it is to that source that the Canadian trade must look for their supply, the attention of this neighborhood is directed more to that locality than to any other salmon-producing point. The English market is already looking to British Columbia for salmon. In the early part of the present month one lot of 15,000 cases was placed at full prices on the English market, and at present there are a number of English buyers on the Pacific coast, whose general attention is directed more to the British Columbia than any other pack. Their first purchases will undoubtedly be of British Columbia salmon, and after that direct their attention to the Alaska pack, as the present indications on the Columbia river point to a very small pack, if any. The Fishermen's Union, a very strong combination composed of the people doing the fishing, have secured during the past three or four years the extreme price of $1 to $1.25 for each salmon caught on that river. This would make the cost per case between $5.75 to $6, and cannery men recognize that at these figures they cannot compete with British Columbia and Alaska salmon at $5.10 and $4.90 respectively. Consequently they have decided that in the coming season they will not accede to the demands of the Fishermen's Union, and therefore have not up to date made any preparations for canning. Preparations should now be well under way, and if the Union continues to hold out much longer there will be but a slight pack in that neighborhood. It is true some of the cannery men have water-wheels and traps to rely upon, but these would not give a total pack of more than 100,000 or 150,000 cases as against last year's 350,000 to 400,000. All these facts tends towards a firm market for salmon of good quality in the future."

TRADE RELATIONS WITH SPAIN.

Senor Baldasano y Topete, Spanish consul-general, at Quebec, addressed the council of the Toronto Board of Trade, on Wednesday afternoon, on the subject of closer commercial relations between Canada and Spain. Among the commodities which he particularly referred to as finding a market in Canada were wines, raisins, sweet lemons, and other fruits. Corks, also, he said, could be placed on the Canadian market at a cheaper rate than those at present received from the United States. He spoke of the probability of a trade being established between British Columbia and the Philippine islands, and stated that his agent in Vancouver had by his instructions sent samples of coal and fish from that country to Manilla. In view of the railways which the Cortes intends building, he was strongly in favor of the shipment of Canadian timber to Spain. Concluding, he said that he left Toronto with the feeling that it was one of the most beautiful and prosperous cities in the world, and he would gratefully remember the cordial welcome and princely entertainment extended to him by the merchants of the city.

Mr. Hugh Blain, seconded by Mr. A. M. Smith, moved a resolution of thanks to his excellency, which was unanimously carried. Messrs. G. M. Rose and Wm. Ince then made a few remarks on the Spanish trade with Canada, the tenor of which was to recommend that every assistance be given those endeavoring to increase it.

Mr. W. H. McDougall, of White River, in renewing his subscription to THE CANADIAN GROCER, writes "I like THE GROCER very much, and especially admire the fine sound sense of correspondents, 'Country Merchant,' 'Hope' and 'Onnlooker,' and hope steps will be taken to put the corrections suggested in force speedily."

Yours very respectfully,
W. H. MCDOUGALL.

Mr. Seth Rickaby, Glenarm, is retiring from business owing to ill health, and has rented his store to Messrs. Murchison and Gilchrist.

The three partners in the Enterprise Tea Company, lately operating in Montreal, have been each condemned to pay a fine of $20 by the recorder.

WOODENWARE PRICES.

In our Prices Current readers will find the latest alterations in the prices of woodenware. All the woodenware stocks, as pails, tubs, washboards, etc., made in this country, is the product of four manufacturing concerns. These have entered into an agreement to maintain what they consider fair prices. At a meeting last week they raised their quotations on tubs and pails. They held that prices were formerly too low as a result of a former state of competition, and as a result of later appreciating circumstances, as the increased cost of raw material and of labor. The advance has not been large. It has not troubled washboards, clothes pins, mops or butter bowls.

One of the indirect effects of the enormous importation of American lard was the injury to the Canadian pail trade. The packages in which this lard was shipped here were very numerous, and found their way into many households where pails were largely used. Farmers use many pails in the year, and, although they did not buy the lard, yet they bought the empty frail pails in which it had been put up. The increase of the duty on lard has shut out a great proportion of the American lard-compounds, and the derangement of our pail trade has also been to a large extent removed.

Few young men are proprietors of such a fine store as W. E. Preston, of Midland.

Mr. Jacob Wilson, wholesale grocer, is returning to Belleville with his family after several years' residence in Montreal, where his firm is located.

Mr. Ethan Pratt, a former well-known merchant of Toledo, in the county of Leeds, went to New York about two weeks ago to undergo an operation for a cancerous affection. He died while under an operation.

Mr. Geo. Precious has returned from St. Thomas to Glencoe, and bought out the grocery stock and good will of Mr. E. E. Adams. Mr. Precious is putting in a new stock and improving the store generally.

Mr. P. Heaney, Campbellford, is retiring from the grocery business, and will sell out his entire stock. The trade in Campbellford should look over Mr. Heaney's stock, and see if it would not be to their interests to buy it out in job lots and not have it thrown on sale at lower prices to the consumer than present prices. Mr. Heaney would probably meet the trade in a liberal spirit with this object in view.

Messrs. Evans & Ewing, seedsmen of Montreal, pointed out to the Ministers of Finance and Customs, the hardship they would be put to by the new tariff. They had taken orders for a quantity of seeds to be brought from Europe at a future day, but they represented that with the increased duty the transaction would mean a dead loss to them. They therefore asked that the consignment be allowed to come in at the old rate.

A delegation representing the hat trade and consisting of Messrs R. Crean, Toronto; E. Guillet, Maryville; W. Waugh, J. Edgar and T. J. Corristine, of Montreal, with Mr. McKay, M.P., representing the Hamilton fur hat workers, represented that the new specific duty was not what they required and they asked for an ad valorem duty of 30 per cent., with trimmings and sweat bands on the free list. In the event of the Government deciding to protect the manufacturers of sweat bands then the hat manufacturers asked for a little extra protection.

Messrs. J. G. Savage and W. Strachan, of Montreal, accompanied by Mr. Curran and Mr. Pope, saw the Minister of Customs, and asked that no change be made in the duty on grease for the manufacture of soap. They claim that the new tariff, which provides that grease for the manufacture of soap only shall come in free, would operate injuriously against them, inasmuch as before making

A COLLECTION LAW.

To the Editor CANADIAN GROCER.

DEAR SIR,—In a recent issue The Canadian Workman, commenting on the proposed legislation by the State of New York, at the instance of the Retail Grocers' Association of that State, giving creditors power to seize a percentage of a debtor's wages, stated :

"The labor associations have no desire to protect any persons who fail to pay their honest debts, but it can be readily seen that this bill would be a most dangerous innovation upon the privileges which the laws provide for the protection of debtors unable, through no fault of their own, to meet their obligations."

The passage of such a law would be a benefit, not only to creditors, but to honest debtors, and especially to the poorer ones amongst them. It would enhance their credits with business men by making the grocers feel secure against dishonest customers. The law would minimize losses, thereby enabling the merchant to make a liberal reduction on his goods, which would prove a great benefit to the workingman.

It was further stated that the grocer can protect himself against doubtful customers by refusing to give credit. This is impossible, because the pass-book system is in general use by retail grocers. The system would be a satisfactory one if both parties treated one another fairly and honestly. No credit at all is almost an impossibility with retail grocers. Granting that, I ask, how are you to find out who are doubtful customers? The professional dead-beat is generally well-known, and against him we can protect ourselves. But the honest customer of to-day may be a "doubtful" customer to-morrow. Everything must have a beginning. And I have no doubt that it is against this particular class, which is very large, that the retail grocers of New York State want to protect themselves. People get involved in debts in times of want, often in days of plenty, and then they will not make the necessary sacrifices to meet their honest obligations.

I do business in a workingmen's community, where it would be a greater 'hardship' to refuse a man credit in winter than it would be to force him to pay a small percentage of his wages when he is working in summer. Closing our books in January or February, would mean starvation to many. Talk about no credit in winter to masons, bricklayers, stone cutters, laborers, in fact all men engaged in construction works. No groceries to a man who is sick, and whose family depends exclusively upon him for their daily bread? No groceries to a man who is out of work, where there is no other income than his wages? You may stop his newspaper, but it would be inhuman and unchristian for the grocer to close his books against him. Several years of experience have convinced me that many of them do not, and will not, in times of plenty, pay for debts contracted in days of absolute want. I could relate dozens of such cases that have occurred within my experience. No credit with the working people? That is an impossibility. Some of them may put by a dollar for the winter; but, I regret to say, in Ottawa, as elsewhere, few do so. The grocer and baker must give credit to these people. Be it said to their credit, the majority will pay up in summer. But many will be found who will, at the opening of the working season, leave the grocer to whom they are indebted for a large sum for the last winter's provisions, buy for cash in another shop until the following fall, and then get credit from the new grocer during the coming winter. And that is only one of the thousand way in which a dishonest man can cheat the most business like grocer.

All honest workingmen are in favor of any law that will protect business men against such rogues. Then I ask is it not a just and reasonable law that will enable a grocer to collect a small percentage of a man's wages? Such a law would be a safeguard to the poorer customer, in so far as it would protect him against the possibility of his furniture being seized and sold for perhaps one-fourth of its value. This can be done under the laws of Canada. Is not the law proposed by the Retail Grocers' Association of the State of New York better than the Canadian law? I hope the day is not far distant when a law similar to that proposed by our American cousins will be passed by the provincial legislatures of Canada. Under the proposed law the creditor would be able to take action against his debtor only at a time when the latter would be working and earning wages. Of that income only a small proportion could be claimed, so that there would be really no practical hardship to any honest workingman.

That the workingman, the wealth producer of a country, does not receive his honest share of the product of his labors, is an indisputable fact. And any movement or legislation that may tend to ameliorate his position in that respect will, I have no doubt, always have the support of retail grocers in any community. But any measure that may tend to make the dishonest workingman—or any other—honest, ought to receive the support and influence of labor organisations. I say let all men live within their means, and meet their just obligations, be they great or small.

THE CANNED GOODS LAW.

Her Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and House of Commons of Canada, enacts as follows:—

In this Act the expression "package" means every can, tin or package in which articles or goods are put up for sale, and which are closed by being hermetically sealed. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 1.

Except in the case of goods packed previously to July 20, 1885, every package of canned goods sold or offered for sale in Canada, for consumption therein, shall have attached thereto or imprinted thereon a label or stamp, setting forth in legible characters the name and address of the person, firm or company by whom the same was packed, or of the dealer who sells the same or offers it for sale.

Every such package containing goods prepared from products which have been dried previously to being so prepared, shall, in addition, be labelled or stamped with the word "soaked," which word shall be plainly printed diagonally across the face of the label in large, legible type at least half an inch in height and three-eighths of an inch in width.

Every person who sells or offers for sale any such goods in violation of any provision of this section shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, for a first offence incur a penalty of two dollars for each such package, and for a subsequent offence a penalty not exceeding twenty dollars and not less than four dollars for each such package in respect of which any such provision has been violated. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 2.

Every person who places on any package any label, brand or mark which falsely represents the quantity or weight of the contents of such package, shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, incur a penalty of two dollars for each package on which the quantity or weight is so falsely represented; provided always, that a variation under the rate of three per cent. shall not be deemed a violation of the provisions of this section. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 3.

Every person who places on any package any label, brand or mark which falsely represents the date when the article or goods contained therein were packed, shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, incur a penalty of two dollars for each package on which such date is falsely represented. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 4.

GROCERIES.

The two bank holidays, Good Friday and Easter Monday, have cut down the volume of business below the ratio of progress that prevailed a few weeks ago. The effect of the strikes is also felt in a depressed local market. Three trades in this city whose idleness contract the current of business, in nearly every line of trade, are now off work for higher wages. The bad roads have put a check on outside trade. The fall in sugar has not been followed by active buying, as there seems to be in the country an expectation that sugar can't come up. The tendency of the season is hopeful, as an increased activity is imparted by the approach of navigation. But the present week's chronicle shows trade at a low level in all grocery lines. Payments have taken on no special characteristic different from last week. They are made with reasonable promptness.

CANNED GOODS.

Canned peaches are getting very scarce and high in three-pound packages. The attempt to stock the market with goods of American pack has not been satisfactory. The imported peaches come too high, and the liquid contents of the three-pound can leave less than half the total weight in solid fruit. There is a good demand for all fruits, and a very quiet one for salmon and lobster. Notwithstanding the reduction in the pack of canned goods in Ontario last season the pack still seems to have been in excess of the home demand on several lines. This has forced packers to seek an outlet in foreign markets. During the present season more Canadian canned goods have been shipped abroad than in any former season. Both the United States and England have been large buyers. Even now there is an excess being carried by the packers, but they hope to be able to make further export sales. This state of affairs does not hold out much encouragement to firms thinking of going into the packing business.

COFFEE.

The slender stock of Rios keeps up prices and thus prolongs its own life on the market. The higher prices, no doubt to some extent, limit consumption. The buying is now mostly at 23c., and that figure is very firm. This market cannot be recruited at present from New York so as to bring down prices, as in that city stocks are light, and the native market is strong. The only change in the situation is the lower supply here. Plantation Ceylon is 27c., and gets more call now on account of the stiffness of Mocha and Java. These latter coffees have not relaxed since the last report, Java having gone up a cent., now selling at 34c. Mocha is unchanged at 27c. The demand is active, and all classes of coffee are in low supply.

DRIED FRUIT.

There is daily improving market. In all lines dried fruits get scarcer, and grow stiffer. There is, too, a stronger disposition to buy than is commonly the case at high prices. Off-stalk Valencia raisin's are firm at 7½ to 7¾, and some dealers get 8c. Valencia layers are 9½ to 9¾c. Sultanas are 10 to 12c. Of Malagas, the blackbaskets are $1.35, the London layers at $3 to $3.15, the loose muscatels at $2.35 to $2.60. Eleme figs are 10 to 11c. ; Four crescents are 14c. five crescents are15c. and seven crescents are 16. Natural in boxes are 4¾ to 5c. Currants are 5⅝ to 5⅞c. in barrels, and 6 to 6¼c. in half barrels Bosnia prunes are 4¾ to 5½c. in hogsheads, 5½ to 5¾c. in barrels, 5¾ to 6c. in kegs. Sphinxes are 8¼ to 8½c. for A's, 8 to 8¼c. for B's, 7¾ to 8c. for C's, 7¼ to 7½c. for D's, and 7 for U's. Atlas are 7½c. for B, and 7c. for D. French figs are 5 to 5¼ in kegs. Prices cannot grow easier until the new crops come in, as importation under present figures abroad can't keep down home prices.

SUGAR.

The Canadian market for white has had to come down another eighth to meet New York, as it was impossible to maintain the prices here against the steady declension there. Granulated is now 6⅞c for quantities above 15 barrels, and 7c. for less than that. A year ago, last Tuesday, granulated was 8c., and two weeks after that date it was 8⅛c. This fact leads wholesalers to expect that there will be a revival before the season of strong sugar demand sets in. There is still the same scantiness of darks, and the same proportion of the demand for them. The demand on all hands has been lower than it was before the drop of a week ago, retailers either being well stocked for the present or holding aloof from the market in expectation of a futher weakening. The prices of yellows have not shifted, standing at 5⅜ to 5⅞c. The sugar buying season is not well ushered in, therefore any further modification of the market is more likely to be upward than downward.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is still a lack of grade D syrup, for which the demand, as for low sugar, is quite strong, but the refineries have not yet got to the production of either to a large extent. There is a great part of the syrup for summer consumption bought now, which gives a transient activity to the market. Prices run from 50 to 72c., from the darkest to the brightest. Low grades of molasses are also in fair enquiry, but the demand is confined to low grades. Ontario consumption is light at all times compared with the Maritime Provinces or Quebec, as it is used here solely for baking purposes. Prices are unchanged.

TEAS

In China teas the partiality of consumers runs strongly to Congous. There is a well-varied stock now on the market to choose from in this class. Greens are receiving less attention. Japans are in strong demand, and as the market abounds in them in many grades and prices, the trade is good. There has been a fairly steady demand for Indian teas, mostly for good mediums. In London the firmer tone previously noticed continues and prices are better for all grades under 1s. per lb., while for tippy teas the demand also is strong and they also are dearer. Ceylons are quiet. In London the tone is generally firmer, the demand has chiefly been for the finest kinds.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

There is a demand for good dairy tub butter that is far from being met by the supply upon the market. The quantity of dairy tub is also short of what is usually offered. The demand which is still strong for good, is always within smaller limits this season than at any time between Xmas and the present month. There is less butter bought, but good is wanted as much as ever. Good dairy tub brings 15 to 18c, 17 to 18c. being freely paid for prime. Store pack is of all grades between the usual extremes of price, 8 to 13c. The disposition of buyers is as distant as ever towards it. A few packages of creamery were sold this week at 22c. but there is not enough of it nor sufficient demand to make a market. Large rolls are scarce. What have been handled had an increased proportion of good in them. The new butter is coming in mostly in that form. Prices are from 15 to 17c. Pound rolls are plentiful and the range and steadiness of the prices indicate that the quality is kept up. They bring 21 to 25c.

Cheese still goes at the prices commission and wholesale dealers have got all winter. The fulness of their stocks enabled them to sell at lower prices than they could buy late autumn for. Early summer is 8½ to 9½c. Early autumn is 10½ to 11c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

APPLES—Prices are a shade easier Those who held rather overshot the mark as prices last week had reached a point that narrowed consumption to limits too contracted for a good market. On Saturday last 100 barrels were put on this market and sold from $1.75 to $4, the stock representing most of the varieties of good and bad. Since then the best figures attainable have been $3 and $4, with prices favoring the lower figure. Store lots go at $4 to $4.25.

BEANS—Run from $1.40 to $1.60. Enquiries are few, and trade is off and on.

DRIED APPLES—Have a better market Buyers are giving 4½ to 5c., and selling at 5 and 5 1-2c., and finding a very good call. The season for consumption is now here, and is bringing the usual good market.

EVAPORATED APPLES—New are worth 10 to 11c. Old are 7 to 7 1-2c. Buying is fairly active.

EGGS—There is a well-maintained stock upon the market, and buying is as liberal as it usually is at Easter. The prices paid are 11 to 11 1-2c. On the street 12 to 12 1-2c. are given for small lots of new-laid.

HAY—The prices of last week still rule.

No. 1 hay on wagons is $12 to $13. No. 2 is $7 to $9. Pressed hay is, for No. 1, $9 to $9.50 on track, and for No. 2, $6.50 to $7. The bad roads have made wagon arrivals unusually light.

HIDES—Have a very quiet market. Cured bring 4¾c., with no eagerness among buyers. No. 1 green are 4c., No. 2 green 3c., No. 3 green 2c. Business is fairly vigorous.

HONEY—The first rival of this commodity in the new year's crop is maple molasses. The honey market always feels the coming of the sugar making either in lower prices or a relinquishing of the demand. Prices are yet the same, but the demand has greatly shrunk for a time. In the comb, honey is 12 to 14c., clear, it is 11 1-2 to 13c.

HOPS—Bring 14 to 16c. for choice, and 10 to 12c. for low grades and yearlings. The demand is dull.

OATS — Farmers get 33 to 34c. on the street, and car lots are sold here at 32c. Few farmers' wagons have brought in any oats this week.

ONIONS—Are about off the market. The most earnest enquiries fail to bring any but the smallest quantity into sale. Prices are stiff at $3 to $3.50.

POTATOES—Bring 5c to 55c. Buying has run mainly to the lower figure, but the market has improved since last week, an eastern demand having slightly raised confidence in the market. Out of store, prices are 60 to 65c.

SEEDS—Last week's quotations have not varied. Red clover is $4 to $4.20. Alsike is $6.50 to $6.75. Timothy is $1.75 to $2. The market is sluggish, but steady.

SKINS Sheepskins are $1.25 to $1.60. Good weights, well wooled, run from $1.50. Butchers' supplies are but fairly liberal. No. 1 calf is 6c. No. 2 is 5c.

STRAW—Tight pressed oat is $6 to $6.50. In loads it is $6.50 to $7. Supplies of sheaves have fallen off, owing to condition of roads.

TALLOW—Rough is 1¼ to 2c. Rendered is 5 to 5¼c.

WOOL—Fleeces are 22c. Pulled is 24c. for lowest, 25 to 26c. for super, and 20c. for extra super.

FISH.

The close of Lent virtually brings the market to a temporary close. There is the most listless interest taken in fish of any kind, and for dried fish there is almost a complete suspension of the demand. The only kind of fish that sells fairly is spring salmon, which on account of the abundant supply is now down to 18 and 20c., although two weeks ago it sold for 28c. Until lake fish begin to come in plentifully the market will be inactive. Finnan haddie is 6c. Sea herring are $1.60 per hundred by count. White fish are 7c.; salmon are $12 per barrel; small cod are 5c. per pound; steak cod are 7½c.; haddock are 5½ to 6c.; pike are 4½c.; pickerel are 6½c.; flounders are 5c.; tulepes are 7c.; Labrador herring are $5 to $5.50 per barrel, and $3.25 to $3.75 per half-barrel; Shore herring are $4 per barrel, and $2.25 per half-barrel; boneless cod are 6 to 8c. per pound; boneless fish are 6c.

GREEN FRUIT.

The market is becoming quiet. There is a marked decline in the sales of all dealers. Only a remnant of the Florida stock is left, fancy brights and russets quoting about alike, from $4 to $4.50. Valencia oranges are slowly giving way to the later maturing fruit, of which the Messinas are the chief. Valencias run from $5.50 to $6. Messinas are $3.25 to $3.50 in 200 boxes. California navels are $5.50 and scarce. Washington navels are also running low, and are selling at the same price. Riverside seedlings and Mediterranean sweets are $4.25. Fancy lemons, of either Messina or Palermo growth, are $4 to $4.50, and 360's are $3.50 to $4. Bananas are $1.50 to $2.50, red and yellow averaging about the same price, the difference in size of bunches making several grades between the highest and lowest price. Sweet potatoes are about out, a few lingering at $6.50 to $7. Pineapples are $3.50 to $4 per dozen. Grape fruit are $4.50 per box and $7.50 per barrel.

PROVISIONS.

BACON—Long clear is 8¼ to 8½c. Breakfast is 11 to 11½c. Roll is 9 to 9½c. There is but a fair trade.

DRESSED HOGS—Light select weights run to $6, from that down to $5.85. Heavy weights are firm at $5.75. There are fewer arrivals.

HAMS—Smoked are 11½ to 12c. Sweet pickled are 10½.

LARD—Canadian tubs are 9c., and pails are 9½c.

MESS PORK—Heavy is $14.50, to $15 Family is $15 to $15.50.

SALT.

The salt market for the week is about the same as last week, with a few changes in prices. The following are the prices reported by the Toronto Salt Works for the week: 3 car bbls. salt at $3.37; 2 cars coarse sacks at 68c.; 1 car dairy at $1.18; land salt $7 per ton; smaller quantities have sold at, ¼ sacks 45c.; bbls. $1.45; sacks 85c.

DRY GOODS.

A light week's trade is reported. Bad roads, stormy weather, a short week, owing to holidays, all worked against business. Traders, however, know there must be a demand and are hopeful. That demand is late in putting in its appearance, but it has to come before the summer comes. The prices are as strong as ever in all lines of cotton goods. Payments are not much behind hand. The coming of good weather is looked forward to with hope.

The Inland Revenue Department has recently issued a bulletin of about thirty pages which is devoted exclusively to the subject of baking powder and which shows that the majority of the goods in the market are adulterated and unfit for use. Prof. A. McGill, who has had charge of this important work for the Government, says that "imperial baking power is an excellent baking powder." A word to the sensible housekeeper should be suffcieut.

GROCERIES.

Nothing of a special natuie has been developed in the grocery business during the week. Business has been of a fair average character and volume, but with little disturbance of the price list of staple goods, which have remained generally steady. Payments have been fairly well provided for.

SUGARS.

The sugar market has been very quiet and refiners have sold very little. Prices, however, have remained steady, and private cables to-day report a stronger market in Europe. The factory price for granulated is 6½c., with the usual additions to the jobbing and retail trade. Low grades of yellows are not so scarce as some time ago, and for a round lot it is possible that 5⅜c. might be shaded, while the range is up to 5⅞c. for bright grades.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Syrup has continued in moderate request at steady prices, sales having been made at 3¼ to 4c. per lb. as to quality. Molasses has continued easy and cables quote prices lower at the Islands. Barbados may be quoted at 37 to 40c. in puncheons.

TEAS.

There has been a somewhat larger business in tea. Country orders have shown increased volume and the market has remained about steady. Common Japans have sold at 12c. medium at 15c. and fine at 20c. Choicest grades may be quoted at 26 to 28c. There has been a moderate business in blacks.

COFFEES.

The market has a very firm tone, with stocks light and prices well upheld. Mocha is at 30 to 32c.; Java, 28 to 30c.; Jamaica, 22 to 24c.; Plantation Ceylon, 27 to 29c.; Maracaibo, 24 to 25c.; Rio, 22 to 24c.; Guatemala, 24½ to 26½c.; Santos, 22 to 24c.

RICE.

Trade of the usual nature at steady prices. The following are quotations: Mount Royal Mills, A and B. $3.60 to $3.75 per 100 lbs.; Patras 4½ to 5c. and Japan 4 to 4½c.

SWEET FRUITS.

Valencia raisins have continued strong with sales at 7½ to 8¼c as to quality. London layers $2.75 to $3, and Sultanas 10 to 13c.

Montreal Markets—Continued.

Currants have also continued very firm at 5¼ to 5½c for Provincials. Prunes have been in better request at 4¾ to 5c for French in kegs, with Bosnia at 7 to 7½c. Eleme figs 10 to 14c. Dates 5¼c. Dried apples 6½c.

NUTS.

Trade has been fair at steady prices. Taragona almonds, 14c.; Ivica 12c.; Pecans 12 to 12½c; Brazil nuts 11c.; Grenoble walnuts 15 to 15½c., and French 10c.; Filberts 10c. for Sicily and 9½c. for Turkey; green peanuts 8½ to 9c.

CANNED GOODS.

No change of movement has occurred in the condition of the canned goods market, but as Easter wants have been filled demand has been rather slacker. It is said that round lots of tomatoes are offering 10c., 15c. below our quotation :—Corn $1.20 ; marrowfat peas, $1.15 ; sweet peas, $1.25 ; tomatoes $1.20; stringless beans 85c.; butter beans 90c.; apples, 3 lb., $1.05, per gal. $2.25. $2.35; pineapples $2.25 to $2.40 ; strawberries $2.35 ; peaches $2.15 ; plums $1.75 ; pears $2 ; green gages $1.70, $1.75.

In fish canned goods there was a moderate movement, chiefly in salmon at $1.50, $1.70 as to brand. Lobsters firm at $7 per case and mackerel slow at $5.50, $5.70 per case.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

No change has occurred, but it is rumored that something has been done for May delivery. Stocks are increasing but are much less than a year ago. Patent winter $4.75, $5, patent spring $5, $5.20, straight roller $4.25, $4.40, strong bakers $4.50, $4.75.

Oatmeal quiet at $3,60, $3.70, for standard $3.50, $4 for granulated.

The grain market has a firmer expression. Western millers have been fair buyers of Manitoba, along the line, at prices equal to quotations, which are $1.06, $1.08 for No. 1 hard, and $1.04, $1.06 for No. 2. Peas for May delivery are held at 72c., with buyers at 70c.; spot 64 and 65c. Oats have been in good demand and firmer, at 32c. Barley quiet but strong at the close, owing to the advance reported from Toronto today. Prices are 45 to 50c.; Rye 50 and 51c.

HOG PRODUCTS.

Business has been fairly active and the market very firm, with prices showing an upward tendency. It would cost $17.25 to lay down Chicago short cut to-day, but the present stock is selling at $16, with mess at $14.50. Canadian short cut $16. Lard has ruled strong. Canadian has advanced 10c. per pail to $1.70. Hams in good demand and higher at 12 to 13c. Bacon, 10 to 11c.

EGGS.

Receipts large and demand moderate. Prices have declined nearly 2c. per dozen to 11 to 12c.

MAPLE SYRUP AND SUGAR.

Increased receipts have induced lower prices. Market weak at 6 1-2 to 7 1-2c. per lb. for sugar and 65 to 75c. per tin for syrup.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

Butter market unchanged and quiet, with a local trade only. Fall creamery 19c., 22c., finest Townships 16c., 18c., finest Western 12c., 13c., and inferior Western 8c., 10c.

The cheese season has not got fairly started yet but many factories have commenced operations. Finest 10½, 11c., fine 10c., 10¼c., early makes 9c., 9½c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

MONTREAL RETAIL GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

The regular monthly meeting of the Montreal Retail Grocers' Association was held last Thursday evening in their new quarters in the Mechanics' Hall, St. James street. President Fraser in the chair.

Among others present were Messrs. Delahanty, Conaughton, O'Shaughnessy, Demers, Clenoux, Lapierre, and Soucy.

Secretary Fournier read the minutes of last meeting, which were adopted.

Mr. Fraser reported on behalf of committee appointed to select new hall and engage a paid secretary. He said they had seen several halls but none impressed them so favorably as the room they were now in, both for convenience and quietness, the price being very reasonable. The committee have also decided in view of the able manner in which the present Secretary, Mr. Fournier, discharged his duties in the past, to pay him a salary of $50 per annum.

The committee appointed to look into the matter of the renting of booths for the sale of groceries at the several city markets by the city council, reported that they had done nothing, but would look into it in a few days.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy here suggested that the Association should have a cut made, that would appear in the regular monthly advertisement in the several daily papers, as it would be the means of drawing attention to the advertisement.

Mr. Fraser said he had seen the treasurer, Mr. Vallieres, and asked him to reconsider his resignation, but was unsuccessful as that gentleman said he was unable to attend properly to the duties of his office, and begged that his resignation be accepted.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy moved, seconded by Mr. Demers, that Mr. Vallieres resignation be accepted, and that a new treasurer be appointed at the next regular meeting.—Carried.

Considerable discussion then took place on the unjustice of the By-law that compells the grocer who lives over his store to pay a license for doing so, and the absurdity of the By-law was fully exemplified. It was the general feeling of the meeting that something ought to be done and that at once.

It was moved and seconded that Messrs. Fraser, Conaughton, Desjardines and Gauthier, be a deputation from the Association to wait on the Hon. James McShane, and lay before him the injustice that the grocers' are subjected to through this By-law.

There being no further business the meeting then adjourned.

Our representative reports that every merchant spoken to last week at Orillia in reference to an association being formed in that town, was willing to go in for one and do his best for its success. If some one merchant would just start the thing a going by calling a meeting and electing officers, etc., the merchants of Orillia would soon have an association that would mean friendship and profit for those doing business there. If you start we will help you.

HECK'S COLUMN.

For some time I have been working through the business places, trying to find the cause of these hard times. Cash seems to be all that is needed to make things move among the merchants. I am writing of country towns where the trade is nearly all done with farmers. They depend on the farmers, for downfall or success of their season's trade. The farmers to day have little money, and some merchants think the reason is low prices in grain. That may be part of the cause, but what do farmers do with the money they get? Every year the implement men are getting out new machines, that are going to lessen work, time and expense in cultivating and reaping crops. Very few farmers are there who do not buy one, two or three new machines each year. The agent visits the farm, shows how a new riding plough or some other implement would be to his advantage the coming summer. The farmer has a plough or thresher that he could make do well for three or four years to come, but the new one has been tried by his neighbor and he likes it well. Thus farmer No. 2 must be on equal standing and have the same machines that his neighbor has. To get these machines, the old ones are worth to the agent a few dollars, and the rest is paid by note to fall due about the first of October. The farmer gets the machine, harvest comes and goes, a fair crop is gathered, and prices are not quite as high as they might have been. The notes fall due and are paid. In the meantime an account has been running with the country merchant, and really I do believe it is thought the merchant can wait for his money until the farmer likes to pay it. The present expenditure of the farmer eats up all the profits so that his farm is under mortgage, and still a large bill grows at the country merchant's store. Of course it will be paid at the end of the year, if the money is in hand. The end of year comes and goes, still the merchant has his account to render every month to that farmer.

Now your merchants are the farmers' friends, and when you can trust them for years, surely a word of advice will go well and do some good. The spring is about coming on and the implement agent will start his rounds. Talk to your farmers on this subject. Show them how it is, and how they should economise a little this year, and if this is done and implements of last year's made to work this year, I think collections will be somewhat better next fall with you.

HECK.

The St. John board of trade on Monday discussed the subject of Intercolonial freight rates. One dealer said that he was able to send a parcel by express cheaper than by freight under the new regulations. Ex-Mayor Thorne reported that his customers in New Brunswick towns had informed him that they could not take goods at the present high freight. Another merchant had advices from customers on the north shore stating that they would find it necessary to procure their goods at Halifax or Quebec and forward by water. Strong representations were forwarded to the Government at Ottawa.

Twenty Chinamen on their way from New York to Kong Kong, China, "In bond" Thursday last, while in waiting for the C.P.R. train at Brockville, made a raid on the grocery store of Mr. T. Nappy, which is located near the G. T. station. There seems to be no police protection there and they took a large quantity of canned goods, mostly tomatoes of the Lion Brand. Some were partial to butter, others sugar, and all took bread, cleaning the establishment out entirely of that article. Mr. Nappy and his two daughters were kept busy for half an hour assisting the raiders in their selections. It was a cash sale and these dark customers seemed to be well supplied with Melica money. Mr. N. had just subscribed for the GROCER, and we must claim the GROCER done it. "Moral" subscribe at once.

There is no truth in the report that the Aylmer Canning Co. has assigned.

TENDERS.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Indian Supplies," will be received at this office up to noon of MONDAY, 21st April, 1890, for the delivery of Indian Supplies, during the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1891, consisting of Flour, Beef, Bacon, Groceries, Ammunition, Twine, Agricultural Implements, Tools, etc., duty paid, at various points in Manitoba and the North-West Territories.

Forms of tender, containing full particulars relative to the Supplies required, dates of delivery, etc., may be had by applying to the undersigned, or to the Indian Commissioner at Regina, or to the Indian Office, Winnipeg.

Parties may tender for each description of goods (or for any portion of each description of goods) separately or for all the goods called for in the Schedules, and the Department reserves to itself the right to reject the whole or any part of a tender.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted Cheque in favor of the Superintendent General of Indian Affairs, on a Canadian Bank, for at least five per cent. of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into a contract based on such tender when called upon to do so, or if he fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted, the cheque will be returned.

Each tender must, in addition to the signature of the tenderer, be signed by two sureties acceptable to the Department for the proper performance of the contract based on his tender.

This advertisement is not to be inserted by any newspaper without the authority of the Queen's Printer, and no claim for payment by any newspaper not having had such authority will be admitted.

Unlike daily papers and general periodicals, this paper places advertisements before the eyes of just that portion of the industries most calculated to avail themselves of the announcements therein, and, therefore is of more value to the Trade than any paper published in this or other worlds. Manufacturers and wholesalers please take note of this, and then act accordingly. It is the only paper in Canada that reaches this trade direct.

The undersigned has been appointed Agent in the United States and the Dominion of Canada by

The Associated Tea Planters, Ltd.

OF LONDON, CAPITAL, £50,000.

Under the auspices of the Indian Tea Districts Association.

The object of the company is to push the sale of their product, feeling certain that when systematically brought to consumers' notice its merits will be so manifest as to give it the front rank in public favor, as is the case in Great Britain.

Roundly, the annual consumption in that country is 80,000,000 lbs. during last crop year This is the best answer to the twaddle about the excessive quantity of tannin in Indian tea. Consumers in England are no fools: they know a cup of good tea.

Supplies will be held in Canada and the States and the undersigned, or his assistants, will make regular calls on the Trade. Samples will also be promptly forwarded on application.

CERTIFICATES OF STRENGTH AND PURITY.

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC ANALYST,

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

GENTLEMEN,—I have personally taken samples from a large stock of your Granulated Sugar, "REDPATH" brand, and carefully tested them by the Polariscope, and I find these samples to be as near to absolute purity as can be obtained by any process of Sugar-Refining.

The test by the Polariscope showed in yesterday s yield 99·90 per cent. of Pure Cane Sugar, which may be considered commercially as ABSOLUTELY PURE SUGAR.

JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, P.L.D., D.C.L., F.C.S.,

Public Analyst for the District of Montreal, and Professor of Chemistry.
